MINNESOTA EXTENSION SERVICE

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Since 1909, the Minnesota Extension Service (MES) has been providing the citizens of Minnesota with research-based information on agriculture, home economics, youth development, community development and natural resources. Through its network of county offices and state resources, MES links the homeowner, the business person, and the public sector with the University of Minnesota. County extension offices offer programs addressing current issues as well as print and audio/visual materials on a wide variety of subjects. For more information on MES educational materials or programs, contact your local county extension office. They'll be happy to help you.

MINNESOTA AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Headquartered on the University's St. Paul campus, the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station supports University of Minnesota scientists' research on many fronts: on ways to improve Minnesota's agricultural and forest products, horticulture, human nutrition, family and community life, and environmental quality. Branch experiment stations at Crookston, Grand Rapids, Lamberton, Morris and Waseca provide facilities for research under local conditions, as do other research facilities at Becker, Cloquet, Rosemount and Staples. Research results are brought to the citizens of Minnesota through a partnership with the Minnesota Extension Service. From soybeans to tourism, from Norway pines to new apple cultivars, from beef cattle to housing families, the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station continues to seek, through its statewide research, better life for Minnesotans.

The University, including the Minnesota Extension Service and the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, is committed to the policy that all persons shall have equal access to its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, sex, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, or sexual orientation.

The University of Minnesota Extension Service and the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station are committed to the protection and preservation of our environment. This publication was printed on recycled paper containing 10% post-consumer waste.

Visual Fairness Clip Art Handbook

Clip art is a handy tool for enhancing the look of items such as newsletters, booklets, transparencies, and exhibits. The art in the Visual Fairness Clip Art Handbook moves away from the stereotyped "average" person look. It presents images of diverse people performing everyday activities. You'll find line art of traditionally underrepresented people in many different settings.

The Visual Fairness Clip Art Handbook has selections on:

- Living with Disabilities
- Multiracial Relationships
- Changing Gender Roles
- Active Elderly

Cloverbuds Has 98 Activities for "Budding" 4-H Members

4-H is for little kids too! (For Six- to Eight-Year-Olds.)

Cloverbuds opens a world of fun activities to 6- to 8-year-olds. It's convenient, flexible, and easy to use, whether in a 4-H group; day care or after-school program, or a classroom. Its 98 suggested activities are attractively illustrated. They're designed to build self-esteem, encourage creativity, and teach new skills (all major 4-H areas are covered). Your youngsters can learn how to care for a pet, make a kite or a puppet, fix a snack, use bicycle hand signals, or do a chemical experiment in the kitchen.

It's for You!

Did you know that home is a place to hang your habitat?

Or that birds have tricks of the trade to help them hide from predators?

Or that some animals chill out when faced with food shortages?

Call of the Wild is for 9- to 13-year-olds who want to learn about Minnesota's wildlife habitats. Whether your 4-H'er wants to track a turkey or make a mammal, Call of the Wild has an activity or project of interest.

Order item number: BU-5762-DA Call of the Wild,

4-H CURRICULUM MAKES FORESTS FUN

Your 4-H'ers will enjoy learning about forests in these two new units. In Trees + Me = Forestry, Forest Resources Intermediate Member's Manual, 9- to 13-year-olds will see what happens to a tree from birth to death. They'll practice orienteering and measuring trees, and learn about jobs in forestry.

In Forests Forever, Forest Resources Advanced Member's Manual, they'll learn how to protect trees, what's good and bad about fire, how insects and diseases affect trees, and about all forest products -- from ping-pong balls to paper. Youth 13 and over can participate even if they didn't take the intermediate unit.

The many uses of southeastern Minnesota oak forests...

Oak trees provide lumber, shade, soil protection, wildlife habitat, and aesthetic beauty. When they are lost to harvesting, diseases, or insects, they are difficult to regenerate. These materials can help you manage, protect, and renew a valuable resource...your oak trees.

Be good to your oak trees... ...and they will be good to you.

Choosing Foods for Good Health

Choosing Foods for Good Health takes the USDA food pyramid a step further – it tells you how to select healthful servings from each of the food groups for maximum nutrition. It gives concrete examples of what a "serving" can be from each group and tells how many servings you need each day. It also gives shopping and cooking tips.

More than 100,000 copies of this 8-panel brochure have been ordered from all parts of the United States since December 1992. It's new, it's colorful, and it's easy to read!

Just $.40 per copy (quantity discounts available). Ask for item number MI-6046-DA.

Taking Control of Life and Death Health Care Decisions

If you're involved in making decisions about life and death health care matters, the self-study packet TAKING CONTROL OF LIFE AND DEATH HEALTH CARE DECISIONS may be for you. It was designed to help individuals, families, and close friends work through the decision-making process together.

The entire packet containing many different resource materials is only $15.00.
Order item number MI-5720-DA.

Twin Cities Bicycling Map Guides Two-Wheeled 'Drivers'

BICYCLE GUIDE & COMMUTER MAP

Road maps are fine for motorists, but they don't tell you which roads are best for bicycling. The Bicycle Guide and Commuter Map, University of Minnesota uses color coding to rank Twin Cities streets as "good," "fair," or "poor" for bicycling, based on traffic, road width, and location of signals. Insets show the University's Twin Cities campuses, and the map lists bicycling rules, proper signals, and safety tips.

BU-5913-DA Bicycle Guide and Commuter Map, University of Minnesota, large foldout road map, $2.25 ($1.75 each for orders of 50 or more).

RURAL TOURISM DEVELOPMENT

Development

... and made a video too!

If you work with local businesses and community members on tourism development, our Rural Tourism Package (a 300-page training guide and video featuring four U.S. tourism success stories) is for you! The cost is only $55.

Order item number EP-5666-DA

The training guide is available without the video as item number MI-5668-DA for $30. The video without the training guide is available as item number VH-5667-DA for $45. But you will save $20.00 by buying both together as a package.

Publications:

Infant Diapers and Incontinence Products: Choices for Families and Communities

Compares the health, economic, and environmental aspects of disposable and reusable infant diapers and incontinence products.

Order item number FO-5960-DA Price $2.00

Cost of Solid Waste Disposal Options in Minnesota

Discusses pros and cons of various waste disposal options including composting, recycling, incineration and landfills.

Order item number FS-6066-DA Price $.50

Recycling Market Decisions

Applies economic principals to waste recycling policies.

Order item number FO-6067-DA Price $1.50

Video and Publication:

Municipal Solid Waste Composting: Is It Right for Your Community?

Shows how composting can convert the organic portion of a community's solid waste stream into a useful product, reducing dependence on landfills. Both the video and publication can be used alone, but are designed to complement each other.

The video, ideally suited for meetings and presentations, provides a quick overview; the publication provides a more in-depth look at issues raised in the video.
