CONTINUING AND DISTANCE EDUCATION

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Saturday, June 6, 1998

1:30-3:30 p.m.

Ted Mann Concert Hall
University of Minnesota
Twin Cities Campus

Dear 1998 University College Graduates:

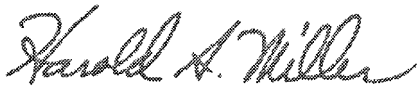

Congratulations on your graduation from University College and the University of Minnesota!

For 85 years, University College has provided students at the University of Minnesota with the opportunity to pursue their educational goals through access to many University of Minnesota courses, degrees, and several specialized degree programs such as the Inter-College Program, the Program for Individualized Learning, and most recently the Bachelor of Information Networking and the Bachelor of Applied Business. For many of you receiving your degrees today, the pursuit of a degree has included combining work, study, and family responsibilities. Your perseverance and dedication is to be commended and applauded.

In today's competitive workplace, a baccalaureate degree is an essential credential. While you have every reason to celebrate your completion of this degree, it represents as much a starting point as a point of completion. Continuous learning to update your skills and knowledge will be a necessity as you strive to keep up with the constant changes in your field and the world around you. University College, through its professional updating programs and career development courses, can help you maintain the professional edge you will need throughout your work life.

Again, I congratulate you and welcome you as University College alumni. We in University College look forward to maintaining connections with you in the future. Best wishes for continued success throughout your lives.

Sincerely,

University College — Serving the Nontraditional Learner for 85 Years

University College's vision is firmly rooted in the understanding that lifelong learning and flexible access to education — both on campus and from a distance — are essential to the lives of individuals and organizations. University College has provided outstanding educational opportunities for 85 years to adult, part-time, summer, and distance learners to gain the knowledge they need to advance their careers, meet their interests, and earn degrees.

The name University College is associated in England and the United States with academic distinction and broadened access. These qualities are appropriate to the program innovation Minnesotans have come to expect from one of this country's most comprehensive continuing education programs for nontraditional and part-time students.

Last year we celebrated the merger of two academic units — the Inter-College Program and the Program for Individualized Learning — with Continuing Education and Extension, which for decades has served the adult and part-time student. We combined to form the new University College.

University College will continue to be the University of Minnesota's major point of educational access for the nontraditional learner as we fulfill our new vision — to meet the career development and continuing education needs of women and men in the 21st century.

Commencement Keynote Speaker

Alexs Pate

Author and Lecturer

This year's keynote speaker is Alexs Pate, author of Amistad. Pate is a lecturer at Macalester College who has also served as distinguished writer-in-residence for University College's Compleat and Practical Scholar program.

Pate is also well known for his work, Losing Absalom. His most recent novel, Amistad, was commissioned by Dreamworks/SKG and is based on a screenplay by David Franzoni. It became a New York Times Bestseller and is a major motion picture directed by Steven Spielberg.

The National Anthem

O, say! can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

University of Minnesota Alma Mater

Minnesota, hail to thee!
Hail to thee, our college dear!
Thy light shall ever be
A beacon bright and clear,
Thy sons and daughters true
Will proclaim thee near and far;
They will guard thy fame
And adore thy name'
Thou shalt be their Northern Star.

The Bachelor of Applied Business Degree

The Bachelor of Applied Business (B.A.B.) degree was developed by the Twin Cities Higher Education Partnership, an alliance of public higher education institutions committed to meeting the growing educational needs of the seven-county metropolitan area.

The B.A.B. is a practitioner-oriented degree intended for adult and part-time students. Courses included in the B.A.B. degree address real-world business issues and relate workplace skills to student experience. It is offered by University College in cooperation with local community colleges.

The Program for Individualized Learning

The Program for Individualized Learning (PIL) is a self-designed baccalaureate degree program offered through University College.

In 1972, the program — then known as University Without Walls — admitted its first students. Graduates of PIL work in a broad range of professions, including health care, law, the arts, business, and education. These dedicated graduates have completed either a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree in which they assumed responsibility for their education in collaboration with faculty and advisers at the University of Minnesota.

The degrees of PIL graduates represent academic rigor and a combination of classroom and independent learning. For many PIL graduates, the degrees they receive today also incorporate prior experiential learning. As accomplished self-directed learners, PIL graduates have acquired specialized or interdisciplinary degrees embedded in the strong liberal arts tradition of the University of Minnesota

The Inter-College Program

A Tradition of Student-Centered Education

Since established by the Board of Regents in 1930, the Inter-College Program (ICP) has offered undergraduate students the opportunity to work with faculty and college advisers to design individualized, cross-collegiate bachelor's degrees to meet their particular interests, goals, and backgrounds.

Thousands of undergraduates have received ICP degrees by thoughtfully combining the rich resources of the University of Minnesota. Due to the thorough planning required for the ICP individualized degree, ICP graduates leave the University not only with their successful academic records and learning, but also prepared to clearly communicate their plans and accomplishments as they undertake careers, further education, and community involvement.

Academic Costume History

Academic gowns date back to the 14th century, when they served two functions of nearly equal importance -- to indicate the academic rank of the wearer and to keep the scholar warm in the drafty stone halls of academia.

The markings, cut, and colors of modern-day academic costume -- cap, gown, and sometimes hood -- indicate the academic degree, the field of study, and the institution that granted the degree.

The cap at the University of Minnesota is the same for all academic degrees. The long point of the shell should be worn to the back. Tassels are fastened to the top of the cap and hang on either side "as the wind blows." Bachelor's degrees gowns are used by candidates for the bachelor of arts, elected studies, fine arts, and science degrees. The bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves and is worn closed at the top. Women may wear white collars. Hoods are not worn, but caps are.

The Latin honors insignia should be worn around the neck. Honors ribbons need not be returned; once awarded they belong to the graduate.

The Nolte-Miller Scholarship

In recognition of 27 years of stellar leadership by Harold A. Miller, Dean of University College, the Nolte Scholarship has been renamed the Nolte-Miller Scholarship for Continuing Education. The Nolte Scholarship was established in 1987 in honor of Dean Julius Nolte, who served from 1943-63.

The scholarship benefits nontraditional adult students who pursue their education through University College.

To make a tax deductible contribution to the fund, in honor of Dean Miller on his retirement or in honor of an exemplary graduate, make checks payable to The Nolte-Miller Scholarship Fund and mail to The Nolte-Miller Scholarship Fund, University College Development, University of Minnesota, 150 Westbrook Hall, 77 Pleasant Street S.E., Minneapolis, MN 55455.
