Equal Opportunity

The Board of Regents has committed itself and the University of Minnesota to the policy that there shall be no discrimination in the treatment of persons because of race, creed, color, sex, or national origin. This policy is particularly applicable in the recruitment and hiring of members of the faculty and staff and in promoting the academic pursuits of all students at both undergraduate and graduate levels. Individual faculty members are expected to support the development of affirmative action programs to ensure a proper ethnic balance among the students and staff of their department.

HISTORY, ORGANIZATION, AND GOVERNANCE

Origins and Development

When the University was founded in February 1851, the new territory of Minnesota was populated by an unknown number of American Indian residents and about 7,000 immigrant settlers. Statehood was still seven years away.

The University began as a preparatory school, was beset by financial crises during its early years, and was forced to close during the Civil War. In 1863, in the midst of this difficult time, Minneapolis businessman John Sargent Pillsbury began the long and dedicated service that won him renown as "the Father of the University." As a University Regent and state senator, and later as governor, he guided the University out of its financial problems.

A major factor in the University's rebirth was the Morrill Act, which was signed into law by President Lincoln in 1862. This "Land-Grant Act," as it was known, gave each state a grant of land within its borders, the income from which was to be used in providing education for its people — especially in the areas of agriculture and the mechanic arts.

In 1867, the preparatory school again opened its doors. Following a major reorganization in 1868, the University finally got under way as an institution of higher education in 1869. The first collegiate class that fall numbered 18 students. The faculty totaled nine.

On December 22, 1869, William Watts Folwell, a scholar who had served as an engineering officer in the Civil War, was inaugurated as the first president of the University. Fittingly, Regent Pillsbury presided at the ceremony. In his inaugural address, President Folwell foresaw the emergence of a "federation of professional schools" with a faculty of teachers and investigators. He called for the development of a University open to all "worthy comers," an institution that would become the "head and crown" of the state's school system.

From its faltering origins, the University has grown mightily to become one of the largest and strongest universities in the land, with an enrollment of nearly 50,000 full-time students.

Its campus has become statewide, with units in many Minnesota communities. Its Twin Cities campus in Minneapolis and St. Paul offers the full range of academic and professional degrees. Academic and preprofessional programs are offered at the University of Minnesota, Duluth, part of the University system since 1947; the University of Minnesota, Morris, opened in 1960; the University of Minnesota Technical College, Crookston, opened in 1966; and the University of Minnesota Technical College, Waseca, established in 1971.

Significant in the University's development is its autonomy in the management of its internal affairs, derived from the state constitution. The University's charter, drawn up and adopted by the Territorial Assembly and approved by an act of Congress, delegated to the Board of Regents the right to govern the University. In the state constitution, all the "rights, immunities, franchises, and endowments" granted by the charter were "perpetuated unto" the University.

In a test lawsuit known as the "Chase case," the Minnesota Supreme Court in 1928 held that the Board of Regents, in the management of the University, is constitutionally independent of all other executive authority.

Board of Regents

The Board of Regents is the governing body of the University. Its chief responsibilities are election of the Chancellor, enactment of rules, regulations, and policies governing the University; control of University expenditures; and approval of all staff changes. (The term President is commonly used instead of Chancellor.)

The 12 Regents are chosen by the state Legislature. Although not required by statute, it is customary to elect one Regent from each of Minnesota's eight Congressional districts and four from the state at large. They serve without pay for six-year terms. Vacancies occurring when the Legislature is not in session are filled by the Governor.

The Chancellor of the University is ex officio

President of the Board of Regents. From its membership, the Board elects a chairman and a vice chairman. The Board also elects a secretary and a treasurer from outside its membership. All officers, with the exception of the Chancellor, are elected for a two-year period.

The Board meets in regular session once each month. Much of the business considered by the Board is first reviewed by one or more of its seven committees, which regularly precede monthly Board meetings. The seven committees are Budget, Audit, and Legislative Relationships; Educational Policy and Long-Range Planning; Faculty, Staff, and Public Relationships; Health Sciences; Physical Plant and Investments; Student Concerns; and Executive. Dates of Board meetings are announced well ahead of time in the Official Daily Bulletin, which is published in the Minnesota Daily (the Twin Cities campus student newspaper) when classes are in session and as a special bulletin during quarter breaks. The dates are also announced at the Crookston and Waseca campuses in their weekly campus calendars. Materials for consideration by the Board are usually submitted through the office of one of the vice presidents and then through the office of the secretary to the Board.

Administrative Officers

The President of the University is responsible to the Board of Regents. He is the chief executive officer of the University and is the representative of the faculties and the University Senate to the Board of Regents.

Six vice presidents, appointed by the Board of Regents, divide the responsibilities of administering the University into six areas: administration; academic administration; finance, planning, and operations; health sciences; state and federal relations; and student affairs.

University Senate

The University Senate is the voice of the state-wide University faculty and students. It has legislative control over educational matters concerning the University as a whole but not over the internal affairs of any individual college, institute, or school, except where these overlap or materially affect the interests of other colleges or the University as a whole.

Until 1969, the Senate had authority and responsibility for all educational matters of concern to more than one college. The Senate constitution was amended in May 1969 and approved by the Board of Regents in June 1969 to provide for intermediate organizational units between the colleges and the Senate. The revised Senate constitution makes provision for individual campus assemblies with authority over educational matters of concern to more than one college but within one campus.

The Senate meets at least once in each quarter of the academic year, at a time and place determined by the President. Special meetings may be called by the President at the request of the Consultative Committee or at the written request of ten members of the Senate.

The Senate is composed of elected representatives of the various schools, colleges, and campuses, as well as the President and the members of the Administrative Committee, who are ex officio nonvoting members. The elected members are chosen by secret ballot by faculty members with the rank of instructor and above in the several schools and colleges. Each college has at least one senator; one additional Senate member is chosen for each 20 faculty members or major fraction thereof. Each Senate member also serves on the assembly for his campus. Office is held for three years.

Student representation on the Senate began in 1969. Provision is made for the handling of some issues by the faculty component alone and others by the student component alone.

Senate agenda and minutes are sent to all faculty members, who may attend Senate meetings and participate fully except for voting. In advance of each Senate meeting, the docket is published in the Minnesota Daily.

The President of the University is chairman of the Senate. He may suspend action taken by the Senate or any college faculty and ask for reconsideration of such action. If the President and the Senate or college faculty do not reach agreement, the question may be appealed to the Regents by the President, the Senate, or the college faculty.

The vice chairman is elected by the Senate from its membership at the first meeting of the spring quarter of each academic year. The clerk of the Senate and the parliamentarian, who need not be members, are appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate.

The Senate includes nine standing committees in addition to the Consultative Committee: the All-University Administrative Committee, the Committee on Academic Standing and Relations, the Committee on Committees, the Committee on Educational Policy, the Committee on Faculty Affairs, the Judicial Committee, the Library Committee, the Committee on Research, and the Committee on Resources and Planning.

All-University Administrative Committee

The All-University Administrative Committee is a major standing committee of the University Senate. It is composed of the President, the vice presidents, the provosts, the deans, and other members of the University staff appointed by the President and approved by the Senate. The committee advises the President concerning the general educational, administrative, and fiscal policies of the University and assists the President in putting these policies into effect.

Consultative Committees

The Senate Consultative Committee is composed of nine elected members of the faculty, seven elected members of the student body, and the vice chairman of the University Senate (John P. Navins), who serves ex officio. The elected faculty representatives comprise the Faculty Consultative Committee, and the elected student representatives make up the Student Consultative Committee. The Senate Consultative Committee meets with the President at least quarterly to discuss matters of policy relating to educational interests or policies of the University, personnel, service functions, and the budget. Members of the All-University Administrative Committee are not eligible for election to the Faculty Consultative Committee.

The Faculty Consultative Committee consists of seven faculty members elected by and from the Twin Cities campus faculties and one faculty member each elected by and from the Duluth and Morris campus faculties. Terms of office are for three years, and no member is eligible to serve more than two consecutive terms. The terms of approximately one third of the members expire each year. The chairman of the committee is elected by his fellow members for a term of one year and is eligible for reelection. Members of the Faculty Consultative Committee are Samuel Krislov, chairman; Robinson S. Abbott (Morris); Mary Corcoran; LaVell Henderson; David T. Lykken; Paul Murphy; Theron O. Odlaug (Duluth); Leon Reisman; and George Shapiro.

Of the seven voting members of the Student Consultative Committee, five are elected from the Twin Cities campus, one from the Duluth campus, and one from the Morris campus. Each member, who must be a member of the Student Senate at the time of his election, serves a one-year term and is eligible for reelection. Members of the Student Consultative Committee for 1973-74 are Peter Hames, Walter Hodynsky, Steve Hunt (Morris), Patricia Knight, Barbara Ann March, Neil C. Franz (Duluth), and David Winegar.

In addition to the quarterly meetings of the Senate Consultative Committee with the President, separate meetings of the Faculty Consultative Committee are held to discuss with the President, or others, matters of primary concern to the faculty. The Student Consultative Committee may meet separately to discuss with the President, or others, matters of primary concern to the student body. Each consultative committee serves as the executive committee of its Senate, and the Senate Consultative Committee serves as a coordinating committee between administrative offices and the University Senate.

Campus Assemblies

Each campus of the University has a campus assembly with functions similar to those of the University Senate but on a smaller scale. Faculty and student representatives serve on the assemblies, which are elected governing bodies for the campuses. The Twin Cities Assembly meets once each quarter. The Duluth Campus Assembly meets a minimum of twice per quarter, the Morris Campus Assembly meets at least once each quarter, and the Crookston Campus Assembly meets monthly. There is no campus assembly at Waseca, but a planning committee has been formed to develop plans and a constitution for a Waseca Campus Assembly.

Degrees Granted

Since June 1873, when the first two degrees were awarded, the University has granted a total of 257,535 degrees (through June 1973). During the school year 1972-73, 10,502 students received their diplomas.

Included in the total number of degrees granted through June 1973 are 10,127 Doctor of Philosophy degrees, the first of which was awarded in 1888. In 1972-73, the University presented degrees to 543 Ph.D. candidates.

Athletics

Intercollegiate athletic programs are available for men and women on the Twin Cities campus. Men's teams are fielded in 11 sports — baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, gymnastics, hockey, tennis, track, swimming, and wrestling. The women's teams compete in basketball, field hockey, golf, gymnastics, softball, swimming, tennis, track, and volleyball.

Gopher football teams have won six national championships, the last one in 1960. The baseball team has captured nine Big Ten titles since 1956, and three NCAA Championships (1956, 1960, and 1964). The Minnesota men's basketball team won the Big Ten conference championship in 1972 and finished as runner-up in 1973.

While the women's program is relatively new, it is developing rapidly and already has achieved notable success. The swimming and volleyball teams won the Minnesota Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship in 1972. Several individuals have won state championships and participated in national tournaments.

Twin Cities campus athletic facilities include Memorial Stadium, which seats 56,725 for football, and Williams Arena, which has the largest seating capacity for basketball (17,867) and hockey (7,654) of any collegiate facility in the world. A new 2,200-seat capacity baseball stadium and a nine-lane, artificial surface running track opened for competition in the spring of 1971. In 1970 an artificial playing field was installed in the football stadium, which also houses facilities for golf, handball, karate, paddleball, squash, weight-lifting, and wrestling.

Still other facilities include an 18-hole championship golf course, a nine-hole short course, a field house for indoor baseball, basketball, football, and track, and swimming pools, gymnasiums, and locker rooms on both the Minneapolis and St. Paul portions of the campus. The athletic ticket office and administrative offices in Cooke Hall were shifted to the new Bierman Field Athletic Building in 1972.

Varsity and intramural athletic programs are also offered at each of the coordinate campuses. At Duluth, the UMD Bulldogs compete in the 11 varsity sports in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and the Western Collegiate Hockey Association — baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, hockey, skiing, swimming, tennis, track, and wrestling. Women may participate in such intercollegiate sports as badminton, basketball, field hockey, swimming, tennis, track and field, and volleyball. Students may use the facilities of Rock Hill, UMD's ski slope, and hockey games are played in the new Duluth Arena. Several playing fields, tennis courts, and two municipal golf courses are available for student use.

The Athletics Office at Morris fields varsity teams in eight sports as well as three women's varsity teams. Men's varsity athletics include basketball, cross country, football, golf, tennis, track, swimming, and wrestling. Women's varsity athletics include basketball, track, and volleyball. The UMM Cougars are members of the Northern Intercollegiate Conference in men's athletics and of the newly founded Minn-Kota Conference in women's athletics. Athletic facilities include a new football field with seating for 2,500; the only "all-weather" perma-track in western Minnesota; a new baseball diamond; and a physical education complex with seating for 4,400, housing three basketball courts, an all-purpose gymnasium, and handball courts. The new $1.5 million pool complex was dedicated in May 1973 to add to University facilities.

At Crookston, the UMC Trojans compete in the Northern Division of the Minnesota Junior College Conference. UMC is the only two-year institution to offer all major athletics in its program — baseball, basketball, football, golf, hockey, track, and wrestling. At Waseca, the Technical College is a member of the Minnesota Junior College Conference. The Rams compete in football, cross country, basketball, wrestling, and track in the Southern Division of that conference.

Foreign Students

About 2,000 foreign students and faculty members are at the University. They come from more than 100 different countries in all parts of the world.

Countries with the largest representation are China, India, and Hong Kong, with over 200 persons from each, followed by Canada and South Korea.

The Minnesota International Student Association works with the International Student Adviser's Office in coordinating the affairs of foreign nationals on the campuses.

Minnesota Alumni Association

The Minnesota Alumni Association is a voluntary organization of 21,602 former University of Minnesota students. Membership is open to graduates or former students who have completed 15 credits in daytime or evening classes. Governing the organization is a board of 60 directors, 18 of whom are presidents or representatives of constituent alumni groups and two of whom are presidents of two affiliated groups, the Law Alumni Association and the "M" Club. Constituent groups — except the Alumnae Club, which is organized for Twin Cities area alumnae — represent alumni by college, school, or department.

The Alumni Association interprets the University to its alumni through the activities of its constituent organizations and 85 state, national, and foreign chapters, and through the Alumni News, which is published monthly (September-June). The Association's staff serves as secretariat to the 17 constituent groups. Offices of the Association are in the Administrative Services Building, 2610 University Ave., St. Paul, Minn. 55114. Executive director of the Association is Edwin L. Haislet, director of Alumni Relations for the University.

The University of Minnesota, Duluth, Alumni Association has 1,480 members. Graduates receive one year's free membership; renewal is $5. Association activities include student recruitment, fund-raising for scholarships, representation on campus committees, and social events. Members are informed on UMD's development through the quarterly Alumnnotes. Association offices are in 320 Administration building. Executive secretary is Nancy Joseph.

At Morris, alumni activities are coordinated by the Office of University Relations.

Following the first graduation in June 1973, an Alumni Association at Waseca is being organized.

Residence Halls

University residence halls and apartments provide housing for 4,783 students on the Twin Cities campus, 1,658 at Duluth, 982 at Morris, 408 at Crookston, and 312 at Waseca for a total of 8,143.

Room and board rates in the residence halls vary among units and from campus to campus. Twin Cities campus rates range from $394 to $528 per quarter. The range of quarterly rates at Duluth is from $365 to $438; at Morris, from $350 to $450; at Crookston, from $322 to $408; and at Waseca, from $280 to $360. Rooms with limited meal plans are available on all campuses. Meals are not included with apartment housing at Duluth and Morris.

Residence halls on the Twin Cities campus accommodate 4,372 students — 2,570 men and 1,802 women. Comstock is for women only while both Territorial and Frontier are for men. The other five halls are for men and women. Housing for married students on the Twin Cities campus is provided in Commonwealth Terrace and Thatcher Hall in the St. Paul area of the campus; both facilities are managed by a student-run cooperative.

Griggs, Vermilion, and Torrance Halls on the Duluth campus house men students while Burntside and Lake Superior Halls accommodate women. Village Apartments and Stadium Apartments are for both men and women.

On the Morris campus, Gay, Independence, Spooner, Blakely, and Pine Halls provide coeducational housing. Residence Hall IV is an apartment complex for men and women.

Robertson Hall, on the Crookston campus, accommodates men; McCall Hall and Skyberg Hall accommodate men and women.

Housing is provided for men and women, in separate wings, on the Waseca campus.

Sororities and Fraternities

There are 14 academic sororities on the Minneapolis campus and three in St. Paul, all of which maintain residence houses. Any eligible woman student regularly enrolled in the University may be invited to join a sorority. Panhellenic Council, the governing body of the Minneapolis sororities, and Intersorority Council, the governing group of the St. Paul sororities, establish and regulate a rushing calendar, but students may join any time during the year.

More than 23 academic and seven undergraduate professional fraternities also serve students on the Twin Cities campus; most chapters offer facilities for housing and eating. Students may join fraternities any time during the year. The Intrafraternity Council is the coordinating body of all fraternities.

The Duluth campus has one service and four academic sororities and one service and five academic fraternities. There are two sororities and two fraternities at Morris.

Student Associations

The Minnesota Student Association (MSA) is the Twin Cities campus student government, which coordinates a variety of programs and activities concerned with both academic and political issues.

All fee-paying students on the Twin Cities campus are members of MSA and may vote in spring elections for the student body president, vice president, and student senators representing each college. In addition to the president and vice president, the executive branch includes appointed officers. The legislative branch, consisting of the student senators, is called the MSA Forum.

The Student Association (SA) is the student governing body of the Duluth campus and includes a presidential staff and the Student Congress. The presidential, or executive, branch includes the president, an executive assistant, a press secretary, and vice presidents of academic affairs, business affairs, and student affairs. Reporting to the vice presidents are commissioners in charge of special services. The president is the only elected executive; the remainder are appointed by the president, subject to approval by the Student Congress. The Duluth Student Congress is made up of 19 elected representatives, including the all-University senators, alternates, the freshman class president and vice president, and delegates to the Campus Assembly. They, along with department representatives, are elected for one-year terms. SA funds (amounting to 90 cents per student per quarter) come from the student service fee.

The Morris Campus Student Association (MCSA) is the campus organization representing students in University governance. The Executive Council, in conjunction with the Student Forum, appoints students to campus committees, sets up commissions dealing with student concerns, and in general attempts to be a student service organization as well as a governing body.

The Crookston Campus Student Association and the Waseca Student Association are the student governing bodies on their respective campuses.

University Unions/Centers

Facilities of the Department of the Minnesota Union on the Twin Cities campus include Coffman Union, the St. Paul Student Center, and the West Bank Union. A student-faculty-staff board directs each facility and its programs. Students are encouraged to serve on planning committees and to provide leadership for events.

The Kirby Student Center on the Duluth campus offers a wide range of programs to suit many interests. Program planning is done by the Kirby Student Center Program Board, which is made up of students with faculty-staff advisement. Headquarters for student activities on the Morris campus is Edson Hall. The Trojan Inn, a commuter lunchroom, serves as the Crookston campus student center. The Ram Shack and the Student Activity Link are centers of student activities at Waseca.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Concerts and Lectures

The University Artists Course, a division of the Department of Concerts and Lectures, presents two series of programs during the year — the Masterpiece Series of internationally recognized musical artists and the World Dance Series of ballet, modern dance, folk, and mime companies. Tickets for all Artists Course events may be purchased in 105 Northrop Auditorium or at any Dayton's store.

Each spring the Department of Concerts and Lectures on the Twin Cities campus joins the Minnesota Orchestral Association and a regional committee of sponsors and guarantors in presenting a series of performances by the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. Mail orders for tickets are accepted at the ticket office six weeks before the opera performances.

During the academic year, convocations are presented free to the public, sponsored by the Campus Committee for Convocations and the Arts. These events, often held in Northrop Auditorium, include lectures, musical programs, theatrical productions, and films. Concerts and Lectures also sponsors special lectures and scientific conferences for smaller and selected audiences.

During the summer, Summer Session and the Department of Concerts and Lectures cooperate in sponsoring a series of free lectures, concerts, and programs.

At the Duluth campus, convocations and lectures are sponsored by the Convocations and Lectures Committee of the Kirby Student Center Program Board. The programs cover a broad range of topics and are open to the public at no charge. During the year, the committee also sponsors several concerts featuring popular musicians and entertainers. The University Artists Series sponsors four concerts yearly at the Duluth Auditorium. The concerts feature artists of national and international fame. Orders for season tickets or individual concert performances may be made through the UMD Ticket Office, 101 Kirby Student Center. The UMD Coffee House series features young talented people who perform week-long engagements at the Bull Pub.

The University of Minnesota, Morris, each year presents a wide range of concerts, theatre attractions, recitals, lectures, films, and dance programs. Area residents as well as the campus community are invited to attend productions.

The Concerts and Lectures Committee at Crookston, composed of students and faculty, is responsible for planning campus programs.

The Convocations Committee at Waseca is comprised of students and faculty and is responsible for planning campus events.

Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action

The Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action is charged with the implementation of Regents' policy and the supervision of programs insuring equal opportunities for minorities and women in all areas. The office also sees that the University fully complies with federal and state guidelines regarding equal opportunity in dealing with external agencies and companies.

The director of the office submits periodic reports to the Regents, University President, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and to other federal and state agencies. The chief administrators of each University unit and their respective equal opportunity officers are responsible for insuring equal opportunity through the execution of affirmative action programs overseen by this office.

Further information on the activities of the office can be found in documents outlining the University's Affirmative Action Program and in the office's 1972-73 Annual Report to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Extension Services

Educational services of the University are extended to Minnesotans through activities of the two major extension units — the Agricultural Extension Service and Continuing Education and Extension (CEE).

Agricultural Extension Service is part of the University's Institute of Agriculture located on the St. Paul campus and is responsible for the extension-continuing education function of that unit.

A University staff of 240 extension agents in 91 counties is supported by 37 area extension agents in various areas of the state and by 125 specialists and a supervisory-administrative staff of 31 located on campus.

Agricultural extension involves the cooperative efforts of three levels of government: the county through the county Extension Committee, with funds authorized by the County Board of Commissioners; the state through the University of Minnesota, with funds appropriated by the state Legislature; and the federal government through the U.S. Department of Agriculture, with funds (commonly called Smith-Lever funds) appropriated by the Congress.

The Extension Service reaches nearly a third of the persons in Minnesota each year with almost 22,000 educational programs. Extension staff provide more than 500,000 consultations, 14,000 radio broadcasts, over 600 television programs, and 21,000 news releases each year. More than a million informational publications are distributed each year in conjunction with these educational activities and in response to inquiries covering a multitude of subject fields.

For more information, write: Director, Agricultural Extension Service, 240 Coffey Hall, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101, or telephone (612) 373-1246.

Continuing Education and Extension keeps the University's door open to the people of Minnesota by means of classes, conferences, seminars, lectures, correspondence courses, individual counseling, independent study, telephone, radio, television, libraries, films, exhibits, and consulting services.

Flexible class scheduling, as to time, place, and medium, accommodates students of all ages who cannot or do not wish to attend regular day school classes, whether to pursue a degree or to acquire knowledge for vocational use or personal interests.

CEE also provides service to communities through programs for people in various economic and social groups and programs relating to services of a health-care, educational, governmental, or welfare nature.

During 1972-73 nearly 75,000 persons registered and paid fees in extension courses, both credit and noncredit, at undergraduate, post-baccalaureate, and professional levels. Except for 130,000 film bookings, no attempt is made to keep accurate count of the thousands who use library, consulting, and counseling services, view art exhibits, or listen to KUOM radio.

For more information about educational services available, write: Office of the Dean, Continuing Education and Extension, 150 Wesbrook Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn. 55455, or telephone (612) 373-3900 or 373-1246.

Honorary Degrees

Honorary degrees are conferred sparingly by the University of Minnesota. The first was given in 1925, and as of 1973 a total of only 50 had been given. Recent honorary degrees have been awarded to Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (1966), Frederick R. Kappel (1966), James P. Shannon (1966), Melvin Calvin (1969), John H. Van Vleck (1971), Harold E. Stassen (1972), and John Bardeen (1973).

James Ford Bell Museum of Natural History

The James Ford Bell Museum of Natural History, 17th and University Avenues S.E., Minneapolis, features exhibitions of the wildlife of Minnesota, a natural history library, extensive study collections of birds, mammals, reptiles, and fish, and the Jaques Gallery of natural history art.

The museum is free and is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday (Wednesday until 9 p.m.), and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Guide services are available to groups of 15 or more upon advance request. A bookstore in the lobby sells prints, stationery, and bird call recordings. Call (612) 373-2423 for further information.

The museum's Touch and See Room is an area built at a child's level; all objects may be handled. Pelts, bones, and mounted heads of animals are displayed for a child's close inspection. The Touch and See Room is air conditioned and contains a reading room with a wide collection of children's books, maintained by the Minneapolis Public Library Children's Department.

Landscape Arboretum

The University of Minnesota's Landscape Arboretum is a 558-acre horticulture research facility and outdoor scientific laboratory. The Arboretum, four miles west of Chanhassen on State Highway 5, is used by University horticulturists to test and develop hardy ornamental shrubs and trees for landscaping homes, other buildings, and highway areas in Minnesota. Purpose of this research is to increase the number of varieties that will withstand Minnesota's severe climatic conditions.

In 1958, the University received the deed to a 160-acre tract of woodland and meadow from the Minnesota State Horticultural Society, along with a check for initial development of the site. Maintenance of the Arboretum's more than 3,000 plantings is financed jointly by the University and by gifts from private donors.

Miles of woodland trails make it possible to walk through the Arboretum to study the carefully labeled plantings. Limited picnic facilities are available.

A new Education and Research building has just been completed and will provide year-round space for research and educational activities. The $1,500,000 structure was built with private donations.

Minnesota Orchestra

The Minnesota Orchestra, founded in 1903 and now under the direction of Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, performs several series on campus in Northrop Memorial Auditorium: 20 symphony concerts on Friday evenings from October through May; seven "Adventure in Music" concerts on Sunday afternoons from November through May; and special concerts throughout the season.

News Services

News of all-University or Twin Cities campus significance is prepared, edited, and distributed by the University News Service on the Twin Cities campus. News services are also located on the Duluth, Morris, Crookston, and Waseca campuses. In addition, special news services handle information for the Institute of Agriculture and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, Twin Cities campus.

Eastcliff, home of the President of the University of Minnesota, was a gift from the Edward Brooks family to the University in 1958. Mr. Brooks, a prominent Northwest lumberman, built the home in 1922. The 18-room white Georgian colonial occupies a two-acre homesite that also includes a swimming pool, tennis court, flower gardens, shrubbery, and stately trees. The home and grounds at 176 North Mississippi River Boulevard are maintained by the University.

Copies are available through the Bulletin and Service Bureau, B-3 Morrill Hall, Minneapolis. A complete set is in the University Archives, Walter Library, Minneapolis.

Campus and departmental publications include a variety of newsletters, magazines, and other publications that report on the activities of individual campuses, academic units, departments, and organizations.

Theatre

40 Each year the University Theatre on the Twin Cities campus presents a diversified program of living drama, featuring classics as well as contemporary and experimental productions. There are also plays for young people, workshop productions, and numerous student-directed plays.

In fall 1973, the University Theatre moved to the new Rarig Center on the West Bank. Productions are scheduled for the Whiting Proscenium Theatre, the Stoll Thrust Theatre, the Arena Theatre, and the Experimental Theatre.

The Centennial Showboat plays a full summer season on the Mississippi River, producing a wide variety of plays ranging from melodrama to Shakespeare. The Peppermint Tent, located on the east bank of the Mississippi, presents two plays for youngsters each summer. A Rarig Center Summer Festival of Circuit Productions is to be initiated during the summer of 1974.

Bush Foundation fellowships offer graduate theatre student-artists a unique opportunity to work on advanced degrees at the University and to intern for one season with the Guthrie Theatre Company.

At Duluth, two basic objectives are pursued by the UMD Theater. The first is to provide practical theatrical experience for students who choose theatre arts as a vocation; the second is to provide an opportunity to view legitimate stage productions as another part of the individual's liberal education.

The production program consists of three main stage presentations directed and designed by the theatre faculty. A number of studio productions are directed by students under the supervision of the departmental staff.

UMD Theater also offers summer theatre productions in conjunction with summer session classes.

At Morris, the UMM Theatre correlates its classroom work with at least one major production each quarter and one or two student-directed experimental or laboratory productions each year. These, plus other extracurricular activities (including the student drama organization, The Morris Meiningens), provide opportunities for student participation in all areas of the theatre arts and exposure to a variety of dramatic experiences and staging methods including arena, thrust, proscenium, outdoor, and reader's theatre production.

The UMC Trojan Players, the student drama organization, produce three plays each year.

University Libraries

With collections totaling over three million volumes, the University of Minnesota Library ranks tenth in size among those of American universities. In addition to the humanities and social science resources in Wilson Library, the basic science and technology collection in Walter Library, and the agriculture and home economics materials in the St. Paul Campus Central Library, there are more than 20 subject libraries on the Twin Cities campus.

The Duluth campus library has more than 184,000 volumes and receives more than 2,000 foreign and domestic magazines, newspapers, and other periodicals. The collection emphasizes liberal arts subject areas, and its resources are expanding rapidly to support developing post-baccalaureate programs.

With the Phase II addition to the Morris Library scheduled for completion in early 1974, there will be reading space for 600 students and shelves for 160,000 books, more than doubling the present capacity. The library serves as a repository for selected government documents. Through a statewide teletype network called Mini-Tex, UMM students have access to all college libraries in Minnesota. The library is open to the public, and is available for use 90 hours per week.

The library collection at Crookston emphasizes holdings in the areas of agriculture, business, and hotel, restaurant, and institutional management. Other media are also available to support the technical college curricula.

The Learning Resources Center on the Waseca campus includes the specialized collection of post-secondary, technical materials that relate to the broad fields of agriculture. In addition to the books, periodicals, pamphlets, microfilm, and audio-visual materials, this new facility houses the other support departments of printing and graphics, audio-visual services, television, and the study-skills center. The Learning Resources Center was first occupied in fall 1973.

University Press

The University of Minnesota Press, the book publishing department of the University, extends the horizons of teaching and research beyond the campus to scholars, students, and general readers. It publishes research studies, textbooks, reference works, and books for general readers by University faculty members and other scholars and writers.

The Press maintains professional editorial, design, production, sales, promotional, and business staffs and distributes its publications through established book-trade channels in the United States and abroad.

The Regents have designated the University of Minnesota Press as the agency for advising all applications for copyright in the name of the University of Minnesota. The copyright on all University materials subject to copyright is registered in the name of the University of Minnesota.

University Traditions

Campus Mascots

Minnesota has been called the Gopher State since 1857. In the early 1930's, when Minnesota

Gopher football teams were national champions, local press reporters described the University teams as the "golden-shirted horde" and the "golden swarm." At this time, the teams also changed to yellow or "golden-colored" jerseys, bringing about the name the Golden Gophers. The name has stuck for Twin Cities campus athletic teams.

The mascot at the University of Minnesota, Duluth, is the Bulldog. The name was selected in the 1930's by the Letterman's Club when the school was still the Duluth State Teachers College. The name was retained when Duluth became a University coordinate campus.

The Morris mascot is the Cougar, a name chosen in a campus-wide referendum in 1961.

The mascot at the University of Minnesota, Crookston, is the Trojan; the athletic teams are called the Trojans. The name is the result of a "Name the Team" contest conducted in 1966 by radio station KROX, Crookston. Selected by the student association on campus, the winning name was submitted by a student.

The Waseca mascot is the Ram. Selected in a campus-wide contest during the first year of the college in 1971-72, the Rams is the name for the college sports teams.

School Colors

Because the University's colors varied during the early years, William Watts Folwell, first president of the University, appointed English instructor Augusta Norwood Smith to choose permanent school colors. Mrs. Smith, "a woman of excellent taste," according to Folwell, chose maroon and gold, the University's colors today. First used sometime between 1876 and 1880, the colors were not officially approved by the Regents until March 1940.

Songs

Hail! Minnesota, the University alma mater, was written by Truman Rickard, a member of the class of 1904, for use in a 1904 class play. A second verse was written by University student Arthur Upson in 1905. In 1945, the song became the official anthem of the state of Minnesota.

The Minnesota Rouser, sung at most University athletic events, was written by Floyd M. Hutsell in 1909 in response to a contest sponsored by the Minneapolis Tribune. Hutsell, a Minneapolis choir director and voice teacher, won $100 in the contest to choose a fight song for the University.

University Seal

The antique lamp on the seal represents the metaphysical sciences; the telescope, the physical sciences; the plow, the industrial arts; and the pallet with brushes, the fine arts. The motto, written in Latin, means "a common bond for all the arts."
