CLA

Driven to Discover

We are all born with a passion to search, with a fundamental need to discover. At the University of Minnesota, this curiosity is part of our collective DNA. We provide a thriving community for those with an overwhelming drive to teach and to learn, to research, and to serve. We also celebrate those whose searches have led to the discoveries that have changed the world. At the U of M, we continually inspire the next generation of innovators and empower each other during our search for knowledge. We are Driven to Discover.

Congratulations, CLA Graduate!

We come together today—family and friends, students and faculty—to celebrate a major milestone in your life. You have studied hard to achieve the goal for which we honor you—a degree from the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Minnesota. Congratulations on your achievement!

Whatever your major—economics or art, English or Japanese, psychology or American Indian Studies—you have been privileged to learn from, and with, some of the finest professors in the country. You have listened, critiqued, challenged and been challenged, made connections, found meaning and value, explored, discovered, and created—all under the guidance of world-class scholars at one of the world's great universities.

I am confident that, wherever you go from here, your CLA undergraduate education will be a foundation for a good life, however you define it. You have not simply acquired specialized skills for a job “in your field.” You have been challenged to reach beyond today to build for tomorrow; to be a leader; to think critically and creatively; to cross intellectual and cultural boundaries; to embrace ambiguity and complexity; and to think and act with vision, courage, and wisdom.

My advice to you now is to apply these values wisely and well: do what you love and do it with gusto; never lose sight of your dreams; and remember to create opportunities for others who will follow in your footsteps. Know, too, that your first job out of college is just that—your first job. If current trends hold, you may change jobs, even careers, several times in the coming years. With your CLA education, you'll be ready when change comes. Indeed, you'll be on the leading edge of change.

I do hope that your CLA education has touched you profoundly and that what you have learned about yourself and the world will give you purpose and direction in the years ahead. I also hope that your years at the University of Minnesota truly have been some of the best years of your life.

I extend my warmest wishes for your continued success throughout your life. I hope that you will carry your degree with pride and stay connected as an alumnus/alumna of the University of Minnesota College of Liberal Arts, Class of 2007.

Sincerely,

James A. Parente, Jr.
Interim Dean, College of Liberal Arts

AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL

As the soloist steps to the microphone, please stand to join her in singing “America the Beautiful.”

O, beautiful, for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain!
For purple mountains’ majesty,
Above the fruited plain!
America, America! God shed his grace on thee!
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea!

CLOSING REMARKS

James A. Parente, Jr.
Interim Dean, College of Liberal Arts

HAIL! MINNESOTA

The audience will rise and join in singing "Hail! Minnesota" in honor of our alma mater:

Minnesota, hail to thee!
Hail to thee, our college dear!
Thy light shall ever be
A beacon bright and clear,
Thy sons and daughters true
Will proclaim thee near and far;
They will guard thy fame
And adore thy name;
Thou shalt be their Northern Star.

RECESSIONAL

"The Earl of Oxford's March," William Byrd

The audience is asked to remain seated until the graduates and others in the academic procession have marched out.

A reception will be held immediately following the ceremony for graduates, family, faculty, and guests in the Northrop Lobby.

Graduates, families, faculty, and guests are invited to a reception from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at Eastcliff, the home of University of Minnesota President Robert Bruininks and Susan Hagstrum, 176 North Mississippi River Boulevard, St. Paul.

This commencement ceremony is being professionally videotaped. To order tapes or DVDs, see page 25 of this program book.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Driven to Discover

Ranked among the nation's top public universities, the University of Minnesota reflects the state of Minnesota's strong and enduring commitment to education. It is nearly unique among universities in the United States in its three defining characteristics:

- It is an international research university.
- It is a public land-grant institution with a strong tradition of education and public service.
- Its largest campus—the Twin Cities campus—is located in a vibrant metropolitan area with not one, but two great cities at its center: Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The University is the primary center in Minnesota (and much of the Upper Midwest) for education and research in the liberal arts and sciences, health sciences, law, education, engineering, agriculture, and natural resources. The Twin Cities campus comprises 17 colleges and offers a full range of academic and professional degrees. A comprehensive campus in Duluth offers undergraduate and graduate programs. The Morris campus offers a four-year liberal arts program. Crookston offers associate and baccalaureate degrees in technical, career-oriented programs. Through the Minnesota Extension Service, the University is present in each of Minnesota's 87 counties.

When the University was founded as a preparatory school in 1851, Minnesota had been a territory for just two years, and statehood was still seven years away.

The school was built on little more than the pioneers' faith in education. In its early years, the University struggled financially; during the Civil War, it was forced to close. It reopened in 1867, thanks to the energetic leadership of Governor John S. Pillsbury, who came to be known as the "Father of the University." Mathematics Professor William Watts Folwell became the University's first president in 1869. Robert Bruininks is the University's fifteenth president.

Two students received bachelor of arts degrees at the first commencement in June 1873. Since then, the University has granted nearly 600,000 degrees.

University alumni include five Nobel Prize winners, a former chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, two former U.S. vice presidents, the heads of Fortune 500 companies, pioneers in medicine, civil rights leaders, top journalists, distinguished teachers and scholars, performing artists, and countless other men and women who have achieved distinction in every field.

Alumni and their families and friends are always welcome at the University. We invite you to visit campus regularly to enjoy the many educational, cultural, and entertainment opportunities that are open to the public—including performances by students in CLA's vibrant arts programs. We also invite you to continue your relationship with the University through the Minnesota Alumni Association and the CLA Alumni Society.

THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

creating the future, transforming lives

In 1869, 18 years after the founding of the University, the College of Liberal Arts (CLA)—then the College of Science, Literature and Arts (SLA)—offered its first classes at the University of Minnesota. Since then, it has become an international center for education in the arts and sciences, humanities, and social sciences.

The liberal arts span all areas of human knowledge, enterprise, and aspirations.

The college offers more than 60 majors, with study and research opportunities in fields ranging from anthropology to women's studies. Students whose interests cross disciplines may also choose to design individualized major programs.

The majority of students who enter CLA as first-year students complete their undergraduate education in CLA. Others complete their basic liberal arts coursework in the college and then transfer to other units of the University. The college offers strong preprofessional programs with close ties to the health sciences and other professional schools at the University.

There are more than 16,700 undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in CLA programs. Approximately 540 permanent faculty members—teachers and scholars of international stature—share with students their vast knowledge, their provocative insights, and the most current research in their fields.

CLA students acquire both breadth of knowledge and particular depth and proficiency in a specialized field of knowledge. Whatever their majors, students complete an education based broadly in the liberal arts. Courses necessary to meet general education requirements introduce students to modes of inquiry and subject matter across the major branches of knowledge.

This education is the very best preparation for lives and careers in a rapidly changing world—a solid grounding in ideas and knowledge across disciplines, across centuries, across cultures, and across geographic boundaries, as well as in critical analysis, communication, and research methodologies.

Equipped with this education, graduates of the College of Liberal Arts bring into the world the communication skills, critical and innovative thinking, creativity, and intellectual versatility needed for a lifetime of learning and leadership. If you want to learn more about the College of Liberal Arts, we invite you to explore our Web site: <http://www.cla.umn.edu>.

TIM JOHNSON
ARTHUR "RED" MOTLEY EXEMPLARY TEACHING AWARD
Department of Political Science

Testimonial after testimonial from his students makes it abundantly clear that associate professor Timothy Johnson is one of those rare instructors who has a lasting impact not only on his students' knowledge of a particular subject, but also on their broader outlook and interests.

"I have visited his office numerous times, often unscheduled and outside of office hours, to discuss various details of a class or a research project, and he always makes time for my questions," says a former student.

"Through a combination of his dry wit, his confident poise, his remarkable eloquence, and his sheer passion for the material, Professor Johnson is not only a man that you can learn from—he is a man that you want to learn from," says another.

"Tim doesn't believe that his duties as a faculty member stop when class ends," says an admirer. Rather, he goes above and beyond what is required of him as a professor to make sure that his students are receiving the best education possible."

In his six years at the University of Minnesota, Johnson has built up a particularly distinguished track record as a teacher who cares, inspires, and educates. He's open to students' questions about Supreme Court decisions, best course options, grad schools, and last night's Green Bay Packer game. He engages his students by encouraging classroom participation. For Professor Johnson, the bottom line is that his door is always open, whether he's advising students on major and career choices, individual projects, or life in general.

"I gauge my success by the extent to which I open students' eyes to, and make them excited about, politics and political science," Johnson says.

Johnson's areas of expertise are American politics, judicial politics, and the United States Supreme Court. He regularly teaches courses at all levels, from freshman to graduate students. "American Politics: The View from Hollywood" and "American Politics: Law and Film in America" are two unique honors courses that Johnson has made popular.

His passion for teaching extends beyond higher education. Johnson has directed the political science component of the U's College in the Schools program for the past four years, reaching out to high school students. He also has taught "The Politics of the Supreme Court" for the Compleat Scholar Program in the College of Continuing Education.

Also a highly productive scholar, Johnson has two published books, nine peer-reviewed journal articles, and two collaborative grants from the National Science Foundation. His first grant supports his effort to digitize all U.S. Supreme Court oral arguments from 1955 to the present, with an emphasis on using the audio to analyze how oral arguments affect the Court's decisions. The second grant supports his examination of how precedent affects judges' decisions in the American legal system.

Prior to joining the University of Minnesota faculty, Johnson was an assistant professor of political science at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. He received his Ph.D. and M.A. in political science from Washington University in St. Louis. He received his B.A. magna cum laude from Gustavus Adolphus College.

WILL STEGER

ENVIRONMENTALIST, POLAR EXPLORER, AND AUTHOR

Keynote Speaker

Will Steger has been an eyewitness to the ongoing catastrophic consequences of global warming. A formidable voice calling for understanding and the preservation of the Arctic and the Earth, Will Steger is best known for his legendary polar explorations. He has traveled tens of thousands of miles by kayak and dog-sled, leading teams on some of the most significant polar expeditions in history.

The Will Steger Foundation is committed to fostering leadership and cooperation through environmental education and policy. The Foundation's first initiative, Global Warming 101, engages and empowers individuals and policymakers to translate their concern into action on this critical issue. The Foundation has launched a series of global warming focused expeditions: Baffin Island in 2007, Ellesmere Island, Greenland and Western Antarctica in 2008–2009.

Steger led the first confirmed dogsled journey to the North Pole without resupply (1986), the 1,600-mile south-north traverse of Greenland (the longest unsupported dogsled expedition in history in 1988), the first dogsled traverse of Antarctica (the historic seven month, 3,471-mile International Trans-Antarctica Expedition in 1989–1990), and the first dogsled traverse of the Arctic Ocean in one season from Russia to Ellesmere Island in Canada (1995).

Steger received his B.S. in geology and M.A. in education at the University of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn., and taught science for three years at the secondary level. In 1970, he moved from his birthplace in suburban Minneapolis to the wilderness north of Ely, Minn. There, he founded a winter school and developed innovative wilderness programs for 10 years. In 1991, Steger received an Honorary Doctorate of Letters from the University of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., and Honorary Doctorate of Science, Westminster College, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Steger's ability to blend extreme exploration with cutting-edge technology has allowed him to reach people around the world, under some of the most hostile conditions on the planet, and to be a pioneer in online education. Over 20 million students followed the 1995 International Arctic Project via online daily journal entries and the first-ever transmission of a digital photograph from the North Pole.

A recognized authority and ceaseless advocate for the environment, Steger has been invited to testify before the United States Congress, as well as advising world leaders on the environmental protection of Antarctica. He was appointed by Governor Tim Pawlenty in 2006 to serve on the Minnesota Climate Change Advisory Group, a group charged with recommending a Climate Action Plan to substantially reduce Minnesota's greenhouse gas emissions. He founded the Global Center of Environmental Education at Hamline University and the World School for Adventure Learning at the University of St. Thomas. He is the author of four books: Over the Top of the World, Crossing Antarctica, North to the Pole, and Saving the Earth.

LIBERAL ARTS DEGREES

The College of Liberal Arts offers five bachelor's degrees—bachelor of arts (B.A.), bachelor of individualized studies (B.I.S.), bachelor of fine arts (B.F.A.), bachelor of music (B.M.), and bachelor of science (B.S.). The bachelor's degrees have many requirements in common.

DEGREE CANDIDATES

Subject to successful completion, degrees will be conferred on those students listed below and on others meeting all curriculum requirements for graduation. Honor citations are provisional and do not become final until all requirements are met for the level indicated. Degrees and degree candidates are listed alphabetically in this program.

HONORS DESIGNATIONS—Honors graduates complete college and departmental honors requirements, including completing honors projects in their majors, with a minimum G.P.A. of 3.5 for the last 60 credits of their undergraduate career. Students meeting these minimum requirements may graduate cum laude. Students graduating magna cum laude have a minimum G.P.A. of 3.66. Students graduating summa cum laude have a minimum G.P.A. of 3.75 and have completed a summa thesis that has been approved by three readers, one of whom is outside the discipline of the major.

DEGREES WITH DISTINCTION—Students graduating “with distinction” must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.75 or higher in University of Minnesota coursework at the time of graduation; students graduating “with high distinction” must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.90 or higher. At least 60 of the total number of semester credits must have been completed at the University of Minnesota. * indicates “with distinction”;  indicates “with high distinction.”

Students graduating with the Community Engagement Scholars distinction have completed at least 9 credits of service-learning course work, at least 400 hours of community service, and a series of reflective pieces. They also have completed an integrative community project that results in the creation of a sustainable project for a community organization. ♦ indicates Community Engagement Scholar.

THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

This degree can be earned through majors in most CLA departments and programs. Its breadth and diversity in general education make it valuable as a base for many kinds of careers or for advanced study. CLA offers several professional majors and specializations as well as interdepartmental programs for the B.A. degree.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

ACADEMIC COSTUME

Academic gowns date back to the 14th century, when they served two functions of nearly equal importance: to indicate the academic rank of the wearer and to keep the scholar warm in the drafty stone halls of academia.

The markings, cut, and color of modern-day academic-costume—cap, gown, and sometimes hood—indicate the academic degree, the field of study, and the institution that granted the degree.

Bachelor's degree gowns are black and untrimmed. A tassel hanging from the mortar board worn on the head is color-coded by college at the University of Minnesota. The College of Liberal Arts tassel is white. Honors graduates wear a medallion adorned with a maroon and gold ribbon.

Master's degree gowns, black and untrimmed, have pointed sleeves. Doctoral gowns in the United States traditionally have been black with velvet front facings and crossbars on the sleeves, but in recent years a number of universities have adopted gowns of distinctive school colors.

A new University of Minnesota Ph.D. gown and matching tam made their appearance in 1988 to celebrate the centenary of the first Minnesota doctor of philosophy degree. The new Minnesota gown is maroon-trimmed with black velvet chevrons and gold metallic braid. The traditional gown may still be worn.

The Minnesota hood, which may be worn by anyone with a doctoral degree from the University of Minnesota, is black with maroon chevron on gold. Each institution has its own pattern of colors on the hood, worn around the neck and down the back of the gown. The length and shape of the hood identify the most advanced degree the wearer has earned, and the velvet edging shows the field: blue for doctor of philosophy, light blue for doctor of education, and pink for doctor of musical arts.

At commencement ceremonies those who already have the doctoral degree wear hoods. Degree candidates wear the gowns appropriate for the degrees they are about to receive, and new doctorates are hooded on stage.

THE MACE

The University of Minnesota mace was carried for the first time in 1961 by Regents' Professor of Physics Alfred O.C. Nier at the inauguration of President O. Meredith Wilson. Art professor Philip Morton designed the mace: a crystal sphere four inches in diameter surmounted by the North Star, symbol of the state of Minnesota, on a solid aluminum handle set with the University regents' seal.

THE NORTHROP ORGAN

Comprising 108 ranks of pipes, the Northrop Memorial Auditorium organ is not only one of the largest organs in the Upper Midwest but also one of the finest examples in the United States of a late-Romantic concert-hall organ. Built in 1932, the organ is located in the ceiling of the auditorium, above the stage and behind the proscenium, and is played from a console on an elevator platform in the orchestra pit. Unlike many large organs from its era, the Northrop organ is completely unaltered and entirely in its original condition. Persons interested in events that feature the Northrop organ may contact The Friends of the Northrop Organ, c/o the School of Music, University of Minnesota, 2106 Fourth Street South, Minneapolis, MN 55455.

The University of Minnesota is committed to the policy that all persons shall have equal access to its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, sex, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, or sexual orientation.

Smoking is not permitted in any University building. We appreciate your cooperation with this policy.
