Minnesota has been at the forefront of modern medicine every year for the past century, and we will continue to be leaders. With the graduation of the class of 1993 we again make a major contribution to the world of medicine. These graduates have accomplished what few people can. They have successfully completed one of the toughest curriculums of any profession. These ceremonies honor them and their accomplishments.

The ceremony to create a doctor has many traditions. The most important is the "Oath for New Physicians." Through the ages, physicians have been brought into the profession by reciting the Hippocratic Oath, a tradition dating back to the fourth century B.C. In recent years, this oath has been modified to reflect scientific advances and philosophical changes that affect the practice of modern medicine.

The second tradition you will witness today is the donning of the hoods. This is an academic tradition. The student will be given a hood made with the school colors. Surrounding the hood is a border of velvet, the color of which is specific for the profession into which the student is graduating. In our case, the hood will be maroon and gold, the colors of the University of Minnesota; the border will be green, the color of medicine.

Part of our ceremony is to honor the alumni from 50 years ago who have come back to help us pay tribute to our graduating physicians. We honor the graduates of the past, acknowledging the age-long tradition of medicine, and we honor those who will carry the tradition into the future. Participation of the faculty, administration, and alumni from 50 years ago signifies the continuing involvement of teachers, practitioners, and academicians with their students and the profession of medicine.

These traditions come together to make a unique ceremony that only a few people are ever privileged to witness. The graduation of these students signifies continuation of our commitment to the provision of outstanding health care for individual patients and our ongoing dedication to the health and welfare of humanity.

Welcome.

OATH FOR NEW PHYSICIANS

In the tradition of Hippocrates and the men and women through the ages who have dedicated their lives to the art and science of medicine I make the following pledge:

The respect and dignity of patients, and the confidential nature of our relationship is foremost in my service to them. I will value their lives as I value my own.

I acknowledge my limitations and need for continued education. I will seek the knowledge and inspiration of my colleagues, friends, and patients.

My work shall be dedicated to improving the quality of life for those who seek my assistance. I will honor the wishes and needs of the patient, recognizing that death is not always an enemy. I will do no harm.

I will strive always to improve the practice of medicine, to provide a level of care that is ethical, moral, and just. I expect the same standards from my colleagues and will not tolerate their indifference, greed, or unethical behavior.

My profession is an honored one. I will not violate the trust society has placed in me by allowing religion, race, or creed to affect my judgment or ability to take care of patients. I will be humble.

I will consider the tools of my profession to be knowledge, compassion, and patience. I will share these tools freely with my colleagues and patients alike.

I shall do my utmost to provide the vulnerable members of society the care and attention they need to assure their health, dignity, and protection. I see all life as sacred.

In the presence of my teachers, my family, and my friends I make these promises solemnly and freely. With this oath I willingly assume the rewards and responsibilities of a physician.

Presentation of Honorary Degree

Doctor of Science

M. Joycelyn Elders, United States Surgeon General

Native and resident of Arkansas. Newly appointed United States surgeon general. Director, Arkansas Department of Health, Little Rock, 1987-1993. At the University of Arkansas Medical Center: professor in pediatrics, 1976-1987; associate professor in pediatrics, 1971-1976; assistant professor in pediatrics, 1967-1971; research fellow in pediatrics, 1964-1967; chief resident in pediatrics, 1963-1964; resident in pediatrics, 1961-1963. Intern in pediatrics, University of Minnesota Hospital, 1960-1961. U.S. Army, 1st Lieutenant, Brooke Army Medical Center, 1953-1956. Graduate of University of Arkansas Medical School (M.D., 1960); Brooke Army Medical Center (R.P.T., 1956); Philander Smith College (B.A., 1952).

Even before President Clinton asked her to serve as surgeon general of the United States, Dr. Elders had been demonstrating national leadership by addressing many of the difficult health issues facing our state and country, including teenage pregnancy, violence, drug abuse, and maternal/fetal health. She has also vigorously spoken out on health care for the uninsured and the unique problems facing rural communities.

Her numerous academic and professional honors include postdoctoral research awards, nomination to the honor medical society Alpha Omega Alpha, recognition in Distinguished Women in America, recognition as Arkansas Democrat's Woman of the Year, and receipt of the National Governor's Association Distinguished Service Award. She also holds membership in many national and professional societies. She has done exemplary work in teaching, research, and patient care.

Dr. Elders has received honorary degrees from her alma mater, Philander Smith College in Little Rock, as well as honorary doctorates from Connecticut College, Hendrix College, and Yale University.

The regents of the University of Minnesota, upon recommendation of the faculties, confer upon you, M. Joycelyn Elders, the degree of doctor of science, honoris causa.

Conferred on June 4, 1993.

Outstanding Achievement Award

Arnold Severen Anderson

Distinguished graduate of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Anderson is renowned for the impact he has had on the teaching of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota and throughout the Twin Cities. He helped found the St. Louis Park Medical Center, which is nationally recognized for its innovative model of health care delivery. Additionally, it was under Dr. Anderson's leadership that Minneapolis Children's Medical Center was established and grew to its preeminent stature. On a national level, he has made major contributions in pediatric nutrition and has served on federal and Academy of Pediatrics committees, where he has garnered a reputation for being insightful, learned, and articulate. Dr. Anderson is truly an outstanding pediatrician who has made landmark contributions both through his patient care and his teaching.

The regents of the University of Minnesota, as an expression of high esteem, and in recognition of noted professional attainment, present this Outstanding Achievement Award on June 4, 1993.

President; Secretary, Board of Regents; Chair, Board of Regents.

Outstanding Achievement Award

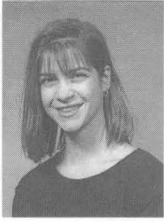

Leslie Zieve

Distinguished graduate of the University of Minnesota.

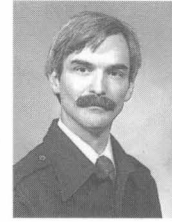

After serving in the United State Army Medical Corp in World War II, Dr. Zieve became a medical resident at the University of Minnesota and the Minneapolis V.A. Medical Center. He immediately became involved in medical research on epidemic hepatitis, a path that led to his life-long interest in gastrointestinal disease, especially diseases of the liver. He described a syndrome of pancreatitis, hemolysis, and fatty liver, which subsequently has been known as Zieve's syndrome. Under his direction, the Minneapolis V.A. Medical Center developed one of the largest, best-equipped research programs in the country and has been able to attract superb full-time faculty. One of the early academicians to recognize the value of a combined M.D. and Ph.D. degree, Dr. Zieve fostered that program at the University of Minnesota. He has served on many distinguished committees and is a member of several important medical societies. He brought additional recognition to the University of Minnesota when he served as editor and chief of the prestigious, peer-reviewed Journal of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine.

The regents of the University of Minnesota, as an expression of high esteem, and in recognition of noted professional attainment, present this Outstanding Achievement Award on June 4, 1993.

President; Secretary, Board of Regents; Chair, Board of Regents.
