FOREWORD

A "Marketing Tool", a "Buyer and Sellers Reference Book", a "Who's Who of Wood Product Business" - these are all terms that describe the '86 Directory. Listed in the pages ahead are most of the primary and secondary wood product manufacturers in Minnesota, including their products or services, the type, species and quantity of materials purchased, and their location.

PURPOSE

The Minnesota Forest Products Directory was produced to facilitate the marketing of wood products at all levels of processing and distribution - from stump to finished product. It is also hoped that this Directory will be used to:

- Stimulate the use of native or local species by manufacturers.
- Promote Minnesota wood products nationally and internationally.
- Create consumer demand for Minnesota products.
- Help market unused by-products and residues.
- Stimulate more in-state processing and thus added value to products.
- Encourage the marketing and utilization of quality timber into products which will yield the highest recoverable value.
- Facilitate economic development and planning for plant expansions and new products.
- Create a public awareness of the scope and importance of Minnesota's wood products industry.

ORGANIZATION

The 1986 Directory is organized to make it easier to find specific companies or products.

An Alphabetical Index of wood industries in the Tan-colored section helps one find a company listing when only their company name is known.

A Product Index in the White-colored section lists all the companies which produce a given product.

The main body of the Directory, which gives detailed information on each company is divided into three sections:

- 1) The Orange-colored section lists Primary Processors such as pulp, paper, structural panel manufacturers, and sawmills arranged alphabetically by county.
- 2) The Yellow-colored section lists Secondary Processors such as window, cabinet, furniture, and millwork manufacturers, arranged alphabetically by county. It also includes other forest products buyers.
- 3) The Green-colored section lists agencies providing forestry and forest products assistance.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Sincere appreciation goes to all the Minnesota companies and individuals who contributed information to make this Directory possible.

The Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources (LCMR) provided the funding necessary to conduct this project.

Appreciation is also extended to the personnel of the cooperating agencies who were instrumental in producing this Directory with a special thanks to the clerical, data entry, and publication staff for their assistance.

CORRECTIONS and ADDITIONS

Considerable effort was made to identify and contact all full-time wood product companies. However, it is possible some companies may have been inadvertently overlooked, or errors made on those firms listed. We apologize for any inconvenience an error or omission may cause, and the authors request that all corrections be brought to our attention for revision of future editions. Please send corrections to John Krantz, DNR-Forestry, Box 44, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55146.

Inclusion in this directory does not constitute an endorsement of an individual or firm by the DNR or University of Minnesota, nor is exclusion intended to imply a discrimination of a firm's activities.

SURVEY HIGHLIGHTS

This survey of Minnesota wood producers and consumers found:

- * There are over 900 sawmills in Minnesota of which 780 produced lumber in 1985.
- * 92 of the largest sawmills account for over 80% of the Minnesota production.
- * Minnesota exports about 7 million board feet of sawlogs to Wisconsin, Iowa, and Canadian mills.
- * This directory lists over 850 secondary manufacturers. There are many more small "shops" that produce wood products that were not surveyed.
