

Bradley, of Revolutionary ancestry. They have two children, Don Reynaldo and Norman Bradley.

FOLWELL, William Watts, was born February 14th, 1833, in the town of Romulus, Seneca county, New York. His youth was divided between work on a farm and attendance on the common school of the neighborhood. At the age of fourteen he passed a year at the academy in Nunda, N. Y., where he was pressed by an enthusiastic teacher over nearly all the mathematics included in the first two years of the college course. His regular schooling was now interrupted for several years, which were spent in a variety of occupations, among others school teaching. After a year and a little more of good instruction in Ovid academy, N. Y., he was admitted to the sophomore class in Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., better known in earlier days as Geneva college. Here he balanced up his education, becoming an ardent student of language. He was graduated with the rank of valedictorian in 1857. The two last terms, however, of his senior year he was allowed by the faculty to be out of residence, and employed as teacher of languages in Ovid academy. This employment continued for a year after graduation, at the end of which Mr. Folwell was appointed adjunct professor of mathematics in Hobart college, it being understood that he was to give a part of his time to instruction in languages. In this position he remained two years, devoting his leisure, which was considerable, to the study of law, under the direction of the Honorable Chas. J. Folger, later secretary of the treasury.

Although the study of law was exceedingly fascinating, there was little after the delightful years spent in academic employment, to attract him toward law practice. The accident of his being invited to read a paper before a local literary society, turned his attention to a subject at that time almost unknown in American colleges, that of comparative philology. To this he now turned with enthusiasm, and after exhausting the resources of the neighborhood, resolved to resort to some European place of study. After a residence of some weeks in a delightful family in Kur Hessen, Germany, we find the subject of this sketch, in October 1861, duly matriculated as a student of philology in the University of Berlin. Letters which he had brought, among them those of Professor Wm. D. Whitney, obtained for him the private instruction of Professors Weber and Rodiger, and the friendship of Professor Lepsius. Steinthal and Haupt were also "heard," and a profitable acquaintance with Professor Kuhn was formed. Visits were made to two of the great fathers of modern philology, Professors Franz Bopp and Jacob Grim; the latter gave him his photograph and the former insisted on selling him a set of unbound sheets of his "Nala" for one dollar. In the next few months an excellent beginning was made in studies soon to be interrupted.

Concluding, not so much from the current news as from the accounts of southern gentlemen then residing in Berlin, that war must soon break out between the States, he resolved to suspend his studies and make a certain continental tour, which had been part of his plan. The early spring of 1861 accordingly finds him journeying southward, halting at Dresden, Prague, Vienna, making thence a most interesting excursion to Buda-Pesth, at length reaching Venice, and a little later departing from Trieste by steamer for Athens. Letters from young Greeks whose acquaintance had been made in Germany, soon obtained for the stranger a number of most agreeable and valuable friends, among them the Senator Rigas Palamides. At the houses of the Rev. Drs. Hill, King, and Mr. Kalapothakes, a wide range of agreeable acquaintance, German, English, American and Greek, was made. Through the Rev. Dr. Hill, Mr. Folwell came to know George Finlay, the historian, General Sir Richard Church, at one time the Greek Generalissimo, Sir Thomas Wyse, the British Ambassador, and Mr. Pitrakes, the Custodian of Antiquities. Two months were now given to the study of the modern Greek under the instruction of a young Greek lawyer who knew no other language than French and but very little of that, and to a careful examination of the antiquities.

Then followed a tour of the principal places on the mainland and the Peloponnesus, occupying a month. A most interesting visit to the field of Marathon in the company of Professor Dickson, of the University of Athens, terminated the Grecian journey.

The remainder of the European journey, lasting till about November 1, had but slight relation to his special studies.

On returning home Mr. Folwell immediately sought some army position in which his education and experience might be useful. Such a position was very soon offered by Col. Chas. B. Stuart, C. E., commanding the 50th New York regiment of engineers. On the recommendation of that officer, he was commissioned a first lieutenant by the governor of New York. The early days of February, 1862, found Lieut. Folwell in command of a company of engineers then stationed, with the regiment, in Washington, D. C. The kind indulgence of his commander, the friendly assistance of fellow officers and diligent study of tactics and engineering manuals, enabled him to perform the routine duties of his rank by the time the campaign of 1862 opened. From that time till his muster out in July, 1865, the young officer had very few days of rest or leisure. When troops of the line are resting in the intervals of campaigns, the engineers are occupied in such duties as reconnoissances, building or repairing defences, opening roads, and collecting the appliances for intended movements and operations. In the fall of the same year, Lieut. Folwell was promoted to captain and transferred to a company whose esteemed commander had been shot at Fredericksburg. This company, afterwards recruited to a strength of one hundred and fifty men, contained a large proportion of skillful boatmen and woodmen, and to it on this account there was assigned a large amount of pontoniering duty. It is probably not saying too much to add that this command built more pontoon bridges than any other in the service. The regimental organization of engineers like that of artillery, exists for administrative purposes. The company is the working unit, having at all times its outfit of tools, transportation, and bridge material, ready for instant movement in any needed direction. Throughout the campaigns of 1863 and 1864 Capt. Folwell's company was attached to the headquarters of the army, under immediate control of the chief of engineers.

The sickness of a superior officer at the siege of Yorktown left Mr. Folwell in charge of the construction of Battery No. 4, mounting ten 13-inch mortars, on which duty he was allowed by the chief engineer to remain until the completion of the work. The abandonment of the fortress prevented any trial of the tremendous armament.

In 1864 Captain Folwell was promoted to be a major by brevet "for gallant and meritorious service" in the campaign of that year against Richmond. In the following winter he was commissioned a major of engineers in his own regiment, after having declined that rank in another. In the summer of 1864 Captain Folwell was selected to accompany General Sheridan's cavalry column with a body of picked men on the movement since known as the Trevillian raid. This service was performed in a manner so much to the satisfaction of that commander that when, in the winter of 1865, he was planning his final march up the Shenandoah Valley, he applied to General Grant to order the same men and officers sent to him. Reporting at Winchester, Major Folwell was ordered to proceed to Washington and fit up a bridge train that could travel anywhere that cavalry could move. The requisitions of General Sheridan placed the resources of the engineer department and quartermaster's department at his disposition. The apparatus when completed involved many improvements suggested by a long experience, and some ingenious novelties. It was exhibited by the United States war department at the Centennial exhibition in the exact condition in which it had been used in the campaign. Major Folwell did not, however, accompany General Sheridan's column, but was allowed to turn over the command to a brother, Capt. Bainbridge Folwell, and take a short leave of absence.

Reporting at the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac the day before the opening of the campaign of 1865, he was placed in command of a detachment of four hundred and fifty engineer troops reserved for such duty as the chief engineer might order. This detachment was in incessant motion throughout the whole campaign, and rendered services which obtained for its commander the brevet rank of lieutenant-colonel U. S. Volunteers.

No higher rank was attainable in the engineer department as then commanded. After Lee's surrender Colonel Folwell's command made a forced march to the North Carolina line as if in anticipation of a movement of the army to fall upon Johnson. His surrender to Sherman rendered any such campaign needless. A long and weary march brought him to Washington in time to participate in the grand review. The engineer brigade, composed of the Fifteenth and Fiftieth New York Regiments and the four company battalion of regulars, had the right of the line after the cavalry. This was the only occasion on which this command as a whole was paraded together.

The close of the war left Colonel Folwell to begin the world anew. His old pursuits and studies had been entirely forgotten in his devotion to military science; in particular to military engineering. He had married in the spring of 1863 on a ten days' furlough, and already had a family dependent upon him.

The savings out of his army pay did not exceed $300.00. Within a month after muster out a position was offered which he was very glad to accept, that of a general utility man in a large business in northern Ohio, embracing departments of milling, coopering, merchandise, and the management of a large landed estate. Nearly four years were spent in this employment, which next to his military service, proved to be the best part of his long education. In the want of better hands he devoted much time and effort to active church and Sunday-school work. Here he began in earnest those studies in economics and politics which have of late years exclusively occupied him. An offer of a professorship in his Alma Mater was declined; as also were two propositions from Cornell University. Later, an unfavorable turn in business led him to wish for an opportunity of returning to academic life.

In the winter of 1869 Colonel Folwell was offered the professorship of mathematics and engineering in Kenyon college, Ohio, which he accepted subject to the result of negotiations begun about the same time with gentlemen representing our own University. He gave but one term's instruction in Kenyon college.

After visiting the University and declining a professorship, he was elected president in August, 1869, and entered upon the duties of the office in the following month.

In this brief account it has not been intended to embrace any details of his long and arduous service in the executive office, since they are well known to the public we address. President Folwell has been more than a teacher and an executive; he has been an ardent advocate of reform in education. Having become a believer in public education, he began soon after taking up his work in Minnesota, to agitate for the organization of all the public resources and agencies of education in the state into a single harmonious system. He drafted the law creating the high school board and organized the work of the board under the law. The development and better organization of the secondary education, as an indispensable condition to the evolution of the genuine university in our country, has been earnestly advocated by him on many occasions.

The present organization of education in America he regards as an example of arrested development.

Believing that his best work as an executive had been accomplished, and somewhat reduced in health, President Folwell in February 1883, tendered his resignation, which later was accepted by the board of regents to take effect when his successor should be elected and ready for duty. It was not till September 1884, that President Northrop, though elected some months before, was prepared to assume the executive duties.

On accepting President Folwell's resignation the board of regents immediately elected him to be professor of political science, the duties of which office he discharged for a quarter of a century. By the desire of the board of regents he also retained the oversight of the general library. After that time Dr. Folwell taught the classes of his department from year to year without particular event. He was always of opinion that the authorities did not provide for the development of that department according to its importance, but was never disposed to be troublesome. Still he was always most concerned with the interests of the young people whom he had before him in his class room. For them he ever felt a deep concern and responsibility.

His instruction was unique and in the main by lectures; but these were by no means mere harangues. A syllabus of the particular chapter was generally exhibited on charts of ingenious construction by the lecturer. This method was preferred to a printed syllabus of an entire subject furnished in advance. Illustrative material was used whenever available. The lecture was after all but a guide to the reading and study of the pupil and was calculated to arouse the interest of students of varied capacities, and thus secure the best results possible.

The history of the University, in this volume, is to a large degree devoted to the work of this gentleman who has left his indelible impress upon the state of Minnesota and its University.

In addition to his duties connected with the University Dr. Folwell has found time to take an active interest in matters of civic interest and served for eighteen years as a member of the park commission of Minneapolis, for many years as its president; for twelve years of his many years' service as a member of the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts, Dr. Folwell was its president; for many years he was a member of the state board of charities and corrections and for a time its chairman; was acting president of the American economic association in 1892, and member and president of the Minneapolis improvement league for many years; was conductor of the political science club of the University for many years—among the members of this club were Albert Shaw, Herbert Putnam, J. S. Rankin, Thomas Peebles, N. F. Hawley, C. J. Buell and F. L. McVey; he was also a member of the Centennial commission from Minnesota and served as judge in the department of liberal arts at the World's Columbian exposition held at Chicago in 1893.

Dr. Folwell has published a great many addresses, reports, editorial and other contributions to the press, though he has never looked to his pupils as the best means of propagating the doctrines he has believed and taught. It is of interest here to note that when the Chicago Harbor commission wanted the advice of experts in various lines of investigation they chose three of Dr. Folwell's old students, who had received their training under his tuition, and set them to study the problems and acted upon their reports.

Dr. Folwell's published works, at this time are: Minnesota, the North Star State, in the Commonwealth series of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., and University addresses by the Index Press.

Many years ago Dr. Folwell received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from his Alma Mater, after having declined the same honor from another institution.

FOWLER, Charles Rollin, was born September 17th, 1869, at Jordan, Minn. He is the son of Rollin D. and Jane Varner Fowler. The Varner family is an old Quaker family from Warren county, Ohio, which came to Minnesota in a body in 1853. Mr. Fowler had his early schooling at Jordan, Minn., removing to Minneapolis in 1885 where he has resided continuously since, save for one year spent at Glen-ocoe, Minn., and one year at Fargo. He graduated from the college of law in 1892. Is a member of the Delta Chi fraternity and was president of the law alumni association in 1897. He practiced law at Fargo, N. D., during the years 1892-3 and has practiced in Minneapolis since 1893. He has been associated since 1905 with Judge W. A. Kerr under the firm name of Kerr and Fowler and for a short time with Judges Fred V. Brown and W. A. Kerr under the name of Brown, Kerr & Fowler, and is and has been resident vice-president of the American Surety company of New York for a number of years. He was a member of the state militia from 1886 to 1891, Company B, 1st regiment M. N. G.; he has been an active Republican and has attended many state, county and city conventions. He is a Mason, Elk and a member of the Royal Arcanum, and of the Minneapolis, Commercial, Automobile, Minikahda and Interlachen clubs and is affiliated with the Episcopal church. He was married November 5th, 1895 to Carrie Blair Jones, at Tiffin, Ohio. They have no children.

FRANKEL, Hiram David, was born November 23, 1882, at Mayfield, Ohio. He is the son of Michael and Esther Frankel. His father is manager of the Nelson Paper Company of Minneapolis and one of the best known residents of St. Paul for over twenty years. He was postmaster at Mayfield, Ohio, 1880-88. Mr. Frankel came to St. Paul with his parents in 1888, attended the Van Buren school and graduated in 1897. He worked his way through the St. Paul Central high school by working afternoons at a book store and evenings at the St. Paul public library. He graduated from the high school in 1900 as valedictorian of his class and class president. Immediately after graduation he started in as a newspaper reporter on the St. Paul Dispatch, later went to the Daily News and became assistant city editor and finally editor. All during his newspaper experience he was ranked as one of the best editorial men of the west. While he was doing this work he studied law at the night classes and graduated from the University in 1905. He took another course for his master's degree, graduating the following year and is now about to undertake the work preliminary to a D. C. L. at the University. Mr. Frankel has been prominent in local politics but has always refused to stand for office; has been a practicing attorney in St. Paul since his graduation from the University and since March 1909 has been business manager of the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra. He is sergeant major of the First F. A. M. N. G. and for ten years has been an active guardsman. Is a Republican and was Ramsey county side path commissioner, and in 1905-07 special assistant city attorney of St. Paul, compiling city ordinances. As a newspaper man he always fought for clean city government. He is a member of the Roosevelt club of St. Paul, The St. Paul Institute of Sciences and Arts and several fraternal orders and is president of the Home for the Aged and four other charitable institutions. Is affiliated with the Mt. Zion Temple, St. Paul. He was married in 1906 to Irene Page Solomon of St. Paul.

FRANKFORTER, George Bell, the son of Andrew Frankforter, millwright and farmer, was born April 22nd, 1860, at Potter, Ohio. The father was one of the early settlers of north-western Ohio and built the first lumber mill in that part of the state. Mr. Frankforter's early education was received in the common schools of Ohio but he attended the high school in Nebraska. In 1886 he received the degree of bachelor of science from the University of Nebraska, being orator at commencement. Two years later he received his master of arts degree, having pursued the subject of geological chemistry for his thesis. Dr. Frankforter received his Ph. D. from the Royal university of Berlin, where he studied four years; one year in Royal mining academy, Berlin; one year teacher of chemistry, geology and physics, Lincoln, Neb., high school; four years as instructor in chemistry and music, University of Nebraska; lecturer on chemistry and professor of analytical chemistry, same institution; commissioner of the United States mint; special water analyst for U. S. Geological Survey. Professor of chemistry, University, 1893-95; and director of the laboratory 1895 to date; and dean of the school of chemistry, 1902 to date. Author of papers: Opium Alkaloids resulting in the synthesis of the alkaloid narceine; Preparation of sodium narceiate (Anti-spasmine); The alkaloid veratrine; on Isopyrum resulting in the discovery of the Alkaloid isopyroine; on Phytolacca decandra; on Formaldehyde, including a new method of volumetric determination; its liberation from solution for disinfecting purposes, by means of potassium permanganate; on the Terpenes, including two new terpenes; the Chlorhydrochlorides; some new forms of lecture apparatus, and numerous other papers: Qualitative analysis, Staedeler, Kolbe, Abeljang, Frankforter, translated, revised and enlarged. Fellow of American Association for the Advancement of Science; member Deutschen Chemischen Gesellschaft; member Electrochemischen Gesellschaft; Society of Chemical Industry; American Chemical Society; Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education; American Health Association.

FREEMAN, Charles Doney, was born January 26th, 1879, at St. Paul, Minn.; he is the son of George W. and Mary I. Doney Freeman. His father is a retired shoe merchant. His early life was spent in St. Paul, attending the public schools; he afterwards entered the University and pursued two years' work in the academic course and then four years in the college of medicine and surgery, graduating in 1904. After graduation he was interne in Luther hospital, St. Paul and then spent two years in graduate work in dermatology in Europe. He is a member of the Minnesota club, the University club, the Minnesota Boat club, the Ramsey county and State medical societies and a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon and Nu Sigma Nu fraternities. He was married January 1st, 1910 to Caroline M. K. Boeckmann of St. Paul.

FRELIN, Julius Theophilus, the son of Jean Pierre and Eugenie Donze Frelin, was born March 13th, 1870 in France; his father was a farmer. His early life was spent in Alsace where he attended the public schools. After coming to America he attended the Mankato state normal school and received the degree of bachelor of arts from the University in 1905. He taught nine years in the graded and high schools of Minnesota; nine months among the Igorrote head hunters on North Luzon, P. I., and two years among the semi-civilized tribes of the same. During the year 1904 he was a scholar in French at the University; instructor, 1905; and since 1907 has been assistant professor. Mr. Frelin was a member of the 12th Minnesota in the Spanish American war and enlisted at New Ulm. He is a Republican; a member of the Publicity club, Commercial club, Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Masonic order.

FRISSELL, Ervin Robert, was born April 30th, 1882 at New Richmond, Wis. He is the son of William H. and Nellie C. Frissell. His ancestors were among the early New England settlers and fought in the Revolutionary war. The Frissells were among the earliest settlers in Wisconsin, his uncle being the first white boy born on the prairie north of Hudson, Wis., and his aunt taught the first school. His grandfather was in the original survey party that established the boundaries of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan and owned a stage line running from Hudson to the fort at St. Anthony and the fort at Osceola. Mr. Frissell's early life was spent in New Richmond where he attended the common and high schools. He graduated from the law department of the University in 1904 and has been engaged in the practice of law and dealing in real estate since graduation under the firm name of Nichols & Frissell, with offices in the Andrus building. He is a Republican in politics, a member of the University club, the Commercial club, Masonic bodies including the Darius Commandry and Zuhrah Shrine, and is affiliated with the Congregational church. He was married in 1904 to May A. Ainsworth of Chippewa Falls, Wis., U. of M. Academic, '05. They have two children living, Eleanor May and Robert Ainsworth.

pose of securing better conditions of sanitation; was also a charter member of Alpha Nu Chapter of Chi Psi fraternity at Minnesota. He was married in Colorado, November 15th, 1882 to Kate Montgomery of Buffalo, N. Y. They had three children, Robert Samuel, Pierce Powers and Arthur Whitney. Mrs. Furber is at the present time living in Minneapolis. Her son Robert is in the United States Navy Civil Engineer Corps, located at Brooklyn Navy Yards, is a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy of Annapolis and the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y. Pierce P. is a graduate of the University, C. E. '08, and at present is assistant engineer with C. A. P. Turner, Consulting Engineer of Minneapolis and lives with his mother. Arthur W., is in the banking business at Lemmon, S. D.

GALBRAITH, John P., the son of Andrew and Marcella Galbraith, was born in Sauk County, Wisconsin, September 9th, 1865. His mother died in 1870 and his father in 1881. Up to 1880 he attended the public schools of the place where he was born and in 1880 removed to Albion, Nebraska, a point forty miles from Columbus, the nearest railroad station. In October of that year he was employed as clerk in Galbraith Bros. Hardware & Implement store and continued in their employ for seven years, during that time attending the public schools in the winter. In 1887 he received an appoint-for, rather than offices. In the fall of 1900 much against his will Mr. Galbraith was placed in nomination and unanimously endorsed as a member of the legislature. He received the enthusiastic support of the people of his district and was the only Democrat in the county elected to any office that year. During his service in the legislature Mr. Galbraith was instrumental in securing the passage of many bills of importance, especially the rate of interest on tax sales which gave the owner of the land the benefit of a lower rate of interest than he would otherwise ment in the United States Land Office in which his brother had been appointed receiver and continued in that office until December 1889. At that time he resigned the position and removed to St. Paul, entering the law department of the University in January 1890. In June 1891 received the degree of bachelor of laws and was admitted to the bar, opening an office in the Germania Life building, St. Paul, for the practice of law. In June, 1892, he received his M. L. degree. In June 1893 Mr. Galbraith removed to Grand Forks, N. D., and from that time to January 1902 was engaged in the general practice of law and was actively interested in political affairs and at different times was president of the Democratic club which he was instrumental in forming, for the purpose of placing before the people the principles to be worked have had to pay. In January 1902 Mr. Galbraith removed to St. Paul and from that time until December 1st, 1908 was associated with Farwell, Ozmun, Kirk & Co., as attorney and adjustor. In December 1908 Mr. Galbraith took charge of the Northwestern Jobbers' Credit Bureau, which is a corporation organized by the jobbers of Minneapolis and St. Paul for the purpose of handling insolvent estates and interchange of ledger information. He is a member of the Commercial club of St. Paul, the lodge of Elks and Knights of Columbus and belongs to St. Luke's parish of the Catholic church.

GALE, Mrs. Sarah Pillsbury, (Mrs. E. C.) was born in Minneapolis, June 30th, 1866. She is the daughter of John S. (deceased) and Mahala Fiske Pillsbury. Her early life was spent in this city and her education was received in the public schools. She graduated from the University in 1888 with the degree of bachelor of literature. She is a member of the Minikahda club, Town and country club, Colonial Dames, Improvement league, Woman's club and Lafayette club, and a member of the First Congregational church. She was married to Edward C. Gale, June 28th, 1892. They have two children, Edward, (deceased) and Richard Pillsbury.

el D. and Caroline A. Gaylord, was born September 22nd, 1861 at West Cheshire, Conn. Mr. Gaylord is a descendant of William Gaylord, one of the first settlers of Connecticut. Until nine years of age Mr. Gaylord lived at Saugatuck, Conn., and attended private schools. Coming to Minnesota in 1870 he attended the public schools at Garden City, Minn. In 1878 he removed to Minneapolis where he attended the Minneapolis schools, graduating from the high school with the class of 1879. Entering the University the same fall he received the degree of bachelor of arts in 1883. He then studied law in Minneapolis and was admitted to the bar in 1885, and has been engaged exclusively in the practice of law since that date. Mr. Gaylord has always been a Republican; is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity, Odd Fellows emy, Ashburnham, Mass., and he graduated at Dartmouth college with the degree of bachelor of arts in 1895 and spent one year in graduate work. While attending Dartmouth he was student assistant in the college library from 1891 to 1896. Later, was assistant librarian of the General Theological seminary of New York, 1896-1897; head of a department, Columbia University library 1897-1900; librarian of the University of Missouri, 1900-1906 and has held the same position at Minnesota since 1906. In politics he is an independent Republican, and in religion an Episcopalian. He is a director of the Associated charities, of the Minneapolis society of fine arts, of the Minnesota association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis and of the Wells memorial settlement and is a member of the Bryn Mawr golf club, the Skylight club and the Six o'clock club. He was married September 18th, 1900, to Mary Aims Chamberlain.

GERRISH, Harry Eldon, was born September 9th, 1882, in Minneapolis; he is the son of W. E. and Dr. Clara T. Gerrish; his father is traveling representative of the Geo. W. Parker Co. With the exception of three years spent in California, the family have lived in Minneapolis and Mr. Gerrish has had his educational training in the public schools of this city, graduating from the Central high school. After spending

While in the University he was captain of Co. F. of the Cadet Corps and a member of Scabbard and Blade, and is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity, Commercial club, Publicity club, Architectural club, American Society of Inspectors of Plumbing and Sanitary Engineers. one year in the academic department he transferred to the mechanical engineering course and graduated in 1905 with the degree of Mechanical Engineer. He is a member of the Tau Beta Pi honorary engineering society, which has lately installed a chapter at Minnesota. After graduation he served two years as special apprentice for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, learning the trade of machinist and steamfitter. For the past four years he has been associated with Charles L. Pillsbury, consulting engineer, and at present holds the position of chief engineer. During this time he has served for three years on the faculty of the Y. M. C. A. night school in charge of the work in mechanical engineering. Mr. Gerrish has served as a member of Co. B. Minnesota National Guard for four years and ranked as second sergeant.

ger H. Giere, was born on a farm near Deerfield, Wis., April 10th, 1868. His early life was spent on a farm and attending Luther College, Decorah, Ia., and St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn. Later entered the medical department of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of U. of M., and graduated from the University Medical department in June 1892. Since graduation from the University Dr. Giere has attended the New York Polyclinic, New York Post Graduate, New York School of Clinical Medicine, Chicago Post Graduate, Chicago Polyclinic, Illinois School of Electro therapeutics, and is attending surgeon to Ebenezer Hospital, Madison, Minn., and has just been offered the position of Chief of Staff of Luther hospital, Watertown, S. D., which position he will probably accept. Dr. Giere is a member of the Republican party, was a member of the Minnesota State Board of medical examiners, from 1903 to 1906, president of the Board of Aldermen of Madison, two terms; president of the board of education for two terms; local surgeon for the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad; member of Camp Release Medical society, Minnesota State medical association and the American Medical association; is a Lutheran. He was married April 10th, 1895 to Louise Williamson. They have seven children, Verne A., Frida L., Richard W., Joseph C., Swenhild L., Alice L. and Carl N.

GILBERT, Trygve O., was born on a farm near Christiania, Norway, August 17th, 1878. The family came to America when Mr. Gilbert was six years of age and settled on a farm in Nobles county, Minn., where his early life was spent working on a farm and attending the public schools at Ellsworth. In 1896 the family removed to Kandiyohi county and settled near Willmar. Mr. Gilbert entered the college department of Augsburg seminary, Minneapolis, in the fall of 1894 and received his bachelor's degree in the spring of 1898, as valedictorian of his class. In the fall of 1901 he entered the law department of the University and graduated in June, 1904 with the degree of bachelor of laws. Immediately after graduation he was admitted to the bar and began the practice of law at Willmar in the fall of 1904 and has been very successful in his profession. In politics he is a Republican and has been chairman of the Republican county committee of Kandiyohi county since 1906. He was appointed judge of probate of Kandiyohi county by Governor Eberhart, April 2nd, 1910, to succeed Honorable A. F. Nordin, deceased. Mr. Gilbert is a Lutheran and was married January 22nd, 1901 to Clara Emelia Johnson of Willmar. They have two children, Harold Eugene and Floyd Oliver.

GILLETTE, Arthur Jay, was born October 28, 1863, in Rice county, Minn.; he is the son of Albert and Ellen M. Gillette; his father was a farmer. When very young his father purchased the land where South St. Paul now stands, where the family lived until the property was purchased for the site for the town. He attended the country schools until he was advanced enough to enter Hamline university, which he attended for three years, then entered the Minnesota College Hospital at Minneapolis and later attended the St. Paul Medical School from which he graduated in 1886. After this he attended the New York Polyclinic school for one year and received an honorary degree from the University of Minnesota in 1903. Dr. Gillette began the practice of orthopedic surgery by being appointed house surgeon of the New York Orthopedic Dispensary hospital where he remained one year, returning to St. Paul to take up the general practice of medicine, gradually working into orthopedic surgery. In a short time this line of work occupied so much of his time that he was obliged to give up general practice and devote his entire time to the treatment of the crippled and deformed. He was appointed orthopedic surgeon to St. Luke's hospital, St. Joseph's hospital, the City and County hospital, Bethesda hospital, and later to Luther hospital, St. Paul, and a little later consulting orthopedic surgeon to Asbury hospital, Minneapolis. During these years of practice of orthopedic surgery he met with so many deserving cases greatly in need of hospital treatment, and who were unable to afford such, that he succeeded in getting the state of Minnesota to make an appropriation for the establishment of a hospital to care for indigent crippled and deformed children of the state of Minnesota in 1897, offering his services free of charge. This was the first institution of its kind in the world, that is, the first time a state or country established an institution for the care of its indigent crippled and deformed children. Since that date many other states and countries have followed Minnesota's example, in establishing similar institutions. In addition to the hospital they now have almost completed a country sanitarium and industrial school for cripples. As a result of the work done in this line the board of regents of the University conferred upon Dr. Gillette an honorary degree in medicine in 1903. He is a member of the Minnesota club, Commercial club and Town and Country club of St. Paul. Dr. Gillette has been president of the American Orthopedic association, is a member of the American Medical association, the Ramsey County Medical society, the Minnesota Academy of Medicine, etc. He is married and has one daughter, Margaret.

Thomas Shaw, Professor of Animal Husbandry, and in charge of animal husbandry in the experiment station 1893-01; lecturer on live stock, school of agriculture, 1901-04.

GODFREY, Percy Downing, the son of Jacob T. and Nettie H. Godfrey, was born on a farm at Hampton, New Hampshire, March 12th, 1871. The Godfrey family settled in Hampton in 1638 and had part in the Revolutionary war; Mr. Godfrey's father was a soldier in the Civil war. In 1887 Mr. Godfrey graduated from the Hampton academy and high school and was class poet of his class. In 1896 he finished the law course in the University and began a general practice of law in St. Paul and is now a member of the firm of Godfrey & Molander. Mr. Godfrey is a Republican and former member of the St. Paul Board of park commissioners; is a member of A. F. A. M., Knights Templar, Mystic Shrine, Elks, is Colonel Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias; chief justice of the Grand Tribunal Minnesota K. of P.; is affiliated with the Congregational church. Mr. Godfrey married Miss Minnie R. Lawton of St. Paul and they have two children, Otis Hickman and Percy D., Jr.

GOODRICH, Calvin G., son of Doctor Calvin G. Goodrich and Mary A. (Wall) Goodrich, was born in Oxford, Ohio, March 12th, 1856, and spent the first eleven years of his boyhood in that state.

In 1867 Dr. Goodrich's family moved to Minneapolis for the benefit of the Doctor's health, Dr. Goodrich continuing to practice his medical profession. At this time Minneapolis was a city of 8,000 people. In 1868 Dr. Goodrich purchased the quarter section of land which included all of Lowry Hill and Groveland additions for a consideration of $5,800.00.

The subject of this sketch was educated in the public schools of Minneapolis and in the University of Minnesota. His first employment was during the year 1876 when he filled the position of timekeeper and bookkeeper for the North Star Iron Works which was then one of the city's largest manufacturing plants, located at Third avenue north and River street.

In 1877 he entered the employ of the Minneapolis street railway company as bookkeeper, and has been continuously connected with that company's business for more than 33 years, filling every position from bookkeeper to that of President of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company, which office he now holds. His life's work to date may be justly stated to have been the development and perfection of the street railway system of the Twin Cities.

Mr. Goodrich is president of the Duluth-Superior Traction company, which operates the street railway system in the cities of Duluth and Superior, and is also a director in a number of banks in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

He has never sought or held political office. He is a member of the principal clubs of Minneapolis, St. Paul, and vicinity.

Mr. Goodrich and family attend the Church of the Redeemer.

On May 21, 1881, Mr. Goodrich was married to Cora L. Ferrin. Their only son, Donald, is twenty-two years of age and in his junior year at Yale.

GOULD, Charles Devereaux, the son of Theodore L. and Louise D. Gould, was born June 4th, 1867, at Garland, Warren county, Pennsylvania. Mr. Gould's father was a nurseryman and died in 1888. His ancestors were of English and French origin and were among the early settlers of this country prior to the Revolutionary War. His father was an officer in the Union Army from 1861 to 1865. Mr. Gould came to Minnesota with his parents in 1869 when the family settled in Spring Valley where Mr. Gould completed his high school course in 1886. Entering the academic department of the University the same fall he later transferred to the law department from which he received his bachelor's degree in 1891. Immediately upon graduation he was admitted to the bar and has been engaged in an active practice of his profes-

GOULD, James Bennett, was born January 23rd, 1860, at Eden Prairie, Hennepin county, son of Aaron and Matilda (Channel) Gould. His father was a farmer and James Bennett spent his earlier years on the farm, receiving his educational training in the rudiments at the district school. In 1873 he entered the public schools of Minneapolis and, continuing on the ascending grade to the higher education, he entered the State University from which he graduated in 1882 with the degree of A. B. After spending one year as a student in the office of sion since that date at Minneapolis, Minnesota, his law offices being now at 820-822 Security Bank Building. Mr. Gould has confined himself exclusively to law until elected alderman from the fourth ward in 1908. Mr. Gould has never held or sought any other political office but has been more or less interested in politics and good government being affiliated with the Republican party. Mr. Gould is a member of the Masonic fraternity, being past master of Minnesota Lodge, A. F. and A. M. 22, member of Ark Chapter, Minneapolis United Commandery No. 23, Zuhrah Temple, Mystic shrine, and is affiliated with the Congregational church; also a member of the Psi Upsilon college fraternity. In 1897 he married Viola L. Cauvet of Minneapolis. They have two children, Marjorie C., aged seven and Edward C., aged five.

Dr. C. N. Hewitt, then secretary of the State Board of Health of Minnesota, he matriculated at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in 1883, and in 1886 received from that institution the degree of doctor of medicine. During both his collegiate and medical courses he filled the role of schoolmaster. His first school was taught when he was but seventeen years old in a new school building erected on the site of the "old log school house," the one built by his uncle. He is a medical examiner for various life insurance companies, and for the Royal Arcanum, in which organization he has held the position for some fifteen years. Since 1901 he has been medical examiner for the Independent Order of Foresters, and since 1903 for the Modern Woodmen. He is a member of the American Medical Association, State Medical Society of Minnesota and the Hennepin County Medical Society. He belongs to the Masonic fraternity, affiliating with Ark Lodge No. 176, A. F. and A. M., and with Ark Chapter No. 53, R. A. M. In politics he is a Republican. Dr. Gould married, December 26th, 1889, Ella M. Crombie, of Michigan. His present address is 313 Pillsbury Building, Minneapolis.

GRAHAM, Christopher, the son of Joseph and Jane T. Graham, was born April 3rd, 1856 in Cortland county, New York. Mr. Graham's early life was spent in Olmsted county, Minnesota where he attended the district school, and later Niles' private school for one full year before entering the sub-freshman class of the University. In 1887 Mr. Graham completed the scientific course of the University and received the degree of bachelor of science. After teaching two years in Shattuck School, Faribault, he entered the veterinary department of the University of Pennsylvania from which he graduated in 1892. The following school year, 1892-93, he was connected with the Experiment Station and Agricultural College of Minnesota as veterinarian. He then returned to Philadelphia to complete the regular medical course of the University of Pennsylvania. Immediately after graduation Dr. Graham settled at Rochester where he has since been connected with the Mayos under the firm name of Drs. Mayo, Graham

& Co. In politics Dr. Graham is an independent Democrat. He is a member of the State Board of Health, American Medical Association, Mississippi Valley Medical Association, Southern Minnesota Medical association, Olmsted county medical association. He is affiliated with the Episcopal church. January 4th, 1899, he married Blanche Brackenridge. They have two children, Elizabeth, aged ten and Malcom B., aged seven.

1865, at High Forest, Minn. The family is of English and Irish descent. Mr. Grannis' early life was spent on a farm in southern Minnesota where he was prepared for the University in the public schools and by private instruction. Entering the sub-freshman class of the University in the fall of 1881 he received the degree of bachelor of arts in June 1886. After graduating from the University Mr. Grannis pursued his law studies at Michigan University, receiving the degree of bachelor of laws in 1888. Since 1890 he has been engaged in the active practice of his profession at Duluth. During his college course Mr. Grannis was active in all student affairs and was managing editor of the Ariel and is at present vice president of the Northern Minnesota alumni association. Mr. Grannis is a member of the Commercial club of Duluth, a 32nd degree

Mason, member of the Aad Temple of the Mystic Shrine and is a Unitarian. He was married at Faribault June 18th, 1890 to Laura Hingson. They have four children, Margaret V., Lawrence C., Frank H., and Ruth C.

1878-1881 and 1882-1883. He was principal of the high school of Centralia, Ill., 1881-1882. He received his diploma from the normal in 1887. He received his degree of bachelor of arts from Harvard University in 1887 with special honors in political science and was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa. He pursued graduate work at Harvard University in the first semester of 1887-88 and was instructor at Harvard from 1888 to June 1889, then spent 1889-92 in Europe in a Harvard traveling fellowship, spending two semesters at Halle, seven months at Paris, one semester at Vienna, seven months at Berlin, and traveled extensively during his vacations. He is one of the founders of the Civic federation in Chicago and chairman of its most important committee for a number of years.

He is at present president of the faculty club, a member of the Commercial club and the Bryn Mawr golf club, also a charter member of the City club of Chicago in which he still retains his membership. He is associate editor of the economic bulletin, published by the American economic association and associate editor of the Journal of Accountancy of New York City. He is a member of the First Congregational church of Minneapolis. He was married June 14th, 1894 to Helen Rochwell Bliss of New Haven, Conn. They have two children, James Bliss, born August 23rd, 1898, and Evelyn, born February 22nd, 1901.

GRAY, William Irving, of the contracting firm of W. I. Gray & Co., was born at Lake City, Minnesota, the son of Alexander Gray and Mary Dingwell Gray. All his ancestors were Scotch and his parents came to this country in 1862, settling in Wabasha county, Minnesota. His boyhood was spent on his father's farm, eight miles from Lake City, where he attended district school, later attending and graduating from the Lake City high school. He then entered the University of Minnesota, and graduated from the engineering department in 1892 with the degree of electrical engineer. After a short time spent in practical experience in his profession, Mr. Gray, in 1894, engaged in the business of a contracting engineer under the firm name of W. I. Gray & Co., taking contracts for mechanical plants of all kinds, such as heating, electric lighting, ventilating and plumbing. In addition to doing a large local business, the operations of the firm extend to three or four adjoining states and to western Canada. Mr. Gray is independent in his political beliefs, but takes an active part in the public affairs of the city, is a member of the Commercial club, and has been president of the State Board of Electricity since 1899. He is a member of Park Avenue Congregational church and of the Congregational club of Minnesota. In 1899 Mr. Gray was married to Isabelle W. Welles, and they have two sons, Alexander Welles and Frank Dingwall.

GREENE, Charles Lyman, was born September 21st, 1862, at Gray, Maine. He is the son of William Warren and Elizabeth Lawrence Greene; his father was professor of surgery in the Berkshire Medical College (medical department of Williams College); Long Island Hospital College, University of Michigan and Bowdoin. Mr. Greene attended the public schools of Portland, Me.; the preparatory department of Ann Arbor; the academic department of the University of Michigan for one year; medical department of the University of Michigan; graduated from the medical department of the University of Minnesota in 1890; and pursued postgraduate work at London, Johns Hopkins, Harvard, Paris, Heidelberg, Berne, etc. At one time he was obliged to leave college on account of the death of his father and entered the office of the Northern Pacific railway in St. Paul, but later was enabled to return and take up medicine. Dr. Greene was professor of medicine and chief of the department of medicine, chief of the medical clinic of the University hospital, was a merchant in Boston. He attended the schools of Chelsea and graduated from the Massachusetts Agricultural college in 1879 and has been professor of horticulture and forestry in the University for the past twenty-two years. Prior to coming to the University he had ten years' practical horticultural experience in nursery practice and general horticulture and agriculture. Mr. Green came to the University in 1888; spent the year 1900 in studying agricultural educational institutions in Europe. He is a member of the Minnesota state forestry board, a member and president of the Board of administration of the state farmers' institutes, was secre-verne, Rock Co., Minn. Mr. Grout was brought up on a large grain and stock farm; graduated from the Minnesota school of agriculture in 1898 and traveled in the dairy interests after graduation until 1905 when he was called to teach dairying at the North Dakota agricultural college. While there he took up college studies, specializing in dairy bacteriology, and graduated with the degree of bachelor of science of agriculture in 1908; was then appointed assistant in dairying at the University and continued advanced work at the University receiving his master's degree in 1909. Mr. Grout received his practical experience in buttermaking in Freeborn county, Minn., under B. D. White who now is in charge of dairy manufacturing, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., and upon the home farm. His study of the dairy cow was under the direction of Professor Haecker while working his way through the Minnesota school of agriculture. He now holds the position of assistant in dairy husbandry, dairy division, Minnesota Experiment Station. Mr. Grout is a member of the American Society of Animal Nutrition, American Association for the advancement of science and is affiliated with the Methodist church; was married in July, 1901, to Agnes G. Tisdale. They have two children, Thaddeus and Geraldine.

GROTTE, Anthony T., was born October 29th, 1870, in Minneapolis; he is the son of ognized as being especially in charge of bills relating to the agricultural department. He has always been a warm friend and supporter of the University and was the author of the University extension work law under which the University is reaching out to make its influence felt throughout the whole state. Mr. Hackney has been a member of the city council of St. Paul and holds membership in all of the prominent clubs of that city; is affiliated with the Methodist church. Mr. Hackney married Jennie E. Hill and they have two children, a boy and a girl.

HAECKER, Theophilus L. No man has done more to promote the interests of the dairymen in America than Theophilus L. Haecker, chief of the dairy division of the University. He has been engaged in the scientific investigation of dairy problems for the past ten years, and during that time has earned a wide reputation for his work on "Dairy type," and for his publications on "Feeding dairy cows." Mr. Haecker was born at Liverpool, Medina County, Ohio, May 4th, 1846, of German descent. His parents removed to Wisconsin and settled on a farm near Cottage Grove when he was but seven years old. His educational facilities were limited to an attendance at the district school in the winter until he was sixteen years of age, his summers being spent on the farm. In 1863

he entered the state university at Madison, Wis., but was compelled to give up his studies the following spring on account of sickness. He then enlisted in Company A, Thirty-seventh Wisconsin Infantry, and was detailed to clerical work at headquarters. This did not prevent him from seeing active service, however, and during Grant's campaign before Richmond served as a private and regimental bugler in the trenches before Petersburg. He was then placed on detached service in the medical department at City Point, where he was rapidly promoted until he had charge of all the quartermaster's supplies of the ninth corps hospital department. He rejoined his regiment at the close of the war, and was placed in charge of the drum corps, participating in the great review at Washington. He was discharged with his regiment at Madison in August 1865.

His parents had in the meantime removed to Hampton, Franklin county, Iowa, and here the lad went after being mustered out, and spent two years working on his father's farm. In the spring of 1867 he re-entered the University of Wisconsin and resumed his studies. His health failing in his third year he was compelled to leave college, and returned home. Later he secured a position as a teacher in the public schools, remaining in this vocation until 1870, when he engaged in the newspaper business, establishing the Ackley Independent in Hardin county, Iowa. This venture proved very successful. In 1873, he disposed of the paper and the following February settled on a farm near Cottage Grove, Wis., with the intention of going extensively into stock raising and dairying. Shortly afterwards, however, without any solicitation on his part, he was offered a position in the executive office of William R. Taylor, then governor of Wisconsin. This position he accepted and held for five succeeding administrations, covering a period of seventeen years. During his tenure of office, Mr. Haecker had many responsible duties placed upon him, the most important (at least for ten years of the time) being the review of all pardon cases coming before the governor. He also had charge of the adjustment of the noted St. Croix land grant case.

His public duties, however, did not cause him to lose interest in stock raising. He usually spent each evening on the farm, personally inspecting every animal on the place, and drove a distance of ten miles to the office in the morning. Mr. Haecker became an intimate friend of Professor Henry, who was placed in charge of the Wisconsin experiment station when established in 1880, and in this way first acquired a practical knowledge of agricultural education. This led to his being commissioned by the board of regents in 1882 to make a tour of the east to select prize stock for the experiment station. The animals he selected proved of excellent merit, and upon the organization of the Farmers' Institute, he was chosen to discuss the subjects of breeding and handling of dairy stock. In the fall of 1890 Mr. Haecker moved with his family to Madison in order to afford his children the advantages of better educational facilities. Having been unexpectedly relieved of his official duties the following January, he joined the first class in the Wisconsin dairy school. The second week he was appointed assistant to the chief instructor in the dairy school, and later was called to the Minnesota school of agriculture, and on the resignation of Professor Hays a short time later he was appointed assistant in agriculture in charge of live stock and dairying. In June 1893 he was appointed full professor in the college of agriculture and placed in charge of the dairy school.

Professor Haecker has contributed more to the farming and dairy interests of the state than can be measured. Not only is he a scientist, a teacher and an investigator, but a mold of thought and an inspiration to his colleagues. Of the hundreds who know him as a teacher all recognize that besides filling them with a knowledge of his subject, he gave them an inspiration which never left them. Once a student, always a friend. Back in the 80's he was considered among his associates an authority on farming and dairy stock raising as indicated by the general circulation among breeders and farmers in Wisconsin of such publications as "The Jersey interests" and "Principles of breeding." He laid his foundation broad and when he came to Minnesota he was well equipped to advance the interests of the farmers and went to work like a veritable "John the Baptist" to preach the gospel of good dairying in every county of the state. His first important work was the organization of the creamery interests along co-operative lines. At that time the very few creameries in the state were nearly all private concerns run largely for the benefit of the individual owner. He spent a large portion of his time in field work, holding meetings and delivering addresses all over the state. As a result Minnesota has the most perfect system of co-operation among creameries of any state in the Union. Minnesota butter today sells for the highest price on the market and the state holds more national contest banners for high quality than all other states put together. Under the co-operative system the farmer gets the full benefit of high prices. Since coming to Minnesota Professor Haecker has worked for the people of the state and the producer against all fraud, first last and all the time.

Some of the research work which has been of inestimable value to the state is the establishment of the relation of type (or form) to milk production. After fifteen years the new truths set forth in his Bulletin No. 35 are more apparent and popular than they were at the time they were worked out. He published numerous herd records and bulletins such as "Comparing cost of butter and meat production"; "Nutrients required in milk production"; "Investigation in milk production"; "Protein requirements"; "The requirements of the body or food of maintenance"; "Influence of the stage of lactation on nutrient requirement"; "The relation of nutriment to product"; and numerous other publications. His investigations overthrew all former feeding standards and his work is now recognized as authority the world over. In recognition of this work in milk production he was made professor of animal nutrition in October 1907, and has compiled some very interesting and valuable data along this line. Though a man ripe in years he is ever young in thought and Minnesota farmers may well expect much of him in the years to come.

Menominee, Wis.; he is the son of Jens H. and Gunhild Hagen; his father was a farmer and his parents emigrated from Norway and settled near Ft. Abercrombie, where he attended the country school, the state normal at St. Cloud and was county superintendent of schools of Richland county, N. D.; professor of Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn., for four years. He received the degree of bachelor of science from Valparaiso university in 1896 and master of arts 1898 from Illinois college. Dr. Hagen graduated from the medical college of the University in 1906; post-graduate student in medicine at Berlin and Harvard medical college. He is a member of the Masonic order, K. P., M. W. A., A. O. U. W., and president of Clay-Becker County Medical society and is a Lutheran.

HALE, Charles Sumner, president of the Kilgore-Peteler company, was born on April 1, 1870, in Minneapolis, the son of Jefferson M. and Louisa M. (Herrick) Hale. His father was one of the pioneer merchants of Minneapolis and was long identified with the dry goods business in the firm which was originally G. W. Hale & company and later Hale, Thomas & company. On his mother's side Mr. Hale also springs from pioneers of the city, his grandfather, Mr. Nathan Herrick, having established a marble yard in Minneapolis in 1851 on the corporation controlling extensive properties at Sandstone, Minn. This company does a large business in supplying building and paving material. In 1904 Mr. Hale organized the Kilgore Machine company which soon afterwards absorbed the Peteler Portable Railway Manufacturing company, the consolidated company now called Peteler Car company, and engaged extensively in the production of contractor's machinery, making a specialty of the manufacture of dump cars. Mr. Hale is a member of the Minneapolis and Minikahda clubs and the Chi present site of the Minneapolis Loan & Trust company on Nicollet avenue. Mr. Herrick, who died in 1891, was one of the first business men in Minneapolis. At the time of Mr. Hale's birth the family home was at the corner of Sixth street and First avenue south. As a boy he attended the public schools of the city, graduating from the high school in 1888 and, entering the University took the academic course and graduated in 1892. His first business experience was in the dry goods store of his father and uncle, G. W. Hale & company, then located at the corner of Third and Nicollet. After graduation he was associated in the lumber business for two years with the late Jesse G. Jones and afterwards was with W. S. Hill in the same business. In 1896 he became secretary and treasurer of the Kettle River Quarries company, a Psi fraternity. He was married on June 23rd, 1897, at Mankato, to Miss Marjorie L. Patterson. They have one son, Sumner Patterson Hale. The family attends Plymouth Congregational Church.

HALL, Albert H., senior member of the law firm of Hall & Kolliner, of this city, was born on July 11th, 1858, at Alexandria, Licking county, Ohio. His family on both sides were early settlers in that state, his maternal grandfather being the first white child born within the confines of Union county. Levi Hall, his father, was for many years a Methodist Episcopal clergyman, who later entered the medical profession and moved to Minneapolis where he has for more than a quarter of a century been a practicing physician. His mother's name before her marriage was Lucinda Mitchell. Mr.

Hall received his education in the public schools, first in Ohio, and later attending the high school at Austin, Minnesota, where the family moved in 1872. Three years later he came to this city and entered the University of Minnesota, supporting himself while in college by night work in telegraph and telephone service. At the end of his junior year, in 1881, he left school and entered the law office of the late Judge Frederick Hooker. A position in the treasury department at Washington was offered him which he accepted, and at the same time attended the Columbia Law school, from which he graduated in 1883. Resigning his position, Mr. Hall returned to Minneapolis, and since that time has been engaged in the practice of his profession. Soon after returning here he formed a partnership with N. F. Hawley, which continued for several years, Mr. Hall severing the connection to accept an appointment as assistant city attorney of Minneapolis in 1889. During the two years which he served he conducted successfully several important cases, including the well known garbage dump cases. He resumed his general legal practice until 1893, when he was selected by the grand jury and appointed by Judge Seagrave Smith, special assistant attorney for Hennepin country, and filled that office for eighteen months. He tried many important criminal cases for the county and made a record as an able speaker and effective trial lawyer. Among the cases with which he was connected were the notable Scheig and Floyd cases; the Harris murder case which Mr. Hall successfully prosecuted; and the famous Hayward trial in which his unceasing efforts secured the admissions and evidence which made possible the conviction of the guilty parties. At the expiration of his term Mr. Hall again took up his practice and has since been engaged in general practice, both in this city and throughout the Northwest. He formed in 1902 a partnership with Robert S. Kolliner under the firm name of Hall & Kolliner—an association which still continues. From his earliest manhood Mr. Hall has taken an active interest in politics and has been an efficient worker for the Republican party for many years. In 1904 he became a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress but was defeated in a strong campaign against Hon. Loren Fletcher who had been the incumbent for a number of successive terms. Mr. Hall was again a candidate in 1906 and made an even better run against a larger field of opponents. Mr. Hall was married in 1883 to Miss Nellie J. Pearson. They have one daughter, Faith. The family attends the Hennepin Avenue

Methodist Church. Mr. Hall is a member of the Commercial club and other organizations of a social character.

HALL, Christopher Webber, professor in the University of Minnesota, is a Green Mountain farmer boy, having been born February 28th, 1845, at Wardsboro, Windham county, Vt. His father, Lewis Hall, was a well-to-do farmer, whose wife—the professor's mother—was Louisa Wilder. She was a daughter of a tanner, Calvin Wilder, somewhat noted as a militia captain. Mr. Hall's early education was obtained in the district school, after which he entered the academies at Townsend and Chester, until prepared for college, paying his way by teaching penmanship. He then entered Middlebury college, Vermont, and graduated in 1871. Here he won the botanical prize, and was on the "Waldo Foundation" for two years. He was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa for scholarship and was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. After graduating he accepted the position of principal at Glens Falls academy, New York, for one year, and then came to Minnesota as principal of the Mankato high school and later as superintendent of the Owatonna schools, where he remained until 1875, resigning to take up scientific studies. He went to Leipsic, Germany, and devoted two years and a half to the study of geology and allied subjects. On his return he gave a course of lectures at Middlebury college, and in April, 1878, came to Minnesota and entered upon his work at the University, where he has ever since been engaged. The development of the scientific technical work of the institution to the present broad and comprehensive features of the "long course" has been largely due to Professor Hall's active and persistent efforts. He also foresaw the value of a school of mines of the highest rank and earnestly recommended its establishment to meet the demands of the discoveries of iron mines and of the clay and quarry industries.

Christopher W. Hall, Professor of Geology and Mineralogy

From 1892 until 1897 he was dean of the college of engineering, metallurgy and mechanic arts, and directed the courses to their present effective status. He secured from the business men of Minneapolis $5,000 to construct an ore-testing plant on a commercial scale. He was instrumental, also, in securing an annual appropriation for maintaining and developing the school of mines, and in urging the appropriation of funds for the complete laboratory for testing structural materials now being developed by the department of structural engineering. During his leave of absence in Europe in 1897-98 he was busily engaged in scientific work. During his early years with the University he was assistant geologist on the geological and natural history survey of the state. From 1883 to the present time he has been assistant geologist of the United States geological survey. Before 1884 he had taught all the natural and physical sciences of the curriculum of the University except chemistry. He has traversed during the summer months nearly every portion of the state—many of the counties in great detail. He has written much on the geological features of the state, and on scientific and educational subjects, a catalogue published in 1899 showing eighty-nine titles. Among them is an historical sketch of the University, the most comprehensive yet written. Professor Hall takes high rank in scientific circles. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; fellow of the Geological Society of America; member of the National Geographic Society; of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and of the Minnesota Academy of Natural Sciences, having been secretary and administrative officer of the last named society for thirteen years, and for many years has been editor of its bulletins. He was honored by being elected its president at its last session. Professor Hall is a Congregationalist. In politics he is a broad-gauged Republican, but has never sought nor held office. In 1876 he was married to Ellen A., the daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Mark H. Dunnell, but she lived only seven months. In 1883 he was married to Sophia Seely Haight who died in 1891, leaving one daughter, named after her mother, Sophia.

HANKE, Henry C., county treasurer of Hennepin county, was born on October 6, 1860, the son of Christopher and Frederica Hanke. His parents were among the earliest settlers of Hennepin county. They came here in 1856 and during his long life Christopher Hanke became one of the best known farmers in this vicinity. His son grew up on the farm just west of Lake Calhoun receiving a common school education, attending business college and at the Minneapolis academy fitted himself to enter the University of Minnesota. At twenty-two he entered the lumber and land business which he followed for a number of years until he was appointed treasurer of Hennepin county upon the death of Col. Chas. W. Johnson, December 26th, 1905. Mr. Hanke's experience in adjusting tax matters in connection with thousands of acres of land in northern Minnesota gave him a familiarity with the subject and the routine of county treasurer's work which especially fitted him for the position. Since entering the office he has entirely revised the system of accounting and has also adopted the plan of mailing real estate tax statements to all tax payers without request. It is now possible to do this because of the fact that he has acquired the address of every taxpayer who pays taxes into the office. This plan has met with general approval as it eliminates to a large extent the possibility of error in tax payments and is in general a great convenience and time-saver to the public. Mr. Hanke received the Republican nomination for the treasurership in the fall of 1906 and was elected without opposition at the November election. He has always been a staunch Republican, has served on the local campaign committees in various capacities for some years and was a member of the legislature of 1888 and 1889 as a Republican from the Third Ward of Minneapolis. He is a member of all the Masonic bodies in the city—Minneapolis Lodge No. 19, St. John's Chapter No. 9, Minneapolis Council No. 2, Mounted Commandery, Knights Templars No. 23, an Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Mason, 32nd degree; and Zuhrah Temple of the Mystic Shrine; is a member of the Minneapolis Lodge No. 44, B. P. O. Elks, and one of its trustees, and Nicollet Council No. 11, Modern Samaritans. Mr. Hanke was married September 19, 1888, to Miss Mary A. Gluck, only daughter of the late John G. Gluck, who was a well-known and successful merchant tailor in Minneapolis for many years. They have two daughters, Ethel Francisca and Laura Marguerite. The family attends the Grace Presbyterian Church of which Mr. Hanke is a trustee.

HANSON, H. Stanley, the son of John A. Hanson, was born in Minneapolis, Minn., where he attended the public schools, graduating from the South high school in 1899. After pursuing one year's work in the academic department of the University Mr. Hanson entered the law department and received the degree of bachelor of laws in 1904. Since graduating Mr. Hanson has been on the editorial staff of the West publishing company of St. Paul for five years and is at the present time secretary for the judge of probate and practicing law, having his office at 730

He was graduated from Central high school in this city and took two and one-half years' work in the college of engineering at the University, afterwards entering the college of law from which he was graduated in 1899. In college he was prominent in athletics and was captain of the 1896 and 1897 football teams. He entered the fire insurance business soon after graduating and has since acted as state agent for the "Connecticut Fire Insurance Co.," of Hartford, for the states of Kentucky, Tennessee and Wisconsin. He is now a member of the insurance firm of Harrison & Merritt, in Minneapolis, who also act as state agents for Minnesota for the "Connecticut Fire." He served for five years in Company "A" of the N. G. S. M. He is a member of the neapolis health office. He is a member of the Commercial club, Minneapolis Automobile club, American Medical association, Minnesota State Medical association, Hennepin County Medical society, Phi Beta Pi college fraternity, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, York Rite degrees of Masonic lodge and is a Shriner. He was married in June 1900, to Edythe Mills. They have one child, Gene.

HEAD, George Douglas, son of Newell S. and Mary Elizabeth Head, was born September 10th, 1870, at Elgin, Minnesota. His father is a general insurance adjuster and is one of the pioneer fire insurance men in this state. Dr. Head received his education in the public schools of Minnesota; attended and graduated from the Fargo high school, delivering the oration for his class, and then entered the University of Minnesota. He received his degree of B. S. in 1892, and was again given the honor of delivering a class oration. He returned in the fall of the same year and took up his professional studies in the medical department and graduated in 1895 with a cum laude degree, receiving the Alexander Stone medal in gynecology. Upon leaving school Dr. Head began to practice in this city. In the years 1898 and 1900 he took post-graduate work in the Johns Hopkins Medical school. Again in the year 1903 he studied for nine months in Vienna and upon his return to this campaign for a larger campus and the establishing of a medical hospital for teaching purposes was waged before the state legislature, and was a member of the committee which had to do with the raising of a special fund to purchase a site for the University hospital. He is now a member of the Minnesota Academy of Medicine, the American and State Medical associations, the Hennepin County Medical society, the Minneapolis Medical club and the Minneapolis Pathological society. He is a member of the honorary scientific society, Sigma Xi, and of the country started to practice in Minneapolis as a specialist in "Internal medicine." Again in 1909 he took post-graduate work at Edinburgh. Dr. Head has held a number of offices at the State University. Two years after his graduation he was appointed as assistant in medicine and in 1895 took the position of instructor in clinical medicine and microscopy. The position of professor of clinical medicine and microscopy was offered to him in 1902, which place on the faculty he held until the reorganization of the faculty in 1909 when he was elected to the position of associate in medicine, which position he now holds. He was secretary of the faculty of the college of medicine and surgery during the year 1904-1905. Dr. Head was president of the Alumni Association of the medical department of the State University during the year when the college fraternities, Nu Sigma Nu and Delta Tau Delta. He holds the position of attending physician at the University and Asbury hospitals and is a consulting physician at Northwestern hospital. Dr. Head is a Republican in politics. He attends the Methodist Church and was married in 1898 to Miss Sarah Belle Parry. They have one son, Douglas Parry Head.

HEALY, Frank, the son of Thomas and Mary Kelley Healy, was born on a farm in Onondaga county, N. Y., in 1854. The family settled in Minnesota, Fillmore county, in 1856. Mr. Healy's early education was received in the district school and in the Preston graded school. Entering the University Mr. Healy graduated from the classical course in June, 1882. Afterward he entered the law department of the University of Michigan, receiving his law degree in 1884 and immediately commenced the practice of law in this city, and has been engaged in the active practice of law here since that date. January 1st, 1897 he was elected city attorney and for more than thirteen years past has held that important office. During the year 1909, sixty-eight cases were begun against the city, forty-eight were finally disposed of, twenty were not reached during the year and only three cases went against the city which indicates the zeal and ability with which Mr. Healy has administered and has been engaged in the practice of law in this city since graduation, from 1898 to 1901 as a member of the firm of Fowler and Henderson; and since 1901 as a member of the firms of Henderson, Wunderlich, Works & Henderson, of Minneapolis; Henderson, Wunderlich & Brown, of St. Paul; and Henderson, Wunderlich & Henderson of Chicago. MANN, Arthur Teall, surgeon to the Northwestern hospital and professor of clinical surgery in the University, was born in 1866, in New York City. He is the son of Samuel R. and Georgianna Teall Mann. His father was engaged in the real estate business when he died at the age of forty. His grandfather owned a line of steamers on the Hudson river. Both father and grandfather attended the University of Pennsylvania. The Manns and the Tealls have been distinguished by the members of their stock who have taken active part in the affairs of colonial times. Richard Mann, the first to settle in America, left England in the reign of Charles I and settled in Scituate, Mass. His son Richard is on record as receiving a grant of land in Connecticut for services in "the Indian war." In the next century Capt. Andrew Mann's name appears in the history of New London, Connecticut as receiving his title of captain at the time the British burned New London. On the Teall side the first emigrant to America was Oliver. His father was apothecary-in-chief to William III and Queen Anne's troops. George I gave him the family coat of arms presumably for services on the field under Marlborough. His grandson, Oliver Teall, Jr., followed in his steps and was surgeon in the British army during the French and Indian war. In the third generation on this side the Yankee blood began to take force and the grandson of the first Oliver, Nathan Teall, cast his lot on the American side during the Revolution. Nathan's first child was Elmira for whom the town of Elmira, N. Y. (originally Newton) was named. Dr. Arthur T. Mann spent his youth in New York, but came west after his father's death, entered the Minneapolis high school and the University and graduated with the degree of B. S. in 1888. He was superintendent in Minnesota high schools for three years, following which he went to Harvard medical school for his M. D., and carried off two scholarships during the course. In addition to four years of hospital service in Massachusetts hospitals where he was successively interne in the Channing hospital for mental and nervous cases, house surgeon at the Boston City hospital and first assistant physician at the Massachusetts state hospital, Dr. Mann studied surgery in the German hospitals in 1904. Since his return to Minneapolis he has been occupied with his place on the staff of the University as professor of clinical surgery and in surgical practice. He is surgeon to the Northwestern hospital and to the City hospital, a member of the Hospital committee of the University, secretary-treasurer of the Western surgical association and ex-president of the Minneapolis medical club. He is a Republican, a member of the Minneapolis club, the Lafayette club, the Automobile club, the

MANN, Eugene Langdon, was born in Minneapolis, May 20th, 1861 and is the son of Horatio E. and Mary A. Williams Mann; his father was a lawyer. His early schooling was received in the schools of St. Paul where he graduated from the high school in 1879. After graduating from the St. Paul high school Mr. Mann attended Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y. where he graduated in 1883, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts and having been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. Mann's medical training was received at the Hahnemann medical college at Philadelphia where he graduated in 1886, serving a year's internship in the Ward's Island hospital and later taking clinics at Vienna and Halle. Upon the organization of the Homeopathic college in the University Dr. Mann was made professor in the college and for the past five years has been its dean. Dr. Mann has been president of the American Homeopathic O. E. and L. Society, member and trustee of the American Institute of Homeopathy. In politics Dr. Mann is a Republican; is affiliated with the summers on the Natural History survey of the State. Since graduating in medicine Dr. Manson has pursued several graduate courses in medicine and surgery in the East; has built and conducted the Worthington hospital since 1906, a private hospital in which several hundred operations are done a year: a modern building with all conveniences for up to date hospital work, employing trained nurses. The hospital has attained a reputation for successful and careful work and has been placed on the list of Rock Island Railroad hospitals for the care of

Since Dr. Mayo's graduation from the medical department of the University of Michigan in 1883 he has been engaged in the practice of medicine in Rochester, Minnesota, where he is chief surgeon to St. Mary's hospital. He has made a specialty of hernias, the liver, and diseases of the stomach and other abdominal and pelvic organs. He was president of the American medical association 1905-6, and is a member of the following societies and clubs: American medical association; Minnesota State medical society; Fellow of the American Surgical association; University club, Chicago, Illinois; Minneapolis club, Minneapolis, Minnesota. He was married in 1884 to Hattie May Damon, Rochester, Minnesota. They have two daughters,—Carrie and Phoebe.

MEGAARDEN, Philip Tollef. As a youth, Philip T. Megaarden's highest aspirations were that he become a minister of the gospel of the Lutheran faith. These hopes were dashed to the ground by the death of his father, leaving him, when a mere lad of fifteen, at the head of a family of seven with little means for support. His struggle for a livelihood has been beset with many hardships, and Mr. Megaarden can look back with conscious pride to the fact that what success he has achieved is due entirely to his own individual efforts. He is of Norwegian descent, both his parents having been born in Norway. His father, Tollef K. Megaarden, was a dealer in livestock and later a railroad contractor. He was a resident of Allamakee county, Iowa, when the Civil war broke out, and enlisted in the 4th Iowa cavalry. He served three years, receiving an honorable discharge. Returning to his home, he removed to Dickinson county, where he lived until 1877, at which time he removed to Minneapolis. Philip was born in Allamakee county, Iowa, on October 2nd, 1864. The educational training of his early years was received in the district school near his home in Iowa and the Minneapolis public schools. It had been his intention to prepare for the Lutheran ministry, and for this purpose he entered the Augsburg Seminary at Minneapolis in the fall of 1878. He was compelled to put aside this plan, however, by reason of his father dying the year following, leaving the burden of taking care of the family practically to young Philip. He obtained such employment as he could find, first as a teamster, then clerk in a fuel office, then as bookkeeper and later as court officer in the municipal court. He did not drop his studies, however, while thus endeavoring to earn a livelihood, but for some time attended an evening school and later employed a private instructor. By diligent efforts he succeeded in taking a course at a business college, and finally was able to enter the University law school, from which he graduated in 1892 taking the degree of LL. B. He was admitted to practice before the bar in the Supreme Court of the state of Minnesota the same year. A year later he completed a post graduate course in the law school and received the degree of LL. M. Mr. Megaarden practiced his profession alone for about two years, but discontinued it on January 1, 1895, to accept the position of chief deputy sheriff of Hennepin county. At the end of his two years' term he resumed the practice of his profession, entering into a partnership with Judge John H. Steele. In 1898, Mr. Megaarden was elected sheriff of Hennepin county, and again in 1900 after a very bitter contest was re-elected. In 1904 Mr. Megaarden resumed the practice of his profession, and has ever since continued therein, although he is interested in several business enterprises, being vice-president of the Pacific Coast and Norway Packing company. Mr. Megaarden has always been a staunch Republican and has taken an active interest in the affairs of his party. He is a member of several political clubs. He is also identified with a number of fraternal organizations, being a member of Khurum Lodge, No. 112, A. F. & A. M., Ark Chapter No. 53; Minneapolis Consistory No. 2; Darius Commandery No. 7, K. T., Zuhrah Temple A. A. O. N. M. S. of Minneapolis; and Minneapolis Lodge No. 44, B. P. O. E. He also holds membership in several social clubs, and is a member of the Minnesota State Bar association.

MEHAN, James Edward, was born November 21st, 1866 at Mechanicville, N. Y. He is the son of Martin and Catherine Mehan. His father was a farmer. Mr. Mehan was one of thirteen children and worked his way through the Mechanicville Academy by doing janitor work. He received the degree of bachelor of laws from the University of Minnesota in 1904 and master of laws in 1906. He has had extensive business experience as northwestern manager for a large eastern publishing house and is now engaged in the practice of law in this city. He was married September 17th, 1895 to Stella A. Neuman of Little Falls, Minn. They have one child, Stella Grace, and reside at 3417 Park Avenue.

MERCER, Hugh Victor, the son of Silas and Caroline Gaston Mercer, was born in Marion county, Illinois, January 26th, 1869. The family on both sides has been in this country since long prior to the Revolutionary War, the mother was a descendant of the Huff and Gastons of Virginia, later Kentucky, and the father, of the Mercer family of Virginia and North Carolina and later Kentucky. Mr. Mercer's early educational training was received in the public schools and in a normal school. In 1894 he received his degree of bachelor of laws from the University and in 1897 his degree of master of laws and is now a candidate for the D. C. L. A part of the time since graduation he has been a lecturer in the dental and law departments of the University and at the present time holds the title of professor of law and lecturer on equity pleading and practice in the Federal courts. Since graduating Mr. Mercer has been engaged in the general practice of law to which his time has been closely applied. At the present time he is a member of the firm of Wilson, Mercer, Holsinger, Swan and Ware, with offices in the Security Bank building. In politics Mr. Mercer is a Republican. He is now president of the Minnesota Employes' Compensation Commission, a non-partisan state commission serving without salary, preparing a code for workmen's compensation for injuries received by accident in the course of employment. Mr. Mercer was not the originator of the movement for compensation but was the first in this part of the country and throughout the United States to start plans for the co-operation of, and to attempt to get labor and capital to work jointly for uniform legislation on the question; this he did after being appointed by the State Bar association to draft a bill for the Minnesota legislature and found that there was insufficient information then obtainable and that the joint interests required joint action. Through the efforts of the Bar association, the Minnesota Employers association, and the labor unions the legislature passed laws to get additional data, and requiring the appointment of a commission to study the subject and report a proper bill to the next legislature. The movement which was thus started in this part of the country was taken up by Mr. Gompers and Mr. Mitchell, the National Civic Federation and others. As chairman of the Minnesota Commission, and on the initiative of that Commission, Mr. Mercer called the first convention of members of similar commissions from other states and others at Atlantic City last July, Mr. Mercer being elected secretary of the convention. His argument on the constitutionality of such legislation, made at the Atlantic City conference, is the most extensive on the subject. At the request of one of the labor leaders this argument has been reprinted as a pamphlet by the judiciary committee of Congress and it has been in great demand throughout the country by libraries and professional and business men. Mr. Mercer is a member of the Minneapolis club, Commercial club, Minikahda club, University club, Minnesota State Bar Association, Executive Committee for three or four years and has been a member of various committees; he is vice-president of the Minneapolis Bar Association; has been twice vice-president for Minnesota of the National Bar Association; is affiliated with the Christian church. August 18th, 1904, he married Edith Huling Crawford. They have one child, Caroline Gaston Mercer.

MERRILL, George Coston, president of the Merrill Abstract Co., was born in Manchester, Scott county, Illinois, and is the son of Joseph Winthrop and Anna E. Merrill. His father, who was a noted horticulturist, removed to Cook county, Illinois, residing in Chicago and suburbs of that city where George attended the graded schools and a private academy and studied in the undergraduate course of the University of Chicago. In 1882 he came to Minneapolis, where he began the business of furnishing abstracts of title to realty in Hennepin county, forming the firm of Merrill and Albee. This partnership continued until 1886. For a time he conducted the business in his own name until it increased to such large proportions that he organized the Merrill Abstract Company in 1892, he being president and manager of the organization. In this enterprise he has brought his fine expert knowledge of title examination into most effective action. He studied law in the law school of the University of Minnesota, graduating in 1895 as bachelor of law and was admitted the same year to practice law in Minnesota, taking the degree of master of law in 1896. As a title expert Mr. Merrill has commanded the utmost confidence and this confidence was illustrated by his nomination on the Republican ticket in 1900 under the new primary law, when the friends of that law were desirous that nominees so selected should have special qualifications for the respective offices, for register of deeds of Hennepin county over many competitors, and his election at the polls in November by a very large majority. In 1902 he was re-elected to the same office, and again in 1904. Mr. Merrill cast his first vote for Grant and is a life-long Republican but he has never been an office-seeker, while he may be numbered among those who have the substantial interests of the city at heart. In the spring of 1907 Mr. Merrill became one of the promoters of the Metropolitan State Bank of Minneapolis. He was closely connected with its organization and upon incorporation was elected to fill the office of president, a position for which his varied commercial experience gave him unusual qualifications. He continued at the head of the bank until it was well established, when he withdrew to devote himself to the business of the abstract company. Mr. Merrill is a member of the Commercial club and other organizations interested in civic and material advancement in the city. He was married in 1875 to Miss Alice Swindler and has two children—Alice Reba and Fred Raymond.

MICHENER, Carroll Kinsey, the son of Daniel and Ida Michener, was born near Etna, Minn., August 11th, 1885. Mr. Michener's father is probate judge of Fillmore county. His early education was received in the country schools and in the Spring Valley high school. Mr. Michener graduated from the University in 1907 with the degree of bachelor of arts. While in college he was a member of the athletic board of control, was managing editor of the Minnesota Daily and managing editor of the Minnesota Magazine. Since graduation he has been engaged in newspaper work in the city of Duluth. Mr. Michener is a member of the Masonic order and the Sigma Nu fraternity.

MITCHELL, William DeWitt, the son of

George C. Merrill, Law, '95

William and Frances Merritt Mitchell, was born September 9th, 1874, at Winona, Minn. Mr. Mitchell's father was a justice of the supreme court of Minnesota and had a very high reputation as an unusually able jurist. Mr. Mitchell's preparatory education was received in the Winona public and normal schools and he graduated from Lawrenceville, N. J. in 1891; was a member of the Sheffield Scientific School class of 1894 and completed his academic training in the University, graduating with the class of 1895 and took his law degree the following year, 1896. Mr. Mitchell was in the office of Stringer and Seymour of St. Paul, from 1896 to 1898 and during 1899-00 practiced law by himself. In 1901 he became a member of the firm of Palmer, Beck and Mitchell and in 1902 of the firm of How,

Taylor and Mitchell and in 1905 How, Butler, and Mitchell and has practiced as a member of that firm to this day. Mr. Mitchell was a member of the 15th Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, 1898-9 and was second lieutenant of Co. B. Mr. Mitchell is a member of the Minnesota club, Town and Country club, White Bear Yacht club and is affiliated with the House of Hope, Presbyterian. Mr. Mitchell was married June 27th, 1901 to Gertrude Bancroft. They have two children, William and Bancroft, aged six and four respectively.

later with C. J. Traxler. Mr. Moe organized the Sageng Threshing Machine Co., in the fall of 1908 assuming full charge of the financing of the company, and continues as its secretary and attorney. Mr. Moe is a member of the Odin club, Midway Commercial club, and the St. Paul Automobile club.

Herman Moe, Law '09

James E. Moore, Professor of Surgery

MOE, Herman, the son of Ole and Anna Moe, was born on a farm December 3rd, 1884, at Molde, Norway. The family came to America when Mr. Moe was six years of age and located at Bisbee, N. D. His early education was received in the school at Bisbee where he lived until 1896. Later he took a course in business at the Crookston College, 1901-2; spent one year at the Fargo Agricultural college, 1902-3; attended the college department of Augsburg Seminary, 1903-6; and entered the University in the fall of 1906 graduating from the night law class in 1909 with the degree of bachelor of laws. While working for his father on the farm he studied stenography and did stenographic work while taking his law course at the University, being employed the greater part of the three years in the law offices of L. Arctander and 1852, and is the son of the Rev. George Moore and of Margaret J. Moore. Dr. Moore has the distinction of being the first specialist in surgery west of New York City—beginning 1888—and he has now an established position of authority in his own line among his northwestern associates in the profession of surgery. Dr. Moore's early education was that which the public schools of various Pennsylvania cities could give him in the usual journeyings of a Methodist pastor. As he grew older, he was sent to Union Seminary, Poland, Ohio, and to the University of Michigan. He graduated from Bellevue Hospital Medical College in 1873, took a course at the New York Polyclinic, and spent 1885-86 at Berlin. His first practice was a country one at Emlenton, Venango county, Pennsylvania. Coming in 1882 to Minneapolis, it was not until after his Berlin study that he began to call attention to his work as a surgeon. In the past twenty years his skill has brought him into general demand in the West and Northwest, and insured him national recognition, as witnessed by the associate honors which have come to him. Beside the offices first mentioned Dr. Moore is now the only living American Honorary Fellow of the American Orthopedic Association, Fellow of the American Surgical Association and is ex-president of the Western Surgical and Gynecological association and ex-chairman of the surgical section of the American Medical Association. He is also the author of Moore's Orthopedic Surgery, published in 1898, and editor of the Department of Surgical Technique of American Surgery for 1906. besides being a contributor to several leading American Medical journals. In politics he is a Republican. As a clubman he belongs to the principal medical clubs of the Northwest and to the Commercial, Minneapolis, Lafayette and Minikahda clubs. He attends the Universalist church. Dr. Moore's first wife died leaving him one daughter, now Mrs. Bessie Moore Forsell of Minneapolis. He was married, in 1887, to Louise C. Irving.

MARSTON, Moses, was born in Williamstown, Vermont, in 1832. He graduated from Middlebury College in 1856, and for many years was a Universalist minister. He was subsequently called to the professorship of Latin and Greek in St. Lawrence University, New York, where he remained several years. About 1874 he was forced to resign his position on account of ill health, and came to Minneapolis, hoping that a change of climate would be beneficial. For a time he preached in the Church of the Redeemer, in Minneapolis, but was soon elected to the professorship of English in the University, which position he filled until his death.

Professor Marston was faithful in the discharge of his duties and won, in rare degree, the sincere esteem of his colleagues and the student body as was demonstrated by their action in creating the scholarship.

A few years later friends and former students of Professor Marston raised a fund of one thousand dollars as a scholarship fund known as the Moses Marston scholarship. The income from this fund is awarded annually to some student in the English department.

MUIR, Edwin S., was born April 23rd, 1871, at Berlin, Minn. He is the son of Walter and Lois Louisa Wheelock Muir. Mr. Muir's father was a farmer and was of Scottish birth and was an officer in the U. S. navy, resigned in 1865. His parents moved to North Dakota in 1880. The schools were first opened at Hunter, N. D., in 1882; these he attended until he went to the Minneapolis Academy from which he graduated in 1890. After taking one year in the scientific course he transferred to the medical department in the fall of 1891 and graduated therefrom in 1894. Later served as interne at St. Anthony Hospital, Minneapolis, for nine months and has pursued numerous courses in post graduate schools and has practiced since graduation in this state, first at Plainview and afterwards at Winona where he moved in 1898.

NIPPERT, Louis Albert, son of the Rev. Louis Nippert, D. D., was born in Bale, Switzerland. His father, now deceased, was formerly president of the Methodist Theological Seminary at Frankfurt on the Main, Germany, and was directly descended from French Huguenots, who, when driven from their fatherland, had emigrated to Alsace. The early years of Dr. Nippert's life were spent in the schools of Switzerland and Germany, and in them he received his elementary education. Preparatory to his college course he took the work in the "gymnasium" at Frankfort on the Main, and the polytechnical high school in Karlsruhe, Germany. He then came to America and entered the Miami Medical College of Cincinnati, Ohio, where he completed his course and was awarded his degree of M. D. in 1883. Immediately after his graduation he received the appointment of house physician in the City Hospital of Cincinnati, and a year later was advanced to the position of senior house physician in the same institution, which office he held until 1885. After leaving the hospital he went to Paris to attend the clinics, and from March PATTEE, WILLIAM SULLIVAN, dean of the College of Law since its organization in 1888, was born September 19, 1846, in Jackson, Me. His father, Daniel Pattee, a merchant, died when William was three years old. The mother, Mary Ann Pattee, remarried five years later and the family moved to a farm, where William worked during the summers and attended school in winter. At 19 he attended Kent's Hill seminary and there fitted for college.

In January, 1868, he entered Bowdoin college as a sophomore, received the junior prize for declamation, and graduated in 1871. He was principal of the high school in Brunswick, Me., at the time of his graduation, and continued to teach there until 1872, when he moved to Lake Forest, Ill., where he was professor of Greek in Lake Forest university (then Ferry hall).

He came to Minnesota in August, 1874, and became superintendent of the public schools at Northfield, which position he occupied until 1878. During all the time since he left Bowdoin college he had occupied every spare hour studying law, with no other teacher than his own discriminating judgment, and in 1878 he was admitted to the Minnesota bar at Faribault. He began practice in Northfield, July, 1878.

In 1884 he was elected to the legislature from Rice county. During his one term of service he was the author of several important measures, one being the law for the incorporation of villages. He won recognition as a careful student of public affairs and as a clear, logical and forceful speaker who always commanded a respectful hearing. In the newspaper files of the period his name often appears in connection with the nomination for attorney general and also for governor.

Leaving the political field, he opened a law office in St. Paul in 1886, remaining in the practice there two years. In 1888 the regents of the University decided to establish a college of law and Mr. Pattee was asked to take charge. He accepted and with characteristic application and orderly energy set to work in building up the institution.

The college was formally opened September 11, 1888, with an address by Dean Pattee before the regents, the faculty and the students of the University. (Twenty-seven students entered the first day and six were added the second day. Before the close of the school year the enrollment was sixty-seven.) During the first year the school was quartered in the basement of the Old Main building. In 1889 an appropriation was secured and a separate building erected for the College of Law, which became popular at once and rapidly grew in attendance and prestige.

In twenty-two years it has grown from these small beginnings until its attendance at the present time is from 500 to 600 each year, giving it rank as the third largest law school of the country and the largest of its age in the world. Its graduates are found in every state and territory west of the Mississippi, and many have won high rank in their profession and in public life.

This remarkable record has been due in a very large measure to the personal qualities of Dean Pattee. His genial and philosophical temperament, his impressive yet pleasing dignity, his broad views and sympathetic understanding of men, his thorough belief in the mission of the school, his unremitting industry, and his watchful attention to every element necessary to the up-building of the institution have been important factors in winning the success that has been attained.

The book published by Dean Pattee in 1909, entitled "The Essential Elements of Law," won wide recognition as a work of great merit. In the Maine Law Review W. E. Waltz says: "It is not often in legal literature that a work of really great merit appears. We are inclined to rank Dean Pattee's book as one of the notable productions of the day." Professor W. W. Fowell, former president of the Minnesota university, in his scholarly review, published in Vol. IX, No. 15, of the Minnesota Alumni Weekly, pays this tribute: "Such in brief and imperfectly sketched are the cardinal points of this notable book, the most important contribution to science or literature by the University up to this time."

In 1887 Dean Pattee was appointed by Gov. A. R. McGill a member of the Normal School board of Minnesota and served for twelve years as its president. In politics he has affiliated with the Republican party and is a member of the Congregational church.

HIS SERVICES TO THE UNIVERSITY.

Rescued the University when its affairs were in a hopeless condition; repeatedly sustained and guided it through many crises which have not only threatened its largest usefulness but its very life; watched over it as a father over an only son; gave to it of his time and thought in unstinted measure; loved and nourished it with the devotion of a mother.

into the milling business in which he had already become interested. His business activities reached to every part of the state and far out into other states and at the time of his death his fortune was approximately two million.

HIS HONORS.

He was elected a member of the city council of St. Anthony and served for six years. Elected to the State Senate in 1863 he served continuously ten years. Appointed a member of the board of regents in November, 1863, he served practically continuously to the day of his death, there was a slight break between the end of his term as governor and his reappointment as regent. Elected governor in 1875, and again in 1877 and 1879, the only governor to serve three terms. In September, 1900, the Pillsbury statue, erected by the alumni, was dedicated.

HIS BENEFICENCES.

1889, built and gave to the University the magnificent science hall, at an expense of $150,000.

TO THE STATE.

Saved the good name of Minnesota by saving the state from repudiating a debt which every principle of honesty demanded should be paid. As a governor his broad-minded, far-sighted, clear-headed administration of public office set a high standard of civic virtue in public service.

TO HUMANITY.

All of the deeds of this unusually active life might be classed under this title. But in addition to the deeds mentioned above it remains to be said—

He lived a righteous life—pure-hearted, clean-handed, broad-minded, sympathetic, yet hard-headed, a plain man of the people. With an ear ever ready to listen to the story of the unfortunate and a hand just as ready to help those needing help, an open hand directed by a clear head, he was every inch a man.

He was a man who had accumulated his wealth not by trampling upon the rights of others, but ever ready to lend a helping hand to others, even his competitors. A man who with all his getting did not forget that there is a better owning than to own, that the giver not the getter, is the true owner.

Democratic to the last degree he hated all display. Of a sympathetic disposition he was yet capable of "a god-like anger," and hated meanness as only a noble nature is capable of hating.

And with it all he retained his simple, child-like faith, that found expression in deeds of kindly ministration such as characterized the life of the Master. It is the record of such a life that explains why eyes long strangers to tears will moisten when the name of Governor Pillsbury is mentioned. Men loved him because he was lovable. His noblest monument is in the hearts of men who cherish the memory of his kindly deeds and generous sympathy.

Such a life makes us think better of mankind and raises the standard of human living to a higher plane. The richest legacy man can leave to man, is the memory of a life lived not alone for self, but for others as well. His true claim to greatness rests upon the great Christian principle, "He that is greatest among you let him be your servant."

At the commencement following the death of Governor Pillsbury, President Northrop made the following address which is given in full.

This is probably the first commencement of the University of Minnesota at which Governor Pillsbury has not been present, and if it is possible for spirits in the other world to revisit the scenes of their earthly labors and interests, I doubt not that he is here with us to-day. None of his many interests in life were closer to his heart than the University and for none did he labor with more unselfish devotion.

It is eminently appropriate, therefore, that on this first commencement since his death, we should specially remember him with memorial exercises. We can express but feebly at best our sense of bereavement and loss. Some things are beyond expression. Some feelings are too deep for utterance. Some experiences are too sacred to be told. No words can express the sorrow we feel when one dear to us has been taken from us forever. That sorrow is not a single sharp pang however acute that pierces us, but once past does not return. It is an ever recurring pain that breaks in upon our daily enjoyment, that interrupts our most engrossing activities, and that is sure to visit us with paralyzing longings in the silent watches of the night. Time does indeed dull somewhat the sharpness of the pain, but no lapse of time can give security that it will not return. Once stricken by such a sorrow we never are and never can be quite the same persons we were before. Our horizon may shut in much that is delightful and fitted to give us joy, but something that was most dear to us has gone forever, and nothing else can supply its place or wipe out our sense of loss. With bowed heads and a new consciousness of the insecurity of all things earthly, we go our accustomed round of duty, sorely smitten with the thought that the lost one can never again share with us the interests of life, and that the only possibility of meeting him again, is for us in turn to pass through the veil which separates time from eternity.

I have no wish to make a careful analysis of the powers or characteristics of our departed friend. I choose rather to speak of him as he presented himself to the world. What did he do? Why did he do it? These questions interest us far more than inquiries into the quality of the mental powers God had given him, or the relative degree of control exercised over him by the reason or the imagination. He was not a great orator. He was not a poet. He was not a philosopher. He was not an artist. He was a man. We need not trouble ourselves to construct a chart of his brain, nor to locate in the sensorium the powers that made him effective in life. With marvelous judgment and common sense he raised himself from an ordinary business man to a statesman nobly meeting the needs of the Commonwealth and as governor guiding the state away from the path of dishonor and dishonesty to that of honor and good faith. He read much and thought deeply, and from being a very diffident and ineffective speaker he came to such power as was necessary to interest, convince and persuade his fellow citizens.

He had never received a collegiate training himself, yet no man placed a higher value upon such training and no member of the board of regents had higher ideals of what the educational standard of the University ought to be. He was a firm believer in the desirableness of collegiate training as a preparation for professional study and he has many times advocated requiring a full University course as a preparation for the study of medicine. Unlike many self-made men, his consciousness of great natural powers did not lead him to despise study and culture; but on the contrary, it made him feel as a man of less intellect could not, how much the natural powers can be aided and strengthened by the training and discipline of the college. He lacked entirely the self-satisfaction and self-conceit so often characteristic of smaller self-made men.

The first time I ever saw Governor Pillsbury was in 1884, when with three other members of the board of regents he called at my house in New Haven to invite me to take the presidency of the University of Minnesota. In reply to his statement of the wishes of the regents I said at once, 'I do not think I am the man you want.' I can see now plainly as I saw eighteen years ago the gentle smile on his face, as he listened to my remark, the same kind of smile that rested on his face in the last interview that I ever had with him. I could not then interpret it. By the light of these years of experience with him I can now interpret it. I had not the slightest intention to accept the offer, and not the slightest idea that I could be induced to accept. His smile meant, 'We will see. Perhaps you will change your mind.' And I did—That I ever came to Minnesota is due solely to his persistent determination that I should come, to his careful arrangement of all things to attract me, to his patient removal of obstacles, one after another, with a faith in the future of the University that was beautiful to see, and with a faith in me for which I can never be too grateful, a faith that so far as I know was never diminished, and which I can sincerely say I have done my best to justify. And from the moment of my acceptance of the office till he was shut in by his last illness, there was never a question relating to the University on which we were divided in opinion, and never a measure for the advancement of the University for which we were not ready to work as with one mind and heart. There were years when no one really knew much about the financial condition of the University except Governor Pillsbury, and he apparently carried all the details in his own mind and memory. As chairman of the executive committee he practically decided all requisitions and approved of all bills. The details of land grants, the state legislation affecting these grants, the location of the lands selected, the contracts made for sale of land or timber, the purchase of a farm for the agricultural department, the subsequent sale of this farm as city lots, and the purchase of the present admirable farm at St. Anthony Park, the management of the revenues from Salt Spring lands and the payment therewith of the expenses of the geological survey, the purchase of coal, the putting down of walks and sidewalks, the planting of trees, the covering of the sandy campus with loam, the defense before the legislature of the unity of the University holding all parts of the institution together, the securing of appropriations to meet the current expenses of the University, and still more the securing of appropriations from the legislature for the many buildings made necessary by a most unexpected rapid growth, the erection of one noble building at his own expense when the state failed to grant the needed appropriation, the oversight of building contracts, and contracts for heating and lighting and for equipment of every kind, the appointment of professors and instructors, and janitors and firemen, to which he gave as careful attention as if he were hiring for himself; these are some of the things which this great man attended to, while at the same time he was carrying on the greatest interest in the Northwest. Loaded down as he thus was always with cares and duties and responsibilities and during some part of the time with the most painful anxieties and sorrows, there was never a time when his interest and attention were not responsive to any call I might make for the consideration of matters affecting the welfare of the University. Such devotion to a public interest so unflinchingly responsive, so absolutely unselfish, so uniformly intelligent and so unvaryingly beneficent in its results I have never known in any other man connected with any institution, whether as member of the board of trustees or of the faculty.

For more than seventeen years I have lived with him, worked with him, counseled with him, rejoiced with him, and sorrowed with him. I have seen him go to his daily toil and return to his home at noon and at night. I have seen as the years went on the gray gathering on his face, and his step growing less elastic. But I did not think the end would come so soon. And as each morning now I look from my home across the street to his old home, I can not yet realize that he has gone and that I shall see his face no more. 'I can not make him dead.'

Governor Pillsbury did many an act of kindness, the memory of which is cherished by the grateful recipient of his bounty; he aided munificently many enterprises for which the world is richer and better; he made large donations for the comfort of the aged and feeble, the young and helpless, the poor and struggling; and the great purposes which he had in mind were not all completed, when he was called away sooner than either he or we had expected. But his greatest monument is the University of Minnesota, which was so dear to his heart, and for which he gave so generously of his time and strength and means, and his memory as a noble benefactor and friend will be cherished outside of his family circle longest by the students and graduates and faculty of the University, which owes its existence and prosperity in large measure to him. I can not close these services more fitly or more in harmony with your feelings than by saying to our departed friend, dear Governor Pillsbury, kind-hearted, great-souled Father of the University, farewell!

and received the degree of doctor of medicine in 1896, doing regular work in the dispensary of the City hospital during his last year. In June 1896 he located at Waseca, Minn., but on the solicitation of the people at Morristown, Minn., moved there in December and was known as "Der Deutsche Arzt," there being so many Germans in and about that place. In 1900 he moved to Minneapolis after doing graduate work in the New York Post-graduate school and the Sloane Maternity hospital. He took up work at the Hamline Medical college, acting as secretary and treasurer of the dispen-

POEHLER, Franklin T., was born in 1872 at Henderson, Minn. He is the son of Frederick and Pauline Poehler. Both his parents reached Minnesota from Germany just before the Sioux outbreak and spent most of the next two years crossing and recrossing the Minnesota river to avoid Little Crow and his followers. His father died in 1881. Mr. Poehler spent his early life on the Minnesota river at or about Henderson, then a steamboat town for the Minnesota river which in the early days was used for traffic. He went through the public schools and graduated from the high school at the age of seventeen. In the fall of 1889 he entered the state University, receiving the degree of bachelor of science in 1893. In the fall of the same year he entered the medical department sary, professor of diseases of the chest, instructor in physical diagnosis and giving clinics in medicine. He is president of the Minneapolis Tennis association which holds open tournaments for all players in Minneapolis; a member of the Hennepin County Medical society, the State Medical society, American Medical association and the Sigma Chi fraternity and is also a member of the men's club of the Church of the Redeemer. He was married in 1905 to Miss Harriet Wildes, formerly of Mankato, and now resides at 2433 Garfield avenue south, Minneapolis.

POEHLER, Walter Charles, the son of Henry and Elizabeth Poehler, was born at Henderson, Minn. in 1874; his father is of German descent and his mother of Pennsylvania

Dutch. The family lived at Henderson until 1890 where the father was engaged in the grain and mercantile business. Mr. Poehler graduated from the Henderson high school in 1890 and entered the University the same fall completing his course at the University in 1894 with the degree of bachelor of literature. From 1894 to 1897 he was in the employ of the H. Poehler Co., in Minneapolis; in April 1897 he removed to Eureka, S. D. to become cashier of the German bank where he remained until the spring of 1899, returning to Minneapolis to among the Welsh followers of William Penn and settled in Brandywine as early as 1697. His early life was spent at or around Mankato, Minn., attending the country and grade schools; he spent three years pursuing the preparatory course at Hamline, 1880 to 1883, and received the degree of bachelor of laws in 1898, and master of laws in 1900, from the law department of the University of Minnesota. Mr. Powell left school at the age of eighteen and learned first, boiler-making and then pipe-fitting, following the latter occupation until 1896 when he entered become a member of the H. Poehler Co. In July 1902 Mr. Poehler moved to Duluth to become manager of the Duluth office of the H. Poehler Co., a position he has held from that date. Mr. Poehler is a member of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, Duluth Board of Trade, Sigma Chi fraternity, Masonic order, Kichi Gammi club, Duluth Commercial club, Duluth Boat club, Country club, Curling club, and attends the Episcopal church. He was married August, 1899 to Isabel H. Davis, U. of M. '98. They have two children, Elizabeth and Emma.

POWELL, Ransom J., was born March 14th, 1865 at Pine Island, Minn. and is the son of John W. and Rhoda B. Powell; his father was a Methodist preacher. Mr. Powell is a descendant of Joseph Powell who was the law department. Since graduation he has been engaged as lecturer in the law department and in the general practice of law. He is an Independent in politics and for several years was a member of Co. F, second regiment of the Minnesota National Guards; he was married October 29th, 1891 to Abbie R. Davis. They have one son, Kenneth.

PRENDERGAST, Edmund A., born in St. Paul, Minn., October 16th, 1874. After completing seven years college course entered University of Minnesota, law department and was graduated June, 1898. After general practice of law became attorney for the Northwestern Telephone Exchange Company. Is now general counsel of that company and subsidiary Bell Telephone companies. Of Irish ancestry on both sides and Roman Catholic religion.

PURDY, Milton D., was born on the 3rd day of November, 1866 at the town of Mogadore, Summit Co., Ohio. His father's name was Milton C. Purdy and his mother's, Sarah Jane (Hall) Purdy. Little is known of his immediate ancestors, except that they came from western New York and southern Canada and settled in Ohio in the early part of the last century.

In 1869, Judge Purdy's parents moved from Mogadore to Akron where his father built the first match factory in that city. A year later, his father, together with his family, moved to Whithall, Green Co., Ill., where for many years he was engaged in the manufacture of stoneware. It was here that Judge Purdy received his common school education and was graduated from the high school of Whitehall in 1884. During these years Judge Purdy learned the potter's trade, at which occupation he worked during the summer months in his father's factory. After graduating from the high school in 1884, he taught school for two years,—the first year at the town of Patterson in Green county, and the second year as principal of the grammar department in the public schools of Whitehall.

In the summer of 1886, being then nineteen years of age, he determined to go to college and selected the University of Minnesota as the institution at which he would pursue his studies. He came to Minneapolis in August, 1886 and entered as a sub-freshman taking the classical course. In 1891 he was graduated from the University of Minnesota, receiving his degree as B. A., and the following year he was graduated from the college of law of the University of Minnesota, having taken his junior law during the senior year at the University.

In January 1893 he was appointed assistant city attorney under Judge David F. Simpson who was at that time city attorney of Minneapolis. This position he held until the 1st of January, 1897 when he was appointed first assistant county attorney of Hennepin county. He remained in this position until October, 1898 when he was appointed first assistant United States district court attorney for Minnesota. He served as assistant district attorney until September, 1901 when a vacancy occurred in the office of the district attorney, by reason of the death of Robert G. Evans, whereupon Judge Purdy was appointed by Judge Lochren, then the United States district judge, to the position of United States district attorney for Minnesota. This position he held until the 1st of June, 1902, during which time the Northern Securities case was instituted by the Government and Judge Purdy was called to Washington to confer with Mr. Knox who was at that time Attorney General of the United States. This was the beginning of an acquaintance which subsequently resulted in Mr. Purdy's being appointed assistant attorney general at Washington.

In February, 1903, after having been in private practice for about eight months, Mr. Purdy was called to Washington and offered the position of Assistant Attorney General which he accepted, and entered upon the performance of his duties on the 1st of April the same year. He continued as Assistant Attorney General during the remainder of Mr. Knox's administration as Attorney General and through the administration of Attorney General Moody.

In July 1905, he was promoted by the President to the position of assistant to the Attorney General, and in this position, he had direct charge of all suits and prosecutions instituted by the Government under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act and the Interstate Commerce Law. During this time he was especially commissioned by the President to investigate and report the Brownsville Shooting Affray and was called upon to argue many important cases before the Supreme Court of the United States, among which may be mentioned the Union Bridge case, the Armour Packing case, the Public Clearing House case and the Chesbrough and Thomas cases.

In July, 1908, a vacancy having occurred on the Federal Bench in Minnesota through the retirement of Judge Lochren, Mr. Purdy was appointed by President Roosevelt as United States Judge for the District of Minnesota. In May, 1909 he resigned from the Federal Bench and in October of the same year, accepted the position of General Counsel of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company, which position he at present holds.

Frank E. Reed, '02, Law '04

While at the University of Minnesota he became a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and is a member of the Minneapolis and Minikahda clubs.

On the 28th of January, 1893, he was married at Albert Lea, Minn., to Miss Belle Morin, who was a member of his class of 1891 at the University of Minnesota. He has one daughter, Florence.

REED, Frank E., was born at Glencoe, Minn., June 19th, 1880, and is the son of Axel H. and Antcinette M. Reed. Mr. Reed's early life was spent at Glencoe where he received his schooling; he graduated from the University with the degree of bachelor of arts in 1902 and with the degree of bachelor of laws in 1904. He was graduate manager of athletics of the University from 1904-07 inclusive. Mr. Reed entered the practice of law at Minneapolis, Minn., in 1904 and became associated with S. A. Reed under the firm name of Reed & Reed which continued until the death of S. A. Reed, June 1st, 1908. He is a Republican and a member of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and the legal fraternity of Phi Delta Phi when in college and is affiliated with the Congregational church.

REES, Soren P., physician and instructor in physical diagnosis and clinical medicine, was born in Denmark, September 27th, 1870. He is the son of Peter Nelson Rees, a Danish farmer, and his earliest schooling was had in the common schools of Denmark. Coming to America with his parents while a child, the family settled in Minnesota. Here Dr. Rees completed his common and high school course, graduating from the Stillwater high school, and taking his college and medical training at the University of Minnesota. In 1895 he received his degree of bachelor of science, and was also honored by election to membership in Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. Rees was editor-in-chief of the 1895 Gopher and during his medical course acted as instructor in histology and embryology. Immediately after receiving his diploma in medicine he became resident physician for a year at St. Barnabas hospital. The next three years were spent in general practice at Anoka, Minnesota. In 1901 Dr. Rees returned to Minneapolis to become associated with Dr. J. W. Bell, in which connection he has made himself recognized during the past seven years as one of the actively progressive men of his profession. He belongs to the county, state and national medical societies and to the Minnesota Academy of Medicine. In politics he is a Republican, taking an earnest and active interest in all civic reforms. But he is specially interested in the work and advancement of the University and has been one of the most loyal of the alumni; he was the chief mover in putting the General Alumni association upon an efficient working basis by collecting funds to enable the board of directors to employ a paid secretary to devote his whole time to the work of the association. He has been one of the two medical representatives on the board of directors since the organization of the association and has been a consistent and enthusiastic supporter of the work of the association in behalf of the University, ready at any time to devote his energies to doing anything within his power to help along the cause in which he has shown such an intelligent and enthusiastic interest. Dr. Rees attends Trinity Baptist church; he was married on August 3, 1898, to Miss Estelle Crocker, and has one son, Soren Douglas.

RICE, Albert E., was born in Norway, September 24th, 1847. His education was received in the common schools of this state. He joined the Union army at the time of the Civil war as a member of Co. K, 15th Wis. Vol. Inf. Entered the banking business in 1882; president of the Bank of Willmar; vice-president of the Willmar Sash & Door Co. Member of the Minnesota house of representatives from Hennepin county, 1870; member of the State senate from Kandiyohi county, 1874-86, except one term; lieutenant-governor of Minnesota, 1886-91; member of the Board of Regents, Minnesota State University, president Farmers' Board of Institutes. Married at Willmar, Minn., 1877, to Miss Sophia L. Brattlund.

*RICHARDSON, Dr. Oscar Kelsey, the son of Calvin C. and Frances Kelsey Richardson, was born at Waitsfield, Vermont, December 19th, 1867. He is the descendant of a long line of New England Richardsons. Mr. Richardson came to Minneapolis with his parents in 1878 and attended the public schools and entered the sub-freshman department of the University. During his college course he worked to pay his expenses. In 1890 he received the degree of bachelor of science and three years later graduated from the college of homeopathic medicine and surgery. Immediately after graduation he entered a general practice of medicine in Minneapolis. For many years he was a member of the homeopathic medical staff of the City hospital; was an instructor in the homeopathic college at the University, lecturer on life insurance examination and medical economics, and was later made clinical professor of internal medicine. Dr. Richardson, while always interested in good government and always ready to work for the same, was never a politician; he was identified with the Republican party. From the date of the organization of the General Alumni association to the date of his death, December 10th, 1909, Dr. Richardson was one of the two directors representing the college of homeopathic medicine and surgery on the board of directors, and for three years he was vice-president of the board. Dr. Richardson was a man of the highest ideals and one of the most enthusiastic workers in his chosen line of work. It was largely due to his efforts that the legislature at the session of 1909 appropriated fifty thousand dollars for a building for that college.

His personal characteristics were absolute squareness, kindness and ardent devotion to the duties next at hand. He was a 33rd degree Mason. For many years he was a member and medical examiner for the K. O. T. M. and Royal League and its fellowship Association, and was a regular attendant of the Church of the Redeemer. May 19th, 1898 he married Florence A. Amidon, of Sturgis, Michigan. They had one daughter, Dorothy Amidon, born August 6th, 1900.

Dr. Richardson has been a member of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association from the date of the organization of the association as a representative of the college of homeopathic medicine and surgery, and for the past three years has been vice president of the association. In view of these years of faithful service it is fitting that we should at this, the first meeting of the board since his death, express our appreciation of him as a man and as a fellow worker, therefore—"Be it resolved, that we, members of the board of directors of the General Alumni Association, hereby express our sincere sorrow at the death of Dr. Richardson. In his death we have lost a friend and fellow worker whose loyalty to the cause we represent and whose zeal in promoting its interests have won our unqualified admiration.

"Resolved that we extend to his bereaved wife and daughter our sincere sympathy in this the time of their great sorrow and that a communication be sent to Mrs. Richardson in behalf of the board, by its officers, expressing our deepest sympathy with her and our heartfelt appreciation of what Dr. Richardson was and what he

RIORDAN, Philip James, was born October 24th, 1870, at Solomon, Kansas, and is the son of John and Honoria Riordan; his father was a farmer. His early schooling was received at Solomon, Kansas in the district, and public schools and his college course was taken at St. Mary's Jesuit College, Kansas. Mr. Riordan graduated from the University department of law in 1899 and has been engaged in active practice of his profession at Minneapolis, Minn., since that date. He was the nominee of the Democratic party for county attorney of Hennepin county in 1906; is affiliated with the Catholic Church; was married to Mesa A. Barns of St. Paul, May 8th, 1907. Mrs. Riordan died February 15th, 1908.

RITCHIE, Harry Parks, was born March 2nd, 1873 at Wellington, Kansas and is the son of Parks and Emma Ritchie; his father, Parks Ritchie, was for ten years dean of the medical college of the University of Minnesota and has been a professor in that college from its very beginning. The family came to St. Paul in 1881 and Mr. Ritchie attended the public schools of that city, graduating from the high school in 1890 having been president of his class during the junior and senior years. After graduating from the high school Mr. Ritchie attended the Yale Sheffield Scientific School where he received the degree of bachelor of philosophy in 1893 pursuing a special course with Professor Chittenden in Physiological chemistry. His medical training was received in the University of Minnesota where he graduated with the degree of doctor of medicine in 1896. During three years of his college course he was assistant to Dr. R. O. Beard in Physiological chemistry. After graduating Dr. Ritchie spent one year as interne at the C. and C. Hospital of St. Paul and has taken numerous trips since that time for the purpose of pursuing advanced work. Since 1897 Dr. Ritchie has been engaged in the general practice of medicine and surgery in St. Paul and for eleven years has been associated with Dr. Archibald McLaren. During the Spanish American war Dr. Ritchie was assistant surgeon of the 13th Minnesota Volunteers during its service in the Philippines in 1898 and 1899 and was in a number of engagements; is a member of the American Medical Association; Western Surgical Association; American Academy of Medicine; Association of Railway Surgeons; Minnesota State Medical Association; Minnesota Academy of Medicine; Ramsey County Medical Association; Minnesota club; Commercial club; Town and Country club and the House of Hope Presbyterian church, St. Paul. He was married in 1902 to Miss Elizabeth G. Winter of St. Paul. They have three children, Elizabeth Louise, aged seven; Wallace Parks, aged four and Edwin Winter, aged two.

RITCHIE, Parks, was born December 15th, 1845, at Bainbridge, Indiana and is the son of James and Hannah Ritchie; his father was a Presbyterian minister. He is of Scotch-Irish descent, his ancestors coming from North of Ireland about 1760. Dr. Ritchie's early life was spent in Indiana; he attended private schools and the Franklin Academy, at Franklin, Indiana, and received his degree of doctor of medicine from the Ohio Medical College at Cincinnati, in 1870. For forty years he has been engaged in active general practice of medicine. For the past twenty-three years he has taught the subject of obstetrics in medical schools in this state. In 1864 he enlisted as a private in the Civil War, Co. 1. 132 Indiana Volunteers. Dr. Ritchie is a Republican; has been coroner of a county and mayor of a city, and is professor and chief of the department of obstetrics in the medical college of the University. He was Dean of the medical college for nine years, resigning in 1907; he is an ex-president of the Minnesota State Medical Society, also of the Minnesota Academy of Medicine, of the American Medical College Association, and of the Ramsey County Medical Society, and is affiliated with the Presbyterian church. He was married to Miss Emma Bates in 1871. They have one son, Dr. H. P. Ritchie of St. Paul. Residence 448 Ashland Ave., St. Paul.

ROBERTS, Oscar Edwin, was born September 8th, 1870 at Cottage Grove, Minn., and is the son of Richard and Anna McChesney Roberts. Dr. Robert's grandfather was of Holland Dutch descent and a soldier in the War of 1812; his mother is of Scotch Irish descent; his early life was spent on a farm. He attended the Hastings high school and the Carleton College and graduated from the college of dentistry of the University of Minnesota in 1900. He is a Republican and a member of the A. F. and

A. M., and is affiliated with the Presbyterian church. He was married January 15th, 1903 to Miss Ethel Raub. They have two daughters, Dorothea, aged six, and Muriel, aged three.

ROBERTS, Horace Willis, was born July 8th, 1877 in Minneapolis; he is the son of William P. and Agnes D. Roberts. The family is of Welsh descent and settled in Pennsylvania about 1697. Mr. Roberts lived in Minneapolis until his enlistment in 1898. He finished the Jefferson graded school and the Central high school and a short course in business college and enlisted June 14th, 1898 and had a hand in the capture of Manila and in the Philippine insurrection. Mr. Roberts is a member of the Loyal Legion; he is a Republican in politics and a member of the Universalist church. He is a member of the Military order of the Loyal Legion, Hennepin Lodge, No. 4, A. F. & A. M., Minneapolis Consistory, No. 2, A. & A. S. R. He was married June 16th, 1909 to Margaret Bevan.

tered the University college of law in the fall of 1899 but was obliged to quit on account of his eyes in 1901. He re-entered in the fall of 1907 and received the degree of bachelor of laws in 1908 and the degree of master of laws in 1909. Mr. Roberts was brought up in a law office. He has been revenue agent preparing and bringing civil and criminal actions and has been practicing in Minneapolis since admission to the bar in June 1908. He was in the office of the city collector of Manila in the spring of 1904 for four months and revenue agent, principally inspection of accounts, 1904 to 1907. He served with company A of the 13th Minnesota, 1898 to 1899 and went to the Philippines as a teacher in 1901 with the first American teachers and taught, or was in charge of, schools in various provinces until he transferred in 1904; he enson of Joseph R. and Rhoda (Hurd) Rockwood. His father was a farmer in his earlier life and later became a clergyman. The farm on which Chelsea J. was born had been settled by his mother's grandfather, Moses Hurd, in 1769. In 1869 the family removed to Garden City, Blue Earth County, Minnesota, arriving in December of that year. Mr. Rockwood attended the common schools and studied in the preparatory department of Carleton College, going thence to the state University, taking the four-year course and graduating in 1879, B. A. Like many other undergraduates, Mr. Rockwood, during his course at the University had to take some reefs in his purse strings. He had only fifty dollars when he entered, and pulled through largely by what he made carrying newspapers. He was then employed as principal of the Le Sueur schools during the next two years, and, after reading law in the offices of Shaw, Levi and Cray and of Judge P. M. Babcock, he was admitted to the bar by examination of the District Court of Hennepin county in November 1882, and has been in general practice of the law in Minneapolis since. graduated from the high school and then entered the University of Minnesota from which he graduated in 1881; then read law in the office of Lochren, McNair & Gilfillan and later with the law firm of Koon, Merrill and Keith. He was admitted to the bar in 1882 and practiced in partnership with Judge Jamison till 1889. He has handled a number of important cases, notably that of the State vs. Pillsbury, in which he upset the provisions of the City Charter relating to special assessments for local improvements; and that of the State vs. Westfall, when he sustained the constitutionality of the Torrens Land Law, of which he himself is the author. Mr. Snyder has always been a Republican in politics and has been elected by that party to several public offices. In 1892 he was elected alderman of the second ward and served four of several important measures—introducing and passing the bill increasing the annual revenue of the state university. While in the senate he introduced and passed the Board of Control Bill and supported and voted for the increase of the gross earnings tax from three to four per cent. He was also the author of the Probation Law for juvenile offenders. Mr. Snyder while in college was elected to the Chi Psi and P. B. K. fraternities, and is a member of the Minneapolis and Commercial clubs. In 1885 he was married to Miss Susan M. Pillsbury, who died in 1891. In 1896 he married Miss Lenora Dickson of Pittsburgh. There are two children, a son, John Pillsbury, and a daughter Mary Stuart.

cated in the Mohawk valley near Albany, N. Y., and for six generations this has been the home of the Van Valkenburg family. It is now occupied by an uncle. His early life was spent at Canby, Minn., where he received his elementary school training and he thereafter graduated from the Mankato Normal school; later completed the academic course at the University in 1894 and the law course in 1895. Before attending the University he taught school for four years as principal of the Granite Falls, Minn. schools. He has practiced law in Minneapolis for the past fourteen years, prior to which he was a city newspaper reporter. In politics he is a Republican; is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity, a Shriner and a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

He is a member of Lowry Hill Congregational church and was married to Luella Grace Jerrems, in January, 1903; they have three children.

VANDER HORCK, Max Posa, a prominent specialist in skin diseases at Minneapolis, Minn., is of German-Dutch descent. His father, Captain John Vander Horck, was a pioneer in the North Star state. He was a native of the city of Eitorf, near Cologne, in Rhenish Prussia, and the son of an officer in the revenue service of that government. Political troubles and the desire to escape compulsory service in the army were the reasons which induced John Vander Horck to emigrate to America in 1852, when twenty-two years of age. He remained a year and one-half in Chicago, then engaged in the hardware business at Galena, Ill. In 1855 he removed to St. Paul, Minn., and shortly after opened a grocery store in West St. Paul. He served as treasurer of the city of West St. Paul in the years 1858-9. In 1862 he was commissioned first lieutenant of Company D, Fifth Minnesota Regiment, which he had raised, and in the following March was promoted to the captaincy. His company garrisoned Fort Abercrombie, on the Red river, and successfully repulsed the attacks of the Indians. In April, 1863, he resigned because of disability, his arm having been shattered by a shot from a sentry at the fort, who mistook him for an Indian. The following June he was appointed a captain in the United States Invalid Corps, afterwards called the Veteran Reserve Corps. He had charge of the general rendezvous at Fort Leavenworth for three years; was inspector general of the District of Kansas for one year, and commissary of the Department of Kansas for six months. Returning to Minnesota he settled in Minneapolis, and was engaged in the hardware business for nine years. During this time he served four years in the office of city comptroller, and for five years in the city council. In 1877 he was appointed post trader at Fort Sisseton, in Dakota territory, and held this position for nine years. Since that time he has resided in Minneapolis, and has been engaged in a variety of manufacturing and other investments. Among other trusts, he was for two years a director of the Flour City National bank. He was also instrumental in maintaining the Minnesota Hospital college, and on its reorganization was appointed its president and served until this college was absorbed by the medical department of the State University. Captain Vander Horck was married on May 6, 1853, to Miss Eliza Zenzius, daughter of Peter Zenzius, a noted teacher. Mrs. Vander Horck died April 8, 1885. To them were born nine children, five of whom died in infancy, and one, a son in his twenty-eighth year. Three sons are now living. Max Posa was the sixth child, and was born in St. Paul August 5th, 1862. He attended the public schools of Minneapolis, and the University through the junior year. Instead of entering the senior class he went east, in the fall of 1882, and began the study of medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City. A year later he went to Philadelphia, where he entered the Jefferson Medical college and completed his course, graduating with honors in March, 1885. He then served as interne in the Blockley hospital, and later in the Jefferson Medical College hospital. Having chosen dermatology as his specialty this training proved of especial value, but in order to more thoroughly equip himself he went to Europe in January, 1886, and spent nearly three years in special study of skin diseases. He matriculated for one year at the University of Berlin, was afterwards for fifteen months at Vienna, and four months at Prague, Bohemia. He also spent some time in traveling through Germany, France, Switzerland and Italy, returning in the fall of 1888 to accept the appointment of professor of dermatology in the medical department of the University. For the first year after his return Dr. Vander Horck was associated with Dr. F. A. Dunsmoor, but since September, 1889, he has practiced alone, confining himself to the practice of diseases of the skin and urinary diseases, in which he has been eminently successful. He has also retained up to this time the professorship already noted, and in addition that of genito-urinary diseases was added to his duties in 1899. He is also consulting dermatologist at Asbury Methodist hospital, St. Barnabas hospital, St.

apolis schools and from the medical college of the University of Minnesota in 1906. He is a Republican and a member of the Moorhead Commercial club, The Clay Becker Medical society and the Nu Sigma Nu Medical fraternity. He was married December 31st, 1908 to Charlotte Granell.

VON KUSTER, Paul Edward, was born December 7th, 1877 in Minneapolis, Minn.; he is the son of Emanuel and Julia Von Kuster. His father was a carpenter and his early life was spent in Minneapolis attending the public

Mary's hospital, Northwestern hospital, and City hospital. He is a member of the American Medical association, the State Medical society, the Minnesota Academy of Medicine and the Hennepin County Medical society. In addition he is a member of the D. K. E. college fraternity, the N. S. N. medical fraternity, and the Minneapolis club. He is also a Mason and an Elk. January 1, 1891, he was married to Emma Curtiss Robb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Robb, of Minneapolis. Three children have been born to them; Viola, aged 18; Karl, aged 16 and Max, aged 14.

VERNE, Victor E., was born March 2nd, 1883 in Minneapolis, Minn.; he is the son of Olof and Emma Bloom Verne. His father is a tailor. Dr. Verne graduated from the Minneschools; he graduated from the law department of the University with the class of 1902 and the following year received the degree of master of laws. Entering the employ of David C. Bell Investment company as office boy at the age of sixteen he is now chief clerk and office manager in said office. Is a Republican in politics, a member of the Commercial, University and Publicity clubs of Minneapolis and is affiliated with the Westminster Presbyterian church. He was married June 21, 1906 to Lora Lee Wilson of Hannibal, Mo., a former student at the University of Minnesota. They have one child, Tom W. Von Kuster.

WARD, DeForrest, the son of Albert Luke and Charlotte Ward, was born at Fairmont, Minn., January 23rd, 1873, where his father is still engaged in the banking and real estate business. Mr. Ward graduated from the Fairmont high school in 1891; attended the academic department of the University for one year and then transferred to the law department graduating with the degree of bachelor of laws in 1894; and has been engaged in the practice of law at Fairmont since graduation. Mr. Ward has been affiliated with the Republican party since 1896, before that time he was a Democrat; was city attorney of Fairmont from 1898 to 1902. Is a member of Knights of Pythias, Masonic order and the Elks; and was Grand Chancellor of the Order of Knights of Pythias for Minnesota, 1908 and 1909. Is a communicant of St. Mark's Episcopal church of Fairmont. Mr. Ward was married June 9th, 1897 to Mary Elizabeth Crowther. They have two children, Charlotte Emily and Albert Luke, Jr.

WASHBURN, Delos Cuyler, the son of Edson D. and Amelia Wells Washburn, was born at Otsego, Wright county, Minn., October 11th, 1868. Both parents came from New York state to Minnesota in 1856 and settled near Monticello, Minn., part of Edson Washburn's place being the original homestead. This branch of the Washburn family descended from one William Washburn who came from Evesham, Eng., to America about 1640 and settled at Hempstead, Long Island. The family has furnished soldiers in the Revolution, War of 1812 and Edson D. was three years in Company E. of the 8th Minnesota, in the Civil War. Amelia Wells Washburn is a descendant of Governor Thomas Welles who came from England to Connecticut in 1635. At the present time both of his parents are living on the homestead near Monticello, Minn. The early life of Mr. Washburn was spent on a farm in Wright county where he attended the country schools and the Monticello high school where he graduated in 1888 at the head of his class. Following this he taught school for one year and by diligent study gained one, that which was then the sub-freshman, entering the University in 1899 and graduating with the degree of bachelor of architecture in 1893. Being obliged to earn his own way through the full course it was necessary to do a large amount of outside work and so his college work was just average in quality, his only notable achievement was the winning of the first prize of $50 and gold medal offered by the Gillette-Herzog Manufacturing company for original design of steel construction. Two years later he entered for a C. E. degree and carried the work to the middle of the spring term when owing to illness he was obliged to drop the work. He was employed in the office of J. T. Fanning during the spare time of his junior and senior years and for six years after graduating. In April 1899 he left Mr. Fanning's employ to take up structural detailing with the St. Paul Foundry company and later with the American Bridge company till August 1900 when he accepted a position on the Lake Superior Power company works at Sault Ste. Marie and was there till the following winter. During the next two years he was assistant engineer in the street department of the Minneapolis City Engineers office, and left this place to accept the position of city engineer of Aberdeen, S. D., where he was from February 1903 to May 1910 when he resigned to take up the consulting practice in municipal engineering, and at the present time is doing a good business in private practice. Mr. Washburn was three years in the Minnesota National Guard in Minneapolis, attaining the rank of lieutenant, and later elected captain of a newly organized company of S. D. national guard at Aberdeen; is a Republican, but one of the free lances, and not bowing to party bosses hence not conspicuous in any office. He was elected county surveyor for several times which position he now holds; is a member of the Masonic lodge; a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers; organizer and secretary of the South Dakota Society of Engineers, member of the American society for municipal improvements and has been a member of the Methodist church since he was fourteen years old, holding official positions in the church for fifteen years or more. Mr. Washburn was married December 25th, 1893 to Gertrude N. Wood of Barton, Vt. They have had four children, two of whom are living, Alice Muriel born January 3rd, 1895, and Harold. D. Cuyler Washburn was the first of his direct branch of the Washburn family to obtain a collegiate degree, his brothers Orson M., and Robert M., and R. J., graduating some years later. Some of the several sons and daughters of Edson D. Washburn were at the University continuously for eighteen years.

WASHBURN, Frederick Leonard, the son of Martha and Nehemiah Washburn, was born April 12th, 1860, at Brookline, Massachusetts. His father was a business man. Mr. Washburn prepared for Harvard at Roxbury Latin School, entering the University in 1878. He received the degree of bachelor of arts from Harvard in 1882, and his master's degree in the same institution in 1895. After obtaining his A. B. Mr. Washburn spent some time abroad, and a year of study at Johns Hopkins University. He left Johns Hopkins to accept a position as instructor of zoology in the University of Michigan, and later was made professor of zoology in the Agricultural college of Oregon, and entomologist of the Experiment Station in the same state. After seven years of service as entomologist he was elected to the chair of biology in the State University of Oregon, and made, by law, state biologist. Since 1903 Prof. Washburn has been professor of entomology in the University of Minnesota, and entomologist to the Minnesota Experiment Station, and, by law of the state this position makes him also state entomologist. He is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the American Society of Naturalists, of the Entomological Society of America, and various other scientific bodies. For two years he has been president of the American Association of Horticultural Inspectors. In 1887 he was married to Frances Wilcox of Minneapolis; they have two children, Martha and Alice. In the early 90's he was engaged in the Ornithological Survey of the state, under Dr. Hatch, who was at that time Ornithologist.

WAY, Charles M., the son of Marshall and Georgiana M. Way, was born at Blue Earth City, Minnesota, March 9th, 1860. His early life was spent on his father's farm in southern Minnesota, and, after attending the state University for three years and a half, he turned his attention to business and soon devoted his energies to the upbuilding of a plant for the manufacture of furniture and bedding and the fruit of his intelligent activities is seen in the extensive establishment of the Minneapolis Bedding Company. Mr. Way has been successful in solving the problem of the proper relations of employer and employed, by promoting confidence between them. He promotes stability of relations by making an annual gift of $1,000, as a nucleus for the purchase of a home, to the oldest employe of the company and many of the men are now enjoying the fruits of this liberality. Advantages are given them in the way of free lectures and in various other ways, and Mr. Way sets a most excellent example of personal interest in the welfare of the employes. He is a Congregationalist in church relations and is a member of the Como Avenue church, of whose Sunday School he has been superintendent for twenty years. Mr. Way has been honored by his denomination by being elected as a corporate member of the American Board of Commissioners for foreign missions and actively identified with the great Layman Missionary Movement. In politics, he is a Prohibitionist and is an active member of that party, and has been nominated many times for different offices in the city and state. He is also one of the advisory committee of the State Anti-Saloon League.

He is a member of the executive committee of the St. Anthony Commercial Club. As president of the Minnesota Furniture Manufacturing Association. Mr. Way has shown himself a strong factor in the making of the progress of the University in 1882, graduating as valedictorian of his class with the degree of bachelor of arts in 1886; and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Since graduating Mr. Webster has been engaged almost continuously in school work beginning in the fall of 1886 at Buffalo, Minn. After teaching a year he gave up that work and entered the medical school. In the spring of the following year he received an appointment to fill out the year in the Rushford schools. Remaining there two years longer, he was called to take charge of the schools of Moorhead, Minneapolis, and to stand among those "makers" is recognized as a most honorable distinction. Mr. Way was married in 1885 to Fannie Kamarar of Blue Earth, Minnesota, and to them have been born three sons, Henry H., Kenneth C., and Milden.

WEBSTER, William Franklin, is the son of William Wallace and Malvina Webster, and was born May 23rd, 1862 at Clearwater, Minn.; his father was a merchant. The family trace their ancestry to John Webster, seventh governor of Connecticut; a direct ancestor fought in the battle of Bunker Hill and his father was a major of the Third Minnesota Volunteers. Mr. Webster's early life was spent in Clearwater working in the store and attending school. At the age of eighteen he came to Minneapolis and entered Minneapolis Academy in 1881 and

Minn.; and at the end of three years in Moorhead, he was appointed principal of the East Minneapolis high school and has been in charge of that school since that time. During the years he has been in charge, this school has become one of the most influential in the Northwest. Mr. Webster has written many articles for magazines and has become known as an unusually effective speaker on educational topics. He is the author of several books on English and in conjunction with Mrs. Alice W. Cooley has written a series of language books for the schools. While Mr. Webster is a Republican by inheritance, he is independent in his voting. He is a member of the Six O'Clock club and has served as its president, also a member of the Saturday Lunch club, both of these organizations having for their object the promotion of a higher citizenship; and is affiliated with the Congregational church. He was married August 3rd, 1890 to Mary Alden Powell, U. of M., '86. They have three children,—Ruth, aged eighteen; Juliet, aged seventeen; and Marian, aged fifteen.

WHITE, Solon Marx, was born at Hokah, Minn., July 16th, 1873; he is the son of Solon C. and Anna C. Armstrong White; his father was a physician. His mother's father was Dr. Thomas Armstrong, a pioneer physician of Wisconsin. Until 1883 the family lived in Hokah, years when he was made assistant and later associate professor in the same department. In 1909 he was made associate professor of medicine and assistant chief of clinic in medicine in the University hospital; he was for nearly ten years pathologist to St. Barnabas and City Hospitals and is a member of the medical staff of the Northwestern Hospital, making a specialty of internal medicine. Dr. White is a member of the American medical association, National Association for Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, American Academy of

Minn., and the three following years at Waterman, Ill., then at Sandwich, Ill. until 1891 at which time Mr. White completed his high school course. Entering the University of Illinois he completed the work required for his B. S. degree in 1894 though his degree was not granted until 1896, delay being due to extended work on thesis which was being carried on while beginning medical work, subject "Bacteria in surgery." Dr. White received his medical degree from Northwestern University in 1897 and served as interne in the Cook County hospital, Chicago, from June 1897 to December 1898. Later he pursued special graduate work in internal medicine and pathology at Vienna, Austria in 1904. Dr. White came to the University as demonstrator in pathology and bacteriology in 1898 holding that position for two years when he was made assistant and later associate professor in the same department. In 1909 he was made associate professor of medicine and assistant chief of clinic in medicine in the University hospital; he was for nearly ten years pathologist to St. Barnabas and City Hospitals and is a member of the medical staff of the Northwestern Hospital, making a specialty of internal medicine. Dr. White is a member of the American medical association, National Association for Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, American Academy of Medicine, Minnesota Academy of Medicine, Hennepin County Medical Society, Minnesota State Medical Association and the Minneapolis Commercial club. He is affiliated with the First Baptist Church. Was married July 25th, 1900 to Sara Miner Abbott. They have three children, Asher Miner Abbott, born in 1901, Anna Elizabeth, born 1903 and Mary Grace, born 1906.

WILLARD, William D., was born December 17th, 1867 at Mankato, Minn.; he is the son of John A., who was a banker and manufacturer. His father came to Minnesota from Oneida county, N. Y. in 1856 and has been prominent in business affairs in this state from that early date. Mr. Willard graduated from the Mankato high school and entered the University in the fall of 1884, graduating from the classical course in 1888. Since graduation he has been engaged in manufacturing and since 1901 has been cashier of the First National bank of Mankato. He is actively connected with a number of the public service and other corporations of Mankato and is a member of the Library Board and affiliated with the Presbyterian church. He was married June 24th, 1890 to Louise A. Robbins of Chester, Vt. They have four children.

WILLIAMS, Milton M., was born at Litchfield, Mich., October 1st, 1848 and is the son of John N. and Susan A. (Halstead) Williams, and has been a resident of Minnesota since 1858, at which time he moved, as a boy, to Wabasha county from Dubuque, Ia. In 1871 he went to St. Paul, where he was engaged in railroad construction work. After living in St. Paul for sixteen years Mr. Williams purchased all of the stock of the Little Falls Water Power company and associated with him others, and improved the water power of that city, giving Little Falls one of the best supplies of power boasted of by any city in the state.

Mr. Williams was actively associated with the water power company until 1903, when he resigned the presidency and disposed of the controlling interests, although still retaining a seat with the board of directors.

Since giving up active interest in the water power company Mr. Williams has been devoting himself to his farm and helping to raise the standard of dairy cattle in his vicinity and has bred many thoroughbreds that have won prizes at fairs and shows.

While Mr. Williams has never held a public office to which any pay was attached, he has been forward in every movement for the bettering of public conditions and has been particularly interested in improving agricultural conditions, in good roads and forestry and since 1903 has served as a member of the forestry board, resigning that office to accept an appointment to the board of regents to succeed S. M. Owen, deceased. Mr. Williams was on the staff of Governor Hubbard as assistant quartermaster with the rank of colonel and has been a member of the Republican state central committee. He was largely instrumental in securing and developing Pine Grove park in Little Falls which is the only city in the state boasting of a large pine tract within the city limits reserved for park purposes.

Mr. Williams is a thirty-second Scottish rite Mason and a Knight Templar, also a member of the Minnesota club since its formation. He was married in 1889 to Miss Florence E. Bennett, of Rochester, N. Y.

WILLIS, John W., is a well-known lawyer residing in the city of St. Paul, Minnesota; he was born in that city July 12, 1854; his primary and high school education were obtained in the public schools and his scholarship was such that he was graduated from the high school with a perfect mark in all subjects. Later he attended the University of Minnesota and Dartmouth College at which latter institution he was graduated in the year 1877. He has since received from Dartmouth the degree of master of arts.

In the year 1892, Mr. Willis was elected one of the Judges of the District Court for the Second Judicial District of Minnesota and served as such during a term of six years. He was not a candidate for re-election but, since the first (1) day of January, 1899, has remained in private life busily engaged in the practice of the legal profession. During his official term, Judge Willis was a candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the state of Minnesota and received 113,000 votes but was defeated. At the close of his judicial term he was the Democratic candidate for Congress in the fourth congressional district. Prior to his elevation to the bench, Mr. Willis served for many years as a member of the State Board of Corrections and Charities. While holding that position he gave attentive study to all the problems of philanthropy and penology and has ever since been considered an expert on subjects thereto relating. Besides his authorship of many essays and other articles appearing in various periodicals, he is the contributor to the new Catholic Encyclopedia of the articles, "Corporation," "Hennepin," "Common Law" and "Minnesota."

Judge Willis is conversant with the Latin, French, Spanish, Italian and German languages and is a constant student of the classics. By virtue of his descent from Revolutionary fighters, he is a member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He is an enthusiastic member of the Order of the Knights of Columbus and was Grand Knight of St. Paul Council, during the year 1908. Judge Willis is widely known as a public speaker and as a writer upon sociological themes.

WILSON, Halsey W., was born at Wilmington, Vt., May 12th, 1868. Until twelve years of age he lived at Greenfield, Mass. Later he attended Beloit College and still later the University for three years. Since leaving the University Mr. Wilson has been engaged in a book and publishing business and is still in that line. He is the originator of the idea of the cumulative book and magazine indexes and the book review digest. Mr. Wilson has built up a publishing business in the line of bibliographical publications that has given his house the reputation of publishing the best book and magazine indexes in the world. He has gathered about him a corps of editors for the most part University graduates who are doing a grade of work to reflect the highest credit upon the University. The leading bibliographical publications founded by Mr. Wilson are, The United States Catalog; The Cumulative Book Index; The Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature; The Book Review Digest; Library Work; Eclectic Library Catalog; Indexes to the Forum and to St. Nicholas; Children's Catalog; Standard Fiction Catalog; The Debater's Handbook Series; and a long line of college texts and handbooks. Mr. Wilson is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and the Masonic Order. In 1895 he married Justina Leavitt.

WILSON, Dr. Louis Blanchard, was born December 22, 1866, being a son of Henry H. and Susan H. Wilson. His early life was spent in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, where he attended the public schools, graduating from the State Normal School at California, Pennsylvania in 1886. While teaching in the biological department of the St. Paul high school in 1889, he began the study of medicine in the college of medicine and surgery of the University, graduating therefrom in 1896. On graduating in medicine he resigned his position in the St. Paul high school and entered the department of pathology and bacteriology of the University, and the state board of health laboratory, where he remained until January 1st, 1905. At this time he became pathologist and director of laboratories at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, Minnesota, though still retaining a position on the University teaching staff as assistant professor of clinical pathology. He is author of numerous technical articles on the pathology and bacteriology of diphtheria, typhoid fever, meningitis, hemorrhagic septicaemia, Rocky Mountain "spotted fever," goiter, cancer, hypernephromata, etc. He was one of the organizers of the Minnesota General Alumni Association and a member of the State Medical Society, American Medical Association, Association of American Pathologists and Bacteriologists, Association of American Anatomists, Association of American Physicians, State National anti-tuberculosis societies, the National Rifle Association and the Alpha Kappa Kappa fraternity. He was married August 26th, 1891 to Mary E. Stapleton of St. Paul. They have two children, Alice and Carroll.

WINCHELL, Newton Horace, the son of Horace and Caroline McAllister Winchell, was born on a farm in northeast Dutchess county, New York, December 17th, 1839. Mr. Winchell is a descendent of Robert Winchell who settled in Massachusetts near Boston in the seventeenth century. At the age of sixteen Mr. Winchell began teaching. He removed to Ann Arbor, Michigan in 1857 and continued his teaching and entered the freshman class of the University of Michigan in 1858. His college course was interrupted by teaching and he did not graduate until 1866 after he had been appointed superintendent of schools at Adrian, Mich., where he had a corps of thirty-three subordinate teachers. Although he pursued the classical course in the University, Professor Winchell made a specialty of chemistry and geology. Resigning his position at Adrian he became assistant on the geological survey of Michigan and subsequently on that of Ohio, the former with his brother, Alexander Winchell and the latter with Newberry. His Ohio reports are in volume 11 of the final report. Professor Winchell was appointed state geologist of Minnesota in 1872 and in 1873 was elected professor of geology and mineralogy in the University. In 1878 he was specially assigned to conduct the geological and natural history survey and to build up the museum. These charges he held till the completion of the geological part of the survey in 1900, and these are his chief contributions to the University, to which he gave the work of twenty-eight years. His reports are widely known and his scientific papers are numerous, the most technical being "Elements of optical mineralogy" in co-authorship with his son, Alexander N. Winchell in 1909.

His final report on the geological survey of Minnesota is a work of six quarto volumes. It was preceded and accompanied by twenty-four annual reports and ten bulletins. His survey was the first, and is the only, state survey ever begun, carried on and completed under one administration, and was the first state survey entrusted by the legislature to a state university.

When the Civil War broke out, along with other students of the University of Michigan he joined the regiments that were being raised, his being the First Michigan, but his services went no further than the recruiting camp where he acted as drillmaster and lieutenant. Taken with typhoid fever he withdrew and continued his studies at the University.

Professor Winchell established and edited for eighteen years the "American Geologist" now consolidated with "Economic Geology." He was one of the founders of the "Minnesota Academy of Science" and has thrice been its president; was the proposer and one of the founders of the "Geological Society of America" and in 1892 was its president; is a member of numerous American and foreign scientific societies, and is now engaged on a report of the aborigines of Minnesota for the State Historical society. Professor Winchell is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, New York Academy of Science, Wisconsin Academy of Science, Minnesota Academy of Science, Société de Mineralogie Francaise, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Geological Society of America, Executive Council of the Minnesota Historical society, Buffalo Society of Natural History, Société Geologique de Belge, National Geographic society, American Anthropological association, International Congress of Geologists, Lake Superior Mining Institute, Washington Academy of Science, Seismological Society of America, Wisconsin Archeological society, Mississippi Valley Historical association, Davenport Academy of Science and the Sigma Xi fraternity. Professor Winchell is affiliated with the Methodist Church, and was married in 1864 to Miss Charlotte S. Imus. They have five children, Horace V., Ima C., Avis, Alexander N., and Louise.

WOODS, Albert F., dean and director of the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, was born at Bonus Prairie, near Belvidere, Illinois, December 25th, 1866. His father, Col. F. M. Woods, now the well-known live stock auctioneer, was born on the same farm in the early days of Illinois' history. Col. Woods' interest in live stock led him to leave the old farm and move to a larger one near Downer's Grove, Illinois where Albert, his oldest son, received his high school education, and where, on the large stock farm, he gained an acquaintance with stock and agricultural processes. In 1885 Col. Woods moved to Nebraska where he was largely interested in stock and Albert and his brother concluded to spend a couple of years giving their entire attention to the stock business. They went out with the herds and lived the life of cowboys for a couple of years. After that time they concluded to accept the advice of their father and entered the University of Nebraska.

Albert Woods gave special attention to biological sciences, botany, zoology, physiology, and to chemistry, geology, horticulture, and agriculture. He also strengthened the scientific studies with languages and literature. He stayed out one year during the university course and taught a country school, returning and making up the year, graduating with his original class in 1890.

Shortly after graduating he was appointed assistant botanist and worked with Dr. Bessey until February 1894. About that time he received an offer of a position as physiologist in the botanical department of the University of Minnesota, which he declined for the position of assistant chief of the division of physiology and pathology of the United States department of agriculture, to which position he was appointed by Secretary Morton in February 1894. At that time the botanical and plant work of the department of agriculture was divided into a large number of divisions with a total appropriation of only a few thousand dollars and a small corps of scientists. Mr. Woods was one of the leaders in the reorganization of the plant work of the department, combining and correlating the various branches into what finally became the bureau of plant industry, the most efficient and largest organization of its kind in the world, having fourteen hundred employees, about eight hundred of whom are scientists, divided into forty divisions, representing every phase of scientific and practical relation of plants to agriculture, and with an annual appropriation from the government of nearly a million and one-half dollars and from outside sources of nearly half as much more.

Mr. Woods was one of the committee which organized the extension work and the farm management work in the bureau of plant industry, two branches which have done important work in revolutionizing the agricultural work in the south. A correct estimate of the value of the work accomplished by this bureau during the twelve years of Secretary Wilson's administration, shows on a conservative basis, an annual return to the country for the work accomplished of over three hundred million dollars. The work of the bureau was organized in the most systematic manner, in the form of projects, showing the exact nature and cost of every item of work carried on by the bureau and a complete history of every investigation from the beginning to its close. This material was all filed so that upon a moment's notice any committee from Congress or any official or individual interested, could be shown exactly what was being expended for their line of work and what was being accomplished by the expenditure. Mr. Woods has himself conducted many important investigations for the government and published a great many reports bearing upon the diseases of plants, upon soil fertility and conservation, upon the avoidance of waste on the farm and other subjects of interest to agriculture.

He has been assistant chief and pathologist and physiologist of the bureau of plant industry since its organization and left that position to accept the position of dean and director of the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota.

He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Sciences, a member of the Botanical Society of America, the Biological Society of Washington, The Botanical Society of Germany, the Society of Morphology and Physiology, the Washington Academy of Sciences, the Cosmos club, the American Breeders' association, and other scientific and agricultural organizations. He was appointed by President Roosevelt to represent the United States in the founding of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome in 1905. This institute was organized successfully and promises to be a great aid in the development of the world's agriculture. During the same year he was appointed to represent the United States at the International Botanical Congress at Vienna.

He married Bertha Gerneaux Davis, the well-known writer of short stories, in 1898 and has one child.

WRIGHT, Franklin Randolph, was born at Canton, Fulton county, Illinois, June 15th, 1866, and is the son of George W. and Laura Wright; his father, a physician and surgeon, was colonel of the 103d Illinois Volunteer Infantry, serving forty-four months in the field. Mr. Wright's early life was spent at Canton, Illinois, and at Shenandoah, Iowa; he graduated from the dental department of the University of Minnesota in 1890 and from the college of medicine and surgery in 1894. Afterward he studied in Vienna, Austria, during the year 1900, the winters of 1902 and 1903 and the summer of 1906. Dr. Wright is clinical professor of genito urinary diseases in the medical department of the University of Minnesota. In politics he is a Democrat. He is a member of the Minneapolis and Commercial clubs, the Elks, the Masonic Order, and the Military of the Loyal Legion in which he inherited membership from his father. He is unmarried.

WULLING, Frederick John, dean of the college of pharmacy of the University of Minnesota, was born on December 24th, 1866, at Brooklyn, New York. In 1870 his father's family moved permanently to their summer home at Carlstadt, New Jersey, a suburb of New York City, where Frederick duly graduated from grammar and high school and business college, and then in 1884 took a position with college privileges with Dr. C. W. Braeutigam, of Brooklyn, devoting part of his time to academic work in Columbia university and to technical translations from French, German, Spanish and Italian pharmaceutical, chemical and medical journals. He duly passed the senior examinations in pharmacy and allied branches before the boards of New York and Brooklyn, and of New Jersey, before he graduated from New York College of Pharmacy in 1887, at the head of his class, taking the gold medal, a hundred dollars in gold, an analytical balance and a compound microscope; all the prizes but one offered for high scholarship. During these years he also attended lectures at the college of physicians and surgeons of Columbia university. In 1886 he was appointed lecture assistant to Professor Bedford, the foremost pharmacist of the profession, a year later to an instructorship, and in 1889 he was made assistant professor of pharmacy in the New York College of Pharmacy. In 1887 he made a European tour, visiting the principal universities of the continent and taking up post-graduate work in Munich, Berlin, Goettingen and Paris and after his return, in the Hoagland Laboratory of Bacteriology. In 1889 he made another trip to Europe, to do advanced work in chemistry. In 1891 he was called to the chair of inorganic pharmacodiagnosis at the Brooklyn College of Pharmacy, which he held until he was called to the University of Minnesota in 1892, to organize a department of pharmacy. Professor Wulling was made the dean of the pharmacy faculty and an executive officer of the University which position he still occupies. In 1894 he made a tour of Scotland, England, France and Belgium, coming in touch with the prominent scientists and educators of those countries. Between 1893 and 1898 he continued his studies at the State University and received the degrees Ph. D., LL. B. and LL. M. In addition he has taken during his extensive college work the degrees of Ph. G., Ph. C., and F. S. Sc., Lond., and has done considerable original research work. Dr. Wulling is a frequent contributor to scientific journals and has published several larger works: in 1891 the Evolution of Botany; in 1892 Medical and Pharmaceutical Chemistry; Chemistry of the Carbon Compounds, published in Merck's report from 1899-1900; a course in law for pharmacists; and several hundred papers and essays on kindred subjects. He is a member of numerous professional societies; president of the Northwestern Branch of the American Pharmaceutical association; chairman of the scientific section Minnesota State Pharmaceutical association; executive officer of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties; member of the Council of the American Pharmaceutical association. Dr. Wulling was married on September 15th, 1897, to Miss Lucile Truth Gissel of Brooklyn, New York. A son, Emerson G. Wulling, was born July 26th, 1903.

WYLIE, Arthur Rufus Trego, was born November 5th, 1871, at Condit, Ohio; he is the son of Robert and Adelia Jadden Wylie; his father is a Presbyterian minister. He received the degree of bachelor of arts from the University of Wooster in 1892 and the same degree from Harvard in 1893; doctor of philosophy from the University of Wooster in 1894; doctor of medicine from the University of Minnesota in 1906 and was a fellow at Clark University from 1901 to 1902. He is first assistant physician of the Minnesota School for the Feeble Minded at Faribault. He is a member of Rice County Medical; State Medical; American Medical; Association for Study of Feeble Minded; Masonic and Knights Templar; and the Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity; is affiliated with the Congregational Church. He was married in 1899 to Mrs. Eugenia Radcliffe. They have no children.

WYMAN, James Thomas, was born October 15th, 1849, at Millbridge, Maine; he is the son of John and Clarinda Wyman; his father was a dealer in building material. Mr. Wyman is of Puritan English descent, the family leaving England and settling in Woburn, Mass., in 1640. His life was spent at Millbridge until eighteen years of age, where he attended the public schools. He came to Northfield, Minn., in April 1868 and attended Carleton college for two years. Since 1874 he has been engaged in the manufacturing business in this city under the firm name of Smith and Wyman. He became president of the old board of trade, 1887-8, and helped to organize the Metropolitan Bank in 1889 and was elected president in 1890; director of the Northwestern National Bank in 1902, which connection he still maintains; he is identified with the Republican party, was a member of the House of Representatives, session 1893 and a member of the state senate sessions of 1895 and 1897, and was a member of the Board of Regents of the University for seven years, from 1901 to 1908, and president of the Board for four years. Mr. Wyman has been a member of the Board of Trustees of Hamline for twenty-seven years and now is vice-president of that board. He was one of the founders of the Associated Charities, twenty-five years ago and was vice-president of its board of directors. Is a member of the Minneapolis and Mini-kahta clubs and the Methodist Episcopal Church and is now a trustee of the Hennepin Avenue M. E. Church of this city. He was first married September 3rd, 1873 to Rosetta Lamberson, daughter of the Reverend John Lamberson, a Methodist clergyman. To them were born seven children, Roy L., Guy A., Grace A., James C., Ethelwynne, Earle F., and Ruth. The first wife died April 15th, 1899. On June 12th, 1901, Mr. Wyman married Mrs. Anna G. Shotwell, daughter of Jonathan D. Seaton, an early settler of Minneapolis engaged in the dry goods business.

He was elected a full member of the American Society of Civil Engineers about twenty years ago. He is a Republican in politics; has never held political office. He is deeply interested in the affairs of the University, in public improvements and good government. He is a member of the Civic Commission of the city of Minneapolis. He is a member of the Engineers Club of New York City, University club of Chicago, Minneapolis club, Minikahda club, Lafayette club and others. He was a charter member of the Chi Psi Fraternity of the University of Minnesota, 1873. Both he and his ancestors for several generations have been Baptists.

Mr. Gillette was married Dec. 18th, 1877 to Louisa E. Perkins of this city. Their family consists of two sons and three daughters. The elder, Ralph P. Gillette, is secretary of the Minneapolis Steel and Machinery company, and a graduate of the University of Minnesota; Geo. L. Gillette is assistant engineer of the same company and likewise a graduate of the University of Minnesota. Their three daughters are Marian, Louise and Delphine.

HAYNES, Arthur Edwin, was born May 23, 1849, Onondaga county, New York. Sciuate of the University, members of that regiment, a Christmas present from the University. A collection was taken and the presents forwarded. A little later it seemed to him fitting that not only the members of the 13th regiment but that all graduates and former students of the University who had enlisted and were serving in the war against Spain should be honored by some mark of recognition from the University. The plan adopted was to send each one a bronze medal. This was done and a little later Professor Haynes presented to the board of Regents entific course in Hillside college, subsequently studied four summers at Michigan, Harvard and Cornell. Taught five terms in village schools; five in college before graduating; nine in University summer schools. Fifteen years in Hillsdale college; three years in Michigan school of mines; assistant professor of mathematics, 1893 to 1896; professor of mathematics, college of engineering, 1896-1901; professor of engineering mathematics, since 1901. Contributor to the annual reports of the Society for the promotion of engineering education, also other educational papers; member of the Society for the promotion of engineering education; American association for the advancement of science and Sigma Xi.

Professor Haynes has always taken the greatest interest in the student soldier and while the 13th regiment was at Manila he conceived the idea of sending to every former student and grad-a plan for the erection upon the University campus of a monument as a memorial to the student soldier of the war of 1898. The regents approved the plan and named Professor Haynes chairman of a committee, the other members being regents of the University, to solicit funds for the erection of such a monument. Professor Haynes took up the work with enthusiasm and pushed it with energy until the necessary six thousand dollars had been raised. In another place in this book there is a section devoted to this monument. Since the war every Memorial Day Professor Haynes has undertaken to raise the necessary funds to place upon the grave of every student soldier who gave his life to his country's service during the war with Spain, a flag, a University pennant and flowers.

JUDD, Edward Starr, the son of Edward F. and Emma J. Myers Judd, was born

July 11th, 1878 at Rochester, Minn.; his father was a grain dealer. Dr. Judd's early education was received in the public schools of Rochester and afterward in the medical department of the University from which he graduated in 1902 with the degree of doctor of medicine. Since graduation Dr. Judd has pursued graduate courses at Chicago, New York and Boston. Dr. Judd has been associated for some years with Drs. Mayo, Graham and Plummer of Rochester, Minn. Dr. Judd has made the following scientific contributions: "Congenital Idiopathic Di-

He is a member of Olmsted county medical society, American medical association, Western surgical association, American clinical surgical society and is affiliated with the Episcopal church. In September 1908 he married Helen P. Berkman. They have one child, Eleanor.

KELLER, Herbert P., son of John M. and Annice E. Keller (Scott), born February 7, 1875, St. Paul, Minnesota; father was a pioneer

School, classical course, in 1894; graduated from the University, law department, in 1896; practiced law in St. Paul ever since. Third Assistant Corporation Attorney, with charge of prosecutions in Police Court, 1902-1903; elected member of the Common Council of St. Paul (Assembly) May, 1904, re-elected, 1906, re-elected 1908; elected Mayor of St. Paul, May 3, 1910. Politics, Republican. Married Miss Carrie S. Johnston of Wabasha, Minnesota, December, 1905, no children. Is a member of the Commercial club of St. Paul, Dayton's Bluff Commercial club, and a number of fraternal orders, among them the Masonic Order, Order of Elks and Knights of Pythias. Is affiliated with the Methodist Church.

MARSHALL, John, was born at St. Anne, Illinois, May 4th, 1875; his father, Adolf Marshall, being a grain merchant at that point. A few years later the family moved to Chebanse, Illinois, where the family was more centrally located for the father's business—his grain elevators being scattered in various towns in that part of the state.

All of the children, including C. A. Marshall, now owner of many theaters in and around Duluth; Olive Marshall, now wife of Mr. Paul Adams, banker at Lamoure, N. D., and John, received their early education in Illinois. Several years later they removed to Lamoure, N. D., where the grammar grades were finished. Mr. Marshall received his high school education in Superior, Wisconsin, and later entered the University of Wisconsin where he remained two years, then transferred to the University of Minnesota where he took his A. B. He was superintendent of schools for a number of years at Wadena and Granite Falls, Minn., and then took his law course in Minnesota, graduating in 1903. The next five years he spent practicing law at Sandpoint, Idaho, where he built up a large and prosperous business and the reputation of being one of the most progressive, energetic and careful attorneys of Northern Idaho and Eastern Washington. His practice included some of the most important cases of that part of the state and of Spokane; his knowledge of the law together with his strict adherence to his work, brought him to a leading position in the courts. The last two years he has been prominently identified with Mr. George Heaton, of St. Paul, whose business interests are chiefly in South Dakota and central and eastern Montana. Mr. Marshall's residence is again in the Twin Cities, his home being in St. Paul. January 10th, 1907, he was married to Miss Helene Heaton of St. Paul.

MATHWIG, Frederick A., the son of C. F. Mathwig and Minna Mathwig, was born on a farm near Owatonna, Minnesota, on November 21st, 1869, where his early life was spent. He attended country school, the high school of Owatonna from which he graduated, the University College of Law where he received the degree of bachelor of laws in 1893, and also pursued a year's work in medicine. During his law course, he pursued the subjects of history, logic, political science, mathematics, and other studies, amounting to about two years' work in the academic department.

From 1895 to 1898, Mr. Mathwig was assistant county attorney of Martin county. He was elected county attorney in 1898, holding that office for two years, declining to run again. At the present time he is city attorney of Fairmont, and has been for the past eight years. He is local attorney for the C. M. & St. P. Railway company, and for the C. & N. W. Railway company, and has been engaged in a large number of important cases. He is also village attorney for Ceylon and Triumph, and has been for a number of years past. He is interested in farming, the raising of good cattle, horses, hogs, and owns and operates several farms. He is a Democrat, and was a candidate for district judge of the Seventeenth Judicial District, in 1904, receiving a much larger vote than the party vote, carrying many strong Republican precincts in the district; has always fought for municipal ownership of public utilities.

Frederick A. Mathwig, Law '93

Mr. Mathwig is a member of the Fairmont Commercial club, the Masons, the Woodmen, the Knights of Pythias, and the Maccabees. He attends the Episcopal church. On October 23, 1895, he was married to Maud M. Haile, of Minneapolis, who died on July 4, 1904. There are two children, Helen Angeline aged thirteen, and Robert Haile aged nine years.

OBERHOFFER, Emil Johann, a leading musician of the northwest, was born near Munich, Bavaria, in 1867. His father was a successful organist, composer and conductor in the Bavarian provinces. His mother also came of a musical family and a brother as well as two sisters were musicians. Emil very early showed musical talent and when a child of ten years could play the organ and violin with wonderful ability and taste. He had at this time, beside the strict surveillance of his father, the most helpful instruction of Cyril Kistler, since renowned as the composer of a number of operas. During a six years' course at a literary college following, Mr. Oberhoffer continued his musical studies under the best private teachers obtainable in pianoforte, organ, violin, voice, and in an excellent school and church orchestra not only became acquainted with all orchestral instruments, but had ample opportunity to try out his talent as conductor, which was thus early recognized. About this time he also took a thorough course of theoretical studies under the Rheinberger regime. Specializing as a pianist he later spent some time in Paris with the famous technique expert Isadore Phillip. After the completion of his studies he came to New York but remained there only a short time, leaving the musical directorship of a prominent college to establish himself in the west. He first came to St. Paul where he soon attained a prominent position as a teacher, lecturer, concert giver and conductor. In 1897 he spent seven months in Europe in study and observation and in the fall of the same year was called to the position of conductor of the Apollo club of Minneapolis. At the same time the Schubert Choral Association and Schubert orchestra were formed in St. Paul under his direction. In 1901 Mr. Oberhoffer became conductor of the Minneapolis Philharmonic club which soon attained a leading position among the choral societies of the country. The necessities of the development of musical life and culture in the city soon brought about the suggestion from Mr. Oberhoffer that an orchestra be formed and with the assistance and support of the leading men of Minneapolis the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra was established in 1903 and has since been the most prominent musical organization in the northwest. The phenomenal success of the club and orchestra under Mr. Oberhoffer's direction has led to the engagement of his services for a term of years and the practical perpetuation of the musical progress which has already made Minneapolis the center of musical education in the Northwest and given her a reputation for musical culture quite unprecedented in the west. Besides his activities as conductor Mr. Oberhoffer finds time for a group of advanced pupils in pianoforte-playing; he has been organist and director of the music at the Church of the Redeemer for the past few years and formerly held the chair of music at the University.

OLSEN. Ingerval M., was born in Norway, January 4, 1861. Came to Nicollet county, Minnesota, in 1865, with his parents, Mathias and Martha Olsen, who settled on a farm in that county, and his early life was spent on the farm. Mr. Olsen studied one year in the St. Paul public school and entered the University, from which he graduated in 1887. Studied law in the office of John Lind, at New Ulm, Minn., and was admitted to the bar in 1893. In January 1894 he opened a law office at Redwood Falls, but in June of the same year he removed to Sleepy Eye, Minn., where he continued to practice law until November, 1906; elected district judge of the ninth judicial district November 1906; appointed district judge by Governor Johnson November 15, 1906, and served under appointment until January 1, 1907, when his elective term commenced. Served as president of the board of education of Sleepy Eye 1903-06; mayor of the city of Sleepy Eye, 1904-05. He is a member of the Congregational church; belongs to the Masonic order and the Psi Upsilon fraternity; married in 1896 to Lida McBain; have two children, Ruth, aged twelve and Harold, aged eight. Resides at Sleepy Eye.

PIPER. George F., vice-president of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, is a native son of Minnesota. He was born in Minneapolis on April 11, 1856, the son of Jefferson Piper and Mary McDuffee Piper. The father had come from New England to Minnesota for his health, stopping first in Minneapolis and afterwards engaging in farming near Mankato. His son, George, though born in Minneapolis, grew up on the farm and did not return to Minneapolis until 1873 when he entered the University of Minnesota. After a time, he entered the linseed oil business making a pronounced success. The larger opportunities opening in Minneapolis led him to remove to this city in 1896 and since then he has been prominently connected with the development of an industry which now has grown to such proportions that Minneapolis is the largest linseed oil producing point in the country. Mr. Piper is one of the principal apolis he has many interests and is connected with various financial institutions, holding among other offices a directorship in the Security National Bank. For a number of years he has been associated with the grain commission business in this city, and is now a member of Piper and Company, grain dealers, and of Piper, Johnson and Company, which conducts a large business in grain commission, stock and bonds. Mr. Piper has been for years a prominent member of the Chamber of Commerce and has been its vice-president for several years. He is also a lead-owners of the Midland Linseed Co. and also has large interests in the Canadian Elevator Co., the Winnipeg Elevator Co. and the Empire Elevator Company of Canada. These companies have extensive elevator holdings in the Canadian Northwest and also operate a line of lumber yards. His acquaintance with the western Canada country has led Mr. Piper to invest extensively in farm lands in that section and he is treasurer and a large stockholder in the Saskatchewan Valley Land Co. Among his other interests are holdings in Douglas and Company of Iowa, one of the large manufacturing concerns of that state. He is director and secretary of the Moran Oil Company in the Indian Territory. This is one of the prominent and substantial oil properties in that part of the country and is also extensively interested in lumber business in British Columbia. In Minne-ing member of the social and commercial organizations of the city, including the Minneapolis club, the Minikahda club and the Lafayette club and is also a member of Zuhrah Temple and is a Shriner. He was married in 1882 and has four sons—Clarence B., Louis H., Harvey C. and George F., Jr. The family attends the Westminster Church.

SMITH, Charles Axel, regent of the University since 1907, was born December 11th, 1852 in Sweden. At the age of fourteen he came to the United States with his father and sister. Mr. Smith entered the preparatory department of the University almost at the opening of that department and worked for Governor Pillsbury during his spare hours and vacations; after leaving the University he worked in Governor Pillsbury's hardware store until 1878, when the C. A. Smith & Co. was established with Governor Pillsbury as the "company." The company entered business at Herman, Minn., and a few years later several other stores were opened at other points. In 1884, Mr. Smith was invited by Governor Pillsbury to join him in logging operations. This was the beginning of Mr. Smith's interests in lumbering, in which line he has been engaged to this day and in which he has been unusually successful. Mr. Smith controls many subsidiary companies, among which is the Northwestern Compo Board company. Mr. Smith has large timber holdings on the Pacific coast. He holds and has held many offices in the leading lumberman's associations, and is a member of the leading clubs of this city. Mr. Smith is a Republican in politics and was presidential elector in 1896 and a delegate to the National Republican convention of 1900. Mr. Smith has contributed largely to many charities, schools and churches; he was honored by the King of Sweden for this liberality, by being given the rank of Commander of the first Degree in the Order of Vasa. Mr. Smith is married and has had six children, three boys and three girls, the oldest boy died when seventeen years of age.

WARE, John Roland, was born in Oro-noco, Minn., January 8th, 1878. Of English and Scotch colonial ancestry on both sides of the family, he inherits the determination to succeed and the unswerving purpose of this sturdy stock. He received his early education in Pipe-stone, Minn., to which town the family removed in 1888. It had always been Mr. Ware's ambition to follow the profession of his father's uncle, John Ware, for whom he was named. This worthy gentleman being a lawyer, every study was chosen to this end, and every energy both of his mother and himself bent to prepare him for his chosen profession. After graduating from the Pipestone high school in 1897 he came to the University where he received his degree of bachelor of science in 1901. This he followed by a law course from which he graduated in 1904, being admitted to the bar the same year. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. In 1906 he opened his own office in Minneapolis. On the 14th of August the following year he was married to Miss Amy Robbins, a bachelor of science of the class of 1901 and a master of arts of the class of 1907. Mrs. Ware is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Ware is at the present time a member of the well known law firm of Wilson, Mercer, Holsinger, Swan and Ware, with offices in the Security Bank building. Mr. and Mrs. Ware reside at Robbinsdale, where they indulge in their hobby of apple raising.

WESBROOK, Frank Fairchild, Dean of the College of Medicine and Surgery, was born in Ontario, July 12th, 1868; he is the oldest son of H. S. Wesbrook, formerly mayor of Winnipeg, and Helen Marr (Fairchild) Wesbrook, both of the United Empire loyalist lineage. Dean Wesbrook was educated in the public schools of London, Ont., and Winnipeg, Man. He is a graduate of Manitoba University in 1887 and studied at McGill University in 1889; was interne at the Winnipeg General hospital in 1890; did special work in pathology and bacteriology, King's College, London; Rotunda hospital, Dublin, 1891; and the University of Cambridge, England, 1892-95, as John Lucas Walker student in pathology. Dr. Wesbrook did special work in hygiene and pathology in the Institutes University of Marburg, Germany, in 1894 and held the chair of pathology at the University of Manitoba from 1892-1894, returning from Europe to give short courses. In 1896 Dean Wesbrook came to the University as professor of pathology and bacteriology. Ten years later he was made dean of the college; from 1896 to 1900 he was a member of the state board of health and has been director of its laboratories since 1896. Dean Wesbrook has contributed many articles to the medical and technical press and holds membership in the leading medical societies of the United States and a number of foreign societies, and is a member of some of the most important committees of these societies.

XIV. LAWS RELATING TO UNIVERSITY

AN ACT to Establish the University of Minnesota.
Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That there shall be established in this territory an institution under the name and style of the University of Minnesota.

SEC. 2. The proceeds of all lands that may hereafter be granted by the United States to the territory for the support of a University, shall be and remain a perpetual fund to be called the "University Fund," the interest of which shall be appropriated to the support of a University, and no sectarian instruction shall be allowed in such University.

SEC. 3. The object of the University shall be to provide the inhabitants of this territory with the means of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the various branches of literature, science and the arts.

SEC. 4. The government of the University shall be vested in a board of twelve regents, who shall be elected by the legislature as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 5. The members of the board of regents shall be elected at the present session of the legislature and shall be divided into classes numbered one, two and three; class numbered one shall hold their offices for two years; class numbered two, for four years; and class numbered three, for six years, from the first Monday of February, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one; biennially thereafter there shall be elected in joint convention of both branches of the legislature, four members to supply the vacancies made by the provisions of this section and who shall hold their offices for six years respectively.

SEC. 6. Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of regent of the University, from any cause whatever, it shall be the duty of the governor to fill such office by appointment, and the person or persons so appointed shall continue in office until the close of the session of the legislature, then next thereafter, and until others are elected in their stead.

SEC. 7. The regents of the University and their successors in office shall constitute a body corporate with the name and style of the "Regents of the University of Minnesota," with the rights of such, of suing and being sued, of contracting and being contracted with, of making and using a common seal and altering the same at pleasure.

SEC. 8. The regents shall appoint a secretary, a treasurer, and a librarian who shall hold their respective offices during the pleasure of the board. It shall be the duty of the secretary to record all the proceedings of the board and carefully preserve all its books and papers; the treasurer shall keep a true and faithful account of all moneys received and paid out by him, and shall give such bonds for the faithful performance of the duties of his office as the regents may require.

SEC. 9. The regents shall have power, and it shall be their duty to enact laws for the government of the University; to elect a chancellor who shall be ex-officio president of the board of regents or when absent or previous to the election of such chancellor the board may appoint one of their own number president pro tem. They may also appoint the requisite number of professors and tutors, and such other officers as they may deem expedient, also determine the amount of their respective salaries, provided that the salaries thus determined shall be submitted to the legislature for their approval or dissent.

SEC. 10. The University shall consist of five departments: The department of science, literature and the arts; the department of law; the department of medicine; the department of the theory and practice of elementary instruction; the department of agriculture. The immediate government of the several departments shall be entrusted to their respective faculties, but the regents shall have power to regulate the course of instruction and prescribe, under the advice of the professorships, books and authorities to be used in the several departments and also to confer such degrees and grant such diplomas as are usually conferred and granted by other universities.

SEC. 11. The regents shall have power to remove any officer connected with the institution when, in their judgment, the interest of the University requires it.

SEC. 12. The admission fee to the University and the charges for tuition in the several departments thereof shall be regulated and prescribed by the board of regents; and as soon as, in their opinion, the income of the University fund will permit, tuition in all the departments, shall be without charge to all students in the same who are residents of the territory.

SEC. 13. The University of Minnesota shall be located at or near the falls of St. Anthony, and the regents, as soon as they may deem expedient, shall procure a suitable site for the erection of the University buildings, and they may proceed to the erection of the same as soon as funds may be provided for that purpose, after such plan or plans may be approved by a majority of said board.

SEC. 14. The regents shall have the power and it shall be their duty as soon as the requisite funds shall have been secured for that purpose to establish a preparatory department of said University, and employ teachers for the same, who shall be qualified to give instruction in all the branches of learning usually taught in academies; which preparatory department may be discontinued whenever the regents may think proper, after the other departments of said University shall have been established.

SEC. 15. The regents are authorized to expend such portion of the fund which by the provisions of this chapter may come under their control, as they may deem expedient, for the erection of suitable buildings and the purchase of apparatus, a library, and a cabinet of natural history; and the selection, management and control of all lands, which may hereafter be granted by Congress for the endowment of said University is hereby vested in the board of regents.

SEC. 16. The regents shall make a report annually to the legislature at its regular session, exhibiting the state and progress of the University in its several departments, the course of study, the number of professors and students, the amount of expenditures and such other information as they may deem proper or may from time to time be required of them.

SEC. 17. Meetings of the board may be called by any seven members thereof, at such time and place as they may deem expedient and a majority of the said board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a smaller number may adjourn from time to time.

SEC. 18. The regents, if they shall deem it expedient, may receive into connection with the University any college within the territory upon application of the board of trustees; and such college so received shall become a branch of the University and be subject to the visitation of the regents.

SEC. 19. No religious tenets or opinions shall be required to entitle any person to be admitted as a student in said University, and no such tenets or opinions shall be required as a qualification for any professor, tutor, or officer of said University.

SEC. 20. The legislative assembly may at any time alter, amend, modify or repeal this charter.

Approved February 13, 1851.

A MEMORIAL to Congress for a grant of land to endow a "University."

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress, assembled.

The Memorial of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Minnesota respectfully represents:

That in accordance with the general desire of the inhabitants of this territory, an act containing the most liberal provisions was passed at the first session of its legislature for the establishment of common schools. Since which time the people have shown a laudable and most generous disposition to carry out effectually the provisions of said act by voluntary taxation for the maintenance of the schools, which under great difficulty they had succeeded in establishing.

Many of these schools are now attended by a large number of scholars and already give the most flattering prospects of rendering inestimable benefits to the rising generation, and they have been a source of much gratification to those who, acting from wise and expounded as well as liberal motives, were the first to promote by their zeal and untiring exertions such beneficial results. And the consequence has been that this territory, which but a short time since was without a name or political existence, and contained but few white inhabitants, now contains within its wide bounds a greater number of schools than has ever sprung into existence with the same population within the same short period in any state or territory.

Already a higher want is beginning to be felt, and the urgent necessity of immediately preparing for its attainment at as early a day as possible, is daily becoming more apparent. Many of the youth who are now receiving the rudiments of knowledge at the common schools will soon be prepared for the more arduous ascent which leads to the acquirement of a liberal education; and all feel the great disadvantages, and in many instances disability of sending their children abroad for that purpose. While at home, under the eye of their natural guardians, and within the genial influences of their own invigorating climate, under other circumstances the same desirable end might be obtained at a comparatively small expense.

Your memorialists therefore pray that your honorable bodies will take into consideration the expediency, propriety and justice of acceding to the general wish of the people of Minnesota by granting the prayer of your memorialists.

That one hundred thousand acres of land now belonging to the United States, or which may become a part of the domain of the United States, by the treaty about to be made with the Sioux, be granted to the Territory of Minnesota, subject to the control of its legislature, either in one or more tracts, or in such manner as your honorable bodies may deem most efficient for the attainment of the object aimed at. The endowment of a University which shall be the property of the territory; to be governed and taught in such manner, and by such officers as the legislative assembly of the territory may appoint.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

Approved February 19, 1851.

AN ACT of Congress to authorize the Legislature Assemblies of the territories of Oregon and Minnesota to take charge of the School Lands of said Territories, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled:

SECTION 1. That the governors and legislative assemblies of the territories of Oregon and Minnesota be, and they are hereby authorized to make such laws and needful regulations as they shall deem most expedient to protect from injury and waste, sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in said territories, reserved in each township for the support of schools therein.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted. That the secretary of the interior be and he is hereby authorized and directed to set apart and reserve from sale, out of any of the public lands within the Territory of Minnesota to which the Indian title has been or may be extinguished, and not otherwise appropriated, a quantity of land not exceeding two entire townships, for the use and support of a University in said territory and for no other use or purpose whatsoever, to be located by legal subdivisions of not less than one entire section.

Approved February 19, 1851.

AN ACT to authorize the Regents of the Minnesota University to borrow money.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That the board of regents of the University of Minnesota are hereby empowered to issue bonds in the name of the said University of Minnesota, and under the corporate seal of said University signed by the president and attested by the secretary of the said board of regents and payable at such times and in such manner as the said board may deem best, to an amount not exceeding the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, with interest thereon at a rate not exceeding twelve per cent per annum of said sum of five thousand dollars to be applied in the liquidation of a debt incurred in the purchase of a site for said University, and ten thousand dollars to be expended under the direction of the board of regents in erecting suitable buildings for the same.

SEC. 2. And the said regents are further empowered in order to secure the payment of said bonds to make, execute and deliver in the name of the Territory of Minnesota a mortgage or mortgages on any lands now belonging or which may hereafter belong to the said University, and said mortgage or mortgages, signed by the president of the board of regents, and duly acknowledged by the said president before any person authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds in this territory, and recorded in the office of register of deeds of the county in which said lands so mortgaged are situated, or in the county to which it is attached for judicial purposes shall be a lien upon the said lands, until all sums owing upon said bonds are fully discharged.

SEC. 3. And the said regents are further empowered to authorize by majority vote of the whole board any one or more of their number to negotiate the said bonds on such time and terms, and in such places as they may deem best to subserve the purposes contemplated by this act, and receive the money therefor.

SEC. 4. Any and all sums received from the sale of the bonds aforesaid shall be used for no other purpose than to pay the expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this act, and for constructing a suitable building or buildings to be used for educational purposes solely under the requirements of chapter 28 of the revised statutes of the Territory of Minnesota.

SEC. 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved February 28, 1856.

AN ACT of Congress to authorize the people of Minnesota to form a Constitution and State Government preparatory to their admission into the Union, on a legal footing with the Original States.

Item two (2) of Section five (5).

SECOND.—That seventy-two sections of land shall be set apart and reserved for the use and support of a State University, to be selected by the governor of said state, subject to the approval of the commissioner at the general land office, and to be appropriated and applied in such manner as the legislature of said state may prescribe for the purpose aforesaid, but for no other purpose.

Passed February 26, 1857.

AN ACT to authorize the Regents of the University of Minnesota to borrow money.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That the board of regents of the University of Minnesota are hereby empowered to issue bonds in the name of the said University of Minnesota, and under the corporate seal of the said University, signed by the president and attested by the secretary of the board of regents, and payable at such times and in such manner as the said board may deem best, to an amount not exceeding the sum of forty thousand dollars, with interest thereon not exceeding twelve per cent per annum.

SEC. 2. And the said board of regents are hereby further empowered, in order to secure the payments of said bonds, to make, execute and deliver in the name of the State of Minnesota, a mortgage or mortgages, on any lands now belonging, or which may hereafter belong to the said University, and said mortgage or mortgages, signed by the president of the board of regents, and duly acknowledged by the said president before any person authorized to take acknowledgements of deeds, in this state, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which said lands are so mortgaged and situated, or in the county to which it is attached for judicial purposes, shall be a lien upon the said lands until all sums owing upon said bonds are fully discharged.

SEC. 3. And the said regents are further empowered to authorize by a majority vote, any one or more of their number to negotiate the said bonds on such time and terms, and in such places as they may deem best to subserve the purposes contemplated by this act, and receive the money therefor.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 8, 1858.

Article 8 of Section 4 of the Constitution.

The location of the University of Minnesota as established by existing laws, is hereby confirmed, and said institution is hereby declared to be the University of the State of Minnesota. All the rights, immunities, franchises and endowments heretofore granted or conferred are hereby perpetuated into the said University, and all lands which may be granted hereinafter by Congress, or other donations for said University purposes shall vest in the institution referred to in this section.

Ratified by the people in 1858.

AN ACT for the relief of certain persons who have been allowed to preempt University lands.

WHEREAS, Certain lands situated in Rice county, in the Winona land district, in the State of Minnesota, which have been selected by the regents of the University of Minnesota, have been pre-empted by persons who were ignorant of such selections, and who have been suffered to remain upon said lands since 1855 without any notice from the Land Department, until recently, that there was any adverse claim upon their lands; therefore,

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That the State of Minnesota hereby relinquishes all rights and claim to and in all lands in Rice county, in the State of Minnesota, in the Winona land district, which have been pre-empted by Edward P. Jones, William Miller, Lyman N. Benson, John D. Benson, Nathan Morris, Edward L. Dugay, Alexander Young, John Monahan, Daniel P. Smith, John Murray, Edward Davis, John Grag, Jr., Benjamin L. Van Horn, Heinrech Swonback, Asa Fuller, Elferd Gager, Frederick Payenkoff, Augustus Henckley, and for which duplicates have been issued to said pre-emptors, Provided, that the governor of the State of Minnesota shall be allowed by Congress, or by the General Land Office at Washington to select other vacant lands instead of those thus pre-empted.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Approved July 22, 1858.

AN ACT for the Establishment of a State Agricultural College.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That so much of section sixteen, in township one hundred and fifteen, range twenty-eight, as may be purchased by the State of Minnesota, and all lands adjacent that may be donated, the quantity of said donation to be not less than three hundred and twenty acres, be and the same is hereby set aside for the purpose of an experimental farm and site for an agricultural college, which shall be under the control of the president and executive committee of the State agricultural society.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the legislature to make such appropriations, from time to time, as may be necessary, or at such times as the president and executive committee of the State agricultural society may recommend, for the erection of the buildings, purchase of furniture, necessary apparatus, library and implements, and such other necessary expenses to be incurred in the establishment and successful operation of said school.

SEC. 3. There shall be established on the above named section, or on the lands immediately adjoining, under the direction and supervision of a board of education, hereinafter specified, an agricultural school by the name and style of the Agricultural College of the State of Minnesota, and the chief purpose and design for which shall be to improve and teach the science of agriculture.

SEC. 4. The board of education shall consist of twelve members, four of whom shall be annually elected by the members of the State agricultural society at their annual meeting. Provided, That at the first annual meeting after the passage of this act, there shall be elected twelve members, of whom four shall be elected for three years, four for two years, and four for one year.

SEC. 5. The course of instruction in said college shall include the following branches, viz: An English and Scientific course, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Animal and Vegetable Anatomy and Physiology, Geology, Mineralogy, Veterinary Art, Mensuration, Leveling, and Political Economy, with Book-keeping and the Mechanic Arts that are directly connected with agriculture, and such other studies as the board of education may from time to time see fit to prescribe, having reference to the objects specified in the previous section; and the said board may establish such professorships, and employ such professors and teachers, to be called the Board of Instruction of said college, for the instruction aforesaid, as they may judge best for said object. Provided, That the sum paid for such professors and teachers for the first year after said college shall go into operation, shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars, and for the next year not exceeding six thousand dollars; and for any year thereafter, such a sum as the board of education may deem necessary for the successful operation of the institution. Tuition in said institution shall be forever free to pupils of this state, and any number of pupils may be admitted who shall apply from any part of this state. Provided, That in case more pupils apply than can be accommodated or taught, then said board shall adopt some equitable plan, giving to each county a number equal to the ratio of population, as it may appear from the census last taken; and in that case, those from each county shall be admitted in the order in which they shall apply, until the quota of such county shall be full.

SEC. 6. There shall be two scholastic terms in each year; the first term commencing on the first Wednesday in April, and ending on the first Wednesday in October; the second term commencing the last Wednesday in December and ending on the last Wednesday in February, and no pupil shall be received for less than one term unless by special permission from the board of instruction.

SEC. 7. The board of education, upon consultation with the board of instruction, shall, from time to time, fix and establish rules as to the number of hours which shall be devoted to manual labor and to study, which may be different in different terms or seasons; but during the first term in each year, the time devoted to labor shall not be less than three nor more than four hours each day; and no student or pupil of said college shall be exempt from such labor except in case of sickness or other infirmity.

SEC. 8. The board of education shall appoint one of the professors in said college to be the president thereof, and one to be its secretary, and one to be its treasurer, and the board of instruction may establish such rules and regulations from time to time, for the government of said college and instruction therein, as they may deem proper in any manner not regulated by the board of education; and the rules and regulations adopted by such board of instruction, shall remain in full force until altered by the said board of education. And said board of instruction shall have power, subject to the approval of the board of education, to establish by-laws for the government and discipline of the pupils of said college, in regard to conduct, behavior, and to fix such pecuniary penalties as they may deem proper, and to prescribe the causes for expulsion, or dismissal of any such pupil; which by-laws shall have the force of law, unless altered, modified, or repealed by the board of education or the legislature; and the board of education shall fix the compensation to be credited or paid for the labor performed by pupils, under the provisions of section seven of this act.

SEC. 9. The president of said board of instruction shall preside at all meetings of said board, except in case of sickness or absence, in which case the board may elect one of their number president pro tempore; and it shall be the duty of the president to see that all the regulations established by this act, by the board of education and by the board of instruction in regard to the government and instruction of said college be enforced.

SEC. 10. The secretary of the said board of instruction shall record all proceedings of said board, and all regulations and by-laws for the government of said college, and shall publish the same and shall furnish a copy thereof to the governor of the state, to each member of the board of education, to the county clerk of each county, and the clerk of each organized township in this state. He should also keep a careful account in connection with each field, in connection with a plan of the farming lands, or farm, exhibiting the position of each, in which shall be shown the manner and cost of preparing the grounds, the kind of crop, time of planting or sowing, the after condition, the time and manner of harvesting, the labor devoted to each process and its cost price, with the cost of preparing and maturing crop for market, and the price for which it was sold, and of such other matters as the board of education and instruction, or either of them, require of him; and he shall furnish a copy thereof at the end of each term to the president of the board of education; and the record shall at all reasonable hours, be open to the inspection of any citizen of this state.

SEC. 11. The treasurer shall receive and keep all moneys arising from the sale of products of the farm, and from fines and penalties that may be imposed, and shall give bonds in such sum as the board of education may require. He shall pay over all moneys upon the warrant of the president, countersigned by the secretary, on account of such contingent expenses of the institution as may arise. He shall render annually, in the month of December, to the board of education, and as often as may be required by said board, a full and true account of all moneys received and disbursed by him; stating for what received and paid, and shall also produce vouchers for such payments. The surplus money, if any remain in his hands at the time of rendering such account, shall, if required by said board, be paid over to the state treasurer, to be placed to the credit of said institution.

SEC. 12. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Approved March 10th, 1858.

AN ACT to provide for the government and regulation of the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SEC. 1. That the object of the State University, established by the constitution of the state, at or near the Falls of Saint Anthony, shall be to provide the best and most efficient means of imparting to the youth of the state, an education more advanced than that given in the public schools, and a thorough knowledge of the branches of literature, the arts and sciences, with their various applications.

SEC. 2. There shall be attached to the University a collegiate department, in which as soon as may be deemed expedient by the board of regents, hereinafter provided, regular college classes shall be formed and a chancellor and the necessary professors, tutors and other officers elected.

SEC. 3. There shall also be a department for the training of teachers for the common schools of the state, in which shall be taught the theory and practice of teaching, and everything that will tend to perfect the elementary and other public schools of the state.

SEC. 4. The University shall be governed and managed by a board of regents consisting of the governor, lieutenant governor, chancellor and five electors of the state to be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate, immediately after the passage of this act, and such other persons as may be appointed in accordance with a subsequent provision. Two of the five persons thus appointed shall hold their office for two (2) years and three for four (4) years. At the expiration of their terms, successors shall be appointed in the same way for a period of four (4) years. Whenever a vacancy occurs by death, resignation, or removal from the state or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the governor to fill the vacancy, subject to the confirmation of the senate.

SEC. 5. Any person or persons contributing a sum of not less than fifteen thousand (15,000) dollars, shall have the privilege of endowing a professorship in the University, the name and object of which shall be designated by the board of regents. Said person or persons shall have the right to nominate trustees for the care of the endowment, also an individual to fill the professorship and a regent who shall have the same rights and privileges as those appointed in behalf of the state.

SEC. 6. The University shall never be under the control of any religious denomination.

SEC. 7. The chancellor's term of office shall be the same in duration as that of district judge and his compensation for the performance of his duties as chancellor shall be such as the legislature may designate from time to time.

SEC. 8. The board of regents shall appoint a secretary and treasurer who shall hold their respective offices during the pleasure of the board of regents. It shall be the duty of the secretary to record all the proceedings of the board and carefully preserve all its books and papers, and before entering on the duties of the same he shall take and subscribe an oath to perform his duties honestly and faithfully. It shall be the duty of the treasurer to keep an exact and faithful account of all moneys received and paid out by him, and before entering upon the duties of his office, he shall take and subscribe an oath that he will faithfully perform the duties of treasurer, and he shall also give a bond in the penalty of twenty-five thousand (25,000) dollars conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties as treasurer, and that he will at all times keep and render a true account of all moneys received by him as such treasurer, and of the disposition he has made of the same, and that he will at all times be ready to discharge himself of the trust, and to pay over when required, which bond shall have two good sureties, and shall be approved as to its form and the sufficiency of its sureties by the board of regents and also the auditor and secretary of state, and shall be filed in the office of the latter. The compensation of the treasurer shall be the same as may be from time to time designated by the legislature.

SEC. 9. In all cases where specimens of natural history and geological and mineralogical specimens, which may be hereafter collected by anyone appointed by the state to investigate its natural history and physical resources, they shall belong to and be the property of the State University. There shall also be deposited in the library of the University a copy of all the laws, reports, journals of the legislature and other documents published at the expense of the state.

SEC. 10. The University shall consist of such departments as the board of regents shall determine, subject to the provisions of this act, and the same may be altered or changed as they may prescribe. The immediate government of the several departments shall be entrusted to the chancellor and faculty. The method and course of instruction in each department shall be prescribed by the board of regents, who shall also confer such degrees, and grant such diplomas as are usually conferred by universities, or such other as they may deem proper.

SEC. 11. The board of regents shall have power, and it shall be their duty to make laws for the government of the University, to elect a chancellor, also the requisite number of professors and tutors, and such other officers as they may deem expedient, and to determine the amount of their respective salaries, except the salary of the chancellor. They shall have the power to remove any officer connected with the institution, when the good of the institution demands.

SEC. 12. The board of regents are authorized to expend such portion of the University fund as they may deem expedient in the purchase of apparatus, library and cabinet of natural history, in providing suitable means to keep and preserve the same, and in the procurement of all other means and facilities for giving instruction.

SEC. 13. The first meeting of the board of regents shall be called by the present chancellor on or before the first Thursday in April, in the year one thousand, eight hundred and sixty, at the Capitol; the annual meeting of the board shall be held on the last Tuesday of June, at the City of St. Anthony, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of said board of five regents. The chancellor may call special meetings of the board when he deems it expedient. A majority of said board shall constitute a quorum to do business.

SEC. 14. The treasurer of the University shall have a suitable set of books in which he shall keep an accurate account of all transactions relative to the sale and disposition of the University lands, and the management of the funds arising therefrom; which books shall exhibit what parts and portions of land have been sold, and what prices, and to whom, and how the proceeds have been invested, and on what securities, and what land remains unsold, where situated, and of what value respectively.

SEC. 15. No sale of lands belonging to the University shall take place unless the same shall be decided upon at a regular meeting of the board of regents, or at one called for that purpose, and then only in the manner, and upon the notice and on the terms which the board shall prescribe, and which is authorized by the constitution, and no member of the board shall be directly or indirectly interested in any such purchase of such lands upon sale, and it shall be the duty of the board to invest any such surplus income arising therefrom, which is not immediately required for the purposes of instruction, in United States, or in other well-established, interest-paying state stocks, as a perpetual fund for the purpose of securing an income to defray the necessary current expenses as said board of regents may deem expedient.

SEC. 16. The board of regents shall make an annual report through the secretary which shall exhibit the state, condition and progress of the University in its several departments, the different courses of study pursued therein, the branches taught, the means and method of instruction adopted, the number of professors and students, with their names, ages, studies and residences, the situation and condition of the University fund, the income derived therefrom, a specific statement of the amount of expenditures, and such other matter as said board of regents may deem proper to communicate. Said report shall be completed and deposited in the office of secretary of state one month previous to the annual state election, and shall be transmitted by the governor to the legislature when the same shall convene.

SEC. 17. Chapter twenty-eight (28), of the revised statutes, of the Territory of Minnesota, on pages one hundred and forty-two (142), one hundred and forty-three (143) and one hundred and forty-four (144), relating to the University of Minnesota, and containing twenty (20) sections, is hereby repealed, except so much of section thirteen (13) as is referred to in article nine (9), section eight (8), of the constitution: Provided also, that the regents of said University hereafter appointed shall continue as a body corporate, in accordance with section seven (7) of said chapter twenty-eight (28).

SEC. 18. This act shall be in force from and after its passage.

Approved February 14th, 1860.

AN ACT of Congress donating to the States of Minnesota and Oregon, certain lands reserved by Congress for the Territories of Minnesota and Oregon for University purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

That the lands reserved for the use of a University in the territories of Minnesota and Oregon under section second of an act of Congress passed February nineteenth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, entitled an act to authorize the legislative assemblies of the territories of Minnesota and Oregon to take charge of the school lands in said territories, and for other purposes, be hereby donated to the states of Minnesota and Oregon for the use of said University.

Approved March 2, 1861.

MEMORIAL to Congress, and Joint Resolutions, asking that the Lands reserved for the uses of a Territorial University, under the Act of February 19th, 1851, may be donated for the benefit of said Territorial University.

To the Congress of the United States:

The Memorial of the Legislature of the State of Minnesota respectfully represents:

That the Territory of Minnesota established a University in 1851; and that the regents of the territorial institution contracted debts, relying on the proceeds of the lands reserved for the use of said Territorial University, under the act of Congress of February 19th, 1851, and duly selected, for the liquidation of the same.

Your Memorialists, therefore, pray that the lands reserved for the Territorial University, under the provisions of said act may be donated by Congress for the use of said University.

Resolved, That the governor of the state forward a certified copy of the foregoing Memorial and Joint Resolution to each of our senators and representatives in Congress, and that they be requested to use their influence to procure the speedy passage of an act vesting the title in the state to the lands above mentioned, already reserved and selected by an act of Congress.

Approved March 6th, A. D. 1861.

An ACT to donate Swamp Lands in the County of McLeod to the Agricultural College of the State of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That all the swamp lands now owned by or which hereafter may be owned by or come into the possession of the state within the present boundaries of the County of McLeod, be and the same are hereby donated to the agricultural college of the State of Minnesota.

SEC. 2. That whenever the president and executive committee of the State agricultural society shall recommend in writing to the governor that a sale of all or a part of said swamp lands is necessary, then the governor shall, after having given three months notice in at least three newspapers in this state of the time and place of sale, sell or cause to be sold and convey the same to the purchaser or purchasers thereof, all or part of said lands upon such terms and conditions as the president and executive committee of the State agricultural society may direct, providing that the place of sale shall be in the county of McLeod.

SEC. 3. That all moneys arising from the sale of said swamp lands, shall be deposited in the office of the state treasurer, and subject to the call of the president and executive committee of the State agricultural society, and drawn and expended in such manner as they may direct, provided that none of said moneys shall be expended or appropriated for any other purpose than the erection of buildings or the endowment of professorships of said agricultural college.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 12, 1861.

JOINT RESOLUTION, Authorizing the Chairman of the Board of Regents, to protect the University Lands.

WHEREAS, Information has been received by the regents of the University, that depredations have been recently commenced on the valuable timber lands selected by the regents of the University in the neighborhood of Morrystown: Resolved, by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota; that the said regents be authorized to employ some proper person to visit the said locality and prosecute trespassers upon the timbered University lands.

Approved Feb. 15, 1861.

AN ACT to provide for the conveyance of the lands and the liquidation of the indebtedness of the Regents of the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The regents of the University of Minnesota are hereby authorized and empowered in their discretion to arrange, compromise or liquidate any existing indebtedness contracted by the said regents of the University of Minnesota, under and by virtue of an act approved February twenty-first, eighteen hundred and fifty-six, or of an act approved March eighth, eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, or in pursuance of any power vested in them by the legislature of the Territory or State of Minnesota, and to that end, the said regents of the University of Minnesota, are hereby authorized and empowered to grant, bargain, sell and convey to the holder or holders of any such indebtedness, upon such terms as shall be agreed upon, any or all the lands heretofore granted or reserved by Congress, for the use and support of a state or territorial university, and vested in the said regents of the University of Minnesota, by section four (4) of article eight (8) of the constitution of the State of Minnesota: Provided, That the said regents shall not, by virtue of the provisions of this act, pay, allow or compromise any debt, claim or demand in favor of any person or persons who heretofore has been, or now are aiding or abetting the rebellion now existing against the United States. Provided further, That nothing in this act shall be construed as an admission on the part of the state of the validity of the bonds and mortgages executed by the board of regents of the late territorial University, or of any obligation existing on the part of the state to pay the said alleged liabilities.

SEC. 2. Nothing in this act shall operate in any manner affirming, ratifying or recognizing the legality of any note or notes purporting to have been executed by Franklin Steele and Isaac Atwater, on behalf of said regents of the University of Minnesota, pursuant to any vote or resolution of said regents, but said regents of the University of Minnesota are hereby fully authorized and empowered, in their discretion, to compromise and adjust any indebtedness arising upon said notes, or to contest and resist the payment of the same as they may be advised, or shall deem most conducive to the interests of the state or of said University.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 8, 1862.

UNITED STATES LAND GRANT.

[Chapter cxxx, United States Laws, 1862.]

AN ACT donating Public Lands to the several States and Territories which may provide Colleges for the Benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

Section 1. That there be granted to the several states, for the purposes hereinafter mentioned an amount of public land, to be apportioned to each state a quantity equal to thirty thousand acres for each senator and representative in Congress to which the states are respectively entitled by the apportionment under the census of eighteen hundred and sixty: Provided, That no mineral lands shall be selected or purchased under the provision of this act.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the land aforesaid, after being surveyed, shall be apportioned to the several states in sections or subdivisions of sections, not less than one quarter of a section; and whenever there are public lands in a state subject to sale at private entry at one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, the quantity to which said state shall be entitled shall be selected from such lands within the limits of such state, and the secretary of the interior is hereby directed to issue to each of the states in which there is not the quantity of public lands subject to sale at private entry at one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, to which said state may be entitled under the provisions of this act, land scrip to the amount in acres for the deficiency of its distributive share; said scrip to be sold by said states and the proceeds thereof applied to the uses and purposes prescribed in this act, and for no other use or purpose whatsoever: Provided, That in no case shall any state to which land scrip may thus be issued be allowed to locate the same within the limits of any other state or of any territory of the United States, but their assignees may thus locate said land scrip upon any of the unappropriated lands of the United States subject to sale at private entry at one dollar and twenty-five cents, or less, per acre: And provided further, That not more than one million acres shall be located by such assignee in any one of the states: And provided further, That no such location shall be made before one year from the passage of this act.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That all the expenses of management, superintendence, and taxes from date of selection of said lands, previous to their sales, and all expenses incurred in the management and disbursement of the moneys which may be received therefrom, shall be paid by the states to which they may belong, out of the treasury of said states, so that the entire proceeds of the sale of said lands shall be applied without any diminution whatever to the purposes hereinafter mentioned.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all moneys derived from the sale of the lands aforesaid by the states to which the lands are apportioned, and from the sales of land scrip hereinbefore provided, shall be invested in stocks of the United States, or of the states, or some other safe stocks, yielding not less than five per centum upon the par value of said stocks; and that the moneys so invested shall constitute a perpetual fund, the capital of which shall remain forever undiminished, (except so far as may be provided in section fifth of this act,) and the interest of which shall be inviolably appropriated, by each state which may take and claim the benefit of this act, to the endowment, support, and maintenance of at least one college, where the leading object shall be, without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts, in such manner, as the legislatures of the states may respectively prescribe, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions in life.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the grant of land and land scrip hereby authorized shall be made on the following conditions, to which, as well as to the provisions hereinbefore contained, the previous assent of the several states shall be signified by legislative acts:

First. If any portion of the fund invested, as provided by the foregoing section, or any portion of the interest thereon, shall, by any action or contingency, be diminished or lost, it shall be replaced by the state to which it belongs, so that the capital of the fund shall remain forever undiminished; and the annual interest shall be regularly applied without diminution to the purposes mentioned in the fourth section of this act, except that a sum not exceeding ten per centum upon the amount received by any state under the provisions of this act, may be expended for the purchase of lands for sites or experimental farms, whenever authorized by the respective legislatures of said states.

Second. No portion of said fund, nor the interest thereon, shall be applied directly or indirectly, under any pretence whatever, to the purchase, erection, preservation or repair of any building or buildings.

Third. Any state which may take and claim the benefit of the provisions of this act shall provide, within five years, at least not less than one college, as described in the fourth section of this act, or the grant to such state shall cease; and said state shall be bound to pay the United States the amount received on any lands previously sold, and that the title to purchasers under the state shall be valid.

Fourth. An annual report shall be made regarding the progress of each college, recording any improvements and experiments made, with their cost and results, and such other matters, including state industrial and economical statistics, as may be supposed useful; one copy of which shall be transmitted by mail free, by each, to all the other colleges which may be endowed under the provisions of this act, and also one copy to the secretary of the interior.

Fifth. When lands shall be selected from those which have been raised to double the minimum price, in consequence of railroad grants, they shall be computed to the states at the maximum price, and the number of acres proportionally diminished.

Sixth. No state while in a condition of rebellion or insurrection against the government of the United States shall be entitled to the benefits of this act.

Seventh. No state shall be entitled to the benefits of this act unless it shall express its acceptance thereof by its legislature within two years from the date of its approval by the president.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That land scrip issued under the provisions of this act shall not be subject to location until after the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That the land officers shall receive the same fees for locating land scrip issued under the provisions of this act as is now allowed for the location of military bounty land warrants under existing laws: Provided, Their maximum compensation shall not be thereby increased.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That the governors of the several states to which scrip shall be issued under this act, shall be required to report annually to Congress all sales made of such scrip until the whole shall be disposed of, the amount received for the same, and what appropriation has been made of the proceeds.

Approved July 2, 1862.

JOINT RESOLUTION accepting the Donation of Lands by Congress for the endowment of an Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

That the donation of public lands by Congress to the several states and territories by an act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act donating lands to the several states and territories" which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and mechanic arts, together with all stipulations of said act are assented to and accepted by this state.

Approved January 27, 1863.

JOINT RESOLUTIONS relating to the State University and University Lands.

Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota: WHEREAS, It is expedient to reduce the expenses of managing the University and University Lands of this state,

Resolved, By the Legislature of the State of Minnesota: That the state auditor, as ex officio commissioner of the state land office, is hereby required to take charge of said University lands, and of all buildings and grounds belonging to the University, and to lease and collect rent for the same, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter sixty-two (62), of the session laws of 1862, entitled "an act to establish the State land office, and for other purposes," so far as the same are or may be applicable.

Resolved, That the operation of Chapter eighty-seven (87), of the session laws of 1862, entitled "an act to provide for the conveyance of the lands, and the liquidation of the indebtedness of the regents of the University of Minnesota," and of all other laws conflicting with the provisions hereof, is hereby suspended.

Approved March 5, 1863.

JOINT RESOLUTION relating to the selection of lands donated by Act of Congress for the endowment of a State Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

That the commissioner of the general land office is hereby empowered and authorized to select the land donated to this state for the endowment of a state agricultural and mechanical college by act of Congress, approved July 2, 1862, according to the provisions of said act, and such rules as may be prescribed by the secretary of the interior.

Approved March 3, 1863.

AN ACT relating to the University of Minnesota:

Section 1. Amendment to Section 4. Board of Regents—term of office—Regents to give bond for faithful performance of duties—in what sum.

Section 2. When board to hold annual meeting.

Section 3. Election of President—quorum.

Section 4. Power of Board of Regents—not to be interested in purchase of lands under provisions of this act.

Section 5. Lands by whom conveyed.

Section 6. Nothing shall be taken as an admission of the validity of the aforesaid claims.

Section 7. What to be exempt from attachment, garnishee, etc.

Section 8. Present Regent and officers to turn over all books, records, etc., to the Regents herein appointed.

Section 9. Authorized to open a school in University building.

Section 10. Operations of certain sections suspended.

Section 11. When act to take effect.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. Section four of chapter eighty of the session laws of 1860, being an act entitled "An act providing for the government and regulation of the University of Minnesota," approved February 14th, 1860, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

SEC. 4. O. C. Merriman, John S. Pillsbury and John Nicols, are hereby appointed sole regents of the University of Minnesota, for the term of two years from the day of the passage of this act. Before entering upon the duties of this office, each of said regents shall give a bond to the State of Minnesota, executed by himself, and not less than two sureties, to be approved by the state auditor, in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful and honest performance of his duties as regent. Said bond shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

SEC. 2. Said regents shall hold an annual meeting in the month of March in each year, and such special meetings as may be called by the president or by any two regents.

SEC. 3. Said regents shall elect one of their own number president, and a majority shall constitute a quorum.

SEC. 4. Said regents are hereby fully authorized and empowered in their discretion, to arrange, compromise, settle and pay any and all claims and demands of whatever nature, against the University of Minnesota, or the regents thereof, and to that end said regents are hereby fully authorized and empowered to sell at public or private sale, and convey in satisfaction of any of said claims or demands, or for cash, or on credit, in whole or part, any of the lands donated to the State of Minnesota by the United States, by an act of Congress, entitled "An act donating to the States of Minnesota and Oregon, certain lands reserved by Congress for the Territories of Minnesota and Oregon, for University purposes," approved March 2d, 1861. Provided however, That the whole amount of lands so sold and conveyed, shall not exceed twelve thousand acres, and all conveyances of lands after that amount, shall have been conveyed, shall be absolutely void. No one of said regents shall be interested directly or indirectly in the purchase of any lands conveyed under the provisions of this act. Said regents may, in their discretion, authorize the state auditor to sell at public sale, the lands hereby authorized to be sold, or any part thereof. And Provided further, That if any person or persons shall purchase any of the lands mentioned in this act, upon which other parties have made improvements, they shall be required to pay the owner of said improvements their appraised value, such value to be appraised by one of the regents, and the county treasurer and chairman of the board of supervisors of the county where the land may be situated, and one-half of such appraised value shall be paid at the time of sale and the balance within six months thereafter, with interest at seven per cent. per annum, with proper security, to be approved by said county treasurer. Provided, That in appraising improvements upon any of the lands aforesaid, the appraisers shall take into consideration and shall deduct from the value of any such improvements, any waste or damage to said lands by the parties making the improvements or occupying the lands.

SEC. 5. Conveyances of land under the provisions of this act, shall be executed by the president and treasurer of the board of regents, in the name of and under the seal of the University of Minnesota, and such conveyances shall pass all the right, title and interest of said University, as well as of the State of Minnesota, in and to the lands conveyed.

SEC. 6. Nothing in this act contained shall be held or taken as an admission of the legal validity of any of the claims or demands aforesaid, or of any obligation to provide for the payment thereof.

SEC. 7. All personal property of every nature and description, including notes, accounts, stocks, bonds, claims and demands belonging to said University, or the regents thereof, as well as the proceeds of all sales of lands sold or conveyed under the provisions of this act, while the same are in the hands of, or under the control of the said University or the regents thereof, or of any one of them, or of any person for them, or either of them, or for said University, or of any state officer, shall be exempt from attachment, garnishee, process, proceedings, supplementary to execution and levy or sale on execution, or any other process issuing out of any court, until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 8. The present regents of the University and their secretary, treasurer, chancellor and any and every other officer appointed by said regents, as well as the auditor of state, are hereby required to turn over to the regents herein appointed, on demand, all books, records, papers, claims, notes, bonds, stocks and personal property of every description belonging to said University or the regents thereof, and the care of all lands belonging to the University and of the University buildings and grounds, and the leasing of the same and collecting of rent, as well as the adjusting and collecting of all claims of every nature, due or to become due to said University or the regents thereof, as well as claims for trespasses committed, are hereby committed to the regents herein appointed and their successors.

SEC. 9. Said regents are hereby authorized to open or cause to be opened, a school in said University building; Provided, That no part of the funds of the University shall be expended for the support of the same.

SEC. 10. The operation of sections two, three, seven, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, and fifteen of chapter eighty of the session laws of 1860, entitled as hereinbefore recited, is hereby suspended until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 11. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, and may at any time be altered, amended or repealed by the legislature.

Approved March 4, 1864.

AN ACT of Congress extending the time within which the States and Territories may accept the grant of lands made by the act entitled, An Act donating public lands to the several States and Territories which may provide Colleges for the benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, approved July 2, 1862.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled:

SECTION 1. That any state or territory may accept, and shall be entitled to the benefit of the act entitled An Act donating public lands to the several states and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, approved July 2, 1862, by expressing its acceptance thereof as provided in said act, within two years from the date of the approval of this act, subject, however, to the conditions in said act contained.

SEC. 2. And it is further enacted that the benefit of the provisions of this act, and of the said act approved July 2, 1862, be, and the same are hereby extended to the State of West Virginia.

Approved April 14, 1864.

AN ACT to amend an Act entitled An Act Relating to the University of Minnesota, approved March 4, 1864.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. Section four of said act entitled An Act relating to the University of Minnesota, approved March four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, is hereby amended by striking out the word "Supervisors" in the thirtieth line of said section and inserting in the place thereof the words "County Commissioners."

SEC. 2. The following section is hereby added to said act at the end thereof:

SEC. 12. The said regents are hereby fully authorized and empowered, in their discretion, to ratify and confirm any settlements heretofore made and to settle and arrange any and all claims and demands against the University of Minnesota or the regents thereof, which have been attempted to be settled by prior regents, or in settlement of which prior regents of the University of Minnesota have conveyed or attempted or promised or agreed to convey, any of the lands mentioned in section four of said act, and to sell and convey such lands in like manner as provided in said section four: Provided, However, that the lands hereby authorized to be conveyed, in settlement of such claims and demands shall not constitute any part of and shall be exclusive of the twelve thousand acres mentioned in said section four.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 2, 1865.

AN ACT to amend Chapter one hundred and thirty-four (134) of the Compiled Statutes, in regard to the Agricultural College of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That chapter one hundred and thirty-four of the compiled statutes of Minnesota, being an act entitled "An Act for the establishment of a State Agricultural college," passed March ten, eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, be amended so as to read as follows:

SEC. 1. That so much of section sixteen, in township one hundred and fifteen, range twenty-eight, as may be purchased by the state, or by the agricultural college board, or as may be donated to the state, and all lands adjacent, that have been or hereafter may be donated, the quantity of said donation to be not less than four hundred and eighty acres, be and the same is hereby set aside for the purpose of an experimental farm and site for an agricultural college under the name and style of "The Agricultural College of Minnesota."

SEC. 2. There shall be established on said lands an agricultural college. The design of the institution established by this act is to fulfill on the part of the state, the conditions named in article third, of section five, of the act of Congress, approved July two, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An Act donating public lands to the several states and territories which may provide colleges, for the benefit of agriculture and mechanic arts," and to afford thorough instruction in agriculture and the sciences connected therewith, and for that purpose the institution shall combine physical with intellectual education, and shall be a high seminary of learning, in which the graduates of the common schools of both sexes, can commence, pursue and finish a course of study terminating in thorough theoretic and practical instructions in those sciences and arts which bear directly upon agriculture and kindred industrial pursuits.

SEC. 3. The course of instruction shall embrace the English language and literature, mathematics, civil engineering, agricultural chemistry, animal and vegetable anatomy, physiology, the veterinary art, entomology, geology, political, rural and household horticulture, moral philosophy, history, book-keeping, and especially the application of science and the mechanic arts to practical agriculture.

SEC. 4. A full course of study shall embrace not less than four years. The agricultural college board may institute a partial course for students who do not desire to receive the full course. They may also adopt such course of lectures as they may deem best.

SEC. 5. The board shall determine the time of commencing and the length of the scholastic term or terms of each year, and number of hours, which shall not be less than two or more than four daily, and which may be different at different seasons of the year, that shall be devoted by each student to labor; and shall make such rules in regard to payment of tuitions as they may deem most conducive to the interests of the institution, until appropriations for its support shall be sufficient without the payment of tuition.

SEC. 6. That a board is hereby constituted and established which shall be known as "The Agricultural College Board." It shall consist of the governor of the state, the secretary of the state, and the president of the State agricultural society, who shall be ex-officio members of the board; and four members of said board shall be elected by the legislature of this state, as follows: At the present session of the legislature, there shall be one member elected for one year, one for two years, one for three years, and one for four years, and annually thereafter there shall be elected one member for the term of four years. Any vacancy in said board may be filled by a majority of the members of the board, and a majority shall be a quorum for the transaction of business. Each member of such board shall, before entering upon the duties of his office take and subscribe an oath to support the constitution of the United States and of the State of Minnesota, and to faithfully discharge the duties of his office. When the said board shall decide the number of students that may be accommodated, and receive instructions at said agricultural college, said students shall be equally apportioned among the various senatorial districts, and the senators and representatives shall recommend such young men as they, in their judgment shall deem to be entitled to the privileges of education at such college.

SEC. 7. The agricultural college board shall have the government, care and management of the farm and college, and direct the disposition and use of any moneys appropriated or donated to the college, or to which the college may at any time be entitled.

SEC. 8. The agricultural college board shall hold their first meeting at Saint Paul upon call of the governor, and may adopt rules for their future time and place of meeting, and for their own government, not inconsistent herewith. They shall choose from their own number a president and treasurer. They shall choose a secretary, who may or may not be a member of the board as they shall determine. Said officers shall hold their offices two years from the last Wednesday of February, or till their successors are chosen.

SEC. 9. The duties of said officers shall be prescribed by the board, and not inconsistent herewith, and they may demand and receive from the treasurer a bond with such sureties as they shall prescribe.

SEC. 10. It shall be the duty of the agricultural college board, and they are hereby vested with power and authority, Provided always, That they incur no expenses or debts beyond the moneys that may have been appropriated or donated, and within their immediate control, to erect, provide and keep suitable and proper buildings, and establish and maintain schools therein, improve and furnish the farm, and to adopt and execute such measures as they may deem necessary to secure the successful operation of the college, and promote its designed objects.

SEC. 11. The secretary shall record all proceedings of the board and of the faculty; and all regulations and rules for the government of the college. He shall keep a careful account with each field, in connection with a plan of the farming lands, in which shall be shown the manner and cost of preparing the ground, the kind of crops, time of planting or sowing, condition, time and manner of harvesting, the labor devoted to each process and its cost, with cost of preparing and maturing crops for market, price for which it is sold, and such other matters as the agricultural college board shall require (of) him. The record shall, at reasonable hours, be open to the inspection of any citizen of the State, and the secretary shall report to the governor, on or before the first day of December of each year, which report shall embrace the proceedings of the board, and the faculty, and the condition and situation of the college farm.

SEC. 12. It shall be the duty of the board to choose a president of the college and such professors, teachers, superintendents and employees as the necessities of the institution demand, who shall be paid such compensation as the board shall determine, and whose duties shall be prescribed by the board.

SEC. 13. The president of the college shall be its chief executive officer, and it shall be his duty to see that the rules and regulations of the agricultural college board and of the faculty be observed.

SEC. 14. The president, professors and superintendents, and the secretary of the agricultural college board shall constitute the faculty. The faculty shall have the special charge of the college and farm, and shall, with the consent of the board make all needful rules and regulations necessary for the government and discipline of the same, regulating the routine of study, labor, meals, and duties and exercises necessary to the preservation of morals, health and decorum.

SEC. 15. That all swamp lands in McLeod County donated to the agricultural college of the State of Minnesota, by act of the legislature, approved March twelve, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, shall be deemed to be inviolably set apart and donated for the use and benefit of the agricultural college of Minnesota.

SEC. 16. That whenever the governor shall, upon the recommendation of the agricultural college board, deem the sale of a part or all of said swamp lands necessary, he shall order the commissioner of the state land office to sell the same, who shall, thereupon, proceed to have the same appraised and sold, same as school lands are now appraised and sold, except that such lands may be sold at or above any appraised value, not less than two and one-half dollars per acre, and all moneys arising from such sales shall be deposited in the office of the state treasurer, subject to the order of the agricultural college board, and be drawn and expended in such manner as they may direct. Provided, That none of said moneys shall be expended for any other purpose than the erection of agricultural college buildings upon the farm herein referred to, or the improvement of the farm, or the endowment of professorships of the college. And until said lands are sold they shall be under the control of the agricultural college board, and may be used for the benefit of the college, or may be rented, and the money arising therefrom shall be used for the benefit of the college.

SEC. 17. That the interest of all moneys and proceeds arising from the sale of all the lands donated to the State of Minnesota by act of Congress, approved July two, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An act donating public lands to the several states and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts," be and the same is hereby applied and appropriated annually to the maintenance and support of the agricultural college of Minnesota, and the same shall be drawn from the state treasury upon the order of the president of the agricultural board, countersigned by the secretary of the board.

SEC. 18. When the necessary buildings shall have been erected and the college provided, it shall be the duty of the governor of the state to certify the fact to the secretary of the interior, and see that the title to the lands donated by Congress to the state, herein referred to, shall be perfected in the state.

SEC. 19. That for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this act, the sum of five thousand dollars for the year one thousand, eight hundred and sixty-five, be and the same is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, the same to be paid on warrants drawn by the president, and countersigned by the secretary of the agricultural college board.

SEC. 20. That chapter sixty-five of the general laws of eighteen hundred and sixty-one, entitled an act to donate swamp lands in the county of McLeod to the agricultural college of the State of Minnesota, be and is hereby repealed.

SEC. 21. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 2, 1865.

AN ACT to amend an act entitled "An Act relating to the University of Minnesota," approved March 4, 1864.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The terms of office of the regents of the University of Minnesota, as limited in section one of said act, is hereby extended two years from the fourth day of March, 1866, and the said regents shall have the same powers that they now have for and during the period of said two years from March 4, 1866.

SEC. 2. So much of section four of said original act, to which this is an amendment, as reads: "That the whole amount of lands so sold and conveyed shall not exceed twelve thousand acres," shall be amended so as to read: That the whole amount of lands so sold and conveyed shall not exceed fourteen thousand acres, and all conveyances of lands after fourteen thousand acres shall have been conveyed shall be absolutely void.

SEC. 3. The said regents are hereby empowered and authorized in their discretion, if by them deemed necessary for the interests of the University, to borrow ten thousand dollars, in anticipation of and to be repaid from the proceeds of the sales of lands aforesaid.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved February 28, 1866.

AN ACT of Congress to amend the fifth section of an act entitled "An Act Donating Public Lands to the several States and Territories which may provide Colleges for the benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts," approved July two, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, so as to extend the time within which the provisions of said act shall be accepted and such colleges established.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled:

That the time in which the several states may comply with the provisions of the act of July two, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An Act Donating Public Lands to the several States and Territories which may provide Colleges for the benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts," is hereby extended so that the acceptance of the benefits of said act may be expressed within three years from the passage of this act, and the colleges required by the said act may be provided within five years from the date of the filing of such acceptance with the commissioner of the general land office: Provided, That when any territory shall become a state and be admitted into the Union, such new state shall be entitled to the benefits of the said act of July two, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, by expressing the acceptance therein required within three years from the date of its admission into the Union, and providing the college or colleges within five years after such acceptance, as prescribed in this act: Provided further, That any state which has heretofore expressed its acceptance of the act herein referred to, shall have the period of five years within which to provide at least one college, as described in the fourth section of said act, after the time for providing said college, according to the act of July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, shall have expired.

Approved July 23, 1866.

A JOINT RESOLUTION Authorizing the Regents of the State University to make a certain contract:

Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

That the regents of the State University, be and they are hereby authorized, with the approval of the governor of the state, to enter into a contract with and employ counsel to prosecute the claim of this state against the United States to seventy-two sections of land, for the use of the State University, upon a contingent compensation in land or money, as the regents in their judgment may deem for the best interest of the University.

Approved February 19, 1867.

AN ACT to appropriate money to the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That the sum of fifteen thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated to be expended in repairing and furnishing the University building, and for the employment of teacher or teachers for the purpose of commencing the grammar and normal department of the University of Minnesota.

SEC. 2. The said sum to be paid on warrants drawn by the president and countersigned by the treasurer of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, and that on presentation of such warrants to the state auditor it shall be his duty to draw warrants on the state treasurer for a like amount, such money to be expended under the direction of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 9, 1867.

AN ACT to re-organize and provide for the government and regulation of the University of Minnesota, and to establish an Agricultural College therein.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The object of the University of Minnesota, established by the constitution, at or near the Falls of Saint Anthony, shall be to provide the means of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the various branches of literature, science and the arts, and such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and mechanic arts, including military tactics, and other scientific and classical studies.

SEC. 2. There shall be established in the University of Minnesota five or more colleges or departments, that is to say, a department of elementary instruction, a college of science, literature and the arts, a college of agriculture and the mechanic arts, including military tactics, a college or department of law, and also a college or department of medicine.

SEC. 3. The government of the University shall be vested in a board of nine regents, of whom the governor of the state and state superintendent of public instruction shall be ex-officio members, and the seven remaining members thereof shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. Whenever a vacancy therein occurs for any cause, the same shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner. Of the regents thus appointed two shall be commissioned and hold their offices for one year, and two for two years, and three for three years. Their successors shall be appointed in like manner, and shall hold their offices for the full term of three years from the first Wednesday of March succeeding their appointments, and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SEC. 4. The regents of the University shall constitute a body corporate under the name and style of "University of Minnesota"; and by that name may sue and be sued, contract and be contracted with, make and use a common seal and alter the same at pleasure. A majority of their number shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and a less number may adjourn from time to time.

SEC. 5. The board of regents shall elect from the members of the board, a president of the board, secretary and treasurer, who shall hold their respective offices during the pleasure of the board. And the president and treasurer each before entering upon the duties of his office, shall execute a bond in the penal sum of fifty thousand dollars, with at least two sufficient sureties, to the State of Minnesota, to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful and honest performance of the duties of his office according to the law, which bonds, when so approved shall be filed in the office of the secretary of the state.

SEC. 6. The board of regents shall have power and it shall be their duty to enact by-laws for the government of the University of Minnesota in all its departments, to elect a president of the University, and the requisite number of professors, instructors, officers and employees, and to fix their salaries, also the term of office of each, and to determine the moral and educational qualifications of applicants for admission, and in the department of professors, instructors and other officers, and assistants of the University, and in prescribing the studies and exercises thereof, and in all the management and government thereof, no partiality or preference shall be shown to one sect or religious denomination over another, nor shall anything sectarian be taught therein, and the board of regents shall have power to regulate the course of instruction, and prescribe the books and authorities to be used, and also confer such degrees and grant such diplomas as are usual in universities, in their discretion. It shall be the duty of the secretary to record all the proceedings of the board, and carefully preserve all books and papers, and before entering upon the duties of his office he shall take and subscribe an oath to perform his duties honestly and faithfully as such officer. It shall be the duty of the treasurer to keep an exact and faithful account of all moneys, bills receivable and evidences of indebtedness and all securities and property, received or paid out by him, and before entering upon his duties he shall take and subscribe an oath that he will well and faithfully perform the duties of treasurer thereof. It shall be the duty of the president to preside at the meetings of the board; and in case of his inability to preside the board may appoint a president pro tempore.

SEC. 7. In addition to all the rights, immunities, franchises and endowments heretofore granted or conferred to or upon the University of Minnesota for the endowment, support and maintenance thereof, there shall be and is hereby inviolably appropriated and placed at the disposal of the board of regents thereof, to be drawn from the state treasury upon the order of the president, drawn upon the state auditor, countersigned by the secretary of the board and payable to the order of the treasurer of the board, all the interest and income of the fund to be derived from the sales of all the lands granted and to be granted to the State of Minnesota, by virtue of an act of Congress entitled, "An act donating lands to the several states and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, approved July 2nd, A. D. 1862, and also all such gifts, grants and contributions to the endowment thereof, as may be derived from any and all sources.

SEC. 8. And in order to effect a settlement of all remaining indebtedness of the University, all the powers and authorities given by chapter 18, of the laws of 1864, entitled "An act relating to the University of Minnesota," and chapter 11, of the laws of 1866, entitled "An act to amend an act entitled an act of relating to the University of Minnesota, approved March 4, 1864," to the regents therein mentioned, and hereby given to and conferred upon the board of regents of the University of Minnesota aforesaid; and the said acts are hereby continued and shall be in force until such outstanding indebtedness is fully liquidated.

SEC. 9. The first meeting of the board of regents under the provisions of this act, shall be holden at the University building, on the first Wednesday of March, 1868, at which meeting the officers of the board shall be elected, and the annual meetings of the board shall be holden on the second Tuesday of December in each and every year thereafter. Special meetings of the board shall be called and holden at such times and in such manner as the board of regents shall determine.

SEC. 10. Any person or persons contributing a sum of not less than fifteen thousand dollars, shall have the privilege of endowing a professorship in the University, the name and object of which shall be designated by the board of regents.

SEC. 11. The said board of regents shall succeed to and have the control of the books, records, buildings and all other property of the University; and the present board of regents shall be dissolved immediately upon the organization of the board herein provided for; Provided, That all contracts made at that time binding upon the board then dissolved, shall be assumed and discharged by their successors in office.

SEC. 12. It shall be the duty of the board of regents herein provided for, to make arrangements for securing suitable lands, pursuant to the act of Congress above mentioned, in the vicinity of the University, for an experimental farm; and as soon as may be thereafter, to make such improvements thereon as will render the same available for experimental purposes in connection with the course in the agricultural college; and for such purpose the board of regents is hereby authorized to expend a sum not exceeding the amount specified in the act of Congress aforesaid.

SEC. 13. On or before the second Tuesday of December in each and every year, the board of regents, through their president, shall make a report in detail to the governor, showing the progress, condition, and wants of the University, and recording any improvements and experiments made, with their costs and results; the number of professors and students; the amount of receipts and disbursements, together with the nature, costs and results of all important investigations and experiments; and such other matters including state, industrial and economic statistics, as may be deemed important or useful, one copy of which shall be transmitted to all the other colleges which shall be endowed under the provisions of said act of Congress, and also one copy to the secretary of the interior.

SEC. 14. The president of the University shall be president of the faculty and the executive head of the institution in all its departments. As such officer he shall have authority subject to the board of regents, to give general direction to the practical affairs and scientific investigations of the University, and in the recess of the board of regents, to remove any employee or subordinate officer not a member of the faculty, and supply for the time, any vacancies thus created; and so long as the interests of the institution require it, he shall be charged with the duties of one of the professorships; and it shall be the duty of the president of the University to make to the superintendent of public instruction, on or before the second Tuesday of December in each and every year, a report in detail, showing the progress and condition of the University, the number of professors and students, the nature, cost and results of all important investigations and experiments, and such other matters, including industrial and economical statistics as he shall deem useful.

SEC. 15. Chapter eighty of the laws of eighteen hundred and sixty-two, and so much and such parts of any and all acts and laws, whether general or special, as are inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 16. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved February 18, 1868.

AN ACT to amend title two, chapter thirty-eight (38), General Statutes, relating to public lands.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. Title two, chapter thirty-eight, of the general statutes, is hereby amended by adding to the end thereof as follows, that is to say:

SEC. 57. All lands donated to the State of Minnesota by the United States, by act of Congress entitled, An act donating to the states of Minnesota and Oregon certain lands reserved by Congress for the territories of Minnesota and Oregon for University purposes, approved March second, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, and an act of Congress entitled an act donating public lands to the several states and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, approved July second, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, and any part or portion of such lands, upon the written request of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, to the commissioner of the State land office shall be appraised and sold, and the minimum price thereof shall be the same, and permits for the cutting of timber thereon, and upon any part of the same shall be granted, and the minimum price of such timber shall be fixed, and the right to cut grass and gather cranberries and make maple sugar thereon, or on any part of the same, shall be sold and all moneys arising therefrom, except as hereinafter provided, shall be invested, and a full record thereof shall be kept and a report thereof shall be made annually to the legislature, and all trespasses upon said lands, or any of the same shall be prosecuted by the same officer or officers, respectively, and in the same manner, in every respect as is now provided by law respecting school lands, except that there shall be written on the bonds purchased, bonds of the University of Minnesota, transferable only upon the order of the governor; and such officers respectively, shall have the same powers and perform the same duties as are provided by law respecting such school lands. And the proceeds of the sale of such lands above mentioned, when so invested, shall constitute a permanent fund, and the same shall be called the University fund; and there shall be and is hereby inviolably appropriated and placed at the disposal of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, to be drawn from the state treasury in the same manner as the interest and increase of the fund derived from the sales of land granted to the State of Minnesota by act of Congress, approved July second, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, as now provided by law, all of the interest and increase of such University fund; and also all the proceeds of the sales of such timber and grass.

SEC. 2. Sec. 58. Nothing in this act contained shall in any way modify or affect the powers conferred by, or the provisions of section eight of an act to re-organize and provide for the government and regulation of the University of Minnesota, and to establish an agricultural college therein, approved February nineteen, one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight.

SEC. 3. Sec. 59. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 5, 1868.

AN ACT to appropriate money to the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That the sum of ten thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated to be expended in repairing the University building, and for library and philosophical and chemical apparatus for the University of Minnesota.

SEC. 2. The said sum to be paid on warrants drawn by the president and countersigned by the treasurer of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota and on presentation of such warrants to the auditor of state, he shall draw his warrants on the state treasurer in favor of the treasurer of the board of regents for like amounts, such money to be expended under the direction of said board of regents.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 7, 1870.

AN ACT of Congress authorizing the allowance of the claim of the State of Minnesota to Lands for the support of a State University.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

That the commissioner of the general land office be and he is hereby authorized and directed in adjusting the claim of the State of Minnesota to lands for the support of a State University, to approve and certify selections of land made by the governor of said state, to the full amount of seventy-two sections mentioned in the act of Congress, approved Feb. 26, 1857, without taking into account the lands that were reserved at the time of the admission of the state into the Union and donated to said state by the act of Congress approved March 2, 1861.

Approved July 8, 1870.

AN ACT to provide for a Geological and Natural History Survey of the State and entrust the same to the University of Minnesota:

Section 1. Geological and natural history survey authorized to be made by the University of Minnesota:

Section 2. Object of the geological survey.

Section 3. Object of the natural history survey.

Section 4. Manner of conducting the surveys.

Section 5. Provides for meteorological statistics, and a map of the state.

Section 6. Natural history and geological specimens to be prepared, and museum to be established at the University.

Section 7. A geological map of the state authorized to be made.

Section 8. Annual report of the board of regents to be made to the governor.

Section 9. Annual appropriation of one thousand dollars for expenses.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota to cause to be begun as soon as may be practicable, and to carry on a thorough geological and natural history survey of the state.

SEC. 2. The geological survey shall be carried on with a view to a complete account of the mineral kingdom as represented in the state, including the number, order, dip, and magnitude of the several geological strata, their richness in ores, corals, clays, peats, salines and mineral waters, marls, cements, building stones and other useful materials, the value of said substances for economical purposes and their accessibility; also an accurate chemical analysis of the various rocks, soils, ores, clay, peats, marls and other mineral substances, of which complete and exact records shall be made.

SEC. 3. The natural history survey shall include, first, an examination of the vegetable productions of the state, embracing all trees, shrubs, herbs and grasses, native or naturalized in the state; second, a complete and scientific account of the animal kingdom as properly represented in the state, including all mammalia, fishes, reptiles, birds and insects.

SEC. 4. The said surveys and examinations shall be made in the manner and order following: First, the geological survey proper, together with the necessary and implied mineralogical investigations, all of which shall be undertaken so soon as may be practicable, and be carried forward with such expedition as may be consistent with economy and thoroughness; second, the botanical examinations; third, zoological investigations, Provided, However, that whenever the said board of regents may find it most economical to prosecute different portions of the surveys in conjunction, or that the public interest demands it, they may, in their discretion, depart from the above prescribed order. And in the employment of assistants in the said surveys the said board of regents shall at all times give the preference to the students and graduates of the University of Minnesota, Provided, The same be well qualified for the duties.

SEC. 5. The said board of regents shall also cause to be collected and tabulated such meteorological statistics as may be needed to account for the varieties of climate in the different parts of the state; also to cause to be ascertained [by] barometrical observation or other appropriate means the relation, elevations and depressions of the different parts of the state; and also on or before the completion of the said surveys to cause to be compiled from such actual surveys and measurements as may be necessary, an accurate map of the state, which map when approved by the governor shall be the official map of the state.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the said board of regents to cause proper specimens, skillfully prepared, secured and labelled of all rocks, soils, ores, coals, fossils, cements, building stones, plants, woods, skins and skeletons of animals, birds, insects and fishes, and other mineral, vegetable and animal substances and organisms discovered or examined in the course of said surveys, to be preserved for public inspection free of cost, in the University of Minnesota, in rooms convenient of access and properly warmed, lighted, ventilated and furnished, and in charge of a proper scientific curator; and they shall also, whenever the same may be practicable, cause duplicates in reasonable numbers and quantities of the above named specimens, to be collected and preserved for the purpose of exchanges with other state universities and scientific institutions, of which latter the Smithsonian institute at Washington shall have the preference.

SEC. 7. Said board of regents shall cause a geological map of the state to be made, as soon as may be practicable, upon which, by colors and other appropriate means and devices, the various geological formations shall be represented.

SEC. 8. It shall be the duty of the said board of regents, through their president to make, on or before the second Tuesday in December in each and every year, a report showing the progress of the said surveys, accompanied by such maps, drawings, and specifications as may be necessary and proper to exemplify the same to the governor, who shall lay the same before the legislature; and the said board of regents upon the completion of any separate portion of the said surveys, to cause to be prepared a memoir or final report, which shall embody in a convenient manner all useful and important information accumulated in the course of the investigation of the particular department or portion, which report or memoir shall likewise be communicated through the governor to the legislature.

Sec. 9. To carry out the provisions of this act the sum of one thousand dollars per annum is hereby appropriated, to be drawn and expended by the [said] board of regents of the University of Minnesota.

Sec. 10. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its approval.

Approved March 1, 1872.

AN ACT to amend Chapter One, of the Sessions Laws of 1868, relating to the University of Minnesota.

Section 1. Amendment to section two, chapter one of session laws of 1868, relating to colleges or departments in the State University.

Section 2. Amendment of section three of said act, relating to the government of the University.

Section 3. Amendment of section four of said act, relating to voting members.

Section 4. Amendment to section five of said act, relating to the secretary.

Section 5. Amendment to section five of said act, relating to the election of a vice president.

Section 6. Amendment to section thirteen of said act, relating to the annual report of regents.

Section 7. Amendment of section fourteen of said act, relating to the annual report of the President of the University.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That section two, of chapter one, of the session laws of 1868, entitled an act to organize and provide for the government and regulation of the University of Minnesota, and to establish an agricultural college therein, be amended so as to read as follows:

There shall be established in the University of Minnesota, five or more colleges or departments, that is to say, a department of elementary instruction, a college of science, literature and the arts, a college of agriculture, including military tactics, a college of the mechanic arts, a college or department of law, and also a college or department of medicine. The department of elementary instruction may be dispensed with, at such rate, in such wise, as may seem just and proper to the board of regents.

SEC. 2. That section three of said act, shall be amended by striking out the four first lines of the section, down to and including the word "members," and inserting instead thereof the following:

The government of the University shall be [invested] in a board of ten regents, of which the governor of the state, the state superintendent of public instruction, and the president of the University shall be members, ex-officio; and add at the end of said section, the words, the president of the University shall have the same rights, powers and privileges as other members, except the right of voting, and he shall be ex-officio, the corresponding secretary of the board of regents.

SEC. 3. That section four of said act shall be amended by striking out the words, "their number" in the sixth line and inserting the words "voting members," instead thereof.

SEC. 4. That section five of said act shall be amended by inserting the word "recording" before the word "secretary," in the second line of said section.

SEC. 5. That section five of said act shall be amended by inserting the words, "and in their discretion a vice-president," after the word "University," in the fourth line of said section; and in the nineteenth line of said section insert the word "recording" before the word secretary.

SEC. 6. That section thirteen of the said act be amended so as to read as follows:

On or before the second Tuesday of December in each and every year, the board of regents, through their president, shall make a report to the governor, showing in detail the progress and condition of the University during the previous University year—the wants of the institution in all its various departments—the nature, costs and results of all improvements, experiments and investigations—the number of professors and students—the amounts of money received and disbursed—and such other matter, including industrial and economical statistics, as they may deem important or useful. One copy of the said report shall be transmitted to each of the other colleges which shall be endowed under the provisions of said act of the congress, and one copy to the secretary of the interior.

SEC. 7. That section fourteen of the said act be amended so as to read as follows:

The president of the University shall be the president of the general faculty and of the special faculties of several departments or colleges, and the executive head of the institution in all its departments. As such officer, he shall have authority, subject to the board of regents, to [give] general direction to the practical affairs and scientific investigations of the University, and in the recess of the board of regents to remove any employee or subordinate officer not a member of the faculty, and supply, for the time being, any vacancies thus created. He shall perform the customary duties of a corresponding secretary, and may be charged with the duties of one of the professorships. He shall make to the superintendent of public instruction, on or before the second Tuesday in December in each and every year, a report, showing in detail the progress and condition of the University during the previous University year—the number of professors and students in the several departments—and such other matters relating to the proper educational work of the institution as he shall deem useful. It shall also be the duty of the president of the University to make to the board of regents, on or before the second Tuesday in December in each and every year, a report; showing in detail the progress and condition of the University during the previous University year—the nature and results of all important experiments and investigations—and such other matters, including economical and industrial facts and statistics as he shall deem useful.

SEC. 8. This act shall be in force from and after its approval.

Approved Feb. 29, 1872.

AN ACT to appropriate money for the erection of buildings for the State University.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That the sum of fifty thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended in the erection of buildings for the State University, the same to be paid on warrants drawn by the president and countersigned by the treasurer of the board of regents, and that on the presentation of such warrants to the state auditor, it shall be his duty to draw warrants on the state treasurer for like amounts, such money to be expended under the direction of the board of regents of the State University.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved February 25, 1873.

AN ACT to aid the geological and natural history survey of the state, and to amend chapter thirty- three, of the general laws, approved March first, eighteen hundred and seventy two, authorizing such survey.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The state lands, known as the "state salt lands," donated by the general government to aid in the development of the brines in the state of Minnesota shall be transferred to the custody and control of the board of regents of the state of Minnesota. By said board of regents these lands may be sold in such manner or in such amounts, consistent with the laws of the State of Minnesota, as they may see fit, the proceeds thereof being held in trust by them, and only disbursed in accordance with the law ordering a geological and natural history survey of the state.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the said board of regents, as soon as practicable, to cause a full and scientific investigation and report on the salt springs of the state, with a view to the early development of such brine deposits as may exist within the state.

SEC. 3. The board of regents of the University of Minnesota, shall cause the immediate survey and investigation of the peat deposits of the State of Minnesota, accompanied by such tests and examinations as may be necessary to show their economical value, and their usefulness for the purposes of common fuel, a full report thereon to be presented to the legislature as soon as practicable.

SEC. 4. The sum of two thousand dollars as hereby appropriated annually (in lieu of one thousand dollars) for the purposes of the geological and natural history survey, until such time as the proceeds of the sales of the salt lands shall equal that amount, when such annual appropriations shall cease.

SEC. 5. The sum of five hundred dollars is hereby appropriated for the purchase of apparatus and chemicals for the use of the geological and natural history survey, the same to be expended by order of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota to cause duplicate geological specimens to be collected, and to furnish to each of the three normal schools suites of such specimens after the University collection has become complete.

SEC. 7. When the geological and natural history survey of the state shall have been completed, the final report on the same by the said board of regents shall give a full statement of the sales of the salt lands hereby given into the custody and control of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, together with the amount of moneys received therefrom, and of the balance, if any, left in the hands of said board of regents.

SEC. 8. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 10, 1873.

An Act pertaining to the duties of those having charge of our State Institutions.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That it is hereby made the duty of those who under authority of the state have respectively the care, control and management of the several state institutions, before letting any contract or contracts for the erection of any new buildings for the state, or the enlarging or improving of those already in existence, where the value of said building or improvements shall exceed the sum of five thousand dollars to advertise for proposals for four consecutive weeks prior to said letting, in a paper published at a place where said institution is located, and also for the same length of time in some paper having a general circulation published at the capital, stating the time and place said proposals will be received and opened.

SEC. 2. That it is hereby made the duty of those so advertising for proposals as aforesaid to let any and all contracts made in behalf of the state to the lowest responsible bidder.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 10, 1873.

AN ACT to appropriate money to the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. There is hereby annually appropriated to the University of Minnesota, from any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, belonging to the fund for the support of state institutions, the sum of thirty-one thousand dollars; nineteen thousand dollars thereof to be used to aid in the support of said University, and twelve thousand dollars to be applied to the re-imbusement of the permanent University fund for moneys heretofore used for the support of said University, arising from the sales of stumpage on University lands. All money hereby appropriated shall be drawn upon orders of the board of regents of the University, and the state auditor is hereby authorized to draw warrants on the state treasury on the presentation of such orders.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

SECTION 1. That the sum of fifty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be and the same is hereby appropriated in addition to the income of the permanent University fund, from the general revenue fund for the support of the State University for the fiscal year ending July thirty-one, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one, and annually thereafter.

Sec. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 8, 1887.

AN ACT to establish an experimental fruit, forest and ornamental Tree Station.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That an experimental station be and hereby is established on the state school farm at Owatonna in this state for the purpose of producing new and valuable varieties of fruit trees, thoroughly testing promising varieties we now have, and securing reliable reports in regard to fruit, forest and ornamental trees best adapted to the state.

Sec. 2. That said station shall be under the general supervision of the board of regents of the State University, who shall with the advice of the president and secretary of the State horticultural society, appoint a superintendent, who shall report to the board of regents as they may direct, and who shall report to the State horticultural society in person at each annual winter meeting thereof.

Sec. 3. That all products of said station shall be the exclusive property of the state and all surplus shall be disposed of as the board of regents may direct.

Sec. 4. That said board of regents is hereby authorized to set apart and appropriate from any fund at their disposal for such purposes, such sum as they may deem advisable, not exceeding one thousand dollars per annum for the total expenses of said station.

Sec. 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 2, 1887.

AN ACT (of Congress) to establish agricultural experiment stations in connection with the Colleges established in the several States under the provisions of an act, approved July 2nd, 1862 and the acts supplementary thereto.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Represent-tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

SECTION 1. That in order to aid in acquiring and diffusing among the people of the United States useful and practical information on the subjects connected with agriculture, and to promote scientific investigation and experiment respecting the principles and applications of agricultural science there shall be established, under direction of the college or colleges, or agricultural department of colleges, in each state or territory established or which may hereafter be established, in accordance with the provisions of an act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act donating public lands to the several states and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts," or any of the supplements to said act, a department to be known and designated as an "agricultural experiment station;" Provided, That in any state or territory in which two such colleges have been or may be so established the appropriation hereinafter made to such state or territory shall be equally divided between such colleges, unless the legislature of such state or territory shall otherwise direct.

Sec. 2. That it shall be the object and duty of said experiment stations to conduct original researches or verify experiments on the physiology of plants and animals; the diseases to which they are severally subject, with the remedies for the same; the chemical composition of useful plants at their different stages of growth; the comparative advantages of rotative cropping as pursued under a varying series of crops; the capacity of new plants or trees for acclimation; the analysis of soils and water; the chemical composition of manures, natural or artificial, with experiments designed to test their comparative effects on crops of different kinds; the adaptation and value of grasses and forage plants; the composition and digestibility of the different kinds of food for domestic animals; the scientific and economic questions involved in the production of butter and cheese; and such other researches or experiments bearing directly on the agricultural industry of the United States as may in each case be deemed advisable, having due regard to the varying conditions and needs of the respective states or territories.

Sec. 3. That in order to secure, as far as practicable, uniformity of methods and results in the work of said stations, it shall be the duty of the United States commissioner of agriculture to furnish forms, as far as practicable, for the tabulation of results of investigation or experiments; to indicate, from time to time, such lines of inquiry as to him shall seem most important; and, in general, to furnish such advice and assistance as will best promote the purposes of this act. It shall be the duty of each of said stations, annually, on or before the first day of February, to make the governor of the state or territory in which it is located a full and detailed report of its operations, including a statement of receipts and expenditures, a copy of which report shall be sent to each of said stations, to the said commissioner of agriculture, and the secretary of the treasury of the United States.

Sec. 4. That bulletins or reports of progress shall be published at said stations at least once in three months, one copy of which shall be sent to each newspaper in the states or territories in which they are respectively located, and to such individuals actually engaged in farming as may request the same and as far as the means of the station will permit. Such bulletins or reports, and the annual reports of said stations, shall be transmitted in the mails of the United States free of charge for postage, under such regulations as the postmaster general may from time to time prescribe.

SEC. 5. That for the purpose of paying the necessary expenses of conducting investigations and experiments, and printing and distributing the results as hereinbefore prescribed, the sum of $15,000 is hereby appropriated to each state, to be specially provided for by Congress in the appropriations from year to year, and to each territory entitled under the provisions of section eight of this act, out of any money in the treasury proceeding from the sales of public lands, to be paid in equal quarterly payments on the first day of January, April, July, and October in each year, to the treasurer or other officer duly appointed by the governing boards of said college to receive the same, the first payment to be made on the first day of October, 1887; Provided, however, That out of the first annual appropriation so received by any station an amount not exceeding one-fifth may be expended in the erection, enlargement, or repair of a building or buildings necessary for carrying on the work of such station; and thereafter an amount not exceeding five per centum of such annual appropriation may be so expended.

SEC. 6. That whenever it shall appear to the secretary of the treasury, from the annual statement of receipts and expenditures of any of said stations, that a portion of the preceding annual appropriation remains unexpended, such amount shall be deducted from the next succeeding annual appropriation to such station, in order that the amount of money appropriated to any station shall not exceed the amount actually and necessarily required for its maintenance and support.

SEC. 7. That nothing in this act shall be construed to impair or modify the legal relation existing between any of the said colleges and the government of the states or territories in which they are respectively located.

SEC. 8. That in the states having colleges entitled under this section to the benefits of this act, and having also agricultural experiment stations established by law separate from said colleges, such states shall be authorized to apply such benefits to experiments at stations so established by such states; and in case any state shall have established, under the provisions of said act of July 2, aforesaid, an agricultural department or experimental station in connection with any University, college, or institution not distinctively an agricultural college or school, and such state shall have established or shall hereafter establish a separate agricultural college or school, which shall have connected therewith an experimental farm or station, the legislature of such state may apply in whole or in part the appropriation by this act made, to such separate agricultural college or school; and no legislature shall, by contract, express or implied, disable itself from so doing.

SEC. 9. That the grants of moneys authorized by this act are made subject to the legislative assent of the several states and territories to the purposes of said grants: Provided, That payment of such installments of the appropriation herein made as shall become due to any state before the adjournment of the regular session of its legislature meeting next after the passage of this act shall be made upon the assent of the governor thereof duly certified to the secretary of the treasury.

SEC. 10. Nothing in this act shall be held or construed as binding the United States to continue any payments from the treasury to any or all the states or institutions mentioned in this act, but Congress may at any time amend, suspend, or repeal any or all the provisions of this act.

Approved March 2, 1887.

AN ACT to extend the work of the geological and natural history survey of the state.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the state geologist to make practical and actual test by drilling or digging or other excavations in the earth such as he shall deem best suited to accomplish the purpose of this bill, for the discovery of any of the hidden mineral resources of the state, such as iron, copper, silver, gold, coal, gas, coal oil, common salt or any other valuable material that he may deem likely to exist in any of the rock strata of this state.

SEC. 2. In determining the localities at which such testing and exploring shall be done, he shall be guided by such geological facts as he may possess or obtain which may indicate the existence of any of the substances of which it is the purpose of this act to discover. He shall also be guided by the proportionate amount of money that the owner or owners of the land on which such explorations may be proposed shall contribute to pay the cost of such exploration.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the state geologist to report at once to the board of regents all discoveries, either of economic or scientific interest to the state that may be made by such testing and exploration; such report shall be published by the board of regents in the same manner as now provided for the publication of the annual reports of the geological and natural history survey of the state, and shall be paid for out of the same sum: Provided, That any important mineral discoveries or other scientific contributions to the geological and natural history survey that the said state geologist may deem necessary for immediate publication shall not be suppressed until the regular report of the board of regents, but shall be issued from time to time under the directions of said state geologist.

SEC. 4. That the sum of five thousand (5,000) dollars for the year A. D. 1887, and the sum of five thousand (5,000) dollars for the year A. D. 1888, is hereby appropriated out of any moneys not otherwise appropriated for the purpose of defraying the expenses of said test. The investigations provided for in this act shall not be conducted in the interest of any mining company or corporation.

SEC. 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 8, 1887.

AN ACT (of Congress) to amend an act entitled, An Act to Establish Agricultural Stations in connection with the Colleges established in the several states under the provision of an act approved July 2, 1862, and the acts supplementary thereto.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

That the grant of money authorized by the act of Congress entitled "An act to establish agricultural experiment stations, in connection with the colleges established in the several states under the provisions of an act approved July 2, 1862, and of an act supplementary thereto" are subject as therein provided to the legislative assent of the states and territories to be effected thereby; but as to such installments of the appropriations as may be now due or may hereafter become due, when the legislature may not be in session, the governor of said state or territory may make the assent therein provided, and upon a duly certified copy thereof to the secretary of the treasury he shall cause the same to be paid in the manner provided in the act of which this is amendatory, until the termination of the next regular session of the legislature of such state or territory.

Approved June 7, 1888.

AN ACT (of Congress) to amend section twelve hundred and twenty-five (1,225) of the Revised Statutes concerning the detail of officers of the Army and Navy to educational institutions, etc.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled:

SECTION 1. That section twelve hundred and twenty-five of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended by act of Congress, approved July fifth, eighteen hundred and eighty-four, be and the same is hereby further amended so as to read as follows:

SEC. 1225. The president may, upon the application of any established military institute, seminary or academy, college, or university, within the United States having capacity to educate at the same time not less than one hundred and fifty male students, detail an officer of the army or navy to act as superintendent or professor thereof; but the number of officers so detailed shall not exceed fifty from the army and ten from the navy, being a maximum of sixty at any time, and they shall be apportioned throughout the United States, first to those state institutions applying for such detail that are required to provide instruction in military tactics under the provisions of the act of Congress of July 2nd, 1862, donating lands for the establishment of colleges, where the leading object shall be the practical instruction of the industrial classes in agriculture and the mechanic arts, including military tactics; and after that said details to be distributed as nearly as may be practicable, according to population. The secretary of war is authorized to issue, at his discretion and under proper regulations to be prescribed by him, out of ordnance and ordnance stores belonging to the government and which can be spared for that purpose, such number of the same as may appear to be required for military instruction and practice by the students of any college or university under the provisions of this section, and the secretary shall require a bond in each case in double the value of the property, for the care and safe keeping thereof, and for the return of the same when required, Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent the detail of officers of the engineer corps of the navy as professors in scientific schools or colleges as now provided by act of Congress, approved February twenty-six, 1879, entitled "An act to promote a knowledge of steam engineering and iron ship building among the students of scientific schools or colleges in the United States; and the secretary of war is hereby authorized to issue ordnance and ordnance stores belonging to the government, on the terms and conditions hereinbefore provided to any college or university at which a retired officer of the army may be assigned as provided by section twelve hundred and sixty of the revised statutes.

SEC. 2. That said section twelve hundred and twenty-five of the revised statutes of the United States as amended by the said act of Congress approved July fifth, eighteen hundred and eighty-four, and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent or in conflict with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed, Saving always, however. All acts and things done under the said amended section as heretofore existing.

Approved September 26, 1888.

AN ACT to accept the grant of moneys authorized by an act of Congress of the United States entitled, "An act to establish agricultural experiment stations in connection with the Colleges established in the several States under the provisions of an act approved July 2, 1862, and the acts supplementary thereto, approved March 2nd, 1887.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That the State of Minnesota does hereby assent to the grants of money authorized by an act of the Congress of the United States, entitled "An act to establish agricultural experiment stations in connection with the colleges established in the several states, under the provisions of an act approved July 2nd, 1862, and of the acts supplementary thereto.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved Feb. 4, 1889.

AN ACT to authorize and empower the Board of Regents of the University of Minnesota to make sale and conveyance of the tract of land purchased by them for use as part of the experimental farm of the University, situated near Lake Minnetonka.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The board of regents of the University of Minnesota are hereby authorized and empowered, in their discretion, to make sale and conveyance in their corporate name of the tract of land situated on or near Lake Minnetonka, in the county of Hennepin, in this state, heretofore purchased by them for use as a part of the experimental farm of the University, described as follows, viz: Lots two (2) and three (3) of section twenty-eight (28), in township one hundred and seventeen (117) of range twenty-three (23), according to the United States government survey thereof, together with the personal property and improvements thereon, or such part or parts thereof as they may deem expedient and for such price or prices and upon such terms and conditions as to them shall seem best, and collect, receive and disburse the proceeds thereof for the University, and in so doing may in their discretion survey and plat the said land in their corporate name, or any part or parts of said land into such parcels, lots, blocks, streets and alleys as to them may seem best adapted to realize the highest prices therefor, and may dedicate to public use the streets, alleys and other places designed therefor, and cause such plats to be filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said county of Hennepin and all such plats so made and recorded and the records thereof shall have like force and effect as other town or village plats so recorded, and such regents may make sales and conveyances as aforesaid in accordance with such surveys and plats.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 20, 1889.

AN ACT to provide the University of the State of Minnesota with the general and special laws, and the reports of the decisions of the Supreme Court for library purposes.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The secretary of the state shall deliver to the University of Minnesota one hundred (100) copies of each volume of the general and special laws of this state, and of the reports of the decisions of the supreme court, hereafter published, for use in the way of exchanges, and otherwise, in the establishment and maintenance of a law library for the law department of said University.

SEC. 2. The secretary of state is hereby authorized and directed to procure, for the purpose aforesaid, from the publishers of the supreme court reports, one hundred (100) copies of each volume thereof hereafter published, in addition to the number authorized for other purposes, to be paid for at the same price and in the same manner as such reports delivered to the secretary for other purposes.

SEC. 3. The secretary of state is hereby authorized and directed to deliver to the University of Minnesota, for the purpose aforesaid, ten (10) copies of each volume of the general and special laws and supreme court reports heretofore published, if he shall have in his possession so many copies not required by law to be disposed of for other specific purposes, or so many of each of said volumes, not exceeding ten (10), as he shall have in his possession not so required by law for other specific purposes; and if he shall not have in his possession, subject to delivery to the University under the provision aforesaid ten (10) copies of each volume of said reports of which additional copies may now be obtained from the publishers by the state, under existing contracts, at the price now paid by the state for such reports, he is authorized and directed to procure from the publishers, to be paid for at the price and in the manner aforesaid, and deliver to the University enough additional copies of every such volume to make the number of ten (10).

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 3, 1889.

AN ACT to amend an act entitled "An act establishing an agricultural experiment station, approved March 7, 1885.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That section one (1) of chapter two hundred and nine (209) of the general laws of eighteen hundred and eighty-five (1885) be amended by omitting from the end of the section the following words, "and of which the professor of agriculture shall be general superintendent."

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 8, 1889.

Approved April 24, 1889.

AN ACT confirming and making effectual certain deeds of conveyance of lands heretofore made in the name of the University of Minnesota or the Board of Regents thereof, and authorizing the conveyance in the future of certain lands by and in the name of the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. All deeds of conveyance heretofore made by or in the name of the University of Minnesota or of the board of regents thereof, by or under the authority of the board under the seal of the corporation and the signature or attestation of one or more of the officers of the University or the board of regents thereof, of "State salt lands," so called, or the indemnity lands granted by Congress to the State of Minnesota in lieu of such portions thereof as had been otherwise disposed of by the United States to actual settlers, being the same lands, the control and power of sale, and disbursement of the proceeds of which were conferred upon the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, by two certain acts of the legislature of the State of Minnesota; the one entitled "An act to aid the geological and natural history survey of the state and to amend chapter thirty-three (33) of the general laws approved March first (1st), eighteen hundred and seventy-two (1872), authorizing such survey," approved March tenth (10th), eighteen hundred and seventy-three (1873), and the other entitled "an act to transfer to the custody and control of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota the lands granted by Congress to the state by an act entitled 'An act granting lands to the State of Minnesota in lieu of certain lands heretofore granted to said state,' approved March third (3rd), one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine (1879); to authorize the said board to sell such lands and dispose of the proceeds of such sales," approved February twenty-four (24), one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five (1885), or of any tract, piece, or parcel of said lands, and hereby ratified and confirmed, and made effectual from the time of their delivery, to pass and to vest in the grantees therein respectively all the title to the lands therein described which the State of Minnesota, or the University of Minnesota, or the board of regents thereof, had at the time of the delivery thereof, as fully to all intents and purposes as the state has power to pass or transmit the title thereof, or empower it to be passed or transmitted or to confirm and ratify its conveyance and transmission in the manner aforesaid.

SEC. 2. The University of Minnesota is hereby authorized and empowered to execute, acknowledge and deliver in its corporate name, under its corporate seal, and the signatures or attestation of the president and secretary of the board of regents, deeds of conveyance for all the lands mentioned or referred to in the two (2) several acts aforesaid which have heretofore been or shall hereafter be sold under the authority of the board of regents, and all deeds of such lands so executed and delivered shall be effectual to pass to the grantees therein respectively all the title of the state of Minnesota or the University of Minnesota or the board of regents thereof in the lands therein described at the time of such execution and delivery thereof.

SEC. 3. That two (2) certain deeds of conveyance heretofore executed by and in the name of the University of Minnesota and the board of regents of the University of Minnesota to the Minneapolis Union Railway company of grounds for railroad purposes made in the adjustment of the railroad right of way and grounds therefor through the campus of the University and the extension thereof, the one deed dated November twenty-fourth (24th), one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (1883), and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county of Hennepin, in the state of Minnesota, on the twenty-eighth (28th) day of November, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (1883), in book one hundred and forty (140) of deeds at page two hundred and fifty-one (251) et seq., and the other dated November twenty-six (26th), one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (1883), in book one hundred and forty of deeds at page two hundred and forty-eight (248) et seq., are hereby confirmed, and made effectual to pass to and vest in the said railroad company, at and from the time of the delivery thereof, all the title of the State of Minnesota, or the University of Minnesota or the board of regents thereof in the lands described therein as fully to all intents and purposes as if the said conveyances had been made by express authority of law previously conferred.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 13, 1889.

AN ACT to amend chapter thirty-seven (37) of the General Statutes of 1878 relating to the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That section three (3), of chapter thirty-seven (37), of the general statutes of eighteen hundred and seventy-eight (1878), is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Government Board of Regents. The government of the University shall be vested in a board of twelve (12) regents, of which the governor of the state, the state superintendent of public instruction, and the president of the University, shall be members ex-officio, and the nine remaining members thereof shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. Whenever a vacancy therein occurs for any cause the same shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner. After the expiration of the term of the members of the present board of regents, their successors shall be appointed in like manner and shall hold their office for the full term of six (6) years from the first (1st) Wednesday of March succeeding their appointment, and until their successors are appointed and qualified. The president of the University shall be ex-officio the corresponding secretary of the board of regents.

SEC. 2. Section five (5) of said chapter thirty-seven (37), as amended by chapter forty-six (46) of the general laws of the extra session of eighteen hundred and eighty-one. (1881), is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

SEC. 5. Officers of boards, bonds of president and treasurer. The board of regents shall elect from the members of the board, a president of the board. They shall also elect a recording secretary and a treasurer who may or may not be members of the board. All of said officers shall hold their respective offices during the pleasure of the board, and the president and treasurer each shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, execute a bond in the penal sum of fifty thousand (50,000) dollars, with at least two (2) sufficient sureties to the State of Minnesota, to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful and honest performance of the duties of his office according to law, which bonds when so approved shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 24, 1889.

AN ACT to repeal chapter eighty-two (82) of the General Statutes of 1878, being an act entitled "An act in relation to the encouragement of fruit culture in this State."

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That chapter eighty-two of the general laws of eighteen hundred and seventy-eight (1878) entitled "An act in relation to the encouragement of fruit culture in this state," be and hereby is repealed.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 24, 1889.

AN ACT to establish a uniform system of accounting for public funds in the State educational, charitable, and correctional institutions, and to appropriate miscellaneous receipts for the use of the said institutions.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. Applied to what institutions. There is hereby established a uniform system of accounting for public funds in the following named institutions of the State of Minnesota, namely—the State University, the state normal schools, the state hospitals for insane, the Minnesota soldiers' home, Minnesota institute for defectives (which shall render a separate account for each of the schools comprising the institute), the state public school, the state reform school, the state reformatory, the state prison and all other similar state institutions which may hereafter be established by law.

SEC. 2. Accounting officers and purchasing agents to be appointed. It shall be the duty of the managing board of each of the state institutions mentioned in section one (1) to designate an accounting officer, whose duty it shall be to keep or supervise the financial accounts of the institutions and to perform such other duties as shall be prescribed by law or by the said managing board. They shall also designate either the said accounting officer, or some other officer of the institution to act as purchasing agent, whose duty it shall be to purchase all goods and supplies needed for the institution, under such rules and regulations as the said managing board shall prescribe.

SEC. 3. Institution treasurers to be appointed. It shall be the duty of the managing board of each of the institutions named in section 1, within three months after the passage of this act, to appoint an institution treasurer, which treasurer shall be either some trustworthy person residing in the city or village in which the institution is located, or some solvent, national state bank in said city or village; except that the treasurer of the state shall be an ex-officio the treasurer of the Minnesota soldiers' home as now provided by law.

The said treasurer shall give bonds in such sum as the managing board shall require, to be approved by said managing board, and to be subject to the approval of the public examiner. It shall be the duty of the said treasurer to hold and safely keep all public funds belonging to the said institution which may come into said treasury from any source, and to pay out the same only on written orders signed by the accounting officer of the institution and countersigned by a member of the managing board, who shall have been authorized by a vote of the board to sign such orders.

SEC. 4. Superintendents to have the custody of funds belonging to inmates. It shall be the duty of each superintendent of the several institutions named in this act to have the care and custody of any funds belonging to inmates of the said institutions which may come into his hands, to keep accurate account of such funds on books provided for that purpose, and to pay out such funds under such rules and regulations as may be established by law or prescribed by the board of management, taking proper vouchers therefor in all cases; and every superintendent shall give bonds in such sum as may be required by law or may be prescribed by the board of managers of such institution, to be subject to the approval of the public examiner, conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties, and the due accounting of the funds entrusted to his care.

SEC. 5. Miscellaneous receipts, how treated. (a) It shall be the duty of every officer in the employ of the several institutions named in this act, to pay over to the superintendent of the institution without delay, any funds which may come into his hands belonging to any inmate of the institution, and to pay over to the accounting officer of the institution, without delay, any funds which may come into his hands belonging to the institution.

(b) It shall be the duty of the accounting officer of each institution at the close of each month, or oftener, to pay over to the institution treasurer all institution funds which may come into his hands from sales of public property, board of inmates, labor of inmates or from other sources, and at the close of each fiscal quarter to draw an order on the institution treasurer in favor of the state treasurer for the amount of all such miscellaneous receipts, and at the same time to forward to the state auditor a statement of the amount of the same, and the resources from which they have arisen.

(c) It shall be the duty of the state auditor upon receiving such statement, to place in the hands of the state treasurer a draft for the amount upon the institution treasurer, specifying the fund to which the same is to be credited, and upon payment of such draft, to place the amount so received to the credit of the said institution account adding to it any appropriations that may have been previously made by the legislature for the said institution, distributing it to the several appropriations from which it may have arisen, or to the current expense appropriation according to his discretion.

Provided, That the miscellaneous receipts of the state prison and the state reformatory shall be paid over to the state treasurer monthly instead of quarterly, in the manner as herein provided.

SEC. 6. Payrolls and bills to be in duplicate. It shall be the duty of the accounting officer of each institution named in section one (1) to prepare a duplicate monthly payroll or payrolls, showing the services rendered by each officer and employee of the institution, which payroll shall contain the receipt of said officers and employees for the orders issued to them in payment for their services. Services rendered or labor performed by persons other than officers and employees, shall be accounted for on proper vouchers made.

The said accounting officer shall require all persons selling goods or supplies to the institution to furnish with such goods, when delivered, bills or invoices, in duplicate, and he may require such persons who furnish goods at intervals during the month, to furnish also a detailed statement in duplicate at the close of the month. The said bills and invoices shall, whenever practicable, be made upon the bill heads or blanks used by such persons in their business. Provided, That in case where it is not convenient for the seller to furnish such bills or invoices, the accounting officer make out such bills or invoices on blanks to be provided by the institution.

SEC. 7. Vouchers, how receipted and disposed of. Each of the original and duplicate bills mentioned in section six (6) shall be enclosed in an envelope or jacket, on one side of which shall be a classification of the items contained in the bill, and on the other side a receipt in the following form: "Received on the... day of...18...from the....(here insert the title of accounting officer) of the....(here insert the name of the institution) an order on the treasurer of the... for the sum of...dollars, in payment of the within account"; and payrolls and vouchers for services rendered, or labor performed shall be enclosed in similar envelopes or jackets. One of the said duplicate payrolls or bills, with the accompanying receipts, shall be retained by the said accounting officer in the files of the institution; and the other shall be sent to the auditor of the state within thirty days after the issuance of an order on the institution treasurer for the payment of the same.

SEC. 8. Goods to be checked by the invoices. It shall be the duty of the storekeeper of each institution, or some person to be designated by the superintendent to check off all goods and supplies when received by the invoices; to certify thereon the quantity and condition of the same, and to notify the superintendent, or the accounting officer forthwith in case the said goods or supplies do not appear to be of the kind or quality purchased or bargained for. In case goods are received without an invoice it shall be the duty of such storekeeper or designated person to make a memorandum bill of such goods and certify thereon as herein required.

SEC. 9. Monthly expense lists. It shall be the duty of the accounting officers of the state institutions named in section one (1) at the close of each month to make, or cause to be made, an expense list for expenses incurred during the month under appropriations for current expenses and a separate expense list for expenses incurred under appropriations for other purposes, showing the name of each person rendering services or furnishing supplies, the nature of the service rendered and at what rate, the quantity, kind, price, and cost of supplies furnished, and the amount to which each person is entitled by law. Provided, That the auditor of state may in his discretion allow items of the same class amounting to less than one dollar each, except food items, to be consolidated on the expense list as "sundries." Said expense lists shall be audited by the managing board, or a committee of the same, and shall be certified by the accounting officer of each institution and a member of the managing board, to be designated by the said board, and shall be forwarded to the auditor of state by the accounting officer, not later than the eleventh (11) day of the preceding month.

SEC. 10. Auditor to examine expense lists. On receipt of such certified expense lists, the auditor of state shall examine, adjust and approve, suspend, or reject the same, and on or before the sixteenth (16th) day of each month, draw his warrants on the state treasurer for the amounts found due thereon to each institution, and no money shall be paid out of the state treasury for the use of the said institutions except on expense lists duly certified.

Provided, That the auditor of state may in his discretion draw his warrants for an amount not exceeding twenty (20) per cent. in addition to the amount of the said expense list, to be used for the immediate payment of such accounts as he may authorize to be so paid; said payments to be properly accounted for on the net monthly expense list.

SEC. 11. Unexpended appropriations to be cancelled. It shall be the duty of the auditor of state, upon the passage of this act and at the close of each biennial period thereafter, to cancel all unexpended appropriations, or balances of appropriations which shall have remained undrawn for the period of two (2) years after the expiration of the biennial period during which they become available under the law.

Provided, That the governor, secretary of state, and attorney general may continue such appropriations or balances in force, temporarily, on recommendation of the auditor of the state.

SEC. 12. Miscellaneous receipts appropriated for the use of the institutions. There is hereby appropriated for the use of the several institutions named in section one (1) of this act, all of the funds paid into the state treasury from miscellaneous receipts under section five (5) of this act.

SEC. 13. Repealing clause. Sections two (2), three (3), and four (4) of chapter one hundred and seventeen (117), of the general laws of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine (1879), and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 14. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 24, 1889.

AN ACT (of Congress) to apply a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to the more complete endowment and support of the Colleges for the benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts established under the provisions of an act of Congress approved July 2nd, 1862.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

SECTION 1. That there shall be and hereby is annually appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated arising from the sales of public lands to be paid as hereinafter provided to each state and territory for the more complete endowment and maintenance of colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts now established or which may be hereafter established in accordance with an act of Congress approved July 2nd, 1862, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars for the year ending June thirteenth, 1890, and an annual increase of the amount of such appropriation thereafter for ten years by an additional sum of one thousand dollars over the preceding year, and the annual amount to be paid thereafter to each state and territory shall be twenty-five thousand dollars to be applied only to instruction in agriculture and mechanic arts, the English language and the various branches of mathematical, physical, natural and economic science, with special reference to their applications in the industries of life, and to the facilities for such instruction: Provided, That no money shall be paid out under this act to any state or territory for the support and maintenance of a college where a distinction of race or color is made in the admission of students, but the establishment and maintenance of such colleges separately for white and colored students shall be held to be in compliance with the provisions of this act if the funds received in such state or territory be equitably divided as hereinafter set forth; Provided, That in any state in which there has been one college established in pursuance of the act of July 2, 1862, and also in which an educational institution of like character has been established or may be hereafter established, and is now aided by such state from its own revenue, for the education of colored students in agriculture and the mechanic arts, however named or styled, or whether or not it has received money heretofore under the act to which this act is an amendment, the legislature of such state may propose and report to the secretary of the interior a just and equitable division of the fund to be received under this act between one college for white students and one institution for colored students established as aforesaid, which shall be divided into two parts and paid, accordingly, and thereupon such institution for colored students shall be entitled to the benefit of this act and subject to its provisions, as much as it would have been if it had been included under the act of 1862, and the fulfilment of the foregoing provisions shall be taken as a compliance with the provisions in reference to separate colleges for white and colored students.

SEC. 2. That the sum hereby appropriated to the states and territories for the further endowment and support of colleges shall be annually paid on or before the thirty-first day of July of each year by the secretary of the treasury, upon the warrant of the secretary of the interior, out of the treasury of the United States, to the state or territorial treasurer, or to such officer as shall be designated by law, of such state or territory to receive the same, who shall, upon the order of the trustees of the college, or the institution for colored students, immediately pay over said sums to the treasurers of the respective colleges or other institutions entitled to receive the same, and such treasurer shall be required to report to the secretary of agriculture and to the secretary of the interior, on or before the first day of September, of each year, a detailed statement of the amount so received and of its disbursement. The grants of moneys authorized by this act are made subject to the legislative assent of the several states and territories to the purpose of said grants: Provided, That payments of such installments of the appropriation herein made as shall become due to any state before the adjournment of the regular session of legislature meeting next after the passage of this act shall be made upon the assent of the governor thereof, duly certified to the secretary of the treasury.

SEC. 3. That if any portion of the moneys received by the designated officer of the state or territory for the further and more complete endowment, support and maintenance of colleges, or of institutions for colored students, as provided in this act, shall by any action or contingency, be diminished or lost, or misapplied, it shall be replaced by the state or territory to which it belongs, and until so replaced no subsequent appropriation shall be apportioned or paid to such state or territory, and no portion of said moneys shall be applied directly or indirectly, under any pretense whatever to the purchase, erection, preservation, or repair of any building or buildings. An annual report by the president of each of said colleges shall be made to the secretary of agriculture, as well as to the secretary of the interior, regarding the condition and progress of each college, including statistical information in relation to its receipts and expenditures, its library, the number of its students and professors, and also as to any improvements and experiments made under the direction of any experiment stations attached to said colleges, with their costs and results, and such other industrial and economical statistics as may be regarded as useful, one copy of which shall be transmitted by mail free to all other colleges further endowed under this act.

SEC. 4. That on or before the first day of July in each year, after the passage of this act, the secretary of the interior shall ascertain and certify to the secretary of the treasury as to each state and territory whether it is entitled to receive its share of the annual appropriation for colleges, or of institutions for colored students under this act, and the amount which thereupon each is entitled, respectively to receive. If the secretary of the interior shall withhold a certificate from any state or territory of its appropriation the facts and reasons therefor shall be reported to the president, and the amount involved shall be kept separate in the treasury until the close of the next Congress, in order that the state or territory may, if it shall so desire, appeal to Congress from the determination of the secretary of the interior. If the next Congress shall not direct such sum to be paid it shall be covered into the treasury. And the secretary of the interior is hereby charged with the proper administration of this law.

SEC. 5. That the secretary of the interior shall annually report to congress the disbursements which have been made in all the states and territories, and also whether the appropriation of any state or territory has been withheld, and if so, the reasons therefor.

SEC. 6. Congress may at any time amend, suspend, or repeal any or all of the provisions of this act.

Approved August 30, 1890.

AN ACT (of Congress) to amend section twelve hundred and twenty-five (1225) of the Revised Statutes, concerning duties of officers of the army and navy to educational institutions.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

That section twelve hundred and twenty-five of the Revised Statutes concerning details of officers of the army and navy to educational institutions be, and the same is hereby amended so as to permit the president to detail under the provisions of said act not to exceed seventy-five officers of the army of the United States, and the maximum number of officers of the army and navy to be detailed at any one time under the provisions of this act, passed September twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and eighty-eight, amending said section twelve hundred and twenty-five of the revised statutes is hereby increased to eighty-five, provided, that no officer shall be detailed to or maintain at any of the educational institutions mentioned in said act, where instruction and drill in military tactics is not given. Provided further. That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent the detail of officers of the engineer corps of the navy as professors in scientific schools or colleges as now provided by act of Congress, approved February twenty-six, eighteen hundred and seventy-nine, entitled, an act to promote a knowledge of steam engineering and iron ship building among the students of scientific schools and colleges of the United States.

Approved January 13, 1891.

AN ACT to accept the grants of money made by the act of Congress of the United States, approved August 30, 1890, entitled "An act to apply a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to the more complete endowment and support of the colleges for the benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, established under the provision of an act of Congress approved July 2, 1862," and assenting to the purpose of such grants.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The state of Minnesota hereby accepts the grants of money made to it by an act of the Congress of the United States, approved August thirtieth (30th), one thousand eight hundred and ninety (1890), entitled "An act to apply a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to the more complete endowment and support of the colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts established under the provisions of an act of Congress approved July second (2d), one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two (1862)," and assents to the purpose of said grants as in said act set forth.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 20, 1891.

AN ACT to establish a Uniform Standard of Admission to the Bar of this State, and to punish persons violating the provisions of this act.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. As soon as possible after the passage and approval of this act the justices of the supreme court of this state shall appoint from the members of the bar of Minnesota, learned in the law, one (1) person from each congressional district, now or hereafter created, to constitute a state board of examiners in law.

SEC. 2. The term of office of the said board shall be as follows: Three (3) shall be appointed for one (1) year, two (2) shall be appointed for two (2) years, and two (2) shall be appointed for three (3) years each; but in case of a vacancy occurring by death or otherwise there shall be appointed in a like manner a person to serve through the unexpired term of the member to whose place he is appointed.

SEC. 3. The said board shall elect a president, secretary and treasurer; shall have its headquarters at the capital of this state; shall have a common seal, and the president and secretary shall have power to administer oaths. The said board shall at least three (3) times in each year, hold public examinations for admission to the bar of this state, which examinations shall be both written and oral, in such places in this state as the superior court shall direct and at such times as the said board shall determine. The said board shall keep a record of all its proceedings and also a record of all applications for admission to the bar, and shall enroll, in a book kept for that purpose, the name of each person admitted as an attorney at law.

SEC. 4. The said board shall, as soon as practicable thereafter, report the result of all examinations to the supreme court, with such recommendations as to said board shall seem just, and the supreme court shall, after considering said report and said recommendations, enter an order in each case authorizing or directing said board to reject such applicant, or issue to him a certificate of admission to the bar.

SEC. 5. The said board shall receive from each person applying for examination the sum of five dollars ($5) as a fee therefor, and all fees received by said board shall be deposited with the treasurer of said board and applied toward the expenses and compensation of the respective members of said board.

SEC. 6. There shall be paid out of the treasury of said board to each examiner appointed as aforesaid, a compensation not exceeding ten (10) dollars per day, and his actual necessary expenses in going to, holding and returning from any such examination.

SEC. 7. No person shall hereafter be admitted to practice as an attorney and counsellor at law, or to commence, conduct, or defend any action or proceeding in any of the courts of record of this state, in which he is not a party concerned, either by using or subscribing his own name or names of any other person or persons, unless he has complied with and been admitted under and pursuant to such rules as the supreme court of this state shall prescribe: Provided. That the provisions of this act shall not apply to or effect persons admitted to the bar of this state under pre-existing laws.

Provided. That graduates from the law department of the University of Minnesota shall, upon presentation of their diploma from such university to the supreme court or any district court of this state, at any time within two (2) years from the date of such diploma, be entitled to a certificate of admission to the bar, without any examination or fee whatever; and such court shall thereupon enter an order authorizing and directing the clerk of said court to issue to such graduate a certificate of admission to the bar, upon proof satisfactory to said court that such graduate is a citizen of the United States, a citizen and resident of the state of Minnesota, that he is twenty-one (21) years of age, of good moral character, and upon his subscribing such oath as is now provided by statute for persons upon their admission to the bar.

SEC. 8. Any person who shall appear as an attorney or counsellor at law in any action or proceeding in any court of record in this state to maintain or defend the same, except in his own behalf when a party thereto, unless he has been admitted to the bar of this state shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than fifty (50) nor more than one hundred (100) dollars, and it shall be the duty of the respective county attorneys in this state to prosecute violations of this act; but the district courts of this state shall have original jurisdiction of this offense.

Provided, That any attorney or counsellor residing in any of the other states or territories, wherein he has been admitted to practice law, and who shall attend any term of the supreme or district courts of this state for the purpose of trying or participating in the trial or proceedings of any action or proceeding therein pending, may be permitted to try or participate in the trial or proceedings in such action or proceeding without being subject to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 9. Chapter ninety-three (93) of the general laws of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (1889), and sections three (3), four (4) and eight (8) of chapter eighty-eight (88), of the general statutes of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878), and chapter one hundred and four (104) of the general laws of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (1883), are hereby repealed.

SEC. 10. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 21, 1891.

AN ACT to amend chapter thirty-seven of the general statutes of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight relating to the University of Minnesota. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota.

SEC. 1. That section fourteen of chapter thirty-seven of the general statutes of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, as amended by chapter seventy-one of the general laws of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three be amended so as to read as follows:

SEC. 14. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or dispose of any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors within a distance of one mile from the main building of the University of Minnesota, as now located in the city of Minneapolis; and it shall be unlawful for any person to keep or maintain any pool room, billiard room, or other place resorted to for the purpose of playing, either for gain or pleasure, any game of billiards, pool, roulette, or with dice, cards or other devices, within a distance one mile from the said main building of the said University; Provided, That nothing in this section contained shall be construed as prohibiting any such athletic games or exercises as shall or may be sanctioned or permitted by the regents or faculty of the said University, nor playing in private families; and provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to that part of the city of Minneapolis lying on the west side of the Mississippi river.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved February 23, 1895.

AN ACT to provide the entomologist of the experiment station of the University of Minnesota with means to destroy the chinch bugs and other insects injurious to the crops of this state.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the entomologist at the experiment station of the University of Minnesota as soon as practicable, after the passage and approval of this act, to procure the necessary equipment and assistance and proceed to combat chinch bugs and insect plagues, and to propagate such contagion or infection as is supposed to be destructive to chinch bugs and other insects that are destructive to the crops of this state: such contagion or infection shall be propagated at the state experiment station, and in such quantities as may be necessary to supply the farmers of this state with the same when required, and shall be furnished to them free of charge, and distributed under such rules and regulations as may be adopted by the entomologist.

SEC. 2. That the expense of combating such insect plagues and the propagation of such contagion or infection and the procuring of the necessary equipment and assistance therefor shall be paid by the state out of the money hereby appropriated by this act.

SEC. 3. The entomologist shall on or before the first (1st) day of December in each year, make a report to the governor of the result of his experiment and expenditures incurred under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4. That the sum of five thousand (5,000) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated from the moneys in the state treasury belonging to the general revenue fund not otherwise appropriated, for the carrying out of the provisions of this act, for the fiscal year ending July thirty-first (31st) one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (1895), and annually thereafter. And the state auditor is hereby directed to draw his warrant or warrants upon the state treasurer for such sum or sums in favor of such person or persons as the governor shall in writing indicate and approve as entitled to the benefits of this act and the same shall thereupon be payable out of the appropriation hereby made.

SEC. 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 25th, 1895.

AN ACT to amend article eight (8) of the constitution of the state of Minnesota relating to school funds, education and science.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The following amendment of article eight (8) of the constitution of the State of Minnesota is hereby proposed to the people for approval or rejection, that is to say, that said article eight (8) be amended by adding thereto the following section, viz:

SEC. 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the purchase of bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the issue of which the same in part would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed seven per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

SEC. 2. This proposed amendment shall be submitted to the people of this state for their approval or rejection at general election occurring next after the passage of this act, and the qualified electors of the state in their respective districts may at such election vote for or against said amendment by ballot; and the returns thereof shall be made and certified within the time, and such votes canvassed and the result thereof declared in the manner provided by law with reference to the election of state officers, and if it shall appear thereupon that a majority of the electors present and voting for or against the proposed amendment to the constitution, as provided in the next section, have voted in favor of the same, then the governor shall make proclamation thereof, and such amendment shall take effect and be in force as a part of the constitution.

SEC. 3. The ballots used at said election on said amendment shall have printed thereon "Amendment of article eight (8) of the constitution providing for loaning the permanent school and university fund to cities, villages, towns, counties and school districts, Yes— No," and each elector voting on said amendment shall place a cross mark thus (X) in a space to be left opposite either the word "Yes" or the word "No" and shall be counted for or against the proposition in accordance with the expressed will of the elector as provided by the election laws of the state.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 11, 1895.

AN ACT to legalize as a state certificate the teachers' University certificate of the department of pedagogy.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The teachers' university certificate issued by the University of Minnesota to graduates of the department of pedagogy in said University shall be valid as a certificate of the first grade to teach in the public schools of the state of Minnesota for a period of two years from date of graduation.

SECTION 2. At the expiration of two years of actual teaching the certificate of such graduate may be endorsed by the president of the university and the superintendent of public instruction upon satisfactory evidence that such service has been successful, and such endorsement shall make said certificate a permanent certificate of qualification; Provided, That said endorsement may be cancelled and its legal effect annulled by the superintendent of public instruction upon satisfactory evidence of disqualification.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 11th, 1895.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That section seven (7) of chapter eighty-three (83) of the General Laws of Minnesota for the year 1897, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

SEC. 7. No loan shall be made which with all other indebtedness shall exceed the sum of fifteen per cent. (15%) of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of such county, school district, city, village or township, nor until the county, school district, city, village or township shall have been authorized to issue bonds therefor in accordance with the provisions of law applicable thereto. No loan shall be made for a shorter period than five years, nor for a longer period than twenty years. No change of boundary lines shall in any way relieve such county, school district, city, village, or township from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved February 10, 1905.

AN ACT to divest the State board of control of jurisdiction and authority over the State University and the State normal schools of this State, and to provide for the management of the State University by a board of regents and the State normal schools by the normal board.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. Upon and after August first (1st), nineteen hundred five (1905), the board of control of this state shall be and is hereby divested of all authority, jurisdiction and control over the State University and the State normal schools of the State of Minnesota, except as hereinafter stated.

The State University on and after said date shall be under the management, jurisdiction and control of the board of regents of the State University, and the State normal schools on and after said date, shall be under the management, jurisdiction and control of the State normal school board; and the said board of regents and said normal school board shall, on and after said date, have and possess all of the powers, jurisdiction and authority, and shall perform, subject to the restrictions herein contained, all of the duties by them possessed and performed on and prior to April first (1st), nineteen hundred one (1901), except as hereinafter stated.

SEC. 2. Upon the date of assumption by the board of regents the said management and control of the said University, the president of the said board of regents by and with the consent and approval of the members of said board, shall appoint a purchasing agent, whose duties shall be as herein provided for, and whose compensation shall be fixed by the said board of regents and paid out of the funds provided for the maintenance of said University. The said purchasing agent shall attend to the purchasing of all necessary supplies for the several departments of the State University. Previous to the termination of each quarterly period of the year the dean or other executive head of each of the several departments of the State University shall prepare estimates in detail of all the supplies required for such department for the ensuing quarterly period. Prior to the opening of such quarterly period such estimate shall be submitted by the said dean or other executive head of each of said departments to the executive committee of said board of regents, which estimate so submitted shall be carefully examined and, if necessary, revised by said executive committee. Upon the approval of such estimate by such executive committee the same shall be prepared in triplicate, and one of said estimates shall be retained by the said board of regents, and one thereof shall be delivered to and filed with said purchasing agent, and one thereof shall be delivered and filed with the State auditor of this state. Such estimates, bearing such approval, shall govern and control said purchasing agent in the purchasing of supplies for the several departments of the State University. No disbursements for such purposes shall be made except on the warrant or requisition of said purchasing agent. The said purchasing agent shall give bond in such sum as said board of regents shall require for the faithful and diligent performance of his duties.

SEC. 4. Each purchasing agent shall at the close of each month prepare in triplicate statements showing all purchases made by him during said month for the several institutions, the names and addresses of persons from whom said purchases were made and the several price paid therefor. He shall accompany the same with an affidavit that the statement is correct, that the articles therein specified were duly authorized by the proper board upon prepared statements and estimates, were received under his direction at the institution named therein, that the several prices paid therefor were reasonable, that said goods were of proper and stipulated quality and grade, and that neither he nor any person in his behalf has any pecuniary or other interest in said purchases, or has received or will receive in any way any pecuniary or other benefit therefrom.

He shall also each month prepare in triplicate and cause to be receipted by the signatures of the several parties named therein, payrolls showing the monthly salaries and compensation of all officers, teachers and employes in said several institutions, and shall file one copy of said statement and said payroll with the president of the board of regents or president of the normal school board, as the case may be, and two copies with the state auditor. The auditor upon receiving the same shall draw his warrant upon the state treasurer for the amount called for in each expense list and payroll, and transmit the same to the treasurer, attaching thereto a copy of said expense list and payroll. Upon receipt of the same the treasurer shall send his checks to the several persons named therein for the amount of their respective claims.

SEC. 5. No member of the board of regents or of the normal school board, and no person in the employ of either board shall be paid for any expense incurred; unless it shall appear that said expense was duly authorized by the executive committee or the president of the board, and an itemized, verified account of the same, accompanied by sub-vouchers, where said sub-vouchers are practicable, is furnished by the claimant, and filed with the state auditor for his written audit. Such verification shall state that said expense bill is just and correct and for money actually and necessarily paid or to be paid for the purposes therein stated. If said expense is to be incurred in visiting another state, then, before said visit is authorized or undertaken the said executive committee or president must certify, in writing, the purpose of said visit, the necessity existing for the same, and the maximum expense to be incurred therefor, which certificate must be presented to the governor of the state for his approval. If he does not approve the same, the said visit shall not be undertaken. If the above provisions are complied with, the auditor shall pay such expense account in the same manner as monthly expenses and salaries are paid under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. It shall be unlawful for the board of regents or the normal school board to permit any expenditures for any purpose in excess of the amount appropriated or contemplated by law, and any member or agent of either of said boards violating this provision, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) or more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or being imprisoned in the county jail for not less than six (6) months, or by both fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 7. The board of control shall have and exercise full authority in all financial matters of the several institutions named in this act, so far only as relates to the erection and construction of new buildings, the purchase of fuel and the placing of insurance on buildings and contents. When new buildings are to be erected and constructed by authority of the state, it shall be the duty of the board of control to cause to be prepared plans and specifications for the same, but in so doing it shall consult with the local boards in respect to said plans and specifications, and shall adopt and carry out so far as it deems practicable their requests and desires in the matter.

SEC. 8. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

SEC. 9. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 7, 1905.

AN ACT to establish and maintain a teachers' college, or department of pedagogy, in the University of Minnesota.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. That it shall be the duty of the board of regents to organize and establish in the University of Minnesota as soon as practicable a teachers' college, or department of pedagogy, for the purpose of affording proper professional training for those persons who intend to become public and high school instructors, principals and superintendents of schools.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 7, 1905.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. There shall be established at or near the city of Crookston, in the county of Polk, under the direction and educational supervision of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, a school of agriculture, which shall be a department of the University of Minnesota, under such name and designation as the board of regents may determine, and wherein shall be taught such studies and branches of learning as are related to agriculture and domestic economy.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 11, 1905.

AN ACT relating to gifts, grants, (and) devises and bequests to the University of Minnesota and the disposition thereof.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The University of Minnesota may accept, in trust, or otherwise, any gift, grant, bequest or devise for educational purposes, and may hold, manage, invest and dispose of the same and the proceeds and income thereof, in accordance with the terms and conditions of such gift, grant, bequest or devise, and of the acceptance thereof; and any person or persons contributing not less than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) to the University may endow a professorship therein, the name and object of which shall be determined by the board of regents.

SEC. 2. If the purposes of such gift, grant, devise or bequest are not otherwise limited by the donor the University of Minnesota may use the same or the proceeds thereof for any of the purposes of the University, and may, among other things, construct buildings and acquire land. In case it is desired to use the same for the acquisition of land the power of eminent domain may be exercised either in accordance with sections 4085 to 4091, inclusive, General Statutes 1894, or chapter 41 of the Revised Laws 1905.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 15, 1905.

AN ACT to make the University of Minnesota a depository of State publications.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

SECTION 1. The general library of the University of Minnesota is hereby made a depository of all books, pamphlets, documents, maps and other works published by or under the authority of the State of Minnesota.

It shall be the duty of the secretary of state, and of all other officials and boards having the custody or distribution of such publications, to deliver to the said library one copy of each so soon as ready for distribution; and thereafter whenever different works are bound up together, one copy of each bound volume; provided, that the said library shall be entitled to receive five copies of the Legislative Manual. The said officers may in their discretion issue to the said library additional copies as requested by the librarian.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Approved April 18, 1905.

ADAMS BILL.—The following is the first and essential paragraph of the Adams bill which was approved by the president, 1906:

"Be it enacted by the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that there shall be, and hereby is, annually appropriated out of any money in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to be paid as hereinafter provided, to each state and territory, for the more complete endowment and maintenance of agricultural experiment stations now established or which may hereafter be established in accordance with the act of Congress approved March 2nd, 1887, the sum of $5,000 in addition to the sum named in said act, for the year ending June 30th, 1906, and an annual increase of the amount of such appropriation thereafter for five years by an additional sum of $2,000 over the preceding year, and the annual amount to be paid thereafter to each state and territory shall be thirty thousand dollars, to be applied only to paying the necessary expenses of conducting original researches or experiments bearing directly on the agricultural industry of the United States, having due regard for the varying conditions and needs of the respective states and territories." This is virtually an amendment to the Hatch bill, under the provisions of which experiment stations were established and by which they have been supported since 1887.

NELSON BILL.—The Nelson bill is practically an amendment to the Morrill bill, which was for the encouragement of agricultural education, as distinct from agricultural investigation. It was approved March 4, 1907, and appropriated $5,000 for 1907, and $5000 more for each of the following four years, until it reaches a maximum of $25,000, doubling the appropriation carried by the Morrill bill. The money provided by this bill is to be used strictly for agricultural education and no part of it can go for general expenses, to include the mechanic arts.

AN ACT to give the regents of the University of Minnesota authority to deed not more than an acre of land of the University farm in Ramsey county,

AN ACT providing for the acquirement by gift or purchase of certain tracts of land in Carlton County, Minnesota, for a demonstration and experiment forest for the University of Minnesota and providing for its care and maintenance and appropriating money therefor.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Demonstration and experiment forest.—SECTION 1.

WHEREAS, the honorable secretary of the interior of the United States has been duly authorized by act of Congress to convey to the State of Minnesota certain lands situate in the Fond du Lac Indian reservation in the county of Carlton in said state, subject to all then outstanding contracts for the sale of timber thereon, upon receipt by said secretary of the interior of the sum of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, to him paid by any person or persons on behalf of said State of Minnesota, and

WHEREAS, Congress has removed all restrictions on alienation as to any Indian allottee, or allotment embraced in certain adjoining tracts on said reservation, in order that said allotments might be conveyed to the said State of Minnesota, and

WHEREAS, said lands by reason of their favorable location, the nature of their soil, and the growth of young timber thereon, are especially adapted for a forest practice ground, demonstration forest and experiment station for the students of the forestry department of the University of Minnesota.

WHEREAS, certain citizens of Minnesota are desirous of paying said sums of money to said secretary of interior, so that certain said lands may be presented as a free gift to the State of Minnesota, to be used for the purposes for which they are specially adapted, as above recited,

NOW, THEREFORE, to the end that said tract may be investigated and accepted by the State of Minnesota, the board of regents of the State University is hereby fully authorized and directed and empowered to examine said tract of land, or to cause the same to be examined in such manner as shall seem to them proper, and if in their judgment said lands shall be found suitable and proper for the purposes hereinbefore recited, and shall be free from private holdings and subject only to said prior rights to cut certain timber therefrom and shall be in a solid body, and amount to not less than two thousand and two hundred acres, the said board of regents is hereby fully authorized and directed to accept said tract of land, for and in behalf and in the name of the State of Minnesota, subject only to said right of cutting certain of said grown timber now thereon, and subject to the further condition that said timber shall be cut at such times and upon such terms and conditions as to said board of regents seems practical and best adapted to promoting the use of said land for forestry purposes.

Attorney general to assist board of regents.—SEC. 2. The attorney general is hereby directed to assist said board of regents in securing said tract of land whenever requested so to do, and to act for the state in obtaining title whenever it may be desirable to do so. He shall also pass upon the title to all land which may come to the state in this way, and see to it that the state has good and indefeasible title therein.

Board of regents to manage University forest.—SEC. 3. The board of regents of the State University is hereby directed to manage said University forest as a practice ground, demonstration forest and experiment station for the students of the forestry department of the University of Minnesota.

$10,000 appropriated.—SEC. 4. There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500.00) for the fiscal year ending July 31st, 1910, and two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500.00) for the fiscal year ending July 31st, 1911, for the establishment and care and maintenance of said forest experiment station, and in addition the further sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) is hereby appropriated for the purchase of four hundred and eighty (480) acres of Indian allotments located in or adjacent to said land, or so much thereof as may be found desirable, all to be expended by said board of regents for the purpose herein stated; Provided, That no portion of this appropriation shall be available until the tract of land, amounting to not less than 2,200 acres, shall have been given to the state free of all costs or charges whatsoever and subject only to the conditions hereinbefore recited.

Approved March 31, 1909.

AN ACT to require the Northern Pacific Railway Company to cover its tracks through the campus of the University of Minnesota, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS. The line of railway of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, located through the campus of the University of Minnesota, is operated in an open cut extending through the campus, whereby travel between the different parts of the campus is greatly impeded:

WHEREAS. The operation of trains through said open cut causes noise and vibrations that obstruct the work in the class rooms in the University buildings adjacent to the tracks, and the locomotive engines operated through said campus emit large volumes of smoke and cinders which injure and destroy delicate scientific instruments in use in said buildings, and also render their use difficult by the excessive vibrations resulting from such operation of the railroad; and

WHEREAS, It is feasible and practicable to cover said tracks through the campus in a manner that will, in a large degree, if not wholly, obviate said difficulties without hindering the proper operation of said railway, therefore.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Northern Pacific Railway Co. to cover tracks through Minnesota University campus.—SECTION 1. That the Northern Pacific Railway Company, at its own expense, is hereby required to cover its tracks through the campus of the University of Minnesota in such manner, consistent with the proper use and requirements of its railway, as will least impair the safety and use of the campus, protect the property of the state from injury and cause the least annoyance and interruption of the work of the University.

Board of regents given certain powers.—SEC. 2. If it should appear to the board of regents that the general object of this act can be better accomplished by agreement, then the board of regents of the University of Minnesota is hereby authorized to make such agreements as it may deem best with the Northern Pacific Railway Company for changing the grade or line of the railway company's tracks through the grounds of the State University, and for so covering or otherwise altering the railway as to minimize as far as practicable the injury and inconvenience to the University arising from the location thereof and the running of trains upon the same.

Change of grade authorized.—SEC. 3. Should any agreement which the regents may make under section 2 make necessary or advisable a change of the grade of said railway at and near its crossing of University avenue in Minneapolis, the city of Minneapolis is hereby authorized to become party to the agreement and to make such contract obligating the city in the premises as in the judgment of the city council may be necessary to accomplish the object heretofore stated.

Division of expense.—SEC. 4. The said board of regents and the said city are authorized to contract with the said railway company for such division of the expense of the improvement as they may determine to be just and proper, and if they are unable to come to an agreement for such division of such expense they are authorized to agree with said railway company for a determination thereof by arbitration.

Regents to enforce act.—SEC. 5. It is hereby made the duty of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota to enforce this act.

SEC. 6. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 21, 1909.

AN ACT to create and maintain a division of agricultural extension and home education in the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, to provide for the publication and distribution of home education bulletins and appropriating money therefor.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Agricultural extension and home education.—SECTION 1. The board of regents of the University of Minnesota is hereby authorized and directed to establish a division of agricultural extension and home education in the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota.

Purposes of work.—SEC. 2. The purpose and work of said division shall be to devise and prescribe comprehensive elementary courses in the various phases of husbandry; to teach such courses to all persons in the state desiring instruction in them, or any of them, in accordance with sections 4 and 5 of this act, by means of correspondence with them at their homes; by providing local lectures, demonstrations, instructions and any information calculated to elevate agriculture to a higher economic and social plane and make country life more attractive and to publish frequent home education bulletins which shall give in plain and practical form the results of the experiments and investigations of the various divisions of the state experiment station and sub-stations of the University of Minnesota and such other information as may be useful in any farm home.

Officers of division.—SEC. 4. That the officers of said division shall be a chief, who shall have general oversight and immediate charge of the work of said division; associates consisting of the chiefs of the divisions of investigation and instruction in the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota who shall serve in an advisory capacity; an editor who shall edit and prepare for publication such material as the chief of the division may direct, and such other faculty, assistants and clerks as may be needed for the greatest usefulness of said division.

Free instruction.—SEC. 4. That all persons who reside in the state of Minnesota shall have the right to take free of charge any courses of instruction offered in the division of agricultural extension and home education as provided for in section 2 of this act, and shall be subject to such rules and regulations as said division of agricultural extension and home education shall establish under the authority and direction of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota.

Bulletins to be issued.—SEC. 5. The home education bulletins authorized by this act shall be sent free to all persons resident within the state who shall request said bulletins to be sent to them.

$50,000 appropriated.—SEC. 6. The sum of fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars is hereby set aside and appropriated to the University of Minnesota for the purpose of establishing said division of agricultural extension and home education in agriculture and husbandry, and maintaining the same and defraying any expenses incident to the establishment, maintenance and operation of same, and said division shall be furnished free rooms for their work at and in connection with the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota at St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, and said sum shall be expended by the board of regents of the University of Minnesota for said purposes during the college years beginning in September of 1909 and 1910.

Co-operation.—SEC. 7. The board of regents shall co-operate, if it seems advisable, with the board of administration of the state farmers' institutes in carrying on the educational work provided for in this act.

Approved April 22, 1909.

AN ACT to amend chapter 459, Laws of Minnesota, 1907, entitled "An act to authorize the board of regents of the State University to acquire property and erect buildings for certain uses, issue certificates of indebtedness, and levy a tax to pay for same," so that such taxes may be levied for two additional years.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Regents to erect an engineering building to cost not over $250,000.—SECTION 1. That section 1 of said chapter 359 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"SECTION 1. The board of regents of the State University is hereby authorized to acquire by gift, purchase or condemnation, such land, together with the buildings thereon, as it may deem necessary for campus, and to erect an engineering building and laboratory to cost not to exceed two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) dollars, and thereafter deal with the same as said board shall determine that the needs of said University may require. To provide the necessary funds therefor, the said auditor is authorized and directed to levy and collect in the same manner as other state taxes for the year 1907, and next succeeding five years, the sum of one hundred and seventy-five thousand (175,000) dollars for each of said years, and a tax levy sufficient to produce such sum shall be levied each year on all of the taxable property of the state; and pending the levy and collection thereof said board may, if it seems necessary or desirable, issue and dispose of its certificates of indebtedness payable with interest thereon in such form and upon such terms and conditions as it may determine in an amount not exceeding the amount to be raised by taxation hereunder.

The buildings herein provided for shall be constructed under the supervision of the board of control as provided in chapter 119, section 7 of the General Laws of 1905."

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 23, 1909.

AN ACT to amend Section 1361 of the Revised Laws of 1905, defining the value of teachers' certificates issued by the State University and diplomas from the State Normal Schools, and to repeal Section 1369 of the Revised Laws of 1905, relating to the validity of teachers' certificates issued by the State University.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Validation of certificates from State University.—

SECTION 1. That section 1361 of the Revised Laws of 1905 be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Certificates of graduation from the State University issued to graduates of the college of education and to those graduates from its college of science, literature and art, (or its college of agriculture) who have taken specified courses in the college of education, shall be valid as first grade professional certificates for two years from their date, and at the expiration of two years of actual successful teaching, such certificates, endorsed by the president of the University and the state superintendent, shall have the force of permanent first grade professional certificates.

*From state normal schools or department of agriculture.—*SEC. 2. Diplomas issued to graduates of the state normal schools (or of the teachers' course in the department of agriculture of the State University) shall be valid as first grade professional certificates for two years from their date, and at the expiration of two years of actual successful teaching, such diplomas, endorsed by the president of the school granting them, and the state superintendent, shall have the force of first grade certificates for life.

*Elementary diplomas.—*SEC. 3. Elementary diplomas granted by a state normal school upon the completion of such portion of the course of study as may be prescribed therefor by the normal school board, shall be valid as first grade certificates for the period of three years from their date, and shall not be renewable; except that any holder of such an elementary diploma may have the force and effect thereof, as such first grade certificate, extended for a further period of three years, by the completion of an additional one year of work in a Minnesota state normal school, and the certificate of endorsement thereon by the president of such school and the state superintendent; Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to persons now holding Minnesota elementary normal school diplomas, nor to any student heretofore enrolled in a Minnesota state normal school who shall be graduated prior to September 1, 1911.

*To be endorsed by superintendent of public instruction.—*SEC. 4. The holders of certificates from the state normal schools, showing the completion of two years of prescribed work in such schools, shall be entitled to have such certificates endorsed by the superintendent of public instruction and thereby given the full force and effect of a second grade certificate.

SEC. 5. Section 1369 of the Revised Laws of 1905 is hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 23, 1909.
