Processional

At 12:00 (4:00), the United States, State of Minnesota, and Regents flags and the University of Minnesota mace will be carried onto the stage, heralding the arrival of the academic procession of candidates. In the procession will be a member of the Board of Regents, administrators, faculty, distinguished guests, and undergraduate degree candidates.

“America the Beautiful”

As soloist Kathleen Hardy (4:00), Julie Grief (12:00) step to the microphone, the entire audience will stand and join in singing.

O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain--
For purple mountain majesties
America! America!
God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood,
From sea to shining sea.

Welcome

Dean Julia M. Davis

The audience is requested to remain seated until the degree candidates and faculty have marched out.

Reception on the mall following the 12:00 noon ceremony.

The University of Minnesota

The University of Minnesota, ranked among the nation's top ten public universities, reflects the commitment to education of a state that is only 21st in population. It is almost alone among universities in the United States in its combination of three characteristics; an international research university, a land-grant institution with a strong tradition of education and public service, and a metropolitan academic community.

The Twin Cities campus, the University's largest campus, is made up of 20 colleges and offers the full range of academic and professional degrees. A comprehensive campus in Duluth offers undergraduates and graduate programs. The Morris campus offers a four-year liberal arts program. A two-year technical college in Crookston provides paraprofessional and technical education, primarily in agriculture-related fields. Through the Minnesota Extension Service, the University is present in each of Minnesota's 87 counties.

The University is the primary center in Minnesota (and parts of the surrounding region) for instruction and research in the health sciences, law, engineering, agriculture, and forestry; it offers all of the graduate-level programs in these fields. In all the arts and sciences and in teacher preparation the University is the only doctorate-granting institution in the state.

When the University was founded as a preparatory school in 1851, Minnesota had been a territory for just two years, and statehood was still seven years away. The school was built on not much more than the pioneers' faith in education. The University struggled financially in its early years and was forced to close during the Civil War. It reopened in 1867.

Two students received bachelor of arts degrees at the first commencement in June 1873. Since then, the University has granted a total of 462,042 degrees. Students earn undergraduate and graduate degrees in more than 250 fields of study.

The Duluth campus joined the University in 1974, the Morris campus opened in 1960, the Crookston campus in 1966, and the Waseca campus, which opened in 1971, closed in August 1992.

Enrollment in fall 1992 was 48,994 on all five campuses. Enrollment was 38,019 on the Twin Cities campus, 7,649 at Duluth, 1,923 at Morris, and 1,352 at Crookston, and 51 students were completing degrees at Waseca.

During the 1991-1992 academic year, the University of Minnesota conferred 10,920 degrees on all its campuses.

University alumni include four Nobel Prize winners, a former chief justice of the United States, two former vice presidents, the heads of Fortune 500 companies, pioneers in medicine, civil rights leaders, top journalists, and men and women who have achieved distinction in every field.

Alumni and their families and friends are always welcome at the University. Alumni are invited to continue their relationship with the University through the Minnesota Alumni Association and its college groups.

The College of Liberal Arts

At the heart of every great university is a college encompassing the basic disciplines of knowledge. That college at the University of Minnesota is the College of Liberal Arts (CLA). The college was formally established in 1868, 17 years after the founding of the University.

The traditional branches of knowledge are housed here—the social sciences, the humanities and fine arts, and the natural sciences. In addition, the college offers professional programs with close ties to these fields. Study and research opportunities are available in more than 60 major areas, from the usual, such as English, economics, history, to the less usual, such as women's studies, theoretical statistics, and speech and hearing science. They include disciplines as old as philosophy and as new as computer science. A student may also choose to design an individualized major program.

About 13,800 undergraduate students and about 2,000 graduate students were enrolled in CLA programs in fall 1992. The college is staffed by nearly 510 permanent faculty members who can share the most current research in their fields.

Many students complete their education in CLA. Others take their basic liberal arts coursework in the college and then transfer to another unit of the University such as the Carlson School of Management or one of the health science schools.

The degree requirements established by the college are designed to provide an education solidly based in the liberal arts. Courses necessary to meet general education requirements introduce students to modes of inquiry and subject matter characteristics of the major branches of knowledge.

A liberal education means not only a breadth of knowledge, but depth and proficiency in a single field of knowledge. Students are required to select a major project, usually a written paper.

The College of Liberal Arts' faculty believes a liberal arts education gives students the analytical skills and flexibility needed for shaping their lives and for adapting to new careers.

Honors & Awards

Morse Alumni Award and Distinguished Teaching Award

Students and colleagues have praised Psychology Professor Marti Hope Gonzales for the energy, clarity, and relevance of her lectures, and for the contributions she makes to education outside the classroom. Wrote one student, “she communicates her considerable skills as a scholar and a researcher to her students in a manner that is both enlightening and infectious.”

Others attribute her success in edifying and motivating students to her enthusiastic participation with them in the process of learning to think critically about human social behavior.

Gonzales’s commitment to education extends beyond the classroom. She works to improve and evaluate existing courses, to develop new courses, to assist graduate students in their efforts to become better teachers, and to involve bright, motivated undergraduates in her ongoing research projects. “Accessible” is an adjective frequently used to describe Gonzales; she’s “omnipresent,” and invariably eager to meet with students outside of class to discuss their course work, research, and personal and professional plans and goals.

Gonzales works first and foremost to ensure that students participate in the learning enterprise with the excitement, good humor, and profound pleasure that she herself embodies, and as one student noted, she does so “with an engaging mind, a sharp wit, and a strong dose of humanity.”

Morse Alumni Award

Dr. Rose M. Brewer is an Associate Professor and chair of the Afro-American and African Studies Department at the University of Minnesota. She received her M. A. and Ph.D. degrees in Sociology from Indiana University-Bloomington and was a NIMH post-doctoral fellow at the University of Chicago. Her research and writings are in the areas of the Black family, race, class and gender, public policy, and African women in the diaspora. Her most recent book is

Bridges of Power: Women's Multicultural Alliances (with Lisa Albrecht). She is currently working on a book manuscript titled Race, Gender and Political Economy: The African American Case since the New Deal. In addition she has published a number of articles and chapters on race, class and gender.

Rose Brewer's extraordinary ability to touch the lives of undergraduates, graduate students, faculty colleagues locally and nationally, administrators and community people all attest to her gifts as a teacher, advisor, mentor, scholar and educational leader. As one of her students states: "She will forever share credit for my accomplishments. She is my mentor, friend and a woman that I identify as one I anticipate cloning...To honor Professor Brewer is to honor myself in that we are in the same struggle together as African American women, mothers, sisters and educators with a common goal. Our association is forever and my gratitude for her concern for me is eternal." Brewer has made a unique contribution in her work with students of color. In helping students overcome the alienating tendencies of being in a large and predominantly white institution, Rose has been a role model, taking personal interest in how students are doing. Students feel comfortable with her because of how approachable she is.

Distinguished Teaching Award

Naomi Schemen's reputation as a superb and challenging teacher extends to the widest range of students -- undergraduates and graduates, in day and extension, summer session and weekend programs. She engages students at all levels of intellectual sophistication and with widely diverse backgrounds. Through her stimulating lectures, careful selection of readings, and innovative classroom structures and assignments, Schemen encourages students to analyze difficult and complex questions.

A teaching assistant writes: She "brings, first and foremost, a deep and abiding respect for all the students with whom she comes in contact." She "views herself not as the bearer of truth, but as one member in a large and ever expanding community of knowers and learners." Her commitment to the expansion and empowerment of this community is evident in her work on curriculum transformation to include marginalized voices, and with students in extracurricular settings such as the feminist philosophy group and the Sexual Violence Program.

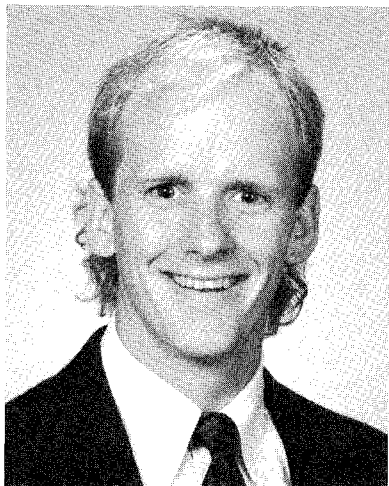

Perhaps the strongest testament is expressed in an undergraduate student's desire to emulate her: "Professor Schemen is a model for me of the possibilities of being in the academy with an objective not only of scholarly pursuits but of . . . social change. Her consistent challenge to students to think harder, think deeper, to struggle with complicated issues -- these are the things I want to someday do myself as a professor."

Commencement Addresses

“The Challenge”

Speaker Tim E. Wolf Thibodeaux is a native of Minnesota. He will be graduating this Spring with an Urban Studies major. He is a candidate for magna cum laude honors. Tim has participated in the Minority Scholars and Ronald C. McNair Scholars Programs, and is a Humphrey Institute Research Fellow and a Harry S. Truman Scholarship recipient. In addition to being a full-time student, Tim also directs the Student Advocate Service. Tim has served on a number of University task forces and committees during his college tenure, among them the University Diversity Task Force, the MSA Executive Committee, and the University Senate. Tim plans on a public service career, and is primarily interested in legal and educational reform.

“To Have Succeeded”

Speaker Stephen Swanson spent most of his childhood in East Asia. He will be graduating this Spring with a major in Child Psychology. He is a candidate for summa cum laude honors. Stephen worked as a volunteer with disadvantaged children in the Phillipines, India, and Sri Lanka before entering the University. He has continued his volunteer efforts during his undergraduate experience, working with the Children’s Defense Fund, the American Red Cross, and various urban neighborhood children. He is a recipient of the Harry S. Truman award and a three time Selmer Birkelo Scholarship winner. Upon graduation, Stephen will sell his motorcycle and pet ferret and begin medical school at Harvard. He is ultimately interested in child advocacy through medicine.

Liberal Arts Degrees

The College of Liberal Arts offers five bachelor's degrees--bachelor of arts (B.A.), bachelor of fine arts (B.F.A.), bachelor of science (B.S.), bachelor of individualized studies (B.I.S.), and bachelor of music (B.M.). The bachelor's degrees have many requirements in common.

Students making satisfactory academic progress are generally free to select the major and minor of their choice. Some programs, however, limit the number of majors admitted (the B.F.A., the B.M., computer science, the B.S. in economics, English, international relations, journalism, music, political science, speech communications, and biology in CLA, as well as some health science programs and some programs in other colleges).

Degree Candidates

Subject to successful completion, degrees will be conferred on those students listed below and on others meeting all curriculum requirements for graduation. Honor citations are provisional and do not become final until all requirements are met for the level indicated. Degrees are listed alphabetically with this program.

Associate in Liberal Arts

The Associate of Liberal Arts is a two-year degree, now discontinued, that is comprised of a portion of the general education requirements for the baccalaureate degree. This degree is conferred only upon special permission of the college.

Toinette Battle

James Richard Clobes

Lenore T. Fries

Jay Allen Scheffler

Bachelor of Arts

This degree can be earned through majors in most CLA departments and programs. Its breadth and diversity in general education make it valuable as a base for many kinds of careers or for advanced study. CLA offers several professional majors and specializations as well as interdepartmental programs for the B.A. degree.

College of Liberal Arts Commencement Committee

The following individuals coordinate and conduct all elements of the CLA commencement ceremonies: Carol Hondl, Roseanne Duffee, Ann Minnick, and Sharlene Sando.

We would like to thank the members of ALPHA SIGMA KAPPA for donating their time as marshals at these ceremonies.
