1955 GOLF PROSPECTS

Coach Les Bolstad calls his 1955 University of Minnesota golf team a "good dual meet team" but at the same time points out that the Gophers do not face the best Big Ten teams until tournament time.

Bolstad says the conference golf strength is in the East (Ohio State won last year's title). Minnesota faces its usual Western opponents in Iowa, Northwestern and Wisconsin in addition to non-conference Iowa State and several Minnesota colleges

Three of last season's seven lettermen have graduated. They are Pete Oberhauser, 1954 captain and runnerup in the Big Ten tournament, George Reynolds and Harvey Mackay. Back are Norb Anderson, Don Dosen, Herb Howe and Bill Newman. A fifth letterwinner on hand is captain Ted Vickerman who lettered in 1951 and 1952. Vickerman has been in the service. Hadley Hamre, another service returnee who earned an "M" in 1951, is also back for another try.

The keys to this year's Gopher chances are Vickerman and sophomore Jim Lucius of Northfield. Lucius is the most experienced golfer on the squad although only a sophomore. He was National PGA junior runnerup in 1952, Minnesota State High School champion in 1953 and National junior semi-finalist in 1953. Vickerman, an "improved putter" according to Bolstad, is the best hitter. Both must shoot consistent golf if Minnesota is to place as high as its 1954 third position.

The top five golfers are Vickerman, Lucius, Anderson, Newman and Dosen.

Bolstad is happy about the fine spring weather and claims the Gophers are three weeks ahead of schedule. He hopes his squad will finish in the middle of the conference teams at the tournament at Purdue. Other observers are looking for a better finish.

Most promising freshman is Tom Hadley from Minneapolis, the first Evans Scholar to come to Minnesota. Hadley, like Lucius, is an experienced junior golfer. Bolstad hopes to have 2 Evans Scholars and a House by next year.

Junior golfers are making their presence known all around the conference now and Bolstad feels this will improve the golf being played. A full House of Evans Scholars, taking for granted most of them will be fairly good golfers, would help the Gopher situation immeasurably.

Bolstad thinks Purdue, Iowa, Ohio State and Michigan will be the top teams, but not necessarily in this order. The Hawkeyes have three experienced junior golfers, now sophomores, in Herbert Klotz, John Marschall and Tom Davis. Michigan has Steve Uzelac, John Schubeck and Henry Loeb. Purdue has Joe Campbell. Wisconsin, although last in 1954 and not given much notice this spring, has Dave Forbes and Roger Rubendal, both seasoned junior golfers.

COACH LES BOLSTAD

Lester Bolstad, who was appointed to the staff of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics of the University of Minnesota, February 16, 1947, serves in the multiple capacities of professional of the University golf course, coach of the Minnesota varsity golf team and golf instructor in the physical education program.

Ike Armstrong, director of physical education and athletics at Minnesota, foresees the University becoming the principal factor in the development of this popular sport throughout the state as well as within the student body, under Bolstad's direction.

The University golf program is an ambitious one. All students, male and female, alike, are encouraged to participate in golf. Bolstad starts with the beginner and duffer and conducts group instruction in playing techniques, rules and golf course courtesy. He also teaches several Extension Division classes at night. He has conducted golf clinics throughout the state and in other states.

No man in the nation is better qualified than Les Bolstad to fill the post he now occupies. He is a profound student of golf and is rated by such top authorities as Byron Nelson and Lloyd Mangrum as one of the country's leading instructors. Among his famous pupils are Patty Berg of Minneapolis, who is generally accepted as one of the top women golfers in the nation; Beverly Hanson of Fargo, North Dakota; Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Georgia; and Mickey Wright of San Diego, California.

When Bolstad returned to the University golf course as professional it marked the completion of a circle. Bolstad had started as a caddy as a boy of eleven at the old University course.

His first competitive triumph was in the Minnesota junior tournament in 1924. In 1926, his sophomore year at the University of Minnesota, Les won the national public links championship. He was instrumental in reviving golf as a competitive sport at Minnesota in 1927 and captained Gopher link teams in 1927, '28 and '29. He was Big Ten individual champion in 1927 and 1929 and helped Minnesota to the team title in 1929.

Bolstad has held the Minnesota amateur championship, the Minnesota Open title (4 times), the Minnesota Publink title (twice) and the Minnesota PGA crown. Together with Joe Coria of St. Paul, Les holds the National Professional Golfers Association best-ball record of 59 strokes, achieved during the Golden Valley invitational meet of 1944 and at the expense of Chick Harbert and Mike Turnesa. Les left his post as professional at the Golden Valley Club, Minneapolis, to join the University staff. He had served at Westwood Hills and the Minneapolis Golf Club before going to Golden Valley.

1955 TENNIS PROSPECTS

Although five of last year's six lettermen are back, coach Phil Brain does not expect to field a strong dual meet team. The talent is just not present.

Don Korn is the only letterwinner who graduated. Back are captain Felix Phillips, three-year veteran Arlen Wolpert, Bob McKenzie, Russ Holman and Don Hufford 1951 "M" winner, Fritz Hurd, is also out for the team.

Korn was the number one singles player in 1954 and was paired with Arlen Wolpert as number one doubles. Pre-season singles ratings ranked Wolpert number one, Hufford number two, Phillips number three, Holman number four and McKenzie number five. Several others, including Duane Bloom, Tom Heden, Hurd, Ed Rice, Ron Simon and Curt Rohrer are vying for the number six singles spot.

A year ago Wolpert was number two singles, Hufford number three, Phillips number four, Holman number five and McKenzie number six. Hufford and Phillips were number two doubles and McKenzie and Holman were number three doubles. This season, Holman and Wolpert will probably be number one doubles. The other two doubles pairs are undecided. Brain rates Wolpert the steadiest with Holman right behind. Hufford has the best service.

Brain expects his team to do better this spring but does not see a winner. He rates Indiana as the team to beat in the Big Ten. The Hoosiers were last year's champions. Michigan, Illinois and Northwestern are also strong with the Wildcats a "darkhorse."

COACH PHIL BRAIN

Phil Brain is the only full-time tennis coach the University of Minnesota has had.

Brain began coaching tennis at the University in 1928 in exchange for using the old Field House for conducting private lessons. In September, 1931, he was appointed to the Athletic Department staff as tennis coach and instructor in physical education. He still holds both these positions and is also the official photographer for Minnesota athletic contests.

The Gopher tennis mentor was born in San Antonio, Texas, January 6, 1888 and attended Shattuck Military Academy in Faribault, Minnesota, graduating in 1908. While at Shattuck Brain quarterbacked the football team, ran the 440 and mile relay on the track team, was a baseball first baseman, a basketball center and competed in both singles and doubles on the tennis team. He also captained the cage, diamond and racquet squads.

After graduation Brain went into the banking business in Spokane, Washington. From 1908 to 1928 he engaged in banking, lumbering, patent medicine and radio servicing in such places as Libby, Montana; Bend, Oregon; and Minneapolis.

During Brain's first three years at Minnesota (1928-30) he taught tennis at the Skokie Country Club in Glencoe, Illinois. He continued giving private lessons in Minneapolis and the surrounding areas until 1938. Summers now are spent in Duluth and at a cabin on the Gunflint Trail.

Before becoming coach and thus a professional in 1928 Brain competed in over 150 amateur tournaments. He was 19 when he played in his first tournament in 1907. In 1913 he and Joe Tyler were the 10th ranking U.S. doubles team. He and Tyler won the Inland Empire doubles crown three straight years. Brain also copped the Northwest singles title in 1918 and 1923 and the doubles crown (with Trafford Jayne) in 1920. Brain won the Canadian amateur singles championship in 1920 and, with Jayne, took the doubles titles in 1919, 1920 and 1922.

Although Brain's teams have never won a team championship, four of his pupils have distinguished themselves in Big Ten tournaments. Charles Britzius won the conference singles title in 1933 and combined with John Scherer to win the doubles crown. Two years later Billy Schommer captured the singles and, with Roy Huber, won the doubles.

Two of Brain's hobbies, photography and electric scoreboards, have been his most active non-tennis interests. As official photographer, Brain has taken all movies of Gopher athletics since 1933 when Louis Keller, current head of the Department of Physical Education and Assistant Athletic Director, went on a sabbatical leave. Brain had assisted Keller in 1932.

During his 23 years with the camera, Brain has photographed football(both home and away), basketball, hockey, wrestling, track and boxing. He originated the idea of a football highlight film in 1933 and showed the one print 125 times the first year. In 1934 he and the football coaches showed three prints 450 times. This fall nine sound prints and one silent print were made and will have been shown over a thousand times before the next season rolls around. Brain estimates he has shown the films about 1,750 times since 1933.

In 1942 he took the Gopher highlight films to service camps for former Minnesota Governor, Harold Stassen.

Brain's electric scoreboards are now in use in Williams Arena(both hockey and basketball) and Memorial Stadium at Minnesota; Central Stadium in St. Paul; Camp Randall Stadium at Madison, Wisconsin; Ohio Stadium at Columbus, Ohio; Minneapolis Arena; Aksarben Coliseum in Omaha, Nebraska; and the Burlington, Iowa, High School football stadium.

Married in 1914 at Spokane, Brain and his first wife(she died in 1943) raised three sons and three daughters. One of his sons, Stan, was killed during World War II. Brain remarried in 1954 and now lives in South Minneapolis.

He retires after one more year on the job - June, 1956.

1956 GOPHER GOLF PROSPECTS

By Coach Les Bolstad

We have six returning lettermen this year, led by Captain Herb Howe. Other returning lettermen include Norb Anderson, Bob Nordstrom, Bill Newman, Don Olsen, and service returnee Lloyd Olson. By graduation we lost Ted Vickerman, who twice captained Gopher teams. We also lost letterman Jim Lucius who quit school.

I would say we will definitely have to improve over last year's showing to be rated a contender. We won 11 and lost none in dual meet competition, but then in the Big Ten meet we slumped and came in fifth. Last year's squad was an ideal meet team, but the competition in the Big Ten meet was too much to overcome.

We will have some promising sophomores coming up from last year's freshman team. Tom Hadley, an Evans scholarship award winner, looks like the best prospect. Other sophs with potential include Brian Egersdorf, Bruce Nordin, Jim Archer, Pete Passolt and Morrie Brownstein.

Purdue looks like the strongest team in the Big Ten led by Joe Campbell. Ohio State and Michigan are always tough. And Wisconsin, with the redoubtable Roger Rubendahl, rounds out a list of strong, talented Big Ten teams. Iowa and Minnesota could be rated darkhorses depending on many factors such as how the sophomores come through, weather conducive to extensive practice and improvement in last year's lettermen.

COACH LES BOLSTAD

Lester Bolstad, who was appointed to the staff of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics of the University of Minnesota, February 16, 1947, serves in the multiple capacities of professional of the University golf course, coach of the Minnesota varsity golf team and golf instructor in the physical education program.

Ike Armstrong, director of physical education and athletics at Minnesota, foresees the University becoming the principal factor in the development of this popular sport throughout the state as well as within the student body, under Bolstad's direction.

The University golf program is an ambitious one. All students, male and female, alike, are encouraged to participate in golf. Bolstad starts with the beginner and duffer and conducts group instruction in playing techniques, rules and golf course courtesy. He also teaches several Extension Division classes at night. He has conducted golf clinics throughout the state and in other states.

No man in the nation is better qualified than Les Bolstad to fill the post he now occupies. He is a profound student of golf and is rated by such top authorities as Byron Nelson and Lloyd Mangrum as one of the country's leading instructors. Among his famous pupils are Patty Berg of Minneapolis, who is generally accepted as one of the top women golfers in the nation; Beverly Hanson of Fargo, North Dakota; Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Georgia; and Mickey Wright of San Diego, California.

When Bolstad returned to the University golf course as professional it marked the completion of a circle. Bolstad had started as a caddy as a boy of eleven at the old University course.

His first competitive triumph was in the Minnesota junior tournament in 1924. In 1926, his sophomore year at the University of Minnesota, Les won the national public links championship. He was instrumental in reviving golf as a competitive sport at Minnesota in 1927 and captained Gopher link teams in 1927, '28 and '29. He was Big Ten individual champion in 1927 and 1929 and helped Minnesota to the team title in 1929.

Bolstad has held the Minnesota amateur championship, the Minnesota Open title (4 times), the Minnesota Publink title (twice) and the Minnesota PGA crown. Together with Joe Coria of St. Paul, Les holds the National Professional Golfers Association best-ball record of 59 strokes, achieved during the Golden Valley invitational meet of 1944 and at the expense of Chick Harbert and Mike Turnesa. Les left his post as professional at the Golden Valley Club, Minneapolis, to join the University staff. He had served at Westwood Hills and the Minneapolis Golf Club before going to Golden Valley.

1956 GOPHER TENNIS PROSPECTS

by Coach Phil Brain

With only one returning letterman (Capt. Harold Swanson) from last year's team, we'll have to rely this season on the sophomores and non-lettermen from last season's squad.

We lost five men by graduation and it will be difficult to replace them readily. The replacements on whom we are counting are Thomas Heden, Paul Herman, Warren Olson, Curt Rohrer and Ron Simon (all of Minneapolis) and Wayne Templeman of White Bear. Heden, one of the top candidates, will not be playing tennis until after the National Badminton tournament in Chicago.

Some of the players have been working out this winter in the squash and handball courts and now (Mar. 16) we have the indoor courts in Williams Arena available for practice. As soon as the University courts are dry we will start official outdoor practice.

Two other boys who might help this year are service returnee Warren Olson and varsity wrestler Ed Anderson. We can't, however, expect to improve too much this year on last season because of the lack of veterans.

As for the rest of the Big Ten, Indiana and Michigan State look like the best bets for a Big Ten crown. Iowa, Northwestern and Illinois also look like darkhorses and are always pretty tough.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA'S LONG-RANGE
PROSPECTS FOR THE 1956 FOOTBALL SEASON
(In Brief)

Coach Murray Warmath is anything but optimistic as he prepares for his third season as head football coach at the University of Minnesota. He finds it difficult to evaluate in terms of the stiff schedule ahead a squad which includes 22 lettermen, but does not have a single all-Conference player in its ranks. Ten 1955 "M" winners will be missing.

The Gophers meet all Big 10 teams, excepting Ohio State and Indiana, with Washington and Pittsburgh providing the non-Conference opposition.

Says Warmath, "Our best hope of improving on our 8th place finish in the Conference last fall when we had a 2-5 record is that our 15 sophomore lettermen of a year ago will make exceptional improvement. We have only one or two new players coming up who figure to help us to any important extent. The 1955 freshman group was thin and devoid of outstanding talent."

The returning lettermen by positions are: ENDS - Jon Jelacic, Tom Juhl, and Bob Schmidt. TACKLES - Bob Hobert, Norm Sixta, Frank Youso. GUARDS - Dave Burkholder, Elden Dahl, Dave Herbold, Bob Rasmussen. CENTERS - Gerald Hassett, Bill Jukich, Captain Dean Maas. QUARTERBACK - Dick Larson. LEFT HALFBACKS - Ken Bombardier, Bill Garner, Dick (Pinky) McNamara. RIGHT HALFBACKS - Dick Blakley, Bob Schultz. FULLBACKS - Rich Borstad, Kelvin Kleber, Rhody Tuszka.

Both Kleber and Tuszka who were punting specialists may move up into the line where lack of depth and strength at tackle and guard is causing Coach Warmath deep concern. Captain Maas will likely be tried extensively at tackle in spring practice.

Top prospects among newcomers are Bobby Cox, quarterback and a transfer student from the University of Washington, and Jim Reese, quarterback and transfer from Fordham.

Norm Anderson, fleet halfback who suffered a leg fracture in the '55 opener and missed the remainder of the season, is expected to help in the '56 campaign.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT
100 EAST WASHINGTON
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

10/10/57

For release upon receipt

The University of Minnesota is making every effort to have its sellout home football games cleared by the National Collegiate Athletic Association so they may be televised.

Ike Armstrong made this statement today in response to irresponsible and incorrect rumors being currently circulated.

In reply to criticism from uninformed or misinformed quarters that the Athletic Department of the University had not acted in good faith in this matter, Armstrong pointed out that he has consistently voted in all Big 10 and N.C.A.A. balloting on the subject for unrestricted televising of all of Minnesota's sellout games. However, as a member of both organizations, Minnesota has been bound to go along with the will of the majority and has been out-voted in all instances.

In compliance with N.C.A.A. rules, a member school must petition the regional TV committee chairman for permission to telecast a game, once it has been declared a bona fide (complete and total) sellout. Armstrong made this request of Doug Mills, University of Illinois athletic director and regional chairman, in the instances of the recent Washington and Purdue games, and has petitioned for permission to have the Michigan game on October 26 and the Indiana game on November 2, both of them sellouts, approved for telecasting.

In each instance permission was denied under the so-called "thrift" clause of the N.C.A.A. regulations which provides that if another college game is being played within 90 miles of the site of a sellout college game for which clearance is being sought, the petition shall be denied. There remains a strong possibility that the Wisconsin game, a likely sellout at this time, may be telecast for it is believed that all other colleges in this area will have completed their schedules by that time. The Minnesota director has already asked Mills to study the possibilities for that game here on November 23.

There appears to be a likelihood that the Minnesota - Michigan game in Memorial Stadium will be selected as an N.C.A.A. approved game for a regional telecast. In this event the N.C.A.A. "hurt" clause would not apply and the game would be carried on a regional television network, including a Twin Cities station.

Thomas (Tom) Hadley -- Senior - 21 - 5-8, 165 pounds --- on Evans Scholarship, called by Les Bolstad, "most consistent low scorer on the squad" --- attended high school and graduated from De LaSalle in 1954 -- enrolled in the engineering school -- has done speed skating and won junior, immediate titles -- won the State Jaycee championship -- Star-Tribune tournament, runnerup in the State Public Links 1955 and competed in the USGA junior tournament. Established record low total for the state caddy tournament -- learned his golf like most great golfers while caddying -- caddied at Interlachen Country Club -- placed 12th in the Big Ten meet last season, was leading the tourney when he shanked a shot on the 12th hole of his second round and lost several strokes to put him out of contention -- Coach Bolstad says Tom has all the equipment to carry him to the individual championship this year -- elected Captain of this year's golf squad.

COACH LES BOLSTAD

Lester Bolstad, who was appointed to the staff of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics of the University of Minnesota, February 16, 1947, serves in the multiple capacities of professional of the University golf course, coach of the Minnesota varsity golf team and golf instructor in the physical education program.

Ike Armstrong, director of physical education and athletics at Minnesota, foresees the University becoming the principal factor in the development of this popular sport throughout the state as well as within the student body, under Bolstad's direction.

The University golf program is an ambitious one. All students, male and female, alike, are encouraged to participate in golf. Bolstad starts with the beginner and duffer and conducts group instruction in playing techniques, rules and golf course courtesy. He also teaches several Extension Division classes at night. He has conducted golf clinics throughout the state and in other states.

No man in the nation is better qualified than Les Bolstad to fill the post he now occupies. He is a profound student of golf and is rated by such top authorities as Byron Nelson and Lloyd Mangrum as one of the country's leading instructors. Among his famous pupils are Patty Berg of Minneapolis, who is generally accepted as one of the top women golfers in the nation; Beverly Hanson of Fargo, North Dakota; Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Georgia; and Mickey Wright of San Diego, California.

When Bolstad returned to the University golf course as professional it marked the completion of a circle. Bolstad had started as a caddy as a boy of eleven at the old University course.

His first competitive triumph was in the Minnesota junior tournament in 1924. In 1926, his sophomore year at the University of Minnesota, Les won the national public links championship. He was instrumental in reviving golf as a competitive sport at Minnesota in 1927 and captained Gopher link teams in 1927, '28 and '29. He was Big Ten individual champion in 1927 and 1929 and helped Minnesota to the team title in 1929.

Bolstad has held the Minnesota amateur championship, the Minnesota Open title (4 times), the Minnesota Publix title (twice) and the Minnesota PGA crown. Together with Joe Coria of St. Paul, Les holds the National Professional Golfers Association best-ball record of 59 strokes, achieved during the Golden Valley invitational meet of 1944 and at the expense of Chick Harbert and Mike Turnesa. Les left his post as professional at the Golden Valley Club, Minneapolis, to join the University staff. He had served at Westwood Hills and the Minneapolis Golf Club before going to Golden Valley.
