IMPORTANT BOOKS

By Dr. Samuel G. Smith

"Religion in the Making"

"Dr. Smith states the religious problem of the day in language that leaves nothing to be desired and then proceeds to build up from the material found in the Bible, interpreted by the laws of the social order under which the Bible grew an entirely new and wonderfully satisfying answer to that problem."—Dr. Addison Moore.

"The Industrial Conflict" (Second edition)

"Dr. Smith's excellent work entitles him to the distinction, almost unique, among those who profess and call themselves sociologists, of dealing with facts as they are, real, human facts."—London (Eng.) Standard.

"It sheds more light than any book we have seen upon the primary facts and principles involved in current economic conditions."—Glasgow (Scot.) Herald.

"The development of the problem is logical, judicial and philosophical."—Springfield Republican.

"Retribution and Other Addresses."

"Characterized by breadth of view and wide suggestiveness, and a literary style that rises at times to a noble eloquence."—The Outlook.

"A tingling quality about them which indicates that they are written and spoken out of a throbbing soul."—Central Advocate.

Nearly two thousand graduates of the University of Minnesota have passed through Dr. Smith's sociology classes. Many of them will be interested in these books on sale at The H. W. Wilson Co., 1401 University Ave. S. E., Minneapolis and E. W. Porter, Fifth St., St. Paul.

GUEST OF HONOR.

President Northrop was the guest of honor at the meeting of the Delta Upsilon fraternity at the Radisson hotel last week. Among other things he said, "The fraternity system at Minnesota has been on the point of breaking for a lack of a definite purpose. If the fraternity does not return benefits in the way of bettering minds and morals it has failed to be of use. The fraternity has great possibilities for helpfulness." He thanked the students who had co-operated with him during his services as president and said that by obeying his wishes they had made him a milder man than he might have been if there had been friction. "It is this spirit that has made our University great. I have always tried to be just, though when I heard some of the tributes to-night I could hardly think I was the subject of them. I don't want you to think that while I have been at the University of Minnesota I have for a moment thought I was a great or even an unusual man, for I haven't. I have tried to work with you and for you." Messages of congratulation were sent to the fraternity and President Northrop by President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford university and President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown university.

President Jordan said: "Particularly commend me to your beloved president Dr. Northrop, who retires from the work which he has made his own and in which he has been so warm-heartedly successful. Dr. Northrop will soon be officially dead, and the rest of us, his contemporaries, will speedily and cheerfully follow; he he as one who will die in no other sense. His memory will live in the hearts of Minnesota alumni and sons of alumni down to many generations. For he was not merely or even chiefly a great executive, but a man overflowing with friendliness, whose first interest was in the lives of those who came to him for training."

President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown university, said: "Three of the great leaders of the higher education of this country I have known personally in the last ten years, and follow with admiration and ever increasing personal regard. I refer to President Eliot of Harvard, President Angell of Ann Arbor, and President Northrop of Minnesota. Two of them have retired from active service, and Dr. Northrop is soon to follow, but I am sure his sun is nowhere near its setting, but like the sun of the North cape, it simply swings low toward the horizon only to swing up again into a new and glorious day. During the ten years I have been in educational work I have met President Northrop many times, and always found him the same dynamic personality, rich in garnered wisdom, clear as a bugle in his summons to the young men of our times, and wise in counsel whenever great questions are in the air. Let Minnesota keep him for the next twenty years as general counsellor in all weighty questions of state and church, of education, society, politics and religion. He is still younger than most of the men he has graduated. Fortunate shall we be if among the new generation whose education has been so highly—perhaps too highly—specialized, we are able to raise up leaders like those who are passing from us, who see life steadily and see it whole."

ROOSEVELT FOR PRESIDENT.

Last week the Bellman, published in Minneapolis, came out strongly urging the selection of President Theodore Roosevelt to succeed President Northrop at the University. It is reported that President Roosevelt said to the editor of the Bellman that he had no definite plans for the future and that he should really like to undertake the duties of the presidency of a western state university.

When this matter was mentioned soon after President Northrop's resignation was given out, something over a year ago, few considered the question as worthy of serious consideration, not believing that President Roosevelt would consider such a proposition. If, however, the rumor is well-founded, there would be a host of alumni and other citizens of the State of Minnesota who would rejoice to have him selected as President Northrop's successor. The office is one that any man might feel honored to be chosen to fill. The Bellman, in closing the two-page article, says:—

"No living man can possibly compute the wide and inexhaustible opportunity which the presidency of this University affords; the very wisest can only dimly comprehend what may be done in guiding, influencing, uplifting and directing the leaven of the mass that is to flow in, through, and outward by this channel. Here is a place worthy of the broadest mind, the strongest and most able hand and the greatest and stoniest heart that mankind can produce—and it is being indifferently passed over as unworthy of consideration by heads of institutions which can never by any possibility expect to reach the degree of importance that is clearly within the grasp of this university.

"There is but one man who, by reason of his devotion to the cause of humanity, his knowledge of and unbounded belief in the West, his unbending uprightness, his vigor and intelligence is worthy to occupy this post and able to make the most and the best of it. That is Theodore Roosevelt; and there is good reason to believe that, if he knew and understood the situation, he would at least consider a proposal to do so.

"He will soon be returning to America from his year of retirement; a man with a country, but without a place in it which is befitting his character and attainments. The talk about his political ambitions is the veriest nonsense. Theodore Roosevelt having once been President of the United States, is not the man to plot and plan for any subordinate place in the gift of the people; nor would he desire again to occupy the position he once held. The Bellman is convinced that political life does not attract him, although as an American citizen he will always be interested in politics.

"In the very prime of life, seasoned by experience, full of splendid vigor of the kind that naturally puts him in sympathy with the West, with a versatile mind and a genius for organization, above all, possessing a splendid optimism and magnificent powers of leadership, Theodore Roosevelt could, through the University of Minnesota, make an impress upon the Northwest that would become national in its wholesome strength. Here is the place and here is the man for it; and the possibility of inducing him to consider such a proposal is certainly great enough to warrant some serious effort to interest him."

KOLLINER TO GIVE FULL TIME TO UNIVERSITY.

Robert S. Kolliner, of the law firm of Hall & Kolliner of Minneapolis, has accepted a professorship in the college of law in the University of Minnesota, and will assume his duties there about the first of March. This involves his retirement from active practice of the law, and henceforth he will devote his entire time to the interests of the law school. Mr. Kolliner, for the last twelve years, has been a most popular and successful lecturer in the college, and it will be a matter of interest and satisfaction to the faculty and students past and present to learn of his permanent connection with the institution. By his twenty years of active and successful practice at the bar, and his years of teaching in the college, Mr. Kolliner is pre-eminently fitted for the professorship he is about to assume. He is known as a lawyer of wide learning, an able practitioner, and a wise and safe counsellor; and possessing a genial nature and high ideals of professional excellence, he will undoubtedly exercise a healthful influence upon the young lawyers of the state.

Mr. Kolliner was born at Baraboo, Wisconsin, in 1868, entered the University of that state when fifteen years of age, and after graduating with the degree of L. B. in 1887, spent a year in Europe in travel and study. In September, 1888, he entered the college of law in the University of Minnesota, and received the degree of LL. B. in 1890. For two years he was an assistant in the law office of Kitchell, Cohen & Shaw, of Minneapolis, and for about eighteen years he has been engaged in the active general practice of the law at the Minnesota bar, being for the past nine years associated with Albert H. Hall, under the firm name of Hall & Kolliner. He now enters upon a great work for the State, which, while it takes from active practice a most useful and successful practitioner, gives to the University another able and efficient professor.

WILLIS ON DAMAGES.

Hugh E. Willis, assistant professor in the college of law, has just published through Keefe, Davidson & Company, an excellent work upon the Law of Damages. It is the result of several years of careful investigation in connection with the author's class-room work upon that branch of the law. It is a careful study of fundamental principles, which are concisely stated, critically discussed, and well illustrated by abundant authorities. The value of such an outline of elementary principles for use in the class room cannot be over-estimated. The study of the cases is indispensable, but a systematic arrangement of the fundamental principles is also necessary in order that the student may properly comprehend the subject.

This book is most admirably adapted to that end, and law school literature receives a most valuable addition in this clearly thought-out and concisely written publication, and it will also be found useful in the practitioner's office.

Dean Pattee says:—

"The work of Hugh E. Willis on Law of Damages is an effort to set clearly before students the elementary principles of that branch of jurisprudence clearly given, amply discussed, clearly illustrated by legal authorities, and hence is invaluable both for student and practitioner who wish clear statements of the law. It will be of great service to law students and reflect great credit on the author."

Professor Fletcher says:—

"I think Professor Willis's book on Damages is the best on that subject, now in print and this in spite of the fact that it is very brief and intended apparently for students. It contains none of the padding which fills half the space in most law books and its mere reading is a pleasure to anyone who delights in precise and logical statements of principles. It is an illustration of the extent to which a large subject can be compressed into brief statement, by one who has analyzed and thoroughly digested it."

DISCOVERS NEW MINERAL.

Professor Frank F. Grout, instructor in geology and mineralogy in the University, has discovered a new mineral in Pine county of this state, which he calls pseudolaumontite. Mr. Grout has written a paper describing the mineral for a scientific periodical, in which he says that the mineral has no commercial value and is of interest only to geologists. He told the story of his find to the Geology club of the University one day last week and they examined the mineral with great interest. It is a dull green color and is formed during the disintegration of the primitive trap rock found in Pine county. Mr. Grout has been making a very thorough survey of Pine county with a view to discovering whether copper was to be found in commercial quantities. He is not yet ready to voice his opinion concerning this matter. Though traces of copper have been found in many parts of the county, it has not been found in paying quantities.

HONORED AS EX-"PREXY."

Professor P. G. Schmidt, '97, '98, of St. Olaf college, who has been acting president of the college during the past year, during the absence of the president, was given a very pleasant surprise Saturday evening, February 19th. A delegation of students came to his home and took Professor and Mrs. Schmidt and escorted them to the gymnasium where there were gathered above three hundred students who greeted them with a song that was written in Professor Schmidt's honor. Special speakers from the student and faculty bodies expressed their great appreciation of Mr. Schmidt's services during the past year and presented Mr. Schmidt with a beautiful silver candelabra. Professor Schmidt found it rather difficult to respond on account of his emotions, but told the students and faculty that he should remember the occasion and the kind words that were spoken to him.

WINS PROMOTION.

W. C. Smith has been appointed chief engineer of maintenance of way of the Northern Pacific. This is a new office and Mr. Smith will have jurisdiction over the entire system, with one assistant in the East and one in the West.

This is the second promotion Mr. Smith has had within a short time. It has not been long since he was appointed to the position of engineer of maintenance of way, a newly created office on the Northern Pacific. Until then he was division engineer, with headquarters in St. Paul, having held that office from December 1, 1901.

Mr. Smith is a native of St. Cloud, Minn., and was graduated from the University of Minnesota June, 1890. He entered railway service in that year as resident engineer of the St. Paul & Northern Pacific, since which he has been consecutively, 1893 to 1897, assistant engineer, Northern Pacific at Duluth; 1897 to 1899, assistant engineer of the same road at Jamestown, N. D.; 1899 to March 1, 1902, assistant engineer in charge of construction work, same road; March 1 to December 1, 1902, division engineer at Livingston, Mont.

CLARA THOMAS ON UNIVERSITY WORKING GIRLS.

Clara Chapline Thomas, '00, whose series of articles on the working girls of Minneapolis have met with great favor, is preparing a number of stories on "Real Girls Who are Working their Way thru the University." Miss Thomas has been a student herself and her experience as a newspaper woman has placed her in a position to get her material first hand.

The first article in the series will appear in the Sunday Tribune on Feb. 27.

NON-RESIDENT LECTURER AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA.

Mr. F. W. Darlington, of Pittsburg, Pa., lectured before the electrical engineering students at the University of Minnesota on February 23, 1910, on "The electrification of steam railways." After discussing the general operating characteristics of direct, single-phase and three-phase railway motors, he compared the relative costs of the locomotives and of the generating and distributing systems. The most economical system depends upon conditions, such as weight of trains, frequency of service, length and steepness of grades. Direct current and single-phase motors have an advantage over three-phase motors in that the engineer can get a running start for heavy grades, while their variable speed is an important feature in maintaining schedules and in making up time on level or down grade.

Practical experience has shown that electric locomotives are more economical in operation, costing less for repairs per locomotive mile than do steam locomotives, and being out of service for repairs less frequently.

Mr. Darlington is an engineer of wide experience in railway matters, and speaks from knowledge and convincingly.

SPECIAL LECTURES.

Hon. Edmund S. Durment, of St. Paul, a state senator, has just closed a course of lectures to the senior students of the law school upon the subject of eminent domain. Mr. Durment is an authority upon this subject, having had an extensive practice in connection with condemnation proceedings, in connection with railroad extensions. His course is one of great value and importance.

Homer B. Dibbel, Judge of the District Court, of Duluth, Minn., is giving a course of lectures to the senior day laws upon the subject of quasi-contracts. This is the first time the Judge has delivered his course and it is one of great interest and importance. The Judge has prepared a very exhaustive brief upon the points involved in this course, and has placed a copy of the same in the hands of each student. The Judge is an able and interesting lecturer, and a gentleman whom the faculty are extremely pleased to have appear before the students of law.

HUTCHINSON ON "ATHENS."

Prof. J. C. Hutchinson delivered a lecture on Athens at the Public Library last Saturday evening at 8:15. The talk was illustrated with stereoptican slides. This was one of the series of free lectures which the library board is providing.

SHENEHON ON "SHIP LOCKS."

Dean Francis C. Shenehon, of the college of engineering, gave an illustrated lecture last Saturday night upon "The 800-foot ship lock at St. Mary's Falls canal." The lecture was given in Folwell Hall and illustrated with lantern slides. It was of special interest to civil engineers.

SHUTTER SPEAKS.

Rev. Marion D. Shutter spoke before the University Liberal association last Friday afternoon, February 25th, at four o'clock in Room 205 of the Library Building, on "A working theory of life." The association will hold regular weekly meetings, open to the public, at the same time and place, with talks by many prominent pastors of the Twin cities and by members of the faculty who are interested. The primary object of the association is to deal squarely with the problem that there are at the University many students who find it difficult to reconcile what they learn here with their earlier religious teachings. The aim is to show through the addresses and discussions that there is no essential conflict between science and religion and that the ideals of a university training should be religious ideals. Any student or member of the faculty may become an active member on payment of a nominal annual fee, and any one from outside the University who is interested may, on payment of the fee, become an associate member.

BOUGHNER SPEAKS ON "THE CITY EDITOR."

"City editor and city news," was the subject of the lecture by Mr. Le Roy Boughner, city editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, before the class in newspaper

A MINNESOTA TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT CYRUS NORTHROP.

Last Saturday night there was launched, at a meeting of the University faculty, a state-wide movement to secure the erection of a suitable tribute from the people of the State of Minnesota to President Cyrus Northrop. It was decided that the tribute should take the form of a Men's Building to be erected upon the campus at a cost of not less than $400,000.

The movement is not an alumni affair, though it is one that will doubtless enlist the hearty support of the alumni everywhere. President Northrop, personally, feels that this building is the thing most needed at the University, and so it is most fitting that the tribute should take the form of a building that will mean so much for sustaining and perpetuating the best things for which he has so long and so consistently stood.

The building which it is proposed to erect in his honor will play a large part in the life of the future of the University and the State. President Northrop's influence upon the student body has always been uplifting, and it will be a source of peculiar pleasure to him to feel that his name is to be perpetuated by a grateful public in a building that shall stand for the best things in the life of the men of the University.

Of course, every alumnus will want to have a part in this movement, first, because it is to honor a man so dear to all the alumni and, second, because in so honoring him they will at the same time be helping to bring about the realization of a plan so near to his heart—the one thing most needed at the University at the present time—a Men's Building that shall fill as large a place in the lives of the men as Alice Shevlin Hall fills in the lives of the women of the University.

There are two ways in which the alumni can help this movement: First, by making a contribution for the purpose and second, by doing something to get others to contribute. For suggestions as to how this may be done, see middle section of this issue of the Weekly.

Don't hesitate to send in your contribution, no matter how small it must be. There are many people to whom this will appeal and even a small contribution from

MONDAY MORNING—The movement is taking hold and great enthusiasm is being aroused among the people of the State. As alumni let us stand by this proposition and ACT PROMPTLY and let us show the people of the State that we are going to put this thing through and do our share. If we could announce, in the next issue of the Weekly, that the alumni had pledged a respectable amount during the week it would help more than twice as much later.

"It will work if we work it."
 "We'll work it with a will."

many will help to make up the amount needed for the purpose. Let us show the world that our love for our Alma Mater means something to us and that our love for President Northrop is deeper than mere surface sentiment—that it has such a grip upon us that we will gladly respond to this call and each of us do our share to make this a real

MINNESOTA TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT NORTHROP.

TO HONOR PRESIDENT NORTHROP.

The movement which was started at the meeting of the faculty of the University, last Saturday evening, for a state-wide tribute to President Northrop, is one that deserves the enthusiastic support of every alumnus and every citizen of the State of Minnesota. For twenty-six years President Northrop has been the foremost citizen of the State and one of the greatest factors in building up the great northwest. The State will honor itself in thus honoring the man who has won the title of "the best known and best loved man in Minnesota."

To the alumni such an appeal comes with the added force of ties that are close and compelling. Few students have ever been in the University, for any length of time, who have not come to know and love President Northrop, even though they may never have once come into personal contact with him.

President Northrop has been loved because he himself has had a genuine regard for every student under his charge. He has always been approachable, and every student has known that the door to the

ALUMNI WHO WANT TO "BOOST."

It is suggested that a petition somewhat in the following form might be useful:

We, the undersigned, hereby subscribe the amount set opposite our names, for the purpose of providing a suitable tribute from the people of Minnesota to President Cyrus Northrop, who is about to retire from the presidency of the University after twenty-six years of service. This tribute is to take the form of a building for men to be erected upon the University campus at a cost of approximately $400,000, and to bear the name of President Northrop.

tion. Though he has written little, his spoken words are treasured in the hearts of the people who have been privileged to hear him. The personality of the man has carried conviction, and his words will live in the lives of men long after the written works of many of his contemporaries are lost in the maelstrom of books from the press.

It is peculiarly fitting that the testimonial should take the form of a building for the men of the University. The women have been provided for in Alice Shevlin Hall and the influence of what that building makes possible, has changed and lifted the whole life of the women of the University to a higher plane. The proposed building for men should mean as much or more of a change in the lives of the men of the University. The building itself will mean more than we can estimate in bettering University conditions, and when this influence is associated and identified with the name of President Northrop, that influence will be greatly strengthened and the uplift in the lives of the men of the University will be made more certain.

To the alumni and to all who know him, the mere statement that the securing of such a building for the University is the matter nearest President Northrop's heart at this time, will be sufficient incentive to bend every possible effort to raise the money needed to erect this building writing and other students Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Boughner spoke of the sources of the news, how it is secured from these sources, and the way in which it is handled. He told of the methods employed by the newspaper men to keep in touch with what is happening and what is going to happen. Originality makes newspaper men was his contention.

FREE CLINIC ORGANIZED TO STUDY RETARDATION.

The department of psychology has organized a free clinic for the study of mental development. It is the aim of the department to apply psychological methods to the training of backward children.

Dr. H. H. Woodrow will have immediate charge of the work. This semester he is conducting a special course in mental retardation.

Dr. J. P. Sedgwick, clinical instructor in diseases of children in the college of medicine, will superintend the physical diagnosis of all children studied. In order not to interfere with medical interests and social organizations which are already in part serving similar purposes, the department reserves the right to decide what children it will work with.

Mr. W. M. Duke, a specialist in the correction of stuttering and stammering, has offered to assist in the training to correct speech defects. It is the intention to make the correction of speech disturbances a matter of special investigation as it is a field in which training is recognized to be of prime importance.

The problem of backwardness arises among school children, in some cases from the child being out of harmony with its particular environment. If this is due to the child's not having learned proper habits of work or to control its intellectual and emotional processes, then it becomes a problem of training. It is the aim of the department to study carefully a few cases with the idea of devising special methods of training adapted to similar cases.

SENIORS IN MORTAR BOARD PARADE.

While the underclassmen sang, "Minnesota," a long line of black-gowned seniors, numbering almost two hundred, filed into chapel yesterday morning. A section of seats had been reserved by underclassmen and special music provided. In spite of a bad cold, President Northrop addressed the class. He said:

"Most of you are doubtless beginning to see your way out into life. I hope you have done your duty, but if you have not, it is never too late to mend. There is still time before Commencement to lift yourselves up. You are well trained and efficient, and your influence can be one of good, in strengthening the forces of righteousness. It is a great thought that in the eight states adjacent there are 100,000 of these well trained American students.

"I congratulate you, and give you my best wishes. But I myself, may be considered the valedictorian of our class, for we go away together."

It was further announced that Dr. Gillies, of the Hennepin Ave. Methodist church, will give the Baccalaureate address, and that all seniors are invited to the senior reception at President Northrop's home. The date of this reception is the Friday before Commencement.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT IN MILLARD HALL.

Last Friday shortly before noon, while Dr. J. E. Moore, professor of surgery, was conducting a class in surgery in Millard hall, the gable end of the building loosened by action of the recent fire and strong wind which was then blowing, crashed over upon the temporary roof making a hole in it and falling upon members of the class. Dr. Moore himself was the most seriously injured, the whole mass falling directly upon him. He received some serious scalp wounds and possibly internal injuries. His condition is very serious. He and two members of the class who were unable to walk were carried to the University hospital for treatment. The other members who were injured were treated at the University and were able to go to their own homes unassisted. Seven other students were injured. Among those who were injured besides Dr. Moore, were David M.

Berkman, Rochester, bad scalp wounds; William Davis, Minneapolis, scalp wounds; Karl Dedolph, St. Paul, badly bruised; Antoine Laurent, Minneapolis, hand cut and back hurt; Archibald Leitch, St. Paul, scalp wounds; T. P. Rothnem, Minneapolis, scalp wounds; Nicholas W. Schumacher, Minneapolis, eye cut and scalp wounds; Thomas Ziskin, Minneapolis, scalp wounds; Edward J. Ziegler, Frazee, hip injuries and internal injuries.

Dr. Moore was completely buried by the avalanche of brick and stone and broken timber which fell upon him and was dragged out from under the debris by the members of the class. He was rendered unconscious by the accident and did not regain consciousness for some little time. It is expected that he will recover.

MINNESOTA 16—WISCONSIN 9.

Last Friday night, on the floor of the University Armory, the Minnesota basket ball boys defeated Wisconsin in a fast game in which they covered themselves with honor and wiped out the defeat which they suffered at the hands of the Badger boys some weeks ago at Madison. Minnesota led throughout the whole game but during the first half the lead was uncomfortably close. During the entire second half the Wisconsin men were not able to score from the field and the three points made were from free throws after fouls called on Minnesota.

Captain Hansen played his last game of basket ball on the Armory floor in this game, and it was a brilliant ending of an enviable athletic career. Every member of the Gopher team was a star and in the game all the time and won a notable victory over a worthy foe.

Captain Hansen of the Gopher quint established a conference record at shooting goals from the foul line, connecting for 8 counts out of 9 tries.

The teams lined up as follows:

Mr. Sinclair regretted very much to leave this city and said that in going he regretted that the Men's Building had not yet become a reality and that he hoped the University will some time return to the five-day system. In his new position Mr. Sinclair will have charge of an undertaking that will call for the expenditure of $600,000.

'08 Eng.—Neil Currie, who has been with the Western Electric company since graduation up to the first of January of the present year and who then changed to go with the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee, has resigned that position to enter the engineering department of the General Electric company and will be located at Pittsfield, Mass.

'08 Chem.—John M. Lowe has just returned to Sterling, Colo., where he is chief chemist of a sugar company, after a two weeks' stay in this city. Mr. Lowe came to Minneapolis for an operation for appendicitis; the operation was successful and he has fully recovered.

'08 Ed.—B. R. Manning has been appointed general secretary of the Associated charities at Jacksonville, Fla. Manning attended the Chicago School of civics and philanthropy last summer, and has been engaged in the office of the Minneapolis Associated charities. He will leave for his new post March 1.

'09—Camilla Waite has changed her address from 1213 Hawthorne Avenue to 3404 16th Avenue South.

L. E. Dennis has recently changed his address from Brainerd, Minn., to Coleta, Ill.

'08—Mr. A. L. Dretchko has been elected to represent the Theta chapter of the Phi Delta Chi alumni at the national convention to be held in New York City, March 1, 2 and 3. The Theta chapter is one of the active chapters of the fraternity, taking part in all national and local activities.

WEDDINGS.

'09—B. G. Japs and Sadie Taylor of University Place, Nebraska, were married last Wednesday. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Japs will be at home to friends at 4515 Abbott Avenue South, Minneapolis.

Miss Rosslyn Weaver of Seattle, formerly of St. Paul, will be married on March 16th to Mr. Harry Clinton Libby, '01.

It being Lent, the ceremony will be performed privately by Rev. Andrew Stowe, assistant at Gethsemane, only members of the family being present. Afterward there will be a wedding supper at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Libby, 99 Spruce Place, for the immediate relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Libby will leave at once for the East and will sail on March 26th on the steamer Amerika for a two months' trip abroad, visiting Berlin, Paris and London. After June 1st they will be at home at their cottage at Isleview, Lake Minnetonka.

Miss Weaver is a sister of Miss Jessie Weaver, class of 1903. The family resided for a number of years on Laurel Ave., St. Paul, but for the last five years have lived in Seattle. Miss Weaver has a large number of friends both in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Mr. Libby graduated from the University in the classical course, class of 1901. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. Since graduation he has been connected with the Northwestern National Bank.

BIRTHS.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Emerson of this city, a daughter, Grace Lorraine, January 15th, 1910. Mr. Emerson graduated from the University in 1903, and he is now teaching chemistry in the Central high school of Minneapolis.

DEATHS.

Miss Juanita M. Skartum, a member of the senior class, died at her home at Lake Benton, Minn., on Thursday morning, February 17th, of typhoid fever. Miss Skartum entered the college in the fall of 1908 and would have graduated with the present class in June with honors.

She was not only one of the brilliant students, but also very popular. The junior and senior classes and the faculty joined in sending floral tributes. They also elected Miss Remes and Miss Zalesky, two classmates, to represent the student body at the funeral which took place at Lake Benton on Saturday, February 19th.

THE NORTHROP MEMORIAL RECEIVED WITH ENTHUSIASM.

The people of the State are going to welcome the movement and push it through with enthusiasm, as the following interviews will show.

Governor Eberhart—Fine! Splendid! This movement should have the indorsement of every loyal citizen. President Northrop is deserving of all the honor that can be conferred upon him by any such means.

Dr. William J. Mayo, Rochester—I am heartily in favor of such a plan. I think it is excellent and fitting that a memorial be established for a man who has done such great work as President Northrop.

Henry B. Hovland, Duluth—I am sure that the regents warmly favor the plan. President Northrop has done more for the university than any other man and it is only proper that the state should leave a monument to his work and perseverance. I can safely state that the alumni as a body will be in favor of the movement.

A. E. Rice, Willmar—Such a plan meets with my unqualified approval, and I, for one, will take great pleasure in contributing to the memorial tribute.

Pierce Butler, St. Paul—This tribute will be a very appropriate thing. Dr. Northrop is certainly entitled to a tribute of some kind. It is almost certain that the people will respond, not only because President Northrop's work has been valuable to Minnesota and the Northwest but because the thousands of people in this territory appreciate and respect the man himself.

C. G. Schulz, St. Paul—The plan is splendid. I hope it will be realized. It is only fitting that President Northrop and the great work which he has done for the state and the whole Northwest should be memorialized in this way.

Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, said: "The plan if successful will show only in part the appreciation in which President Northrop is held by the citizens of the state and the entire Northwest."

"President Northrop is one of the grand old men of Minnesota," said C. M. Start, chief justice of the Minnesota supreme court. "The state cannot do too much to honor him. I am heartily in favor of the plan and am sure that it will meet with success."

"The plan proposed is an admirable one," said A. D. Stephens, state senator, of Crookston. "The state should certainly do something for President Northrop. It is very fitting and should meet with the indorsement of all fair-minded people of the state."

H. A. Tuttle, president of the Minneapolis Commercial club, is also in favor of the proposed plan. "A man who has proved his worth as President Northrop has is entitled to the best that the state can give in appreciation," is his sentiment.

E. S. Warner, president of the St. Paul Commercial club, is another who thinks that the plan should be carried out. He said: "If there is any man in the state entitled to a memorial it is President Northrop. This tribute will show only in a small way the respect and appreciation which the people of the community have for him."

"It is a splendid idea," said F. B. Kellogg of St. Paul. "I am in favor of anything that will honor President Northrop."

"Such a tribute as is proposed should be a splendid recognition of the honor which Dr. Northrop highly deserves," is the way that W. J. Olcott of Duluth, president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, summed up the situation. "The state should be very glad to do this, as showing at least that it has the spirit of appreciation."

"There is only one solution to such a plan and that is to bring it to a successful conclusion," said Howard Elliott of St. Paul. "The thought is a noble one and should bear fruitful results."

WHAT IT ALL MEANS.

The movement which was started at the University by the faculty and students organized as a Minnesota Union, mentioned in the last issue of the Weekly, is perhaps the most significant move that has ever been undertaken by the faculty and students of the University. It means a definite attempt to enlist the co-operation of the people of the state who are interested in the University and its president, to honor President Northrop who has served for the past twenty-six years, with such great success, as president of the University and who has, during those twenty-six years, won the love of a multitude of men and women who have been brought into contact with him, by providing for the University the building most needed at the present time, as a tribute to his work and worth.

Each day Shevlin Hall demonstrates more clearly the need of such a building for the men of the University. The women of the University have been enabled, through the use of this building, to completely change the life of the women of the University. The young women have got together, as never before in the history of the University, and have been working together in harmony for the best things for the women of the University. Social lines, based on other distinctions than real worth, have been largely obliterated and the women have found in this building the pleasantest place on the University campus. The influences which have been set in operation through the use of this building will tell upon the lives of the women of the University, and so upon the life of the state, long after what has been learned in the class rooms has been forgotten.

It has long been a serious drawback to the University that there has been no provision made for furnishing the students of the University an opportunity for a social life under proper conditions and an opportunity for healthful recreation and exercise under similar conditions. The young man is a social animal and he is bound to have social relations with others and to have a reasonable amount of amusement no matter where it is necessary for him to go to get the same. This building will furnish an opportunity for the men of the University, of all departments, to mingle and get acquainted with each other and to form friendships which shall tell in the life of every man who passes through the University. The alumni know from the lack of such life, while they were students, just how much this will mean to the University and we believe that the alumni will be interested in this movement and will stand behind it, especially since in providing for this, the greatest need of the University today, (and this is President Northrop's estimate of the need of such a building) they will at the same time be honoring a man every alumnus loves and honors.

The students have already shown their interest in this movement by subscribing very liberally for the erection of the building proposed. The amount of the total subscriptions made by students will not be less than forty thousand dollars and it may run up even to fifty thousand dollars. The faculty are subscribing to the extent of their ability and if the alumni will help, each one even a little, the total contribution by the faculty and students and alumni for this purpose, will amount to one hundred thousand dollars. Those who are most closely connected with the University must show the people of the state first, that they are interested in this matter and interested enough to back it with their money and then the people of the state will be ready to stand behind the movement. There is no question whatever that President Northrop is the best known and best loved man in the state of Minnesota and the people will delight to contribute to honor him and to help the University, provided they are convinced, by the action of the faculty and students and alumni, that the movement is one that is going to succeed. This being the state of affairs any pledge made by any alumnus will be twice as effective if made immediately as if made later. Pledges may be made as indicated, payable only when a sufficient sum has been secured to assure the erection of a building, substantially as planned, but the alumni should remember that in making these pledges the proposition is sure to be carried through and that they will be called upon to make their pledges good later. In addition to making a personal pledge for this purpose, (the alumni are to note that this will not call for any payment until next fall) the alumni can render the highest service to the University at this time by urging friends who may not be connected with the University, to do something for this movement to honor President Northrop and to provide the University with a building which President Northrop feels is the greatest need of the University today.

CHEERFUL GIVERS.

February 28, 1910.

Northrop Memorial Building Committee:
Gentlemen:

Enclosed find check for $10.00—my mite toward the Cyrus Northrop Memorial Building. Am only sorry I cannot afford to add another cipher to the figures on the check.

Very truly yours,
R. C. Dunn.

Gentlemen:

Enclosed please find check for $10.00 to be applied on the Northrop Memorial Building Fund. As an investment in the future, there is no way in which the people of Minnesota can spend half a million dollars where the return to the state in character and citizenship will be so overwhelming.

Sincerely yours,
Dean B. Gregg,
Minnesota, ex-1908.

THE STUDENT MASS MEETING.

Last Wednesday the classes of third and fourth hours were dismissed and the students assembled in the University Armory filling the main floor and the gallery. A program of speeches had been prepared to place before the students the proposition for a men's building on the University campus as a tribute to President Northrop. Emphasis was laid upon the fact that such a building was an especially fitting tribute to President Northrop since it would perpetuate and make permanent the thing for which President Northrop has stood during his whole administration as president of the University. President Northrop's hold upon the student body and his example has been always inspiring and uplifting and such a building which will not only permit, but encourage, the bringing to the front the best element in the student body and make that the predominant note in student life, is the most fitting tribute that could be made to him. Such a building, erected by funds contributed by the public, would be a far better tribute to President Northrop than anything else that could be suggested or offered. The universal opinion of those who know conditions at the University seems to be in this line and every speaker emphasized this fact.

Dr. Burton opened the meeting with one of his characteristically enthusiastic speeches in which he stirred up the students telling them what such a building would mean for the men of the University and as a tribute to President Northrop and said that during the twelve years he has been connected with the University this is the most important movement that has ever been undertaken. It will mean more for the future of the University and the state than anything else that has been done during the history of the University up to the present time.

Dean Comstock then spoke telling, in a few sentences, what Alice Shevlin Hall has meant for the women of the University and how a men's building would mean as much or more for the men of the University than Alice Shevlin Hall has meant to the women. One of the very telling points that Dean Comstock made was that this building should express, in its provision for the needs of the men of the University, the personality of President Northrop. Dr. Jenks, who presided, had emphasized this particular point in his introduction of Dr. Burton, saying that this building "should represent and house for all time the spirit of President Northrop which has for the past twenty-six years been the guiding spirit in University life."

Dean Pattee then spoke urging the pushing through of the campaign for this building as a tribute to President Northrop because President Northrop deserves such a tribute and also because it would perpetuate the thing for which President Northrop has always stood. He told from his own experience in a professional school, what such a building would mean for the unifying of the interests of the students and faculty and the building up of a real University spirit among the men of the University, a spirit of unity and co-operation that would influence the students not only while they were students but after they have left the University and gone out into the great world, making them more loyal and more united in everything connected with the University.

Miss Helen Lydon, president of the young women's self-government association, then spoke for a few minutes telling what Shevlin Hall had meant for the women of the University and how she believed that a building for the men would be every bit as useful in unifying the interests of the men and building up the proper sort of a University spirit in the institution. Miss Lydon said that there is probably not a man in the University who has not the respect of at least one woman but there is only one man in this University who has the respect and love of all of the women in the University and that man is President Cyrus Northrop.

Dean Shenehon followed and said in substance that he had become a firm believer in the movement both because it showed a proper appreciation of the services of President Northrop and because of what it would mean to the University of the future. He argued for team work among the various departments of the University to put the present project through.

Mr. Theodore Thompson spoke for the student body, and said that it was up to the students whether this thing should be put through or not, that the students could do it if they would and that they were going to stand behind it until it was through. That it meant first, a personal pledge of support on the part of the students and then work to secure such pledges from others. Mr. Thompson's plea was effective and to the point.

Mr. E. B. Johnson, secretary of the Union, closed the regular program with a statement of the plan of campaign among the students which was based first, upon student support in the way of pledges and contributions for the building, and second, upon the students' work among their friends to bring in contributions from outside the University. At the close of the meeting the University band leading the cadets and students, marched to President Northrop's house where the cadets were drawn up and when President Northrop appeared on the scene, presented arms and the crowd sang the third verse of "Hail Minnesota." "Hail to thee, our Prexy Sire." President Northrop responded in a few words, thanking the students for the demonstration made in his honor, and expressed the hope that the building might soon become a reality for the sake of the men of the University.

Few pledges were taken in at the meeting but, with what are in, it is safe to estimate that the students will contribute a minimum of forty thousand dollars for the purpose of erecting a Minnesota tribute to President Northrop to take the form of a men's building. The young women are enthusiastic over the proposition and organized for a meeting which was held last Friday afternoon to systematically support the movement for a new building for the men. The men themselves have organized, through the class presidents as a committee, so that every man in the University shall be a contributor to this fund. It would not be surprising if the total from the student body should reach fifty thousand dollars before the campaign is over. The faculty are a unit in regard to the proposition to erect such a building in honor of President Northrop and feel that it would be not only a fitting tribute to President Northrop but the most useful building on the campus.

A SUGGESTION.

Dear Mr. Johnson:—

In connection with the magnificent plans to establish on the campus a fitting memorial to President Northrop, which you and other gentlemen are so zealously prosecuting, I have one feeling of regret. May I voice it in the Alumni Weekly? There is no provision being made to keep on our campus forever a reminder of the face and figure of the man we all know and love so well. I would have, facing Cyrus Northrop Hall, a bronze statue of our President as that of Governor Pillsbury faces the Library. There is something in this kind of a memorial which no other exactly supplies; it is personal, purely for the love and honor of the man, and with no touch of the utilitarian. I grant you that, by itself, it would not be enough nor of the right kind. The men's building symbolizes the infinite service and kindness of the man by whose name it will be honored. But I still feel that there is something lacking; we have a personal feeling for our President which can not be satisfied by a memorial building. Students in future generations, and visitors occasionally in our own, may think that the building was named for a man who merely gave money to the University. Let us not be too prone to emphasize the fact that we are getting two things at once—a memorial and a useful building. Some objects are of such a kind that they must be sought in isolation. We want always to see his face on the campus, and we want it to be there for all time where everyone can see it. The fine painting which we already have is not enough; it can never be seen by enough people. I do not believe in covering a campus with statues; it is a kind of memorial greatly subject to abuse. But it is contrary to the eternal fitness of things not to have President Northrop and Governor Pillsbury thus visibly and personally honored on the campus of the University of Minnesota. To be sure it adds to the extent of our memorial undertaking. But we have dared, and properly, to attempt big things. The occasion demands such, if ever an occasion did. The state and University of Minnesota are capable of big things. I feel that if the suggested addition be made, we shall have a memorial worthy, well rounded, with nothing lacking.

Sincerely yours,
Albert B. White.

A TRIBUTE TO MANHOOD.

The movement to raise a fund of $400,000 as an endowment for a men's building to serve as the home of the Minnesota Union, patterned after the Harvard Union and other men's clubs of the great Universities, has its ultimate incentive in the sense of a need for a social gathering-place, a unifying centre of interest and influence for men. It has immediate inspiration in the desire to found a permanent memorial to Dr. Cyrus Northrop, the retiring president of the University.

The reasons for this memorial need no statement. There is something especially fitting in its character. President Northrop has done a noble work in directing the University throughout the formative, difficult and rapidly growing period of its youth. He has done much for the development of education in the state and throughout the country. He has been a continuing and a beneficent influence in the religious and social life of his day. But preeminently, he has been an inspiration to the young manhood of the generations who have come and gone at the University of Minnesota under his fatherhood.

In these days, there is nothing the country, and particularly the young civilization of the West, so much needs, as a loftier sense of the value of its manhood. In a period of commercialism such as ours, he renders a priceless service to his times, who insistently puts over against the stamp of the guinea the image of the man.

Among the many false standards by which we gauge success, it is well to cherish a measure of idealism. Glittering are the goals the age sets before its ardent youth, and before they are reached, the many fall. Gained, those goals often prove unworthy the prize. The strain and the stress have been put upon the means, rather than the end. Despite the doubtful issues of life, of which human experience is full, this truth remains: that,
"The soul that can render an honest and a perfect man

Commands all light, all influence, all fate

Nothing for him comes early or too late."

President Northrop has not only voiced the values, but he has typified the worth of a large manhood. He has stood before thousands of the youth who have entered the University and come under his influence, as a man among men, of generous nature, of earnest purpose, of high ideals, of great sweetness and rare light. His memory will be cherished not only in University councils in the years to come, but in the many human hearts which have beat to nobler music under the leading of his life as well as his word.

It is fitting that his name should be commemorated in marble and carved in stone, in the form of a University home for men, dedicated to the service of the manhood whose spirit he has so greatly inspired and so truly informed.

Richard Olding Beard.

COMMUNICATION.

The Weekly has a letter from Mr. Nosteinstein, upon the question of forestry, which will be published next week.

DR. BROOKS' FUNERAL.

The funeral of Dr. Jabez Brooks who died January 26th, at San Jose, Calif., was held at the Wesley Methodist church in this city, last Thursday. The funeral had been postponed until Mrs. Brooks felt able to come East with the body for burial. The services were very simple and the floral tributes completely covered the coffin. All classes in the college of science, literature and the arts were dismissed for the afternoon and the University flag was floated at half mast, from sunrise to sunset, in his honor.

WILLIAMS APPOINTED REGENT.

Last Monday Governor Eberhart appointed Milton M. Williams of Little Falls, Minn., to succeed the late Sidney M. Owen on the Board of Regents. Mr. Williams will serve out the remainder of Mr. Owen's term which expires in 1913. So far as we can learn Mr. Williams will prove a very acceptable appointment to all who have a real interest in the University. He lives on his own farm near Little Falls and is recognized as one of the leading men among the farmers of the state. He has a very large farm, which is carried on under his personal supervision, and many outside business interests. He has been greatly interested in forestry matters and has been a member of the state forestry board, an office which he resigned to be appointed to the Board of Regents. He is a raiser of fine cattle and one of the active members of the Minnesota stock breeders association.

THE HONOR SYSTEM.

The University has been very much stirred up during the past weeks over the question of cheating among the students. The whole subject has been given an undesirable airing in the public press. The effort made by the young women's self-government association to check the practice of cheating in examinations has met with, at the best, only partial success and the faculty have practically concluded that drastic measures must be taken to stamp out completely the practice in the University. The fact that the students themselves are becoming aroused over the matter is a most hopeful sign and if the students can be brought to feel a personal responsibility for such conditions it will not be long until there is a decided change for the better.

THE GIRL WHO MAKES HER WAY.

In the Tribune of Sunday, February 27th, Clara C. Thomas, '00, has an exceedingly interesting article upon the University girls who are making their own way through college. Miss Thomas describes actual experiences of members of the various classes in the University who are earning their own way through the University. The article is exceedingly interesting and furnishes information not known to very many people concerning the ways in which the young women earn their money and how they look upon the proposition themselves.

PILLARS OF SOCIETY.

The performance of "Pillars of Society" by the Scandinavian Club was a triumph of careful interpretation and self-forgetful acting. Mr. Arnold Lien, as Konsul Bernick, realized his role unwaveringly; Miss Millie Larson, as Lona, succeeded in "letting in fresh air," and brought vitality and contrast to the scenes of smug Philistinism. The "support" was adequate and in several cases individual and strong. The cast acted their parts continuously and consistently, even when they were not speaking.

We, of Minneapolis, are fortunate in being allowed, from time to time, to hear Ibsen plays in the original language. The opportunity is one which comes seldom to people out of Scandinavia. For this pleasure we are grateful to the Scandinavian club and especially to their director, President John Dahle.

G. N. Northrop.

Although done by amateurs, the word amateurish, applied to last Friday's performance of Ibsen's "Pillars of Society" by Norwegian students of this University, would be nothing less than a plain injustice. The entire rendition of this difficult play showed a unity of conception, a sureness of touch, and, in general, such artistic finish as to make the listener abandon himself unreservedly to the author's ideas and intentions, there being scarcely any disturbing medium. Surely nothing finer has been done by local amateurs.

The large cast, unusually numerous for an Ibsen play, were all thoroughly in earnest, well disciplined, and adequate to their task. Scarcely a false note was observable throughout the performance.

Hans Juergenson.

"THE PROF AND THE PRINCESS."

The University operetta to be given by the men of the Minnesota Union which has been previously announced for the Lyric theater, will be given at the Princess theater, April 22nd and 23d, Friday and Saturday. There will be a Saturday matinee. The trials for the parts are coming along well and the music has been tried sufficiently to show that it is catchy and sure to make a hit. This is going to be one of the biggest events of the University year and those who are expecting to attend should keep the date in mind and keep it free for this purpose.

TESTING NEW RULES.

Dr. Henry L. Williams, coach of the football team, has called out the team for practice in order to try out some of the proposed modifications of football rules to see whether they will actually work out in actual play. The team was called out for the first time and twenty-five candidates for the team were on the floor of the Armory. It is expected that for a while at least, the team will be out every afternoon running signals to try out the proposed new plays and, as soon as the weather will permit it, they will actually be tried out on the field.

BIBLE STUDY MOVEMENT.

Since the special series of meetings held at the University in February, there have been a large number of groups of men organized for systematic Bible study. Several fraternities are holding classes regularly each week and many of the boarding and rooming houses have their own classes in Bible study. In addition to the class conducted by Mr. Graham who teaches a class in "The earlier prophets," and Mr.

Richardson's class on "The life of Christ," Reverend George P. Merrill, '93, of Hope Chapel, will have a class on "The life of Christ," Professor David Swenson, '98, has a class on "The earlier prophets," Coach Grant meets from twenty to thirty men every lunch hour in the track locker room where they study together.

COLORADO ALUMNI

GET TOGETHER.

A movement is on foot among the alumni living in Denver to organize a Minnesota alumni club at Denver. They hope to organize so as to get together once or twice a year for the purpose of social meetings and to consider University of Minnesota affairs.

POTTER MAKES GOOD.

Zenas Potter, '09, who has been pursuing graduate work in political science at Columbia University, is the leader of the debating team of Columbia which won the debate from Cornell, February 25th. The question was the commission form of city government and Columbia had the negative side. The victory is said to have been due to Mr. Potter's excellent work in his final rebuttal. Mr. Potter made a most enviable reputation while at the University as an all-around student and took great interest in various student affairs and it is no surprise to his friends to know that he has become a leader at Columbia.

WILL RUN FOR CONGRESS.

Frank McNulty, Law '00, has announced his candidacy for Congress in South Dakota. At the present time, Mr. McNulty is judge of the circuit bench of South Dakota, having been appointed to that position last year by Governor Vessey. Mr. McNulty has, in previous years, served as county superintendent of Roberts county, South Dakota. He is very popular with the rank and file of the Republican party of his district and is pretty sure to receive the nomination.

MAGNUSSON GETS GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENT.

Leifur Magnusson, '05, who has been engaged in teaching since graduation, and who has recently been teaching in the Central high school of Duluth, left last week for Washington, D. C., where he is to take up his work as library cataloguer of the bureau of labor of the department of commerce and labor. His new duties began March 2nd. Mr. Magnusson has spent nearly all his life in Duluth. He completed his University course with honors and passed the examination for the Rhodes scholarship. Mr. Magnusson took a special examination for his new position last November and his standing in this examination was one of the highest of those who qualified.

GO TO CHICAGO.

President Northrop and Dean Wesbrook attended a meeting of a committee of the American Medical association held at Chicago the early part of the past week. This meeting was called to consider the question of medical education and a large number of college presidents were invited to take part in the meeting. Among those on the program was Dr. George Edwin MacLean, formerly professor of English in this University, and now president of the University of Iowa. President Northrop had no formal part on the program but was called upon for some informal remarks which were made in his usual happy vein. President Northrop put himself on record as favoring the present Minnesota arrangement of a six-year medical course rather than a course requiring a college degree before taking up any medical work. He also opposed the plan to have clinical teachers devote themselves exclusively to college work without being actively engaged in the practice of medicine.

TYPHOID FEVER SCARE.

The prevalence of typhoid fever in Minneapolis has led to the taking of very stringent measures to prevent an epidemic of the same at the University. One student in the college of engineering recently died from typhoid fever and cards have been posted at all of the drinking fountains warning students against the use of city water and giving advice as how to avoid contracting the fever. The swimming pool has been closed and will not be opened for some time and sanitary conditions have been enforced all over the campus. The Minneapolis water supply is at the present time in a very bad condition and there are a large number of cases of fever in the city. It is not likely that it will be very serious as far as the University is concerned especially in view of the active steps that have been taken to check the spread of the disease.

SCHAPER SPEAKS AT INTERNATIONAL FALLS.

Professor W. A. Schaper, of the department of political science, lectured at International Falls, February 22nd upon "How to secure good city government in Minnesota." International Falls is to vote upon a new city charter March 8th and Dr. Schaper was invited to speak at that place in order that the people of that city might have expert advice in regard to the proposition.

FROEKIN HEDVIG SPEAKS AT THE UNIVERSITY.

Froekin Hedvig spoke in the University chapel last Monday evening upon "The influence of America in Sweden." Last Wednesday afternoon she spoke upon Selma Lagerlöf, the famous Swedish authoress who has been awarded the $40,000 Nobel prize for literary ability by the Swedish Academy. Selma Lagerlöf's "Tales from Werinland" are stories that deal with the home province of Governor Eberhart. In her Wednesday afternoon address Froekin Hedvig described the life of the famous authoress and her little estate as told in her "Gosta Beitneigs Saga." She spoke at length of her wonderfully womanly qualities, which her intellectual development has only deepened.

In closing she spoke of the authoress' novel, "Jerusalem," a story of the Dalecarlia, the historical people of Sweden, which is an appeal to the Swedish people to retain their ancient culture and belief.

If Swedish Americans will retain this culture and their ideals, Froekin Hedvig said, they will be better American citizens.

LOUIS MANN SPEAKS.

Louis Mann, the comedian, spoke before Dr. Burton's class in English last Tuesday upon "The essence of comedy." Mr. Mann has been playing the leading role in "The man who stood still," in Minneapolis and St. Paul during the past week. Mr. Mann is not only master in his own field of comedy but he is a broad-minded man, taking an active interest in the best literature and is also an art critic of no mean ability.

NEW MEDICAL SOCIETIES.

Doctors Mullin and Robertson of the department of pathology have established societies among the medical students to promote scientific study and research.

These societies have been in existence for a number of years at Pennsylvania, Johns Hopkins and other prominent universities but this is the first definite action taken along this line at Minnesota.

Meetings of these organizations will be held once a month. At each meeting one member of the society is to prepare a paper dealing with some phase of original research work, and the current, medical literature will be reviewed and discussed. Dr. Robertson said that the societies aim to keep the students in touch with all new, scientific discoveries in medicine.

The Sophomore class has already organ-

Chapman, a student and laboratory assistant, will spend the summer in that region and make a biological survey. Mussels particularly will be studied, but other forms of life will be examined.

man who discovered the rune stone in August 1898. At the time of the discovery Mr. Ohman made a copy of the inscription on the stone and sent it to the University for translation. The matter was referred to M. J. Breda, of the Scandinavian department, who translated it but pronounced it a fake, some one intending to play a joke upon the public. However, the matter did not drop and various persons interested in the matter have been investigating and not a few able scholars have become advocates of its genuineness. Professor Winchell's object in visiting Kensington was to satisfy himself whether Mr. Ohman could not have written the inscription himself.

STACY SPEAKS.

MOORE'S NON-LEAKABLE FOUNTAIN PEN

What would it be worth to you to own a Fountain Pen that you could carry around in your pocket or bag in any position with the positive assurance that it wouldn't leak?

¶ In Moore's Non-Leakable there is no way in which the ink can possibly leak out. This pen is always ready for instant use, and the moment it touches the paper, writes, without any preliminary shaking whatever. Furthermore, it will carry all grades of inks, including Copying and India inks.

¶ There are many different kinds of Fountain Pens on the market, but there is only one that is absolutely satisfactory, and that is Moore's Non-Leakable.

Its Advantages

The non-leakable middle ink joint does not come into contact with the hand—prevents inky fingers and makes a clean pen when in use.

The Flange Mouth is a "dead line" between the ink and the finger grasp. Fits snugly into cap and prevents accumulation of ink on holder. Guarantees a clean pen when not in use.

SOME BOOSTS.

"Enclosed find my pledge for $10 for the Cyrus Northrop Building. I wish I was able to make it many times as large—though there is much I cannot afford this much I can, and rejoice at any opportunity to perpetuate, on the campus and in the lives of Minnesota manhood forever, (a long time but none too long) the name and influence of him who has been such an inspiration to us all."

It gives me much pleasure to hear of the proposed men's building as a memorial to President Northrop. Our Reynolds Club has proved extremely valuable as a centre of the men's life in the University of Chicago. I think that few things would tend more effectively to develop unity of feeling and a loyal university spirit among the students than such a building as that proposed, and certainly I hope that the plan cannot fail of being carried through.

Cordially yours,
Harry Pratt Judson.

THE NORTHROP TRIBUTE CONTRIBUTIONS.

from $1 to $150—there being one $1; two $5; four $10; four $15; one $20; eighteen $25; one $50; two $100; one $150.

Up to Friday morning the students had contributed $12,697.50, an average of a little over $25 for each of those contributing. The faculty has contributed $4,070, an average of above $50 each; and from outside the University entirely, $4,094, the total being $21,861.50. This indicates that without any question one hundred thousand dollars will be raised by the faculty, students and alumni. Certain pledges of support have been received from outside that will be made public, probably the coming week, that will assure the putting through of the project practically as planned. The idea of the large theater to serve as a University assembly hall has been abandoned, since it did not seem to meet the approval of any considerable number of people interested. The University must have such a place of meeting provided by the state and when that is provided it should make provision for more than three thousand. This brings the plans back on substantially the original basis, a smaller assembly room to take the form of a theater. This reduces the proposed expense so that the building can be put through for $300,000.

The canvass has progressed sufficiently to make it absolutely certain that the plans can be carried out and the money raised for the purpose and no alumnus or other friend need hesitate for a moment to contribute his share for the object proposed.

The idea of some special feature of the building being included as a special and personal tribute to President Northrop meets with approval and undoubtedly some such provision will be made in the building. So far, general opinion seems to favor the erection of a statue. One new feature of the movement, which has come up during the past week, is the proposition to secure if possible the finishing and furnishing of individual rooms by various towns in the state of Minnesota. A room so finished and furnished being known for all time by the name of the town making the contribution for the purpose. This matter has been talked over with a great many persons and representatives from various communities in the state and the idea seems to appeal to everyone to whom it is presented. In the finishing of the room its mural decorations may be made to represent the town making the contribution for the purpose. Of course all decorations would have to be subject to the supervision of the architect in charge so that the whole would be harmonious, and anything that would be objectionable could be eliminated. It would be possible to make a building of this sort typical of the whole state and representing the whole state as in no other way, and such a plan would also appeal to a local interest in the building as nothing else would, and would serve as a bond between the various communities and the University such as never before has been provided on the University campus. Every student coming from that town would have a special interest in this building because it represented something from his home town, and every alumnus and every citizen of the town would feel a special interest in the building on account of the representation of their town in the same. The interest in the University which this proposed feature would insure would be worth while even if nothing else were to be gained, but if with this interest can be secured a better building and a more appropriate tribute to President Northrop, more interests will be served and therefore greater good be gained through the carrying out of the plan. In the whole movement to date there have been no jangling voices. All have felt that the form of the tribute chosen has been specially appropriate in that it will perpetuate the things for which President Northrop has so long stood and therefore form a more fitting tribute to him, and the need of the building itself is everywhere recognized. It will be the building the most used on the University campus and will be the building having the greatest influence on the lives of the men of the University for generations to come. Linked for all time with the name of the man who has stood for the best things, the end to be gained is one calling for the enthusiastic co-operation of every friend of the University wherever he may be located. The friends of the University number a vast multitude and even a small contribution from everyone would provide a superabundance of funds for the purpose, but those of us who through our past connection with the University naturally feel the keenest interest in the proposed tribute and what it will mean to President Northrop, the University and the State, must be ready to do our share and do it promptly. Do not wait for a personal solicitation but consider this as a personal solicitation and send in your contribution today. The object is one which your heart certainly approves and it is one that is worth some sacrifice to attain. There never has been before and there never will be again another opportunity to show our appreciation of President Northrop, and our appreciation of what the University has been to us, and our love for Alma Mater such as the present.

SPOKANE ALUMNI ACTIVE.

Spokane, Washington, March 6th, 1910.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

Twenty U. of M. men met yesterday at luncheon in the Hunters' Room at the Spokane Hotel. We had our usual delightful time. The matter of having an evening banquet was taken up. The local organization which includes the women as well as men, will probably have a banquet some time during April. The sentiment is for an informal affair at which every opportunity will be given for us to mingle freely and get well acquainted among all, although this condition, through our luncheons, already exists among the men. I took pleasure in announcing to the men the decision on the form that the Northrop tribute is to assume. Splendid is no name for it and this is the sentiment of us all. We propose also, to have a part in it. I shall have an illustrated article on it in tomorrow evening's Chronicle, with a picture of the President and of the building. I shall send you a copy this week. I am well and busy. All the men are doing well and in our day hope to have some say in our city. Come out and visit the Pacific Coast branches. We will show you not only the best part of the Union but also the best time.

Sincerely,
Earl Constantine.

APPROVED FROM EXPERIENCE.

Dean Fisher of the University of Pennsylvania, spoke in the University chapel Friday, March 4th. In speaking of the proposed Minnesota tribute to President Northrop, Dean Fisher said that Houston Hall is now the foremost institution in student life at Pennsylvania. It provides a club where all University men can meet upon a basis of democracy and it has developed a college spirit as nothing else could do. Houston Hall is the men's building of the University of Pennsylvania and was erected in honor of a son of the donors who gave this as a memorial to their son who died while attending the University of Pennsylvania.

REGENTS REAPPOINTED.

Last Tuesday Governor Eberhart announced the reappointment of the three regents whose terms expired March 2nd. The men named are B. F. Nelson, C. A. Smith and Pierce Butler. These men are all good men and have all served acceptably on the Board of Regents. The alumni felt that they should be recognized at this time by the appointment of at least one alumnus, and while they are naturally keenly disappointed at not securing an alumnus they are not inclined to question the wisdom of the appointments made.

THE NEW REGENT.

Milton M. Williams of this city, the newly appointed member of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, has been a resident of Minnesota since 1858, at which time he moved, as a boy, to Wabasha county from Dubuque, Ia. In 1871 he went to St. Paul, where he was engaged in railroad construction work. After living in St. Paul for sixteen years Mr. Williams purchased all of the stock of the Little Falls Water Power company and associated with him others, and improved the water power of this city, giving Little Falls one of the best supplies of power boasted of by any city in the state. At the time of the improvement of the local water power when taken over by Mr. Williams, Little Falls was a village of 1,000 population. The introduction of water power caused the village to rapidly advance, from a small village to the present city of 7,000. The splendid water power afforded drew a number of manufactories and was responsible in a large measure for the growth of the city. Mr. Williams was actively associated with the water power company until 1903, when he resigned the presidency and disposed of the controlling interests, although still retaining a seat with the board of directors.

Since his retirement from the water power work, Mr. Williams has devoted practically all of his time and attention, with the exception of two years during which he and Mrs. Williams made two trips abroad, to the improvement of his large farm, which adjoins the city. Mr. Williams owns a valuable farm of 640 acres, which is devoted to the raising of blooded stock, and he has, after the expenditure of time, patience and money, stocked this farm with thoroughbred horses, cattle and hogs.

Mr. Williams has occupied several positions of honor since his residence in this state. During the term of General Hubbard as governor, he was assistant quartermaster general with rank of colonel. He has been a member of the Republican state central committee and at present is on the state forestry board. Mr. Williams was given membership on this board in 1903 and has acted since the time of appointment to the present day. During the past year the new member of the board of regents was president of the Little Falls Commercial club and while at the head of that organization, as before and since, was one of the most active "boosters" for Little Falls and Morrison county. He has been vice-president of the First National bank of this city since the organization of that institution. During the sound money campaign Mr. Williams took an active interest. He has never, however, held a state, county or city office with remuneration attached. Refusing to allow his name to be presented for a political position of this kind, Mr. Williams has been satisfied to hold those civic positions in which his energies were needed, but for his services received only the satisfaction of having assisted in bettering his state, county or city.

For years it has been Mr. Williams' ambition to raise the standard of the dairy cattle in this locality and with this purpose in view he has stocked his farm with breeds which have won prizes at several fairs and shows. Allowing the farmers and instructing them how successfully to cross the common dairy cow with the thoroughbred, Mr. Williams has raised the standard of cattle in the vicinity of his farm.

He was instrumental largely in securing and developing the large Pine Grove park in the Third ward of this city. This park, which is the only large tract of pine retained within any city limits in the state for the purpose of being used as a park, has been improved by Mr. Williams, who donated his services and the services of a crew of men on different occasions and has given the city the benefit of ideas obtained in his extensive travels.

The new member of the board of regents succeeding S. M. Owen is a man highly popular among his fellow citizens.

Enlisted in the cause of good roads and in agriculture under modern methods, Mr. Williams has shown his public spirit. With these may be listed his knowledge of forestry, which made him a valuable member of the forestry board.

He is a thirty-second Spanish right Mason and a Knight Templar, also a member of the Minnesota club since its formation.—Little Falls Transcript.

PORTRAIT OF DR. BROOKS.

Mr. T. Smith Russell, an artist of St. Paul, has recently completed for the Minnesota State Historical Society, an oil portrait of Dr. Brooks for forty years a professor of Greek in the University of Minnesota. The portrait is an unusually good likeness of Dr. Brooks and shows him as he was about ten years ago. The cost of this portrait was provided by friends and pupils of Dr. Brooks' earlier days in Minnesota. A considerable number of Hamline men being among the number solicited for this purpose. The fund was raised by the efforts of Professor Hutchinson of the University. This portrait is to be hung in the Minnesota State Historical Society library. It is hoped that a duplicate of the portrait may be secured for the University. Dr. Brooks has been for so many years connected with the University and his influence has been of such a character that it is very fitting that a memorial of this sort should be provided for the University.

TO HAVE COMMERCIAL CLUB BACKING.

Last Saturday the chairman of the public affairs committee of the Minneapolis Commercial club announced that their committee would have a meeting on Tuesday of this week and plan to get behind the proposed Minnesota Tribute to President Northrop. This action of the club will insure the success of the movement and will immediately put the whole movement on a winning basis. A number of communities have expressed an interest in the plan for a town to finish and furnish a room to be known for all time by the name of the town making the contribution, and it is expected that before another week has passed there may be something definite to announce along this line.

NEW ARTICLE BY DOWNEY.

Phagocytosis of Erythrocytes in the Lympho-Renal Tissue of Polyodon Spatula. By Hal Downey. Published in Folia haematologica, Internationales Magazin für klinische und morphologische Haematologie. I. Teil: Archiv. Bd. IX. 1910. (January).

This article is a detailed study of phagocytosis of red blood corpuscles in the lymphoid tissue of Polyodon. The article is accompanied by a lithographed plate, the drawings for which were made by Miss E. S. Carrington, an artist who is a specialist in this line of illustration.

The article is a correction of a paper by Carmelo Ciaccio entitled "Sur la physio-pathologie des tissus hemopoiétiques etc." published in Folia haematologica Bd. VII. Briefly Ciaccio's statements are: The myeloid (bone marrow) of mammals gives origin to the different cellular elements of the blood and is, therefore, anabolic. It is also katabolic on account of the fact that the red blood corpuscles lose their nuclei in the bone marrow before they get into the circulation. The extruded nuclei of the red cells are phagocytosed (engulfed) by elements of the marrow and are transformed into pigment, and into nuclein and histone which enter into the erythroblasts to form haemoglobin. Ciaccio further states that the katabolic process is entirely absent from the myeloid tissue of vertebrates below mammals, and from this he concludes that the development of haemoglobin in mammals is a different process from what it is in the lower vertebrates.

Mr. Downey shows that this conclusion is wholly incorrect. One of the most important functions of the myeloid tissue of Polyodon is the katabolic process of phagocytosis of erythrocytes which have served their physiological usefulness. The various stages of this process are fully illustrated in the lithographed plate. When the red cell is phagocytosed its cytoplasm is completely dissolved, but its nucleus is converted into pigment which is very similar in appearance to haemosiderin (a haemoglobin compound containing iron). The bulk of the paper is devoted to a detailed account of the exact changes which the phagocytosed red corpuscles undergo, and to a study of the cell which phagocytoses them.

One of the conclusions from this work is: "If Ciaccio can prove that the phagocytosed erythroblast nuclei in the bone marrow of mammals are reduced to nuclein and histone, after being acted on by a ferment secreted by the megakaryocytes, and that these substances take part in the formation of haemoglobin, then it is reasonable to suppose that the same process takes place in the myeloid tissue of Polyodon."

The other conclusions are of a technical nature.

A SENIOR COUNCIL PLANNED.

The members of the academic senior class have been working for some time with a view of organizing a senior council which shall have power of recommendation to the faculty and shall crystallize and represent to the faculty student sentiment. Similar institutions exist at various other universities and have proven very useful. We sincerely hope that the plan will be carried through and that it may prove as successful as its most enthusiastic supporters hope it may.

ACADEMIC FACULTY MEETING.

Last Saturday the academic faculty held a very important meeting. The chief business before the faculty was the report of the committee on cases of cheating in examinations. The committee made an exhaustive report, which will be published next week, recommending more stringent measures to limit and stamp out the practice of cheating in recitations and examinations. A committee from the senior class appeared before the faculty and asked for the approval of the faculty for the organization of a student council with advisory powers. Their request was readily granted and the faculty members expressed themselves as much pleased with the proposed action of the students to organize to improve university conditions among the students.

ENCAMPMENT AT SNELLING.

Captain Butts is very much in earnest about providing an opportunity for the University cadets to have a week's practical experience in military service by an encampment on the Fort Snelling reservation. In speaking to the cadets a week ago, he said, "You would learn more about military affairs in one week's encampment at Fort Snelling than you could in a whole semester's work." Captain Butts is anxious that the University should turn out men sufficiently trained in military methods to be able to secure appointments as officers of volunteers in time of war and is making a very strong effort to have the training made as practical as possible.

IF THE REGENTS APPROVE.

The representatives of the inter-fraternity council will be elected by the different chapters of the Academic fraternities at once and will meet Wednesday, March 16th for the purpose of nominating three faculty members for the presidency of the Council. These names will go to the board of regents with a request to approve the recent inter-fraternity agreement and to name one of these men as president of the council.

RECEPTION FOR PROFESSOR SANFORD.

Professor Maria Sanford was the guest of Mrs. Max West, 1839 Summit Place, Washington, D. C., during the early part of last week. Mrs. West received informally for Miss Sanford on Tuesday evening, March 1st, the guests being the Minnesota alumni of Washington.

THE SANFORD FUND INCREASING.

The plan for creating a Maria L. Sanford scholarship loan fund which was taken up last commencement time, is making progress and Mrs. Nellie Gross Knappen (Mrs. T. M.) '91, is chairman of the fund committee. Mrs. Knappen recently said, "The fund is coming along very well and clubs from various parts of the state are sending in contributions." It is hoped that the fund will amount finally to two thousand dollars and it is expected that at least twelve hundred of this will be in by commencement time. The contributors up to date are as follows:

JAPANESE STUDENT KILLED.

Kozō Yamagishi, a senior in the college of pharmacy, was struck by a falling door during a wind storm Sunday, March 6th, while walking on Hennepin avenue near Eighth street. He was taken to the City hospital in an unconscious condition and despite all that could be done he died Monday morning. The Twin City Japanese association, composed of his countrymen of the twin cities, took charge of the body. His body will be cremated and the ashes sent to his former home, Kobe, Japan.

Mr. Yamagishi had so nearly completed the work required for his degree that, on recommendation of the faculty, this will doubtless be voted by the regents at their next meeting. His record as a student has been first class in every way. He would have been among the leaders of his class had he lived to graduate.

STRONG SPEAKER FOR SUNDAY SERVICE.

Reverend Samuel M. Crothers, D. D., of Cambridge, Mass., spoke at the vesper service held in the University chapel yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, under the auspices of the University Liberal Association. Dr. Crothers is an exceedingly interesting and popular speaker and was at one time pastor of the Unitarian Church in St. Paul. At the solicitation of President Eliot of Harvard, he gave up his charge in St. Paul to take the pastorate of the First Unitarian Church of Cambridge. He is a contributor to the Atlantic Monthly and other magazines and is the author of "The gentle reader," "The pardoner's wallet," "Miss Muffet's Christmas party," and other essays, among them, "The land of the large and charitable air," based on his life in the west.

AN INNOVATION.

Last Sunday afternoon a vesper service was held at the University at which the question of how to improve conditions among the students of the University was discussed. W. W. Norton, '09, talked upon "Is Minnesota's spirit real or largely hot air?" Mr. Norton said that the four main factors that will make Minnesota what it ought to be are the Men's Union, the Senior Council, the Inter-fraternity Council, and the singing of "Hail Minnesota." Howard Williams, of the senior class, spoke upon the students' share in the honor system and discussed the principles of the system. Chester Wilson, Ed. '08, spoke upon the moral obligations of the University and gave individual instances of their violation. He gave Dean Shenehon's plan of instructing the freshmen in the ways of the honor system, and the place which character has and ought to have in University life.

THE PROF AND THE PRINCESS.

The contract for publishing the music for "The Prof and the Princess," the men's operetta that is to be given at the University April 22 and 23, has been given to the University Company of Ann Arbor, Michigan. The prize for the best poster has been awarded to Victor Roehrich and this poster will be used on all advertising put out in the interests of the operetta and will serve as the cover design for the music to be published.

GERMANS GIVE COMEDIES.

Two German comedies are to be given for all those interested in German, by the "Gemuthlichkeit Verein," "Der Pfarrer von Leuthen" deals with the time of Frederick the Great and will be given in appropriate costume. Another one-act comedy, "Nein," by Bendix, has created much interest since it was given at the Club. They will be given in room 209 Folwell Hall and the time will be announced later.

PHI DELTA KAPPA INITIATES.

Phi Delta Kappa initiated E. E. Heeter, J. E. Anderson, Arthur Burkhard, Gustave Petterson, Hugh Nixon, Wallace Butler, A. G. Bystrom, F. H. Gates, Harold Munck, H. W. Kavel, Wesley E. Peik, William Bethke, Wednesday evening at the home of Prof. J. B. Miner.

Phi Delta Kappa is the recently organized, honorary educational fraternity. The students chosen are second-half juniors, seniors or post graduate men.

DELTA SIGMA RHO INITIATES.

Delta Sigma Rho has initiated Sigurd Peterson, Charles Rodeen and Fred Johnson. Qualifications for membership are participation in some inter-University contest in debate and oratory. The three new members were on the University debating team last fall.

PSYCHOLOGISTS TO CONFER.

The Minnesota Psychological Conference, which was organized last year, will hold their second annual meeting, April 1. In the forenoon at ten o'clock a session will be held in the Auditorium of the Physics Building. The subject to be discussed is "Retardation." Dr. H. H. Woodrow will be one of the principal speakers on the subject.

The afternoon session will be held at two o'clock in 301 Folwell Hall. The subjects for discussion will be those of particular interest to specialists in psychology. Professors from Carleton College, Hamline University, Winona Normal School and the University will speak.

WASHINGTON MAN SECURED.

W. J. Spillman, chief of the bureau of farm management investigation, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., is to deliver the commencement address at the graduation exercises of the School of Agriculture, March 23. The commencement exercises will be held in the chapel of the Agricultural school, in St. Anthony Park. The other speakers are Governor A. O. Eberhart, and President Cyrus Northrop, who will present the diplomas.

PILLSBURY CONTEST APRIL 8TH.

April 8th has been decided upon as the date for the Pillsbury oratorical contest. All the contestants are experienced orators and debaters and an unusual contest is promised.

ALL-UNIVERSITY MEET WEDNESDAY.

Wednesday evening the annual all-University indoor track meet will be held in the Armory. For some time the date for this meet has been uncertain but at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Control the day was definitely decided upon. The meet will be Inter-scholastic as well as all-University, in that the high schools of the Twin Cities will be invited to compete in the dashes and in the high-school relay. The regular University events will be run, the 100 and 220 dashes, the quarter and half mile, and the mile and two mile. The regular field events will also be offered. There will be a half mile inter-fraternity relay.

The prizes for each event will consist of first, a gold medal; second, a silver medal; and third, a bronze medal.

DR. BURTON TO TOUR.

Dr. Richard Burton is to make a lecture tour during Easter week. On Monday he is to address the Women's College of Albert Lea, Minnesota; on Tuesday, the Woman's Club and two convent schools in Dubuque, Iowa; on Wednesday, the Woman's Club of Grand Rapids, Michigan, and on Saturday the Woman's Club of St. Louis. He is to give two talks before the teachers of Indianapolis, Thursday and Friday. On the return trip he will speak before the Women's College of Des Moines, Iowa. The addresses are to be on the drama, the novel and educational subjects.

CONCERNING FORESTRY.

Editor Alumni Weekly,
Dear Sir:—

A letter in reply to the writer appeared in the Alumni Weekly of February 21st. Much of it may be passed over. There are however a few points that deserve brief answer. The argument from the number of foresters in Germany is one constantly developed by irrepressible optimists as to the future of forestry. It is an argument that cannot be overlooked so far as the distant future is concerned. Germany has, we are told, one forester to every 9750 acres. But if we are to equal that proportion we must have equally dense population, equally good markets for all classes of forest products down to twigs, equally intensive silviculture that demands highly expensive operations, equally low salaries for professional and highly trained men and equal stability of ownership and forest policy. Not until we have cleared out the great timber resources of the south, the west and of Canada can we expect any of those conditions, not until population has several times multiplied can we expect all of those conditions. It is true that conservation of resources has become almost a moral watchword and it is well. Yet the policy will never be carried to the point reached in Europe until economic necessity gives a shove to the movement. We are still at some distance from the day when the wife of the farmer goes out over the hillsides and gathers into her apron fallen bits of wood. As a matter of fact our government service has conditions to meet almost at the opposite pole from those in Germany. It is dealing with large tracts of land, inaccessible and often waste, for which it counts on one ranger for every 100,000 acres and one forester for every 1,000,000 acres.

No doubt the state of Minnesota could use all the one hundred foresters at present in training here. The question is, is the state likely to do so? The forestry board deserve great credit for what they have done to promote the cause, but unfortunately it will be a long time before they can induce this state to employ even one-half that many university trained men in their own profession.

With the point that the University should lead rather than follow in forestry work the writer has a good deal of sympathy. Yet it may be fairly asked whether such leadership should ignore the evidence that the profession is going to be greatly overcrowded, and that shortly. There is a great cry for the expansion of the U. S. consular service. Germany has three times as many consuls as we have—but would it be wise to start that expansion by urging young men to enter the service?

Certain corrections of statement in the writer's account have been suggested. It is true that the University of Wisconsin has not a department of forestry in the sense that Minnesota has, for example. After a good deal of deliberation Wisconsin decided not to establish a regular school at present but rather to put in a special short course for the training of rangers. And the U. S. government has recently established at Madison a Forest Products laboratory connected with the University, where the University students are to have opportunities for working. The final policy in Wisconsin is not yet settled.

As for the Pennsylvania railroad, the writer remarked that so far as he could find out nothing had come of its plans. It will be remembered that not so many years ago we all heard the news that the Pennsylvania system intended to start afforestation. And what have they done? A while ago they employed three foresters whose chief business it is to manage the creosoting of ties, a kind of work which the Northern Pacific is able to do without the assistance of such experts. It is said in the Alumni Weekly that they are enlarging the service. Does this perhaps refer to the fact that they are now reported to be using five men for the work in question where they were using three? If so, it hardly vitiates the main contention that private afforestation is not developing rapidly.

So much for criticisms of fact. The writer wishes, himself, to make one modification of statement. It was determined some time ago that after the coming year those who passed the forest service examination would not enter the grade of "assistant foresters." Since that time a new head has taken charge at Washington and that policy may be changed, although so far as can be found out, no change has been announced. But in any case, whether by increasingly difficult examinations or by definite limitation, there must be after this year a progressively decreasing number of men taken into the service. The service is nearly full—unless in the near future there should be a radical change of policy, and the fate of the Appalachian bill does not point that way.

The writer, on the other side, said little about the use of foresters by the great lumbering concerns. There are some interesting facts along that line in support of his position. But when those facts are examined they prove less interesting. Unfortunately nearly all the men who have been employed by such companies have learned that they were to become lumber men, not to practice forestry. And the lumber companies are not to blame. It is a matter of economics.

The figures as to the attendance of forestry schools this year are not complete, but statistics from ten schools and departments may be given. These figures are based on their own enrollments. They show that ten forestry departments and schools will graduate exactly one hundred men,* that they have enrolled 811 men, that the number of juniors is nearly double that of the seniors, and that, the number of freshmen, where those figures are given, more than double the juniors. And it must be taken into consideration that in the exclusively professional schools there are figures only as to juniors and seniors. It seems then a conservative estimate that a thousand men are now studying or getting ready to study forestry. It is not uninteresting to compare that number or even the number 811 with the total number of technically trained men now in the government service after that service has gone through several years of development. The letter of February 21st, in the Alumni Weekly, says there are less than five hundred.

The writer insists boldly then on these propositions, that state and private forestry do not hold out large opportunities in the near future, that the government is taking on but a small number of men each year, a number more likely to be reduced than increased, and that therefore the expanding number of students means that a great number of men will be compelled, after getting their training, to turn aside into other work.

I am, Sir,
Sincerely yours,
Wallace Notestein.

* This seems to make the estimate quoted of 150 who will take the examination a bit too high. But these figures are incomplete, and further, there will probably be a number of applicants among those who failed last year.

LOSES THE CHAMPIONSHIP IN BASKETBALL.

Last Saturday night the Minnesota quint which was in the lead in the conference championship race lost the lead and the championship by losing a closely contested game to Chicago at Chicago. The game was one of the closest ever played in the windy city and at the end of the regular time to play the score stood 15 to 15. It was agreed to play five minutes more and when time was again called the score stood 18 to 15 in favor of Chicago. During the first half the Maroons lead by a score of 8 to 6 but the Gophers came back strong and took the lead with a score of 15 to 11 and then the Maroons took a brace and tied the score and then, in the extra time allotted to finish, added three more points which gave them the western conference championship.

A RUDE AWAKENING.

The Weekly has just received a post card from B. M. Jones, '03, of Pegu, Burma. Mr. Jones said that he did not get the issue of the Weekly containing a report of the Michigan game and wonders if the game was too much for the Weekly and whether it suspended publication at that time. The night before the game Mr. Jones dreamed that the score was 42 to 0 in favor of Minnesota. What a rude awakening there will be when he receives the report.

Last Wednesday, Mr. George Adams, city editor of the Minneapolis Journal, gave a lecture in the course on Journalism upon "The reporter." Mr. Adams was to have given this lecture last week but it was postponed on account of Dr. Brooks' funeral.

Among other things Mr. Adams said: "The first morning you're a reporter you may get down to the office on time, but you won't after that." He gave a graphic sketch of a new reporter's experience and emphasized the fact that the young reporter must be a good fellow and take good naturally the practical jokes of his fellow workers, for "when they play their first joke on you they're beginning to notice you, and you're all right," he said.

BASKETBALL TRIP.

Last week Minnesota closed the basketball season with a trip on which the team met and was defeated by the Purdue team by a score of 17 to 15. At the end of the first half Minnesota lead and played a wonderfully fine game. During the last half Purdue secured the lead and Minnesota was very unfortunate in missing several easy shots, the game being against Minnesota in the end of the play.

Wednesday evening the team met the Illinois team and won by a score of 22 to 9. The feature of the game was the unusual work of the Minnesota guards. Illinois was playing in hard luck in shooting baskets. The Varsity boys came back strong in the second half and fairly ran away with the Illini.

CYRUS NORTHROP HALL: A UNIVERSITY POWER PLANT

You were sent to the University for an education. At least that is a fairly accurate assumption. The old maxim, "The good a student derives from a college education depends entirely upon himself" has passed—a remnant of an antiquated philosophy. The good a student will derive, will depend rather upon the environment in which he is placed. If the coming generations are reared in the atmosphere of the present University, the students of to-morrow will be essentially on a level with those of to-day. The quality of the raw material we will have to work with will remain fairly constant. Unless we improve our process, the finished product will not be of materially higher quality.

Our faculties are strong, stronger than some colleges that are accorded a higher standing than Minnesota. But we don't give them the proper conditions under which to work. The atmosphere is anything but scholarly. At the end of fourth hour the University literally disperses. Some return for afternoon work, but when those few classes are over the mass of students are scattered throughout two great cities. Give us a Cyrus Northrop Hall that will hold us here in the mere vicinity of the "Halls of learning" and we will assimilate something of worth by virtue of our continued proximity.

We Minnesotans style ourselves broad-minded because we view with complaisance the dissipating influences which are, here, injected into our daily life? We know little enough of that broad-mindedness which develops thru the contact of minds, minds filled with differing experiences, philosophies, ambitions, and ideals. Bring into the life of the Latin student the invigorating, blood-red ambitions of the engineers who will dig the Panamas of the future; let the Greek instill the philosophies of the Ancients into the budding jurist; give an opportunity to the professor of sixty, to discuss life, its meanings, its measures of value, with the undergraduate; then we are building on truly broad lines.

In the Cyrus Northrop Hall will be accommodated the Faculty Club, Debate Board, Engineering Society, Religious Associations, Inter-fraternity Council, Athletic Board of Control. The vitals of every organization will there be centered. From there will emanate the "live wires" that will furnish the motive power to every activity.

THE MINNESOTA TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT NORTHROP.

The past week has been encouraging as pointing toward a successful outcome for the campaign to erect upon the University campus a building for the men as a Minnesota tribute to President Northrop. The sentiment everywhere is favorable to the proposition and the Commercial Club of this city is sure to put itself on record and to organize an active campaign to back the movement and push it to a successful completion. The interest throughout the state in various localities concerning the proposition to finish and furnish a room has been a most hopeful sign and a number of communities have taken this proposition up and some of them will undoubtedly undertake the plan of finishing and furnishing a room to be known by the name of the city making the necessary contribution. The students of the University who are going home are going determined to push the movement this week and take up the matter with enthusiasm and a number of cities in the state will have representatives who will make a thorough canvass of their own home towns in the interest of this proposition. The students of a number of towns have gotten together and have gone home determined to bring back a pledge to finish and furnish a room. The alumni themselves have shown a decided interest in the proposition and so far the pledges that have come in have run all the way from one dollar to two hundred dollars and have averaged above thirty dollars. We trust that the readers of the Weekly may take the earliest opportunity to send in their pledges. It is not only the sending in the pledge that counts but the promptness with which it is done that helps to get other pledges. On this account it is no fiction to say that a pledge made promptly counts for twice as much as one sent in after the success of the movement is wholly assured. We desire to urge upon the alumni living in the smaller cities in the state the desirability of taking up this proposition and trying to interest the citizens in their own city to finish and furnish a room. Such a plan will not only give the University a building more truly representative of the whole state than could otherwise be built but it will interest the city and its citizens in the University as nothing else could, thus bringing the University home to the people of the state and making them feel an ownership in the same such as could be brought about in no other way. The project is such a worthy one, to honor President Northrop and to serve the University by perpetuating the influences for which he has so long stood, that the project can not fail to receive the hearty support of the people of the state. While it may drag along a little longer than we would like to have it, there can be but one final outcome of the movement and that is the erection of a Cyrus Northrop Building upon the University campus.

The letter of Dean Ada Comstock which appears in this issue of the Weekly is the strongest argument that has been made for a men's building at the University and Dean Comstock speaks not from a theoretical knowledge of the subject but from actual experience with the young women of the University and what Alice Shevlin Hall has meant to them.

Objections Answered.

The one objection that has been urged to the present movement that has weight with some individuals is that the state of Minnesota is a rich state and it therefore ought to build this men's building. It is sufficient answer to this argument to say that no state has ever built such a building for its university and that those who are in best position to know the situation in Minnesota say that Minnesota could not do it in this generation. Such a concensus of opinion in regard to this matter disposes of this objection which ought not to have any weight with the alumni. It has been said that the faculty, alumni and students of a state university consider the University simply as a public charge, "as any old hag in an almshouse." Here is an opportunity for us to refute such a slander and let us do it not for the sake of refuting the slander but because such slander is absolutely baseless.

WHAT THE BUILDING MEANS

The following letter, written by Dean Ada Comstock, who knows from experience in Alice Shevlin Hall, just what such a building means for the women of the University, is the strongest argument that has been made for a men's building.

My dear Professor Jenks:—

It is a pleasure to comply with your request for a letter telling about Shevlin Hall, and the service it has rendered the University. This is the very time to write such a letter. A year or two ago we had not fully tested the usefulness of our building; and a year or two hence we may have forgotten what the University was like without Shevlin Hall.

Five and six years ago when we were besieging the legislature and the public at large for a woman's building we made our plea with every sign of confidence. I must confess, however, that I used to have occasional qualms. What if, after all, such a building was not a crying need? What if the rest-room and living room should stand empty, the study-room be deserted for the more social library reading room, the lunch room offer its wares in vain to girls who preferred a sandwich eaten in chapel or in a recitation room or in other places from which the men students were not excluded? What if such a building should prove a wanton waste of money? I need not say whether these fears proved well-grounded. The additions we are about to make to Shevlin Hall sufficiently answer the question. I may say, however, that my hope that such a building might prove itself more useful than dormitory, gymnasium, or any other one campus building has become a deeply-rooted conviction. In an institution like ours, a students' building is, in my estimation, worth more than any other single addition which can possibly be made.

Though the nature of the services rendered by Shevlin Hall is well-known to you, perhaps you will allow me to sum up a few of the more important points. In the first place, Shevlin Hall contributes wonderfully to the health of the women students. The distribution of work through morning and afternoon makes it necessary for many of our students to remain on the campus all day. No member of the faculty needs to be told that the nervous strain of spending six or eight hours a day on the campus is very great. I do not know how the University girls would endure it without Shevlin. There the study-room and rest-room are always quiet. Nerves may relax and tired bodies may rest. In the living room there are comfortable chairs, a few magazines if one wishes to read, a bright fire to cheer the discouraged. Yet the building does not seem to me conducive to idleness. It often surprises me to see how few girls seem to waste their time there. They study, read, or rest; but of anything which could be characterized as loafing we see but little.

The luncheon we serve is, of course, one of the best contributions we can make to the health of our students. The food is simple homemade for the most part, and very wholesome; and it is eaten to the right accompaniments of talk and laughter and good-fellowship.

Consideration for the rights and feelings of others can scarcely be absent in a students' building conducted by students. Then, too, there are few week-day nights when Shevlin is not occupied by a group of girls, who, for the evening, are at home—are hostesses. Their handling of such affairs and their entertainment of their chaperones may still leave something to be desired; but those of you who have had experience in playing propriety at these parties know how great an improvement has been manifest.

But the great thing for which we prize Shevlin Hall is the development it affords for ideals of conduct and character. To begin with, it stimulates the growth of the great inclusive organizations. Our Woman's League increases yearly in strength and numbers. Our Young Women's Christian Association has a membership proportionately several times larger than that in some of our sister institutions where no such building exists. To illustrate its strength, I may call your attention to a recent occurrence. Other causes, I know, have their part, but it isn't solely because women are more open to religious influences than men, that one in three of our women students attended the supper at the beginning of the religious campaign, as compared with one man in twelve. The women students are becoming more general in their interests. They are more accustomed to the idea of uniting for a common end. Every year the Student Government Association—which governs Shevlin Hall—strikes deeper roots. The seven girls who form the executive committee of that association feel themselves truly responsible for the building. They grant the use of it for parties, they keep the calendar, they enforce the rules, they decide upon the expenditure of any surplus which may accrue from the cafeteria. With this committee as a center, there is diffused among all the women students a general sense of responsibility for the care and the proper conduct of Shevlin Hall.

But it isn't only for the building that the girls are coming to feel themselves responsible. They are increasingly disposed to hold themselves accountable for one another and for social conditions in the University. They want to help. They want the University to be the best possible place for a girl to come to, and they want every girl who comes to have a fair chance at its advantages. I wish you could know how eagerly they plan to reach the home-sick girls, and to give aid and counsel to those who might otherwise be neglected. The other day the president of one of the girl's literary societies spoke to me about one of the younger members of the society. "She is going out too often in the evening, and staying out too late," she said. "People are beginning to talk about her. She is really a nice girl, but she is away from home and she likes a good time. Don't you think I ought to tell her how the society feels about it?" Responsibility and democracy go hand in hand, and the growth in these two qualities has been the most marked result from the influence of Shevlin Hall.

Now to my mind, the men students of the University are more in need of a building than the women ever were. Their health, their taste, their manners are no less important, and no less in need of improvement. They are at a disadvantage, as compared with the girls, in home-making ability. A girl can turn a little eight by ten room in a boarding house into a home where she is content to spend her leisure hours. Very few boys have this power. A girl is exposed to few temptations; a boy, to many. The girls of our University are found, for the most part, in the college of science, literature, and the arts; the boys, scattered through so many colleges, have far less opportunity to feel the general influences of University life—and especially the good influences. In my opinion, such deplorable conditions as this wide spread habit of cheating grow up because there is so little chance for the best sentiment to make itself felt. In a mob the lowest element rules. In a well-organized community the better sentiment is at least known and respected. For my own part, I think better than some do of the character of our student body; but I feel that so far as general student life goes, the men at this University are hardly better than a mob. And a mob they must remain, I think, until they have a center in which to plant their colors and organize their forces.

Very respectfully,
ADA L. COMSTOCK.

MINNESOTA THE RIGHT KIND.

The Journal of Education, published in Boston, one of the most widely read and important school journals of the country, recently had an editorial upon Minnesota's attempt to secure President Hill of Missouri for the presidency of the University of Minnesota. After commenting upon the difficulty Minnesota had experienced in trying to find the right man and that in President Hill Minnesota doubtless made an excellent choice, it goes on to say,

"But why should a man leave Missouri for Minnesota? Is Minnesota a richer state? Has she greater promise? Has she a more tempting location? 'No,' emphatically 'no,' in every case. Why, then, should it be thought in any sense a temptation? He would be blind, indeed, or stupidly ignorant, who should hesitate for an answer. Minnesota is proud of its University, believes in it vigorously, supports it loyally, provides for it royally, and a president has no legislative battles to fight, no political squabbles awaiting him, no official mossbackism on the one hand or crankiness on the other to deal with."

AT THE CONSERVATION CONGRESS

The University was well represented at the Conservation Congress which was held in St. Paul last week. President Northrop presided at one of the sessions and among those who took part on the program were Drs. E. V. Robinson and John L. Coulter, of the department of economics, Dean F. F. Westbrook, Dr. Frederic Clements of the department of botany, Dean F. C. Shenehon, Dean Appleby, Dean Woods, Professor John T. Stewart, Andrew Boss, Coates Bull, D. D. Mayne, A. D. Wilson and Mr. John B. Irwin, a graduate of the University who is farming near Minneapolis.

DR. MOORE BETTER.

Dr. James E. Moore left Minneapolis for the Virginia Hot Springs last week. He left the hospital Saturday, March 12, greatly improved but will not be able to assume his regular duties for some time.

Dr. Moore said yesterday, "I came through the accident very nicely. I have all my faculties and am about all right now except that I am still quite weak. I hope to regain my strength by spending a few weeks at the Hot Springs."

A JOHNSON SCHOLARSHIP.

A committee of friends of the late Governor Johnson have been collecting a fund of thirty thousand dollars, the income of which will be given to Mrs. Johnson during her life, then revert to the University to establish scholarships. The plan has progressed sufficiently far to assure its being carried out to completion.

REORGANIZE CENTRAL DEBATE LEAGUE.

The action of the University of Wisconsin in withdrawing from the Central debate league calls for a reorganization of the same. Three plans are up for consideration, a triangular league of Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota, or a four-cornered one by adding Nebraska, or keeping up the original quintangular circuit by adding another university in the place of Wisconsin. This is probably what will be done. Wisconsin has withdrawn from the league because it was impossible for them to prepare for the debate in December and the other colleges were not willing to postpone the debates to later in the year.

RECEPTION FOR GRADUATING CLASS.

Dean Woods gave a reception for the graduating class of the school of agriculture last Thursday evening at the Home Building of the Experiment Station.

AESTHETIC DANCES.

Owing to an oversight no mention was made of the aesthetic dances given in the University Armory on the evening of April 12th. The program provided at that time was exceedingly interesting and pleasing and deserves unqualified commendation. The young women entered into the occasion with spirit and the whole affair passed off in a very creditable manner.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF ACADEMIC FACULTY.

Following is a report of the committee appointed to consider two specific cases of cheating and the general subject of cheating:

Your committee first considered the special case of cheating referred to it, involving two graduates. It recommends the application of the regular faculty rule, suspension for one semester, in the case of one, and no punishment other than a letter of warning from the dean of the college in the case of the other.

Your committee then took up the general subject of cheating in the University, and finds that:

First—Students are frequently dishonest in blackboard work, oral and written quizzes; reports of outside reading, and final examinations. Also, they are not honest in the use of library books, especially reserved books.

Second—Members of the faculty are often careless and slack in their methods of conducting quizzes and examinations, and frequently turn the conduct of these over to assistants who are not qualified for this kind of work.

Third—There is a tendency on the part of the faculty not to report cases of cheating.

Fourth—Our present method of punishment is inadequate.

In view of these facts, it is the belief of this committee that the condition of affairs at the University is very serious and that energetic measures must be taken to build up a sentiment of honesty on the part of the students and to better the administration of class exercises on the part of the faculty. It is believed that these ends will be furthered if the faculty favors co-operation with some body of representative upperclassmen.

Your committee then agreed upon the following specific recommendations:

First—That the faculty request the dean of the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts to carry out an investigation, based on student testimony, to the end of learning the extent to which cheating is carried on under individual professors and instructors; and that, after the investigation, he report to each member of the faculty his findings as to conditions in his classes.

Second—Provisions looking to the better conduct of final examinations, and the greatest possible elimination of temptation.

*a—That the examination period be extended to two weeks. This recommendation is based on the belief that the present crowding of examinations causes a strain which greatly increases the temptation to cheat, and also results in other evils which are not within the province of this committee.

b—That the rearrangement of the examination schedule to fit the two-week period be referred to the committee on program.

c—That no one below the rank of instructor is to be intrusted with the sole charge of a final examination without the consent of the dean.

d—That examination books be used in all final examinations and that no loose paper be allowed.

e—That, where possible or where it seems necessary, the device of alternate or alternate lists of questions be used.

Third—Provisions for dealing with individual cases of cheating:

(a)—That the faculty report cases of cheating to the students' work committee.

(b)—That, if a student council be formed, the student body be requested to report cases of cheating to that council.

(c)—That, through whichever channel the reports come, each case is to be dealt with by the students' work committee. The students' work committee is empowered to ask the co-operation of the student council in this matter in any way that it may deem desirable.

(d)—That it is the sense of this committee that suspension for one semester is a just punishment for a case of deliberate cheating in a written exercise; but that, under exceptional circumstances, the students' work committee may well inflict a punishment either more or less severe.

*Section (a) was adopted by a large vote, but since the change contemplated requires the co-operation of several other colleges of the university, it was agreed the matter should be submitted to the other faculties concerned for their approval, before carrying out the new plan.

HAS BEEN WATCHING THE COMET.

Ever since "A 1910" appeared in the western skies Professor Leavenworth has been watching it every clear evening, making photographs and observations to determine if possible the orbit of this hitherto unknown heavenly visitor. Observations have progressed far enough so that its orbit is pretty well determined. It will be in sight probably for some two months longer.

UNIVERSITY AND FORESTRY.

St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, Minn.,

March 18, 1910.

Editor of Alumni Weekly:

In the Weekly for February 14th appeared an article on Forestry Education, the chief characteristic of which was sophomoric assertion, inaccuracy and conceit. At my request Professor Cheyney replied fully and tried to help the writer and the general public to an intelligent view of the matter. In the last Weekly the same writer in a long inaccurate article tries to explain his inaccuracies to which Professor Cheyney had called attention, but the same did not include an apology. In the closing paragraph, the writer says that he "still boldly asserts," of which I have no doubt.

In these articles he is violating the well-known rules of University propriety in criticizing a University course in public print. He apparently knows nothing accurately about general forestry or the forestry situation in this country or abroad, and neither Professor Cheyney nor myself can afford to instruct him by letters to the public press. If he really wants to get the right viewpoint, he should take our freshman course in general forestry, given by Professor Cheyney in the first semester.

Sincerely yours,

SAMUEL B. GREEN,

Professor of Forestry.

DR ANNA PHELAN NAMED.

Governor Eberhart appointed Dr. Anna Helmholtz Phelan delegate to the First Minnesota Conservation Congress, held in St. Paul last week. Last fall the Woman's Club of Minneapolis sent Dr. Phelan as delegate to the Cincinnati Convention of the American Civic Association, the keyword of which meeting was conservation,—“of life, beauty, wealth.” Dr. Phelan is chairman of the Research Committee of the Minneapolis Woman's Club and also of their new committee on conditions among working girls.

ADDRESS BY ALICE MOTT.

“How to Find the Individual in the Average” was the subject of an address given by Dr. Alice J. Mott, principal of the University model school at the Southeastern Minnesota Education Association meeting held at Red Wing, March 8-21. Dr. Mott said that never before has co-ordination and consolidation along educational lines been so effectual, and conversely never before have specialization of attention and respect due the individual been more emphasized than at present.

“We cannot quite make up our minds which is of more value or importance, to consolidate the rural schools into the semblance of a city school in which the entire teaching force is utilized, or to subdivide and specialize the city school into the semblance of the little red schoolhouse in which the individual was a king sitting on his knife-hacked throne, plodding unimpeded by recitations or hindering classmates through his dog-eared arithmetic.

“Is the public school of the American future to be on the model of the phalanx or the sharpshooter? Economy and the American policy tend in the direction of the phalanx. Psychology and the American genius tend toward individualism. Which shall prevail? Like everything else, there are good reasons on both sides. The state establishes the public school for the elevation of society. On the other hand education can only be carried to the individual. The work of education cannot neglect either final cause or medium. It must consider both; yet in the child world, as in the adult world, there is and always will be more or less antagonism to the individual. How may we reconcile them in education? How may we find the individual in the class?”

In the discussion of this theme, Dr. Mott clearly and forcefully pointed out the teacher's problems and explained her views on their solution. At the close of the address, an informal discussion of the paper was led by S. A. Challman, state graded inspector, of Minneapolis, after which the convention adjourned.

WINS WIDE REPUTATION.

Since graduating in 1888 Sumner W. Matteson has made over eighteen hundred photographic negatives which have special photographic and historical value. Mr. Matteson's photographs have been published in all the leading periodicals of the country and he is a regular contributor to many publications making a specialty of half tone reproductions of notable pictures. His photographs are frequently used for cover designs for various magazines and eight recent numbers of Burr McIntosh monthly have used from one to seven of his photographs. The November number of Collier's contained a set of Mr. Matteson's pictures on game slaughter in Colorado, Recreation had ten on the Yellowstone in July and in November twelve on chicken shooting in the Red River valley. The Pacific Monthly, Country Life, World To-Day, Sunset, Leslie's and various other publications have used Mr. Matteson's pictures. Mr. Matteson made a trip to Mexico three years ago and brought back one of the most remarkable series of pictures of that country that have yet been produced. They include the old ruins of Aztec days, colossal fragments of Spanish aqueducts and the people of that country engaged in all sorts of work. He visited the craters of three volcanoes and took pictures of them all.

SHEPARDSON HAS EXHIBIT.

Professor George B. Shepardson of the department of electrical engineering has arranged a historical electric exhibit for the Electric Show which is to be held in Minneapolis, March 26th to April 2nd. This exhibit will include types of instruments from the various earliest forms down to the present.

NEW BOOK ON BAILMENTS.

The lectures will be given under the auspices of the Scabbard and Blade society in the band room of the Armory.

IRISH HAVE BIG TIME.

Last Thursday evening the students of Irish descent in the University held a banquet at Dayton's. Owen P. McElmeel, Law '04, acted as toastmaster and about one hundred and twenty-five sat down to partake of the banquet.

Between courses Marguerite Scott sang "Kathleen Mavourneen," Joe Granbeck rendered "My Wild Irish Rose" and the Class Song, and Ruby Burtness accompanied at the piano. Miss Robinson recited a selection from "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" that was well received.

Irish eloquence was provided for in the six toasts which were responded to. Prof. Rankin with "Our Patron Saint" gave an appreciation of St. Patrick's life and work. Winifred Turner's subject "Our Natural Affections" contained wit of the true Irish brand, and Johnny McGovern told "How we beat the Dutch—at Wisconsin" in a truly entertaining manner. Tom Collins, with "The Harps in Göpferdom," recorded the many achievements of the Irish at Minnesota and declared for the perpetuation of the custom of an annual Irish banquet on St. Patrick's Day. Tom Graham, responding to "Erin Go Bragh," gave a message of hope for Ireland which touched the hearts of every Irishman present.

JUNIOR MINERS FOR THE FIELD.

'95 Law—Wendell Hertig who is serving what he says is to be his last term in the city council, declares that he will not be a candidate for mayor although a great many of his friends want him to run. Mr. Hertig says he can not afford to make the run as he must withdraw from public life and devote himself to private affairs. He has been chairman of the special gas committee and in charge of electric light negotiations with the General Electric company and has proved himself one of the most useful men who ever served as a member of the Minneapolis city council. A great many persons will regret very much this announcement of Mr. Hertig's.

'03, Law '07, '08—Helmer M. Feroe has recently changed his office in the Security Bank building from 528 to 621.

'03 Med.—Dr. J. G. Newgord of this city has recently changed his address to 1725 4th Ave. So.

The exercises were held January 28th to February 1st of the present year. The program includes the cast of a class play by the pupils of the school. The play represented a Chinese school, past and present in two acts and one specialty. In the act representing the new school, Miss Huelster took the part of Miss Kiang. The Class Day exercises have a familiar sound although they took place so far away. The exercises included a class poem, history, prophecy, presenta-

GYMNASTS BUSY.

Several University men are planning to enter the meet which is to be held by the Western Gymnastic Association in the local Y. M. C. A., April 2nd.

Wrestling bids fair to become a big feature of this year's meet. Illinois has a strong wrestling team and will make a strong bid for first honors. Dr. Cooke reports that Chicago also has a strong mat delegation. Everything indicates that Minnesota wrestlers will have to work hard in order to keep the medals at home.

INDOOR RECORDS BROKEN.

Four records were shattered in last weeks' All-University Indoor track meets. Rathbun after breaking his own record of 4-48-2 in the mile with the remarkable time of 4-45-4 finished a close second in the half-mile in which Capt. Hull broke the indoor University record in 2-50-3. The two mile furnished one of the prettiest races of the evening, Beddal winning in 10-36-3-5 smashing the old record for this event of 11-17. H. Peterson, a freshman, set a new high mark of 10 feet in the pole-vault. Two other freshmen, Coady and Lambert, captured the other two places in this contest with marks of 9-6 and 9 ft. respectively.

The shot put proved to be closely contested. Frank closely approached the old mark with a put of 3 ft. 10 1-4 in.

110 faculty members have sub- scribed .....	5,611.00
128 alumni and outsiders have subscribed .....	7,055.00

These figures do not include what was secured by the students during the vacation, as most of the students have not reported to this time.

The Commercial Club of Minneapolis has appointed a committee to take charge of the canvass in this city with the definite intention of raising $150,000.

A committee of alumni and citizens of Duluth have pledged $30,000 for Duluth and the Range cities and will try to make this amount $50,000 for the purpose of finishing and furnishing the auditorium. St. Paul has not taken formal action on the matter but there is little question that that city will back the movement with a substantial subscription, not less than $50,000.

The following named cities have shown decided interest in the project to finish and furnish a room to be known by the name of their city—Mankato, Waseca, Austin, Rochester, Owatonna, Fergus Falls, Bemidji, Red Wing, Willmar and others.

The first announcement of the plan to erect a men's building as a Minnesota tribute to President Northrop, was made public February 26th, just over one month ago. Today, the final success of the plan is assured. The details will not be closed up for months but the outcome is no longer a matter of doubt.

EDITORIAL.

Various expressions of disappointment at Governor Eberhart's failure to recognize the alumni in his recent appointments to the Board of Regents that have come to the Secretary and other members of the Board of Directors prompt the following general statement:

As all readers of the Weekly know the General Alumni Association, through its Board of Directors, urged the appointment of at least one alumnus to the Board of Regents. The alumni had, to say the very least, strong intimations that certain things would not be done and they had assurances that an alumnus would be appointed. But all expectations have been shattered. In consequence we again hear, both among alumni and friends of the University who are not alumni, that appointments to the Board of Regents are dictated by other than University interests.

The alumni have no quarrel with the present Board of Regents. The president of the Board and the alumnus member have been active, aggressive workers with a University vision, and, as a rule, have received the support of the rest of the Board. It is a fact, however, of but recent history that the forward movement was initiated by the alumni and receives continued support from them.

This is natural. Active alumni will always take a vital interest in the affairs of their Alma Mater, and for that reason are more likely to render a larger, better service to the state as members of the Board of Regents, than, as a rule, are those who are not alumni. We do not advocate the appointment of a number of alumni to the Board of Regents because there now is a large body of alumni in the state, but, because we believe that such successful alumni as can be persuaded to accept an appointment will do so with a sense of obligation and a keen appreciation of the opportunity, duties and responsibilities of a regent.

We can not expect busy men who have no personal ties attaching them to the University to devote any more time to the consideration of University matters than is required by the regular meetings of the Board. From alumni, on the other hand, we naturally expect more time, a more intimate knowledge and a keener appreciation of the University's possibilities, aims and needs. And if an alumnus fails to meet these legitimate expectations he can be persuaded to resign in favor of some one ready to make the necessary sacrifice. What is best for the University is best for the state.

If these things are true why do the alumni not receive fairer consideration from the Governor and why is there but one of their number on the Board of Regents?

Alumni everywhere have strong convictions upon these questions and the Board of Directors wishes to say to them that kindly criticisms of the Board, suggestions and advice are always welcome. If you have an impulse to help them, do it in your own way without hesitation.

This is probably as good a time as any to call attention to two other matters.

Individual alumni have pretended to speak for the alumni in general. Every individual has an undeniable right to give expression to his personal preferences and opinions, but he should be honest enough to make it clear for whom he is speaking and not try to give the impression that he is speaking as a delegate from the General Association. Carelessness in this regard has several times credited the General Alumni Association with statements and acts for which it was in nowise responsible and which called for discrediting explanations.

It has also been reported that a few alumni have said the action of the General Alumni Association does not represent alumni sentiment. One alumnus has even complained that a "Minneapolis organization" was trying to influence matters "that belonged to Saint Paul." Now the General Alumni Association with its headquarters on the campus (and where else should they be?) is no more a Minneapolis organization than is the State Legislature a Saint Paul institution because it meets in Saint Paul. The Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association is a representative body chosen by the various college associations and is authorized to exercise delegated power. It speaks with authority for the body it represents and it is the only body that has authority so to speak. The organization is wholly in accord with the principles of representative government and should be acknowledged or openly repudiated.

It can be truthfully said that the members of the Board of Directors realize their responsibility and endeavor to truly represent the great body of alumni. In matters of more than prescribed and routine detail the Board invariably tries to get the sentiment of the alumni generally. This is done through correspondence and conference with alumni and local organizations in various parts of the state and country.

Whatever success may crown the efforts of the General Alumni Association will, as they have in the past, come through the enthusiastic co-operation of alumni generally with a representative Board of Directors. We are all interested in the welfare of the University and should be careful not to let individual interest in details cloud the vision of the larger good. Above all, we should always keep our methods above reproach and suspicion.

REGENT WILSON DEAD.

Honorable Thomas Wilson, a member of the Board of Regents from St. Paul, was found dead in his apartments in the Aberdeen yesterday morning. The cause of his death was heart failure. Mr. Wilson has been a member of the University Board of Regents since September 6th, 1898. He was reappointed in 1903 and again in 1909. A biographical sketch of Mr. Wilson will appear in the next issue of the Weekly.

DULUTH BEHIND THE NORTHROP TRIBUTE BUILDING.

A week ago last Friday as many alumni as could be gotten together on short notice met at the Commercial Club of Duluth and planned for a campaign to raise $30,000 from Duluth and the Range cities for the men's building as a Minnesota tribute to President Northrop. There were present at this meeting, Messrs. Newell, A. D. Goodman, Poehler, Pryor, Watts, Morgan, Hovland, Haroldson, Bowman, Granis, Adams, McGregor, Huntley, Stearns, Kimball, Randall, Nelson, Fryberger and L. Goodman.

WOMEN ADD TO FUND.

The Women's League have donated a sum of fifty dollars to the Cyrus Northrop Hall fund. This will be used for a piece of brass or a picture or some small piece of furniture. The Council girls are anxious to show their interest in the movement for a men's building and with their usual generosity and loyalty have made a practical demonstration.

AUSTIN ALUMNI ACTIVE.

The thirty students who spent their vacation at their homes in Austin went to work with a will and stirred up an interest in the proposed Minnesota tribute to President Northrop that has been surpassed by no other city in the State. C. Roy Adams, '09, headed the bunch and they worked to such good effect that a meeting was held at the Elks hotel and an organization of the alumni determined upon and a committee to push the proposition for an Austin room in the new building. The Daily Herald gave much space to the proposition and backed it with vigor, every issue had about twenty inches of space devoted to the project.

The committee in charge of organization and solicitation are Mr. Doane, a former student of the University and now credit man for the Hormels, was made chairman and the other members of the committee are Ruby St. Amour, '09, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. Cribben, Fay N. Greenman and Ralph Crane, both law men. The students worked with enthusiasm and the whole city is greatly interested in the idea that Austin is to have a room in the new building. Lantern slides of the building plans are to be shown in the opera house on the evening of the 8th of April and Mr. Adams will explain them as they are thrown on the screen. The Herald has asked for a cut of the building to publish with a story of the movement and the whole outlook is such as to please the most enthusiastic advocate of the movement.

CROOKSTON ALUMNI ORGANIZE.

The alumni and former students living in and around Crookston held a Dutch treat luncheon March 17th in the Guild Hall of the Episcopal church. The report in the Crookston Times, says that this was the first affair of its kind ever held at Crookston and the meeting could not have been more successful. The meeting was called to consider the advisability of concerted action on their part toward helping on the Minnesota tribute to President Northrop. The room was decorated with University pennants and the rousing "Ski-U-Mahs" brought back the campus days. Mr. W. A. Marin acted as toastmaster and each alumnus present responded to an impromptu call. It was the common opinion in regard to the proposition that they should stand back of it and each one do his part toward the erection of a men's building.

A permanent association was effected and W. A. Marin was chosen president, F. B. Guthrie, vice-president and Vesta M. Cornish, secretary and treasurer. A committee consisting of Dr. Thos. Spence, Mrs. F. E. Netzer and Dr. Norman Smith was named to take subscriptions from the alumni and others for the purpose of helping erect the proposed building. The alumni hope to be able to raise enough so that Crookston may have a room in the new building. One hundred dollars was pledged that night. The guests who were present were: Messrs. J. C. Sathre, Ole J. Vaule, Chas. M. Loring, Wm. C. Hodgson, G. W. Munch, F. B. Guthrie, J. A. Larkin, W. A. Marin, G. A. Judson, Edward F. Netzer and Charles Martin, of McIntosh; Meses. Sathre, T. R. Brown, Spence, Marin, Munch, Larkin, Schriber, Netzer; Misses Mabel Goodrich, Daisy Kranz, Viola Marsden, Blanche Holt, Alice Schriber, Vesta Cornish, Elsie Collins.

ANNUAL MEETING OF DULUTH ALUMNI.

The Northern Alumni Association of Minnesota will hold its annual meeting at Duluth on the evening of April 20th. President Northrop has consented to be present at this meeting and a record breaking attendance and enthusiasm is promised. The alumni from the Range will undoubtedly be present at this meeting and give the President one of the warmest receptions he has ever had anywhere. Duluth and the range towns are enthusiastic over the building proposition and have pledged themselves to stand behind it in a way that shows that their hearts are in the movement. After the dinner with the alumni it is probable that a public reception will be arranged for the president so that any of the people of Duluth who would care

MINNESOTA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION FOR NORTHERN CALIFORNIA.

The secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota alumni association for northern California, Frank V. Cornish, '98, recently issued a call for a meeting of the association for their annual banquet, Saturday evening, April 2nd. A report of what was done on that occasion will appear in a later issue of the Weekly.

UNIVERSITY AND ITS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

If Dean Woods means by his plan for a state department of agriculture having charge of the college of agriculture and the school of agriculture and the experiment station separation from the state University, we would like to say that that matter has been regarded as settled in this state.

There was a time, of which the dean may not have heard, when it was proposed to separate the agricultural department from the rest of the University, but it was decided then that that would not be a wise move. The threat served a good purpose, however. It compelled the University authorities to recognize the claims of agriculture. But they have been recognized, and handsomely. The state has been more generous to that department than to any other part of the University, and the friends of agricultural education have had no occasion of late years to complain that the department of education in which they are especially interested has not been getting its share of the appropriations.

We would deprecate the revival of a question which seems to have been settled in a way that has proved to be so satisfactory. When a thing is settled right it would seem as if it ought to be allowed to stay settled.—Pioneer Press.

Ed.—Dean Woods has declared himself unequivocally for the maintenance of the integrity of the University and all its departments. As we understand his proposition—it does not contemplate a separation of the agricultural department from the University. The tone of this editorial is so fair and just that we are glad to publish it in full.

ROOSEVELT FOR PRESIDENT.

The newspapers of this state are still discussing the possibility of ex-President Roosevelt for the presidency of the University. The possibility of such an outcome seems attractive to all people who are interested in the University and although it hardly seems possible that Mr. Roosevelt would consider the position, the possibility is sufficient to arouse the keenest interest in the question.

PRESIDENT'S SENSIBLE TALK.

President Northrop, who presided over one of the sessions of the recent conservation congress gave a short talk to those present, and as usual, said a lot of sensible things in few words:

"I have looked at this convention today and I am prepared to say that it is a more impressive convention than the first national conservation congress called in Washington by President Roosevelt.

"Having food and raiment, let us be content therewith, making the most of our farms, the most of our children, and in training up families to be useful.

"I was a farmer boy myself. I never have forgotten the time when I worked on the farm and hoed the corn in the hottest day.

"The trouble with many of us in this age is that we are trying to live a little better than we are able to, foolishly thinking that anybody thinks any the better of us for display of prosperity that is not real.

"Some may take pleasure in ostentatious life, but it doesn't seem to be worthy of the great middle class of Americans. A real life is the life of peaceful contentment, supplemented with an earnest longing to do all the good you can for those around you."

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

The twenty-first annual commencement of the school of agriculture was held March 23d. Over one hundred young men and women received their diplomas before an audience which taxed the capacity of the auditorium of the main building.

Governor Eberhart, President Northrop, Regents Rice, Nelson, Williams, Butler and Schulz, Dean Woods, Chaplain Richardson, Professor Haecker, and W. J. Spielman, chief of farm management investigations of the United States department of agriculture, occupied the platform. D. D. Mayne, principal of the school, presided.

As usual, the program given by the students was wholly practical and demonstrated that theory is capable of being translated into practice by the graduates of this school.

The program included, "Conservation in the kitchen," by Marion G. Bartlett; "Seed testing," by E. W. Norcross; "First aid to the injured," a practical demonstration, by Hattie Wickstrom; "The value of milk testing," by W. C. Atwood, who demonstrated with a Babcock tester; Otto Lindeke, took off his coat and showed the audience how to make concrete fence posts; and the closing number by the students was "Intensive farming a necessity," by A. M. Paterson.

The address of the afternoon was delivered by W. J. Spielman. Complimenting the new dean of the college of agriculture,

ALUMNI WEEKLY

Mr. Spielman said: "The department of agriculture at Washington has a grudge against Minnesota in taking away a man whom we need. Dr. Woods has accomplished very important work in the bureau of plant industry and is largely responsible for the magnificent bureau which has been built up in our national government."

President Northrop and Governor Eberhart addressed the students.

An innovation was tried this year in holding the annual banquet at the Minneapolis Commercial club rooms. About 260 alumni were present including several members of the first graduating class—Torger Hoverstad, R. S. Mackintosh and Mr. Sanders being present.

Professor E. M. Freeman acted as toastmaster and the following responded to the toasts: Dr. B. A. Beach, "Brevity"; Miss Edna Larson, "Opportune Moments"; Vic Sandburg, "Expansion"; Professor G. P. Grout, "Let George Do It"; John Thompson, "Tales"; R. L. Donavan, "Needles and Pins"; Dean A. F. Woods, "In the Future."

At a business meeting of the association in the afternoon at the farm school the following officers were elected: President, John Hummel; vice-president, Andrew Patterson; secretary treasurer, William Hagerman; executive committee, Prof. C. P. Bull and Miss Anna Wilkins.

The alumni ball was held at the dining hall on the evening of commencement day.

NEW FARM PAPER STARTED.

The first number of the Minnesota Farmers' Library, a monthly paper devoted to the extension of agriculture in Minnesota and published by the University department of agriculture, was issued last week. The paper is free and is sent to the home of any farmer who makes a request for it. The first number takes up the promotion of farmers' clubs throughout the state and furnishes scientific assistance to members of such clubs. Ninety farmers' clubs have been organized in Minnesota in the last few years through the efforts of the farmers' institute department of the University. The aim is to place these clubs in the rural districts on the same plane and plan as the Commercial clubs are in the city. The first number outlines the constitution and by-laws of such a club. Warning is given against allowing religious and political subjects to be discussed in these clubs. In this connection it might be of interest to state that the department has a man out inspecting various parts of the state with a view to securing twenty farms which shall be representative of as many different districts of the state for the purpose of practical experiments to show the people of the various localities in the state how an ordinary farm can be developed into an unusually good farm.

REGENTS MEETING.

The regents held a two days' session March 22nd and 23rd and a large amount of important business was transacted.

The proposal of the John A. Johnson Memorial committee to turn over to the Regents $30,000 as a memorial fund was accepted and adopted. The income from this fund, not exceeding one hundred dollars a month, is to go to Mrs. Johnson during her life or until she may waive her right to benefit under the terms of the fund. After that the income is to be devoted to the maintenance of scholarships in the University.

It was voted that Professor Grout's report on the Keweenaw Area of Eastern Minnesota be printed under the direction of the Committee on Geological and Natural History survey.

Mr. J. A. Vye, secretary of the St. Anthony Experiment Station, presented his resignation to take effect May 1st. The resignation was accepted and Miss Harriett Matthews, the present bookkeeper and cashier of the department, is to temporarily have charge of the duties heretofore performed by Mr. Vye.

The constitution presented by the academic fraternities of the University was accepted and approved by the Board of Regents. Professor E. E. Nicholson was chosen as president of the inter-fraternity council from the nominations made by the fraternity organization.

A body of students having asked that special medical lectures on "perils of the social evil" be given to freshmen at the opening of the college year, it was voted that President Northrop be authorized to procure lecturers for this purpose.

The salary of Dean Shenehon, of the college of engineering, was increased to $5,000. The engineering work on the new tunnel and other work connected with designing and installing mechanical equipment on the campus were placed under his charge.

Mr. W. E. Wines, superintendent of buildings and grounds, resigned, his resignation to take effect April 1st. The regents expressed their appreciation of his services and the question of a successor was referred to the President of the Board of Regents and Regent Nelson to consider and report.

It was voted that Cass Gilbert be requested to deliver to the board all work covered by his contract of January 9th, 1909, by April 25th, 1910, except the model of the campus which should be completed and presented by May 15th. On completion of this work the payment of the amount of the contract will be made.

Dean Shenehon was directed to prepare plans and specifications for the tunnels on the campus so that the committee on buildings and grounds may advertise for bids for this work.

Bids for the construction of the Elliott Memorial hospital were opened and the awarding of the contract was referred to the President of the board and the chairman of the executive committee with power to act.

The director of the experiment station was authorized to enter into an agreement with the United States department of Agriculture for conducting co-operative experiments in the manufacture of butter and cheese at Albert Lea, Minn.

A communication from Mr. Shirley W. Smith, secretary of the University of Michigan, concerning the formation of an association of business officers of the universities of the middle west to hold an annual meeting for the discussion of topics of special interest to such officers was approved.

It was voted to purchase 240 copies of the 1911 Gopher to be placed in the high schools, normal schools, colleges and ten copies for the University Library.

The title of James Davies, of the department of German, was changed from assistant to instructor. The same changes were made in the titles of Herman L. Slobin, of the department of mathematics, Alfred E. Koenig, of the department of German and Leon Metzinger of the same department.

It was voted that Mr. Oscar Firkins, of the department of English give his whole time to that department instead of dividing it between that department and the department of rhetoric.

The department of rhetoric was given an instructor at $1,500 a year to take the place of Mr. Firkins who was transferred to the department of English; another instructor at a salary of $1,500 to take the place of Mr. Thomas Cahill who retires at the end of the present year, also a third instructor at $1,200 to take the place of Mrs. Jane Garrott.

Regent Hovland as chairman of the committee of the board to confer with the state tax commission, presented his report as follows:

Object of the Meeting was to decide on details concerning the work to be done by the School of Mines for the Tax Commission.

Character of Work. The commission explained that the work should consist of checking estimates of ore tonnage from data submitted by the commission. In some instances where field data were necessary, they were to be obtained by the school. The work was to be continuous and permanent until completed. The School of Mines was to be officially recognized in charge of the details, securing necessary assistance, etc.

All work in connection with examining, checking, estimating and reporting on ore reserves for Commission was to be done by the School of Mines, and all men employed on such work by the Commission were to be under direct supervision of the School.

Amount of Work. No definite statement could be made by the Commission on this point. They agreed to be reasonable in their demands on the school; furnishing as far ahead as possible a list of properties to be checked up and designating those on which they desired reports first. They would thus arrange work in such a way that field work, in plane and underground surveying, would not be interfered with.

Personnel. Owing to the satisfaction already given by Professor E. P. McCarty he was to continue in direct supervision of the work for the coming year. He was to have the assistance of the new instructor recently allowed the School by the board of regents. In the interest of accuracy and on account of the confidential character of the work, students will not be employed on this work, neither will they have access to reports.

Expenses. The Board of Regents were to provide necessary funds for engaging suitable instructors in the School of Mines who would be capable of doing the work required by the Commission. At present the services of Professor E. P. McCarty and the new instructor (to be appointed) were considered sufficient. As the salaries of these men were to be paid by the Board of Regents, the Commission agreed to provide for all field expenses. In the case of Professor McCarty the Commission and not the board of regents were to pay him for his services during July and August at the same monthly rate as salary paid him by the University. The new instructor was to be engaged for twelve months and his salary was to be paid by the University. The general opinion was this:—That the University should engage, pay and provide the instructors, as their first duties were along educational lines and that the Commission should call on the School of Mines for expert work in the line already designated and would pay all field expenses.

Reports. Reports were to come direct from the School of Mines and signed by the Dean. They were to be made to the Tax Commission, and all mine representatives interested were to call on the Commission for information and not the School of Mines. The School was to keep duplicates of all reports on file in its office.

The duplicate reports were to be open to inspection at any time by the Board of Regents only. The School was to make at suitable times a report to the Board of Regents covering men on work, number of properties checked, etc., and all other items of interest pertaining to the work.

The following opinions were expressed—That the School of Mines in serving the Commission was in reality serving the state.

That the work to be done by the School would benefit the University direct as its mineral lands were developed.

That mutual benefits would be secured to all concerned through the School of Mines meeting the demands for such high grade technical work.

It was voted to appoint Mr. M. S. Kingston, instructor in the School of Mines at a salary of $1,800 for the first year and $2,000 the second year, if he continued in the services of the University.

It was voted that the mechanical equipment of the new buildings be designed by the engineering college under the supervision of the dean.

The amount of credit allowed for extra work in drill was increased from a two hour to a three hour semester credit.

It was voted to pay the expenses of Professor A. S. Cutler to attend the annual convention of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association convention at Chicago.

Professor Hans Juergensen, of the department of German, was given a year leave of absence on half pay.

Dr. Kovarik, of the department of physics, was given a second year leave of absence without pay.

A report from the Athletic Association was received and placed on file.

A report from Alice Shevlin Hall was received and placed on file.

$100 was appropriated to the International commission for the purpose of making an exhaustive study of the methods of instruction of the science of mathematics now used in the schools and colleges with a view to suggesting ways and means for improvement in this branch of educational work.

The appointment of Mr. A. R. Anderson, mechanic in the experimental engineering department, was confirmed.

The bill of Dr. J. E. Moore for expenses connected with his attending the opening of the new building for the College of Physicians at Philadelphia was approved and ordered paid.

The Minnesota Academy of Medicine offered an annual research scholarship of $300 a year to be given to the graduate of the college of medicine who shall devote his time to some particular line of research, the result of his work to be read before the Academy and published under its auspices. The offer was approved by the regents.

The expenses of Dr. E. D. Brown as a delegate to attend a meeting of the United States Pharmacopoeial convention to be held at Washington, D. C., May 11th, were granted.

The resignation of Dr. R. A. Campbell clinical instructor in the diseases of the nose and throat was accepted.

The resignation of Dr. J. A. Watson, clinical instructor in the diseases of the nose and throat was accepted.

At the request of the medical faculty one of the new medical buildings to be named Institute of Anatomy, and the other New Millard Hall.

Dr. John W. Bell offered $100 annually as a prize to be given to the student who makes the highest standing in physical diagnosis. The offer was accepted by the regents.

Dr. C. L. Greene donated four hundred volumes of medical books to the department. The same were accepted with thanks.

Dr. Thomas G. Lee was appointed a delegate to the Inter-Nation Anatomical Congress in Brussels, August 7th, 1910 and to the 8th International Zoological Congress in Ganz, August 15th, 1910.

A special request that the medical faculty and the Board of Control and its architect get together to settle plans for the new medical buildings at the earliest possible moment, was made.

The College of engineering was instructed to co-operate with the Board of Control and its architect for the preparation of plans and specifications for the heating plant and the engineering building and the Board of Control was asked to push forward this work as fast as possible.

An appropriation of $1,500 from the geological and natural history survey fund for certain data and publishing a bulletin on practical mining in Minnesota was voted.

A committee consisting of Regents Nelson, Schulz and Rice was appointed to draw appropriate resolutions on the death of Regents Johnson and Owen.

The salary committee was increased to five members. The committees of the Board were then appointed and confirmed and the meeting adjourned.

THULANIANS BUY NEW HOME.

The Thulian Club of the University of Minnesota, Thursday, completed arrangements for the purchase of the property of Senator J. T. Wyman, former president of the board of regents of the University to be used as a permanent home for the club.

It is a three story house of pressed brick containing eighteen rooms and admirably suited for club purposes. The house is situated on a lot 66x106 feet on the corner of 11th Ave. & 4th Street, S. E., four blocks from the University gates. The reception hall and three parlors are finished in cherry. The dining room is in birch. Five fire places help to give the interior a cozy effect. Throughout the house the rooms are frescoed most beautifully. The parlors are so arranged that they may be opened into one hall for social and business meetings. In the rear a two story brick garage will be of great convenience to its members.

The Thulian club is a purely fraternal and social organization composed of college men of Norwegian descent. Its membership roll includes besides students of the University many alumni scattered throughout the United States and Europe and members of the faculty of the University. On its roll of honorary members are the names of several men distinguished in the various professions and in business life.

The Thulian club was organized in 1899 and reorganized in 1903 since which time its growth has been most rapid until now there are 175 members.

At the seventh annual banquet held March 12th at the West Hotel a move was made to determine the feasibility of securing a permanent club house. On Thursday last it secured for itself quarters second to none possessed by similar associations.

Plans will be taken to extend branches to other universities and colleges in the northwest.

THE GLEE CLUB MAKES MANY FRIENDS.

The Glee Club gave a program in the assembly room of the high school at Duluth Thursday evening, March 23rd. The program was an excellent one and the newspapers of Duluth are enthusiastic in their praise of the work done by the club.

BAND TRIP.

The University band made a trip during the recent vacation and visited a number of towns in western and southwestern Minnesota. They furnished a first-class program in every place where they appeared and made the best sort of an impression. Reports coming to this office from various sources show that the boys did not only themselves but the University great credit in their work.

"THE PROF AND THE PRINCESS."

The Minnesota Union operetta will be given at the Princess theater April 21st, 22nd and 23rd with Saturday matinee. The preparation for the play is going on and the boys are entering into it with enthusiasm. There is no question that the operetta will make a great hit in this city. Several of the songs are of unusual merit and will be published in sheet music form. It is quite probable that a full score will be published in a souvenir edition which will be for sale at the time the operetta is given. All parts are to be taken by men.

MINNESOTA FEATURED.

The Western Intercollegiate Magazine devoted eight pages to a write up of the University of Minnesota prepared by Amy Oliver of Minnesota. The cover is printed in maroon and gold and contains a picture of the law building. A number of cuts of University buildings and campus give a good impression of the University. Miss Oliver tells of the campus and its traditions as they might appeal to an outsider and describes the customs and activities of the college emphasizing the students' love of President Northrop as being the most important element in Minnesota student life. The Western Intercollegiate Magazine is devoted to publishing matters of interest connected with intercollegiate activities of the west and has each month, a different western University featured.

WANT MORE OF DEPARTMENT'S MEN.

Professor Nachtrieb has recently received a letter from the Bureau of Fisheries telling him of the satisfactory work of Mr. Homer B. Latimer, '08, who has recently been appointed to a position in the Bureau. The letter concludes with a request for Professor Nachtrieb to urge more of his men to take the examinations for appointment in the Bureau of Fisheries as they want more men of Mr. Latimer's type in that department.

A NOTABLE GATHERING.

Three distinguished university presidents are expected to attend the annual banquet of the Delta Kappa Epsilon, April 6, in the Radisson Hotel. They are Dr. Cyrus Northrop, Dr. George E. McLean of Iowa, and Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, of Chicago. The Dekes purpose to make the banquet a tribute to Prexy and it will be the most notable function ever held by the fraternity in the northwest. Prexy will preside over the program of toasts.

PROFESSORS AT CHICAGO.

Robinson of the University. Dean Downey also attended the meeting of the academic deans held at the University of Illinois, March 23rd and 24th. Four half day sessions were spent discussing matters of interest to the deans.

SCHAPER MAKES ADDRESS.

Professor W. A. Schaper of the department of political science gave a lecture before the men's club of Pipestone a week ago last Friday evening upon the question "How to secure good city government."

MISS SANFORD BACK.

Professor Maria L. Sanford has recently returned to this city after a six weeks' trip through the south and east. During her trip Professor Sanford has given many lectures and has had a royal reception wherever she has gone. She visited her old home at Saybrook, Conn., for the first time in forty years. She also visited Maryland, Conn., where she formerly lived. At Vassar College she was given a reception by Miss Gertrude Ballard, '03, who is an instructor at Vassar. She was given a reception at Indianapolis by Mrs. Grace Julian Clark, president of the Federated clubs of Indiana. In Philadelphia she visited her brother Rufus who formerly lived in this city. Wherever she went she received a most enthusiastic reception but in spite of her good time Professor Sanford is very glad to be back home again.

RESIGNS POSITION.

W. E. Wines, superintendent of buildings and grounds of the University, has resigned to accept a more lucrative position with the mechanical department of the Chicago Tribune. The resignation is to take effect April 1. The committee on building of the board of regents has been authorized to fill the vacancy. Mr. Wines took charge last July, succeeding Captain A. W. Guild.

CHANGE IN FOOTBALL RULES.

The inter-collegiate football rules committee have decided on several changes of the rules governing the game. The alterations are:

1. The rule to the effect that the player who receives the ball from the snapper-back must circle the end 5 yards to either side before advancing the ball is abolished.
2. Seven men must be maintained by the offense on the line of scrimmage.
3. Flying tackle prohibited.
4. Game to be divided into 4 quarters of 15 minutes each.
5. No pushing or pulling of the runner to be allowed.
6. The ball, in case of an onside kick must strike ground at least 20 yards beyond line of scrimmage, failing which, the members of the team kicking the ball are off side.

These steps have all been taken with a view to weakening the offense and strengthening the defense. The result will be smaller scores and in the opinion of the committee fewer injuries. These changes also necessarily eliminate mass play, for no one man, without help, can successfully buck the line. The substitution will be more open play made less dangerous by the abolition of the flying tackle.

The first change gives the quarter back more opportunity for strategic and quick play than formerly.

The second change is intended to prevent the drawing back of linemen for mass play. The third tends to eliminate the greatest cause of injuries, and it was an easy matter for the committee to decide on this alteration. A clause under the 4th division allows a player to leave the game at any time and return during a subsequent quarter. No player however, can withdraw and return more than once.

Dr. Williams who is a member of the rules committee says:

"One or two points more are to be decided at the meeting of the committee on the last Saturday in April. The forward pass may be modified for use behind the line of scrimmage. The forward pass across the line means that the quarterback on the defense must go away back in the open, running more longer when tackled. If the forward pass cannot be retained with safety, it will be modified.

"Another possible change is that the men on the defense will not be allowed to spread out along the line any farther than the men of the offense, that is, a defensive end will not be allowed to run out farther than his opponent. This will tend to make end runs more useful. But the use of these end runs under the present system of requiring 10 yards' gain in three downs would probably run up too big a score, and in order to check this and keep the score down it is probable that the distance to be gained will be made 15 instead of 10 yards.

"Whatever the final decision of the committee, it will make an interesting game for the public and one which will be safer in every way than it has been for a good many years."

THE NEW REGENT.

Last Friday Governor Eberhart announced the appointment of Charles L. Sommers to the Board of Regents to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Thomas Wilson. The choice could not have been bettered, had the Governor sought the whole state over. Mr. Sommers is a graduate of the University, and has shown his continued and abiding interest in its welfare from the day of his graduation to the present time. Comparatively few alumni take such an interest in the University as he has shown. He has been successful in business and is now in position where he can devote the necessary time to the duties of a member of the Board of Regents and his intelligent interest in the University, in the years past, is an earnest of a term of excellent service. We congratulate Governor Eberhart, Mr. Sommers and the University upon the appointment.

Charles Lyesing Sommers was born at

TO THANK GOVERNOR EBERHART.

The alumni will generally hail the announcement of the appointment of Charles L. Sommers, '90, with the greatest pleasure. Mr. Sommers' fitness for the position cannot be questioned and the further fact that his appointment came as a direct concession to the expressed desire of the alumni for the appointment of an alumnus, is most gratifying. Mr. Sommers' name has been three times presented to a Governor of Minnesota as the choice of the alumni for Regent should the appointment go to St. Paul. The editorial in the last week's Weekly (which by the way had not been printed when the appointment of Mr. Sommers was determined upon by the Governor) expresses the feelings of the alumni generally in regard to such appointments. As soon as the news of the death of Judge Wilson was made public Governor Eberhart announced that he had determined upon the appointment and told friends that he had determined to appoint an alumnus and that nothing but the action of the General Alumni Association itself could change his decision to appoint Mr. Sommers.

Such a recognition means much to the alumni and it means more to the University. In behalf of the alumni the Weekly thanks Governor Eberhart for the appointment.

THE NEW REGENT.

Green Bay, Wis., February 14th, 1870. He is the son of George and Amalia (Stern) Sommers. He received his early education in the public schools of Green Bay, graduating from the high school in 1886. He entered the University in the fall of the year and completed the classical course in 1890. Immediately after graduation he entered the firm of G. Sommers & Company, dealers in wholesale notions, his father and three brothers being members of the firm, and is now its secretary. In college Mr. Sommers was a member of Beta Theta Pi and Pi Beta Nu fraternities and was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa on the strength of his excellent record for scholarship. Mr. Sommers is identified with a number of the most important clubs of St. Paul, including the Commercial club, Minnesota Boat club, Amateur Athletic club and is secretary of the Unity church. Mr. Sommers was married in 1904 to Rosa Davidson of New York; they have three children. The office of G. Sommers and Company is at the corner of 6th and Wacouta streets, St Paul and the family residence is 592 Grand avenue.

THE NORTHROP TRIBUTE FUND.

The Northrop Tribute Fund has been growing slowly during the past week—the state of the fund today is as follows:

Minneapolis .....	$150,000.00
Duluth and Range .....	30,000.00
St. Paul, probable .....	50,000.00
Pledges, new and renewed.....	30,679.00
Previous pledges, not specifically renewed, on a basis of 60 per cent .....	6,000.00
Cities, for rooms, tentative.....	6,000.00

Total .....$272,679.00

The balance will easily be provided by the contributions of the alumni, students and faculty. Notices are being sent out to the alumni as rapidly as they can be prepared by the deans. The alumni are responding nobly to the call and cash contributions and pledges run all the way from $1 to $1,000; a considerable number of $100 pledges being received and the average is about $30.

HIGH SCHOOL OBJECTIONS.

At the recent meeting of the high school superintendents, held at the University, action was taken by the superintendents condemning the action of the faculty of the college of science, literature and the arts, recently passed, changing certain entrance requirements. The change which stirred up the ire of the superintendents was one in which the University agreed to accept one year less of entrance English provided the student offered, in lieu thereof, four years of some other language, two years of which must be Latin. This change really means a concession in the way of wider electives for the high schools. Previously, four years of English has been required. The attitude of the University in regard to entrance requirements has often been misunderstood and misinterpreted. The University has been exceedingly liberal in conceding to the demands of the high schools for greater freedom in regard to the question of admission. The only other possible concessions that could be made at this time, to make the regulation broader, would be to throw the University open to every graduate of any accredited high school in the state of Minnesota. Possibly this might be desirable, and it could be made to work, provided* the University would draw the lines very strictly and drop students, admitted upon these terms, as soon as they showed that they could not maintain themselves by doing creditable work in the University. But such action would be resented by the high school men even more bitterly than the present action limiting admission to those who have had certain specified preparation. The University does not and should not dictate to the high schools what they shall teach, but the University does and should specify its own entrance requirements. Of this there can be no question. At the present time the college of science, literature and the arts absolutely requires for admission from all applicants four years' work in English. This requirement, as we understand it, was adopted at the special request of the high schools of the state who wanted this requirement which would enable them to demand better work in English of their pupils. In addition to this four years of English, a year of elementary algebra and one of plane geometry are required. The other nine year-credits required for admission may be chosen from a list of subjects taught in every accredited high school in the state, covering thirty-two different lines of work, including language work, history, science, business subjects and manual training. We can not see how it would be possible for an institution to have any entrance requirement at all and have them any more liberal than the present requirement. No high school is compelled to teach any of these subjects unless it desires nor is any student in any high school, so far as the University is concerned, required to pursue any particular subject unless he desires to enter the University. In regard to this matter President Northrop said last week, "It is within the province of the University and not the high schools to designate what our entrance requirements shall be." This is undoubtedly the correct theory, and it is hard to see how the present regulations can be interpreted as any attempt on the part of the University to dictate to the high schools of the state what they shall teach. It is most unfortunate that this annual talk of the University "dictating" to the high schools should come up. The newspapers of the state, without going into the real merits of the matter, take it for granted that these statements concerning the attempt of the University to "dictate" to the high school are what they seem and make all sorts of attacks on the University on this ground, when, if a plain statement of the facts was placed before them they would see that the action of the University in fixing certain entrance requirements can not be fairly interpreted as dictating what the high schools shall teach.

LOVING CUP FOR PREXY.

The Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity held its annual banquet on the evening of April 6th at the Radisson hotel. President George Edwin MacLean together with President Northrop and President Harry Pratt Judson organized the "Deke" fraternity at the University and President MacLean was present at the meeting. More than a hundred members of the brotherhood attended the banquet and regrets from President Judson and Lieutenant Robert E. Peary were read. President MacLean in behalf of the fraternity, presented a beautiful silver loving cup to President Northrop. In his address President MacLean reviewed the work of President Northrop at the University and pointed out the wonderful record of his twenty-six years administration in developing the University from a small and comparatively unknown institution to a great University. Ripley P. Brower of St. Cloud, who was present, also spoke enthusiastically of President Northrop's work and said that his influence would remain as long as the University existed. The President's response was characteristic of him and thoroughly enjoyed by those who were privileged to hear him.

Other speakers and their toasts were as follows: Burt Sacre, Minneapolis, "The Founding of Phi Epsilon"; C. N. Ferguson, Minneapolis, "Reminiscences of D. K. E."; Rev. Theodore P. Thurston, pastor of the St. Paul's church, "Some Thoughts"; Edmund P. Eichhorn, "The Active Chapter."

CAMPUS NEARLY COMPLETED.

Had the request of some of the alumni made in 1905, been followed the state would have saved itself a large amount of money which has been invested in the new campus. Since that date the property which has been acquired has undoubtedly increased in value $200,000. The work of condemnation and purchase has been going on now for two years and is practically completed. There are eight cases in which an appeal has been taken to the courts but it is hoped that these may be settled without any further difficulty. The money appropriated by the legislature, $800,000 and contributed by the citizens of Minneapolis, $40,000, will be sufficient to purchase the land upon which condemnation proceedings were begun. For the $800,000 spent by the State fifty-seven acres of land have been secured and as the St. Anthony Parkway borders this property for upward of one-half mile, for all practical purposes it becomes a part of the campus and adds many more acres to the same. Including the parkway the University will have above 130 acres campus. All of the condemnation proceedings have been in charge of Mr. C. J. Rockwood, '79, as the representative of the attorney-general of the state in whose name all legal proceedings connected with the purchase of the new campus have been conducted.

BUILDINGS GOING FORWARD.

The basement of the new dormitory for women is in and work on the superstructure will be begun at once. Ground was broken last week for the new Elliott Hospital and the next building to be commenced will be the new engineering building which is to be erected at the corner of Beacon and Church streets. The preparatory plans are practically in form and will be submitted to the architect so that by mid-summer it will be possible to begin work on the new building. In connection with the engineering building the work on the new power plant will be started and will be pushed to completion as soon as possible, the appropriation for this being $150,000. Plans for the tunnels for the distribution of heat will be prepared under the direction of Dean Shenehon.

WASHINGTON ALUMNI MEET.

The alumni living in Washington, D. C., held a meeting April 4th at the Cochran hotel. The principal speaker of the evening was Congressman Miller of Duluth and the other speakers were former presidents of the association in Washington, Messrs. Scofield and Brand. The evening was spent talking over college days and singing college songs. One of the songs of the evening was written by Mrs. Mollie Mills West specially for this occasion. The dinner was an informal affair.

DULUTH ALUMNI MEETING.

The Northern Minnesota Alumni Association of the University will hold its annual banquet and meeting at the Commercial Club rooms of Duluth at 6:30 on the evening of April 20th. This is to be an informal meeting. As above stated, dinner will be served at 6:30 and a public reception has been arranged for President Northrop in the Commercial Club rooms, at which the general public is invited at eight o'clock. The Commercial Club rooms of Duluth furnish an ideal place for such an event and there can be no question that the Alumni of Northern Minnesota will turn out to give President Northrop a royal reception.

MEMBERS OF 1906, ATTENTION.

To the Members of the Class of 1906: June eighth, Alumni Day of Commencement Week of nineteen hundred and ten, will mean more to the whole body of Alumni of the University of Minnesota than any Alumni Day ever has meant or will mean. It is but fitting that President Northrop's retirement as active head of the University should bring to the campus on this last Alumni Day under his regime, the greatest throng of Alumni that has ever gathered together.

ALUMNI WEEKLY

Every class is planning a reunion which will eclipse all previous attempts. It is for the class of nineteen hundred and six to hold a reunion which, not only in the way of numbers and enthusiasm, but also for originality and novelty, will make it a matter of history.

A local committee has been appointed by President Sinclair to take charge, and while the committee will do all in its power to make the occasion a success, yet it can accomplish nothing without the hearty co-operation of the entire class.

At a meeting of the Class held February eighteenth, it was voted to assess each member of the Class one dollar, to defray preliminary expenses, such as printing, etc., and to enable the committee to make the necessary arrangements. The committee has several suggestions as to the nature of the entertainment under advisement but desires every member of the Class to send in his or her idea of the most fitting way to carry out the celebration.

The committee earnestly requests each member to meet this small assessment at once. Plan to be present in June, but even if it is not possible to come, at least let us count on your loyalty for financial assistance. The success of the reunion will depend largely on the promptness with which the Class responds to this assessment.

Further notices will be sent you from time to time as the plans and arrangements take definite form.

schools. The book although it has been published but a few years ranks with the classics in its particular line and is most excellent. A large number of Minnesota high schools have decided to place Dr. Swift's book in their libraries. The new edition has been revised by the author and certain changes have been made adding to the interest and strength of the story as a whole.

ADVISORY SYSTEM FOR FRESHMEN.

An advisory system for all freshmen has been instituted at the University and hereafter all first year men will have faculty members as their advisers.

A committee composed of Professors N. Wilde, J. B. Pike, A. B. White, G. N. Bauer, and F. H. Swift have drawn up a report of the system which is as follows:

1. Immediately upon registration the members of the Freshman class, in groups of from fifteen to twenty, shall be assigned to advisers who shall serve throughout the Freshman year.

2. During registration week a committee of five advisers shall sit as a bureau of advice with whom Freshmen may consult as to their registration.

3. The assignment of advisers shall be made by the committee on students' work and, so far as possible, there shall be taken into account the preferences of the student and the character of his proposed work.

4. It shall be the duty of the adviser to receive the semester and mid-semester reports of the members of his group and to stand ready to give such information and advice respecting their university work as they may seem to him to need. To this end he shall meet them individually or in a group at least three times each semester.

The function of the adviser is purely advisory and is not to be construed as involving the power to control the elections of the student except in so far as necessary to insure compliance with the regulations of the faculty. It is the aim of the system (1) to put the freshmen in touch with the standards and aims of the faculty, and (2) to familiarize the faculty with the viewpoint of the student.

Similar systems are being successfully used at several of the Western universities

NEW EDITION OF SWIFT'S BOOK

Dutton & Company have just brought out a beautiful school edition of Dr. F. H. Swift's "The most beautiful thing in the world." This action was taken by the publishers at the special request of a large number of prominent school superintendents who desired this for use in their

and the advisory board will undoubtedly prevent much of the "flunking out" of freshmen which now takes place.

UNIVERSITY STUDENT COUNCIL.

The students of the University have adopted the following constitution for a University Council. The purpose of this council is to place upon the students a collective sense of responsibility for the action of the whole student body. The council will have principally advisory power and the possibilities of uplift in University life from its activities are almost limitless. The Weekly rejoices to know that the students have taken such action and that in taking this action they are being backed by members of the University faculty who believe in placing upon the student body the largest possible responsibility for student conduct.

Preamble.

It is the intention of those who ordain this constitution that:

From the six nominees receiving the highest number of votes, three shall be elected by a second ballot.

The two representatives who shall be the junior representatives for the following year shall be elected from five juniors nominated in the above manner by the men in the sophomore class.

ARTICLE IX.*Vacancies

Vacancies in the men's council or the women's council shall be filled immediately by the remaining members of the respective councils.

PILLSBURY CONTEST.

The Pillsbury oratorical contest was held last Tuesday evening in the University chapel. Edwin W. McKeen was awarded first place while the second and third places were awarded to Chester L. Nichols and Rhoda Jane Dickinson, respectively. The other contestants were John A. Chase, William S. Ervin and Haddon Ostlund. The contest was very interesting and showed earnest and excellent work on the part of all who had a part in it. It was mentioned that the majority of the orations were very similar and showed many radical sentiments. This, however, is due to the fact that the students naturally write about the thing in which they are most interested and as the student body is likely to be interested in substantially the same things, the subjects treated are likely to be of a similar nature. The winner, Mr. McKeen, dwelt upon the fact that the principle that every man has a right to control his own property has been carried to the extreme. Mr. McKeen will represent Minnesota in the Northern Oratorical League contest which will be held in Minneapolis May 6th.

RARIG'S NEW PLAN.

Professor Rarig, of the department of rhetoric, has proposed a new method of selecting students to represent the University in debate contests with other institutions. The method proposed is similar to the one used at certain other institutions and is similar to the plan used in selecting athletes. A squad of a dozen or fifteen men are chosen and given the subject for debate and are expected to prepare themselves upon the subject during the summer. In the fall this squad is arranged in teams and debate each other until it is possible for the judges to select two teams that shall finally represent the University. This plan has two excellent features, first, it selects for the University the best possible representatives in debate and second, it gives a large number of students the benefit of training for debates.

DELTA SIGMA RHO BANQUETS.

The annual banquet of the Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensics fraternity, was held last Wednesday evening in Dayton's tea rooms. Ray P. Chase, '03, formerly one of Minnesota's star debaters, acted as toastmaster. Toasts were responded to by Professor Rarig; J. W. Candless, of the Michigan chapter who is now professor of oratory at Carleton college; G. P. Wishard, of the Northwestern chapter; Mr. Gus Loevinger, president of the national organization; John W. Bennet, '86, of the St. Paul Dispatch; W. I. Norton of the Anti-Saloon league and Mr. Jerome, a law partner of ex-Governor Lind, president of the Board of Regents. Since its organization at the University by Professor McDermott this organization has had a rapid growth and chapters have been instituted at twenty of the leading universities, among which are Harvard, Pennsylvania, Yale, Wisconsin, Chicago, Missouri, Illinois and Iowa. Membership in this fraternity is limited to those who have represented their college in debate and oratory and among its members are many prominent men such as Senators LaFollette and Beveridge.

INTERFRATERNITY ORGANIZATION.

W. W. Norton, Ed '09, a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, was elected secretary of the inter-fraternity council at the first meeting Thursday, March 31st. Professor E. E. Nicholson is president of this council. Representatives of the Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Upsilon, Phi Kappa Psi and Zeta Psi fraternities were appointed a committee on by-laws and organization. This committee will make a thorough investigation of various matters subject to inter-fraternity regulation.

SUMMER SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENT MADE.

Two new courses are to be offered in the summer school this summer, those in stenography and typewriting. The school will open June 20th and will continue in session for six weeks. This work is to be under the charge of Mr. James M. Ford of this city. Miss Clopath will have classes in design and handicraft work, giving special attention to designs in leather and pottery. Miss Butner and Mr. Foster will conduct classes in physical culture and all the apparatus and arrangements of the University gymnasium will be open to the students of the school. Professor Sanford will offer a series of art lectures beginning with the architecture and sculpture of Chaldea and Egypt and tracing the history of art to modern times. All the usual lines of work will be offered and students will be enabled to prepare themselves for the state examinations which come during the closing days of the session. Copies of the bulletin may be had by addressing the registrar of the University.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF JUDGE THOMAS WILSON.

The late Judge Thomas Wilson, mention of whose death was made in the last issue of the Weekly, was found dead in his apartments in the Aberdeen Hotel, St. Paul Sunday, April 3d. Death was due either to a ruptured blood vessel in the brain or to heart failure, both conditions were found by the physicians. [Judge Wilson was eighty-three years old. He was born in county Tyrone, Ireland, May 26th, 1827, and came to the United States in 1838. In 1852 he graduated from Allegheny college, Pa. In 1855 he came to Minnesota where he was a member of the constitutional convention in 1857, district judge in Winona from 1857 to 1864. In 1864 he became associate justice of the supreme court and from 1865 to 1869 was chief justice of the court. In the early eighties Judge Wilson served in both the House and the Senate of the legislature and in 1886 was elected to congress from the first congressional district. In 1892 he became general counsel for the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha road, a position which he held until the time of his death. He was appointed a member of the University Board of Regents September 6th, 1898, was reappointed in 1903 and 1909. In 1860 Judge Wilson was married to Louisa Bennett. They had one child, a daughter, who later became Mrs. Lloyd Bowers. Mrs. Wilson died twelve years ago in St. Paul and shortly afterward Mrs. Bowers died in Chicago. For a man of his age Judge Wilson was a man of remarkable vitality and vigor. Within the past few years he argued a case in court, talking continuously for two days and at the end of that time it was remarked that he was fresher and more vigorous than a much younger man would have been under the same conditions, apparently as full of fight as ever, when the two days were over. Funeral services were held in St. Paul last Wednesday.

LEE GOES TO EUROPE.

Dr. Thomas G. Lee, of the college of medicine and surgery, left last week for Europe as the representative of the University to attend two notable scientific meetings. Dr. Lee's chief work in visiting Europe will be to visit the most noted and best equipped medical colleges so as to be able to secure for the University the latest ideas in medical construction and arrangement in order to make the new medical buildings the best possible. The meetings which Dr. Lee will attend as a University representative are the International Congress of Anatomists and the International Congress of Zoologists. #### HILDEBRANDT SUPERINTENDENT OF BUILDINGS.

H. A. Hildebrandt, '99, has been chosen by the executive committee of the board of regents to succeed Mr. Wines as superintendent of buildings. Mr. Hildebrandt refused two other positions in order to accept Minnesota's offer. One was that of chief engineer in a central electric station in Illinois, and the other was with a Minnesota electric light and railway company. He will take up his work at the University in about two weeks. Graduating from the University in 1899 Mr. Hildebrandt went back to his home town, St. Peter, to take charge of the electric light and water plant. As a result of his first year's work he saved the city above $2,300 over the net proceeds of the previous year. A few years later he accepted a position with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, Brooklyn, N. Y., giving up that work at the end of the year to return to his former position in St. Peter. Mr. Hildebrandt is a graduate of the St. Peter high school and was a school-mate of Governor Eberhart.

BURDICK NOT A CANDIDATE.

Usher L. Burdick, Law '04, who some time ago said that he would like to be a candidate for congress from North Dakota, has recently issued a statement in which he says that he will not be a candidate for lieutenant governor, congressman or anything else. The statement as published in the daily papers of last week reads as follows:

"I am not a candidate for congressman or for any other office. Since making my announcement for congress, I find that there is no particular demand from any quarter that I make the race. I have discovered, too, that the money needed to make the contest will be much more than I ever thought would be required and very much more than I can afford to spend. Politics is not a poor man's game and those without money had better keep out of it.

"If I were elected I should still be out of joint with the plane of living at Washington—I wouldn't have the money. Besides this, when there are so many aspirants for congress who are willing to stand the expense, there is no need of my making any sacrifice. If the state is ever divided into congressional districts, the expense of a campaign will be greatly reduced and I shall probably ask the people of my district to take a chance on me at Washington.

"For the same reason I shall not be a candidate for lieutenant governor. It would be necessary for me to spend more than the entire income of this office in one campaign. If I could afford it, I should be only too glad to offer my services, but I can do my part for the best interests of the state without running for office. Some people seem to lose their enthusiasm unless they are in quest of some office, but we cannot all hold office. It would be a fortunate thing for 'good government' in this state if there were more advocates of it because of 'principle' and fewer because of 'office.'"

BANQUET TO LE VERRIER.

Professor Charles LeVerrier the official lecturer for 1910 of the federation of the French Alliance of the United States and Canada, will be given a banquet at Alice Shevlin Hall April 18th, by twenty young women of the French department and other young women of the University. He will lecture on the afternoon of the 18th in the amphitheatre of the Law Building, his subject being, "Problems of the contemporary theatre in France and the influence of money on modern French society." In the course of this lecture he will discuss the works of several French authors. A public reception will be held immediately after the lecture and the banquet will come at 6:30 p. m. A program of toasts will include a talk by Reverend Father Domestici upon "French language in Minneapolis." Mlle. Dreyfus of St. Paul will respond to "The ladies of St. Paul." These men are the powers behind the throne that are going to make the "Prof and the Princess" the most notable musical and dramatic event of the University year. Mr. Allen is the author of the operetta, music and words, and deserves the highest commendation for the faithful and unselfish work he has devoted to producing the play. Mr. Crandall is in charge of the business affairs of the operetta and has so managed matters that the expenses have been kept within a very low minimum and the net proceeds are likely to be very substantial.

THE NORTHROP TRIBUTE.

Progress is being made in the securing of funds for the Minnesota Tribute to President Northrop. The committee in charge in Minneapolis do not propose to make any noise about the matter but are going ahead and working to secure the amount desired from Minneapolis from a comparatively small number of people. After this amount has been secured an opportunity will be given to anyone who desires, to contribute in smaller amounts. This plan of the committee means that there will be practically no further newspaper publicity in regard to the matter but that the work will be done none the less effectively.

SIGNIFICANT.

The most significant comment brought out by any newspaper upon the recent appointment of Mr. Charles L. Sommers to the Board of Regents appeared in a recent number of the Duluth Herald. After commenting favorably upon the appointment of Mr. Sommers the note closes with the following sentence. "The appointment has no particular political significance." There is a whole volume of meaning in this little sentence.

Thursday, June 9th, 10:00 a. m. Commencement exercises, University Armory. Address by President Cyrus Northrop. Picnic luncheon served on Campus Knoll by the Women's League at the close of the exercises.

The reception of the President and Mrs. Northrop to the senior class will probably be held Thursday, June 2nd.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

The attention of all readers of the Weekly is called to the fact that the coming alumni day of commencement week is to be of unusual interest from the fact that larger numbers of the alumni, than ever before have gathered, will gather to do honor to President Northrop and to show their regard for him. Class officers are urged to take immediate steps to get their classes together for the day and it is none too early to begin planning now for that event. Let us make this the most memorable commencement ever held at the University.

AWAKE '05's.

Otto N. Davis of the class of 1905, makes an appeal to the officers of his class to follow the example of the class of 1906 and make a special attempt to secure the largest attendance that ever turned out to an alumni picnic for Alumni Day of the present year. He appeals to the alumni generally to turn out on that day in order to show President Northrop how truly the alumni love him and desire to honor him. We trust that the officers of all the various classes of the University will take this view of the matter and will make a special effort to secure a large attendance on Alumni Day.

NEW FACULTY RULES.

The recent action of the faculty committee in excluding the winner of the Pillsbury prize from representing Minnesota in the inter-state contest and the reversal of that action by the faculty has brought up the question of eligibility for participation in student affairs. The regulation at the present time says that in order to be eligible to participate in musical and dramatic events the student must have a clear record at the time such event takes place. In order to be eligible to membership on the staff of a student publication the student must have a clear record at the end of the previous year and also a clear record during the time of service. The same rule holds in debate and oratory as for musical and dramatic events. There is a provision that exceptions may be made in special cases by the consent of the committee on student work.

The Weekly does not care to put itself on record as criticising faculty regulations but it is hard to see why a student who is to take part in general student activities which are acknowledged to be of great value to those who take part, should be held to a higher standard of scholarship than other students. If a student is capable of doing average work in his studies and at the same time take part in these things which mean so much for him, outside of that work, we do not see what objection there can be to his doing so.

HIGH SCHOOL OBJECTIONS.

It appears that the Weekly did not get at the real objections of the high school men, in the statement published last week. Their objection is not to what was done but to the fact that what was done was practically a change of policy, as they look at it. Mr. C. G. Selvig, Ed. '06, superintendent of schools at Glencoe and a member of the committee of superintendents upon University entrance requirement, has written the editor a letter which he request be not published, but in which he puts forth the grounds of the objections of the high school men.

He says, in substance, that in the past the University has taken the high schools into its confidence and has adopted regulations which have been wholly satisfactory and that a little over a year ago the high school men voluntarily placed a higher standard upon themselves by adopting a pass plus system for recommendation for admission. He is free to grant that the University has been liberal and asks that the policy of the past be continued and that changes be not made until the high school men have been consulted, not as a matter of right but as a matter of the best good of the University and the high schools. He advocates the plan of free admission to high school graduates with the regulation that they be dropped just as it is shown they cannot do the work required of them. The high schools are anxious to have agricultural, industrial and business subjects be accepted as legitimate preparation for the University.

The great objection is to the change of policy indicated by the recent action of the faculty and to the fact that the high school men are not consulted—as said above—not as a matter of right, but a matter of public policy.

If this is all the objection, there can certainly be no serious objection on the part of the University to granting the conference requested. The University has nothing to lose by the conference and if it will satisfy the high school men it is an easy way to clear up what otherwise might be a troublesome situation.

As we stated last week, we believe that the ideal method of admission to the University would be to admit every graduate of every accredited high school without other restriction than the requirement that he shall maintain himself creditably in his University work or be sent home just as soon as he shows that he has not had the necessary preparation for such work. The objection which was brought forward to this plan, namely, that the high school men would object strenuously to having their students sent home, is said by the high school men, to be not well founded. If this is so, then the last objection to such a plan is removed.

THE PROF AND THE PRINCESS.

The Minnesota Union operetta is to be given at the Princess theatre on the evenings of April 28th, 29th, 30th and a Saturday matinee. This is going to be one of the best things dramatically that has ever been given at the University. Every part is to be taken by men and the men have been working for months to make this, the first operetta by men, a complete success. The training for the dances has been under the direction of Miss Malcolm and the boys are entering into their parts with a spirit and snap that is sure to make a "go" of the affair. The music is catchy and the plot is extremely funny and allows for many situations to call up the music naturally. All of the songs are good and some have been pronounced by experts to be genuine "hits." The plot brings in a princess from the far east who comes to the University to get a knowledge of western life; her ideas of what constitutes beauty are very much at variance with western standards and she falls violently in love with the "Prof" who is notably the homliest man on the faculty but who is also, very rich. The Princess is the sensation of the day at the University and the boys are all raving over her beauty and charms. In order to win her love two boys disguise themselves as the "Prof" and another dons the same disguise to draw the "Prof's" salary and thereby hangs a tale of mistaken identity that is really very striking in its denouement. The whole play is, in the language of the newspaper man "hot stuff" and will surely delight every one who turns out to see and hear it. The whole proceeds of the operetta go to the Minnesota Tribute to President Northrop. Saturday night is Alumni night.

Three or four cases of backward children are examined each week in the clinical work of the Psychology department. The purpose of this examination is to determine the cause of retardation, whether due to physical defects or other defects, and in addition to correct the defects. The members of the class have become very much interested in this work and Professor Miner hopes to find for each case, worth special training, one student who is interested enough to take charge of the child and teach it under the supervision of the department.

The seventh annual exhibition of the Minnesota Art Society opened at New Ulm last Thursday. President Northrop was the principal speaker of the evening and took as his topic, "The relation of art to the home and its uplifting tendency to the entire community." He called attention to the old State Capitol building in its dilapidated condition and to the new magnificent structure of today, saying that there was no sane person in Minnesota who would prefer the old Capitol to the new notwithstanding its cost to the taxpayers. He congratulated New Ulm on the number of art lovers within its borders and noted the fact that the attendance was larger than on any single night in Minneapolis or St. Paul.

He has been, at all times, a warm friend and supporter of the University interests and as lieutenant governor would be in a position to make his influence felt for the good of the University. Dr. Gates' record shows that he has been a county option man and though he has come out with no definite statement on that point recently it may be stated definitely that he is still of that mind. The author has not consciously interjected into the studies any doctrinal point of view other than that which is common to all orthodox Christians. The plan also is a systematic analysis of the

E. Antonne Peterson, '95, died recently in Seattle where he has been engaged in the practice of osteopathy. Dr. Peterson had graduated from the University in 1895 and had been engaged in the practice of his profession in Seattle for the past twelve years. Mr. Lewis Schwager who has known Dr. Peterson for a great many years says of him, "He was intensely interested and active in any movement which had for its object the uplift of mankind. He was an untiring student, and one of the best informed men it has been my pleasure to know. His hunger for knowledge and his conscientious application to his chosen profession made him blind to his own physical resistive powers, finally resulting in a complete breakdown and death." Five of his 1895 classmates, who reside in Seattle, attended the funeral services; Isabella McHugh Austin, Dean of the Women's department, University of Washington; Lucy Roberts Case; David Perry Rice; Dr. Daniel Buckley; Lewis Schwager. The latter two acted as pallbearers.

a group of Minnesota people in the purchase of a Yakima Valley fruit ranch? A group of well-known men, whose names will be sent on request, are organizing such an enterprise. They have selected a beautiful forty acre tract to be conducted as a commercial orchard on the co-operative ownership plan.

This is a rare opportunity to those to whom it might be inconvenient to buy a farm for themselves. We foresee handsome profits in a ranch of this kind. The orchard itself will give large returns—to say nothing of the certain rise in the value of the land.

PLEDGES FAITHFUL SERVICE.

To the Board of Directors,
General Alumni Association,
University of Minnesota.

I had hoped that the occasion might arise when I could express in person my appreciation of your endorsement of me for the position of Regent of the University of Minnesota. Such occasion not arising, I take this means of making known to you—and through you to others in the Association—my sincere thanks and gratitude for the high honor shown me.

Acting principally upon your recommendation, Governor Eberhart has appointed me to this office—not for the purpose of representing the City of St. Paul or Ramsey County, or any other interests, but simply and solely as an alumnus. As your representative on the Board of Regents, I pledge to you that I shall labor earnestly and diligently to promote the welfare of the University and by sincere and honest efforts seek to justify the appointment for which in a large measure you are responsible.

Sincerely yours,
Charles L. Sommers.

DULUTH ALUMNI MEETING.

The Northern Minnesota Alumni Association held its annual banquet at Duluth Wednesday evening, April 20th, in the the new commercial club rooms. One hundred and four alumni and guests sat down to the tables. Dr. Fred C. Bowman, '79, president of the association presided and introduced Mr. Andrew Nelson, '92, '93, as the toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Nelson introduced the following speakers in a happy way and kept the program moving.

Reverend John C. Faries, '89, was the first speaker. Mr. Faries made a very effective speech and paid a deserved tribute to President Northrop. He was followed by Bishop McGolrick who spoke of his great interest in the University and his long acquaintance with University affairs and his great appreciation of President Northrop and then made a special plea for the alumni of the University to take an interest in civic affairs for the uplift of the same. He was followed by Reverend Alexander Milne who made a very pleasant after dinner speech and told of his great appreciation of the work of the University and of his admiration for President Northrop.

Mrs. W. H. Hoyt (Jessie Nicol, '90) was called upon to tell about "Then and now." Mrs. Hoyt said that she remembered the instructions given by President Northrop for an after-dinner speech were to the effect that the speech must be humorous, must be short and must have at least the appearance of being extemporaneous. She that in regard to the first she didn't have the time, in regard to the second she must be short because she didn't have a great deal of material and in regard to the third, unless her memory failed her she would try to give an extemporaneous speech. Then she told in a remarkable way the contracts between the life of the University in her day and the present day. The speech was very interesting and showed a very unusual acquaintance with University affairs.

President Northrop was the last speaker of the evening and made the principal address. The President was in a particularly happy mood and had his audience with him every minute of the time he was talking. Beginning with reminiscences of his first visit to Minnesota, three years before he ever thought of coming to the state as president of the University, he told how he landed in Duluth from the steamer which brought him and his family from Chicago. After spending some time recalling the pleasant memories of those days he told how he came to accept the call to the presidency of the University and then he talked for some time about what was being done at the University and what was being planned for the immediate future.

Before closing his remarks President Northrop told of what Alice Shevlin Hall had meant for the University and then added, "I do not care in the least about having my name connected with the proposed men's building at the University but I am very earnest in my desire to have such a building erected upon the University campus because it is the greatest need of the University at the present time. It will furnish the men of the University something of a substitute for home life, which most of them lack, and will give them an opportunity for social meetings, amusements and recreations under conditions that are uplifting and helpful. Such a building will mean more for the University and the state of Minnesota than any other building that could be put upon the campus at the present. If I had the money I should immediately put at least half a million dollars into such a building because of what it will mean for the glory of God and the future of the great state of Minnesota." It was the strongest plea for a men's building that has been voiced by any one.

Before closing his address President Northrop paid a very warm and deserved tribute to Regent Hovland for his intelligent activity and interest in University affairs and for what he was accomplishing as a member of the board of regents.

A telegram from Mr. Hovland who was in New York, was read. Mr. Hovland invited the alumni of Northern Minnesota to be his guests for a day a little later in the season.

At the close of the program of toasts President Northrop held an informal reception until it was time to take the train back to Minneapolis.

At the business meeting following the program the following officers were elected. President, Reverend John W. Powell, '93, Duluth; vice president, Dr. Charles W. Bray, '91, Med. '95, Biwabik; secretary, Walter F. Dacey, Law '08, Duluth; treasurer, W. H. Hoyt, '90 Eng., '98 Eng., Duluth.

There were present the following alumni and guests: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hoyt; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nelson; Winifred R. Smith; Adelaide J. Kuchli; Florence A. Burton; Leola L. Markus; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. #### THE "PROF" AND THE PRINCESS.

Great interest is being aroused by the operetta to be given by the Minnesota Union Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week with a Saturday matinee. All parts in this play will be taken by men and as it is the first of the kind ever given at the University it promises to bring out a record breaking attendance. The men have been drilling for this for more than two months and have had a number of full dress rehearsals. Those who have seen these rehearsals say that anyone who misses this affair is going to miss one of the greatest treats ever given at the University. The operetta itself is full of musical hits and has many amusing situations that will be thoroughly appreciated by people who are at all interested in the University. We trust that Saturday night, which is alumni night, will bring out a large crowd of alumni, not because they will be needed to make a success but for the sake of the alumni themselves who will enjoy the treat. The attendance is sure to be large. Various University societies have spoken for a large number of seats and every performance is sure to bring out a capacity crowd. Tickets will be on sale at the Northwestern Book Store, corner of 14th avenue and 4th street, southeast, Monday morning.

AESTHETIC DANCES REPEATED.

Miss Butner's freshmen gymnasium class repeated the program of aesthetic dances given some time ago, last Wednesday for the benefit of the Northrop Tribute fund. The program if anything excelled that given originally and was thoroughly appreciated by a large and delighted audience. The program included solo dances by Edith Grant and Florence Robinson and following is the program:

1. Grand March—Japanese lanterns.
2. Polka Series—How do you do.
3. Dainty Step—Washerwoman.
4. Dancing Topsy—La Pastorelle.
5. Spanish Waltz—Bean Porridge.
6. Board Walk—Cinderella.
7. Maid of the Mist—Royal Gavotte.
8. Bean Setting—How D'ye do.
9. Minuet.
10. Irish Lilt.
11. Solo dance—Spanish—Florence Robinson.
12. Bleking—Spinning, and Flax.
13. Dal Dans—Swedish Quadrille.
14. Solo dance—Scotch Sword Dance—Edith Grant.
15. Dutch Dance.
16. Games.
17. Norwegian Military March.

The girls who took part in the folk dances wore the costumes of the country they represented, Swedish, Irish, Dutch, English and American. Colored lights were thrown on the minute dancers.

CONCERT AT STILLWATER.

The glee and mandolin clubs of the University will give a concert at Stillwater May 4th. The program will be slightly changed from the one given at Minneapolis and will be followed by a dance. Thirty-two men will make the trip.

DORMITORY TO BE BUILT.

During the year of the school of agriculture recently closed, 707 students were housed in dormitories expected to hold only four hundred and not less than fifty were turned away because it was impossible to house them in the quarters provided. It is thought it may be possible to divert some students another year to the school of agriculture at Crookston, and so relieve the situation at the University. $50,000 is available for a new dormitory and work will be begun upon this as soon as possible in the hope that it may provide the needed room. The new dormitory that is being erected at the Crookston school will provide for 150 more students at that school and when the school at Morris is opened the buildings of the government Indian school will be used and will make room for 150 more. As these two schools will relieve the school of agriculture to some extent it may be possible to carry on the work until the legislature can meet and make provision for future needs of the school.

FACULTY ENFORCES RULE.

The faculty committee on student work has enforced the faculty regulation concerning scholarship rather strictly during the past week. The newly elected Magazine board finds itself minus three members on account of faculty action. The committee agreed that any one might be elected to a position on the Gopher board who had not more than one condition which should be removed at the opening of the next college year. The baseball team also felt the effect of this rule and has lost two members through the action.

AN AMBITIOUS PROJECT.

The largest scientific drainage project that has ever been undertaken in this state is being engineered by two University alumni. William R. Hoag, '84, former professor of civil engineering in the University has charge of the engineering branch of the work and William J. Brown, Law '04, was the original promoter of the project. Mr. Brown who is located at Warren, Minn., secured the passage of a law authorizing Marshall and Red Lake counties to issue bonds for the purpose of draining the low lands of those counties and making them tillable. The law was passed, the bonds were issued for something over half a million dollars and contracts have been let involving this sum of money and the work has actually been begun. The contractors accepted the bonds at their face value in payment on their contract. Mr. Hoag has been working on this problem for something like ten years and the whole project has been taken up and carefully studied out with a view of reclaiming a territory almost as large as the whole state of Rhode Island. Before the work is completed, and it is expected that it will take four years longer to complete the work, over seven million cubic yards of earth will have been moved and a large amount of territory will have been reclaimed and opened to settlement in the Thief River water shed. The project is under the direct supervision of Judge Grindeland, who represents the counties in the undertaking. The bonds which have been issued to meet the expenses of the drainage of the vast tract of land are to be met by assessing the benefits upon the land reclaimed. After five years these bonds will begin to mature, and one-fifteenth of the total bonds issued be retired each year until all are retired. The total number of acres that will be thus reclaimed will be not less than 650,000. The amount of earth that will have to be removed during the drainage operation would provide loads for wagons reaching twenty-two times from Minneapolis to New York or one and a quarter times around the world. It is the largest drainage undertaking ever put through in the central northwest. Mr. Hoag has devoted his entire time since leaving the University to this work and has practically settled down in the field so as to have more direct charge of the operation to make sure that the whole project is pushed through to completion by the time planned.

PRESIDENT FALCONER TALKS.

President Falconer of Toronto University addressed the students in chapel last Thursday, saying that it is the man or woman who thinks who has a pure and a strong mind and independent thought that we want today.

HARLAN IN CHAPEL.

Dr. Richard D. Harlan, president of George Washington University, spoke to the students in chapel April 16th, talking upon municipal patriotism. Dr. Harlan made an exceedingly pleasant impression upon those who heard him. After Dr. Harlan had spoken Governor Eberhart who was in chapel for the first time since he has been governor of Minnesota, made a short address speaking upon the relation of the University to the state and saying that wherever he found an alumnus of the University he found one interested in the welfare of the state and working for the uplift of the state.

ADDRESS BY FREEMAN.

Dr. E. M. Freeman of the college of agriculture, addressed the agricultural club Thursday, April 22nd, on English College Games. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides secured by Dr. Freeman while a student at Cambridge.

THE COMET'S TALE.

Professor Leavenworth has been making photographs of the comet ever since it has been visible by the aid of the telescope; used these photographs to illustrate a talk which he gave last Thursday night in Folwell Hall. In his talk Professor Leavenworth discussed the comet and its history and what might be expected from its present visit.

Alfred Davis, '09, who is doing graduate work in astronomy this year, will give a talk on Halley's comet next Tuesday evening, April 26th before the Shakopean society. The society has invited in the general public to hear the lecture.

STOCKWELL MADE SECRETARY.

Walter L. Stockwell, '89, past grand master, past high priest and past eminent commander of A. F. and A. M., has just been appointed secretary of the Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter and recorder of the Grand Commandery of North Dakota to fill an unexpired term. At the present time Mr. Stockwell is superintendent of public instruction of North Dakota and expects to resign the position to accept the new appointment.

PALMER ON RECENT PROGRESS IN METEOROLOGY AND CLIMATOLOGY.

Andrew H. Palmer, '08, who has been doing graduate work at Harvard University, has an article in the March 11th number of Science upon, "Recent progress in meteorology and climatology." Mr. Palmer has made a specialty of this line and did some remarkably good work at Minnesota which he has been continuing at Harvard. Readers of the Weekly will remember a note concerning his new device for graphically representing meteorological records. In this article Mr. Palmer speaks of the work being done in meteorology at Minnesota and tells of its beginning in the University year 1906-7 when there were ten students in the class. The class of the present year is under the charge of Professor E. M. Lehnerts and now numbers seventy-six, forty-seven of this number being juniors and seniors in the academic department and the balance freshmen and sophomores in forestry and agriculture.

TO CORRECT A STATEMENT.

Readers of the Weekly may remember that several years ago there was a note giving the promotion of Judge Elliott who has been associate justice of the Philippine court at Manila. The note was taken from the daily papers and it appears it was substantially incorrect. Judge Elliott has been promoted to be a member of the Philippine commission and is secretary of the department of commerce and police at Manila. His salary now is $15,500. He does not succeed Mr. Gilbert, but Mr. Forbes who becomes Governor General. The department of commerce and police of which Judge Elliott is secretary corresponds to a cabinet position at Washington. A commissioner is a member of the upper house, or senate, of the legislature.

DR. GRAY TO TALK.

Dr. John H. Gray of the department of economics will make an address at McIntosh April 30th.

WASHBURN RETURNS.

Professor F. L. Washburn of the department of entomology has recently returned from Europe where he has been for the past two months taking a vacation and studying matters of special interest to his department.

GEOLOGY HAND BOOK.

Professor Oliver Bowles of the Geology department has compiled a hand book on rock study which will be a great assistance to students interested in geological formations. The book is now in the hands of the printer.

The main feature of Professor Bowles' book is a table by which the classification of rock formations may be determined. By its aid inexperienced students will be enabled to properly classify rocks which they examine.

DR. COULTER RESIGNS.

Dr. John Lee Coulter, of the department of economics, has resigned to take up work as statistician under the federal government. Two years ago he was made a very flattering offer in this connection and again last summer the offer was renewed. The regents, however, induced him to stay at the University but the new offer is so tempting that he has accepted. Dr. Coulter will remain with the University until the close of the present session. It is expected that the regents will give Dr. Coulter a two years' leave of absence to do this work, hoping that he will return to the University at the end of that time after the completion of the work of the census bureau.

COUNCIL GETS BUSY.

The student council is beginning to take an active interest in University affairs and recently adopted a regulation calling for every student to personally report every case of cribbing which came to his attention.

CATHOLIC MEN BANQUET.

The Catholic men of the University held a banquet at Donaldson's tea rooms last Saturday night. Plans for the new Catholic club house on University avenue between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues were discussed. James Cartigan, state insurance commissioner, was the toastmaster; Pierce Butler, member of the board of regents, Reverend John Ryan of the St. Paul seminary, Father Byrne, Matthew Baldwin, Law '02, Edward W. Leach and Frank Goodman were the other speakers.

THE THULANIAN CLUB TO INCORPORATE.

The Thulanian club, mention of whose purchase of a home was made in a recent number of the Weekly, has incorporated with a capital stock of $15,000. The incorporators are Henry J. Gjertson, Carl J. Wold and A. S. Peterson, all of Minneapolis. It is expected that the Thulanian club, which up to the present time has been a local affair, will be made a national organization.

THE MINNESOTA UNION ELECTION.

The Minnesota Union held an election last Wednesday for the purpose of electing a board of governors for the coming college year. Representatives were elected as follows:

Academic Representatives—Henry V. A. Bruchholz, Frederick Ware, Frank White.

Engineering Representatives—Marvin C. Barnum, Arthur Stanley Hill, Joe B. Perry.

Law Representatives—Harold Hull, Alonzo E. Parker.

Medical Representatives—David M. Berkman, Harry Emmert, Frank Hartl.

Faculty Representatives—A. E. Jenks.

Professor John Zeleny, faculty representative and E. B. Johnson, alumni representative, hold over from the last election. These men will be in charge of the affairs of the Minnesota Union for the coming year.

THE CRACK DRILL SQUAD'S PLANS.

The crack drill squad of the University cadet corps is planning a summer's excursion to give exhibitions at various summer gatherings and at some fairs that are to be held early in the fall, closing with an appearance of a week at the Minnesota State Fair, and then be ready to take part in the encampment which it is hoped will be held at Fort Snelling next fall. The trip as planned will take the squad as far east as Pennsylvania and as far south as New Orleans.

CONSIGNMENT OF BUSTS.

The last consignment of busts of authors and poets for the Scandinavian Museum has at last been found in a railway warehouse. These have been missing for more than a month, having been mis-shipped.

THE FORUM CELEBRATES.

The Forum literary society celebrated the winning of the Jacob's cup this year by a banquet. Among those who spoke were Stanley B. Houck, '09, who said the greatest law publishing firm in this country asks of every prospective employee, "Have you had any University debate training?" Mr. Houck expresses it as his firm conviction that every line of business which demands close and accurate thinking will come to need more and more men who have had experience in University debate. Mr. Houck said that he valued his University debate work more highly than all his other college work put together. Algernon O. Colburn, also a University debater, spoke upon "The spirit versus the letter of the law." Mr. Colburn maintained that private interest should be subservient to public welfare and whenever the spirit of the law conflicted with the letter in such a way as to injure the public weal, then the letter should be made to conform with the spirit of the law. Among the other speakers were Neil Beaton, "Our Prexy;" Charles Rodeen, "Present Day Forums;" Eloi Bauers, "The Cup;" and Harold Munck, "The Forum Co-Ed." Mr. C. A. Larson was toastmaster. The banquet was held at the Kaiserhof.

MINNESOTA GYMNASIUM TEAM WINS.

Saturday, April 16th, the Minnesota gymnasium team took first honors in the 8th annual meet of the Western Inter-collegiate gymnastic and wrestling association. The meet was held in the University armory. Minnesota won six out of the ten events and a total of 1164.75 points as against Illinois, 1146.85; Chicago, 1135.1; Wisconsin 645.7; and Nebraska 490.0 points. Baker's work on the side-horse was the best ever seen by the judges. Nelson's exhibition in the club swinging was one of the chief features. Syles of Illinois won the cup in the all-round gymnastic performance with a total of 385.7 points. Baker gave him a hard chase, making 374.55 points. The meet as a whole was said to be above the usual standard. The next meet of the association will take place at Chicago.

Following are the results:

Parallel bars—Illinois, first; Baker, Minn., second; Chicago, third.

Cross section of the proposed building—Minnesota tribute to President Northrop

THE TRIBUTE FUND.

There is little new to be added to what was said last week in regard to the fund. The work is progressing satisfactorily. The amount now pledged by faculty, students and alumni is above $38,000 and is growing steadily. The pledge of the large cities, Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul will be made good without doubt, though the work of raising the money will be done quietly and with little or no newspaper publicity.

The work in the state among towns considering finishing and furnishing rooms is progressing as indicated by letters received during the past week. The whole project is sure of a final successful outcome.

It will be of interest to the alumni to know that Michigan is making a campaign for $700,000 for a men's building and an endowment for the support of the same. It is expected to put $400,000 into the building and $300,000 into the endowment. In speaking of the project, the Michigan Alumnus says:

"Just now, the University of Minnesota is dealing with the same problems, and is attempting to collect funds from the state for a "Men's Building," as it is to be called, to become a memorial for the retiring President Cyrus Northrop. This building is to be a tribute to him, not only from the alumni of Minnesota, but from the people of the State of Minnesota; all who are interested in the University in any way are invited to contribute. The suggestion has already been made that our new Michigan Union should be a tribute to the President Emeritus, and that it should be called after him the "Angell Club House," or perhaps "James B. Angell Hall." No more permanent recognition of Dr. Angell's services to this University could be made and it is to be hoped that active steps may be taken to make this tribute a reality. It is possible that the University might borrow the Minnesota idea and make it a tribute not alone from the alumni of the University, but from the people of the State of Michigan to him, who has for so long been the first citizen of the state."

MINNE-HA-HAS.

The nose of the ship was pointing into the eye of the storm.

"What makes the wind bite so?" inquired the passenger.

"Because we are going into the teeth of the gale," chuckled the captain.

Whereupon the ship sank.

Mr. B, do you believe in Hell?

Huh, I guess I used to take Physics.

"Do you notice a look of suffering on my patient face?" inquired the Doc.

"No," replied his brutal friend, "but I've noticed it on your patients' face."

The Mag editor was looking over a poem just submitted. It read:

When dusk is changing into dark

I'll meet her in the leafy park-

"Don't think the metre is proper," he said, "throw it out."

Visitor at Insane Hospital: Why does that girl stand in that one spot hour by hour?

Attendant: She thinks she is in the bread line at Shevlin.

Anxious suitor: But, sir, I thrill at your daughter's slightest touch.

Practical Father: Young man, I find her slightest touch is usually for a hundred dollars.

"Father, I am going out into the world and follow my literary bent," said the ambitious rhetoric student.

"All right, follow your literary bent till you're broke," replied the old codger maliciously.

The railroad commission is investigating the Pullmans now. Going to make them lower prices.

Wouldn't be very popular with Roosevelt, would it?

Why?

They're trying to lower the berth rate.

"Friends," concluded the 'Varsity debater as he left the platform, "I believe my arguments are all sound."

"Yes, mostly sound," remarked a voice from the rough neck end of the Chapel.

Frau Gotterdammerung, our Dutch prof, has such a silvery laugh-

Oh, sort of German silvery, Huh?

It won't leak

What would it be worth

MOORE'S
NON-LEAKABLE

to you to own a Fountain Pen that you could carry around in your pocket or bag in any position with the positive assurance that it wouldn't leak?

☐ In Moore's Non-Leakable there is no way in which the ink can possibly leak out. This pen is always ready for instant use, and the moment it touches the paper, writes, without any preliminary shaking whatever. Furthermore, it will carry all grades of inks, including Copying and India inks.

☐ There are many different kinds of Fountain Pens on the market, but there is only one that is absolutely satisfactory, and that is Moore's Non-Leakable.

THE PEN WITH THE MIDDLE INK JOINT and FLANGE MOUTH

Sterling Fountain Pens

*We recommend them as being clean, perfect writing pens of improved construction.
We guarantee them.*

Its Advantages

The non-leakable middle ink joint does not come into contact with the hand—prevents inky fingers and makes a clean pen when in use.

The Flange Mouth is a "dead line" between the ink and the finger grasp. Fits snugly into cap and prevents accumulation of ink on holder. Guarantees a clean pen when not in use.

Made in Six Sizes—$2.50 to $600. Any style point

Special Offer to Alumni Subscribers

We will send Four Pens on Approval to any subscriber of the Alumni Weekly. You may return them all if not satisfactory. We guarantee every Fountain pen we sell.
