"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The big boys get together this weekend for three games that could go a long way toward deciding who will be the 1964 Big Ten baseball champion.

Michigan's unbeaten Wolverines (6-0) invade Delta Field Friday for a 3:30 single game with the Gophers (5-1), currently tied for the runnerup spot with Michigan State. The Spartans come to town Saturday for a climactic doubleheader, starting at 1 p.m.

Gopher coach Dick Siebert is a bit apprehensive. "We'll have to hit the ball a whole lot better this weekend than we did against Iowa or we're in trouble," he warns. The Gophers managed to take three straight from the visiting Hawkeyes last weekend by 9-2, 4-0 and 2-0 despite collecting only 12 hits off Iowa hurling.

"Our pitching was excellent against Iowa," Siebert declares. "Frank Brosseau, Joe Pollack and Dick Mielke all threw extremely well." Pollack and Mielke tossed shutouts, a one-hitter and two-hitter respectively.

"Pitching has been our strong suit all spring," Siebert continues. "I can't recall when I've had a pitching staff with a collective earned run average of 2.07. That's fantastic."

Brosseau leads the starters with a 1.50 ERA, Mielke is 1.60 and Pollack 1.87. Oddly enough, reliefer Dan Howard has the best mark on the staff -- 1.30 -- but hasn't seen any Big Ten action as yet because of the brilliant work of the starting rotation which has produced five complete games in six tries.

"Our defense was tight against Iowa and theirs wasn't," Siebert points out. "Without their help, we probably wouldn't have swept the series. We only had one earned run in the doubleheader Saturday, a home run by (shortstop Dick) McCullough."

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Wisconsin's powerful track squad again provides the competition for Roy Griak's University of Minnesota cindermen Saturday at Madison. The talented Badgers, a top Big Ten title threat, bested both Minnesota and Iowa by a wide margin in a triangular meet at Iowa City last weekend.

Although his team finished third by a single point in the meet, Griak was encouraged by a number of individual performances. Had it not been for the loss of Big Ten indoor two-mile champ Norris Peterson in both distance events, the Gophers would have been runnerup by a comfortable margin. Peterson has been feeling under par for a couple of weeks and did not compete.

"Our kids ran real well against Iowa," Griak points out. "We should be able to make things interesting for Wisconsin this week, providing Peterson is able to run."

Griak thinks the Gophers can put up a battle in the distance events with Peterson and the fast-improving Mike Elwell, the 880 with Ray Miller, Wayne Thronson and Carl Jones, the high hurdles with Byron Gigler, the 100 and 220 with Bill Stevens and the shot and discus with Tom Barnes. Barnes swept both events at Iowa City to pick up the Gophers' only firsts while Thronson and Stevens were runnerups in the 880 and 100 respectively.

The Badgers are loaded in the hurdles, 440 and all the field events. They are probably weakest in the 100 and 220.

In addition to the illness of Peterson, Gopher quarter-miler Bart Uplinger has been slow to recover from a pre-season bout with mononucleosis.

Two Gophers are nursing injuries. Outfielder Alan Druskin, one of the hitting surprises of the campaign, suffered a jammed finger Friday and missed both Saturday games. Siebert hopes he'll be available for the upcoming series. Regular shortstop Steve Schneider is sidelined with a shoulder injury suffered in the first game Saturday. He's currently wearing the shoulder in a sling and is considered doubtful for the invasion of the Michigan teams. If he can't play, McCullough will get the call at short.

Despite a poor weekend at the plate, sophomore outfielder Dave Hoffman continues to pace Gopher hitters with a .355 mark. He is followed by Bill Davis with .329 and Druskin with .304.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota tennis team returns Friday to Evanston, the scene of its 9-0 defeat at the hands of Big Ten title favorite Northwestern last weekend. The Gophers play Northwestern and Ohio State there Friday before traveling to Wheaton, Ill. for a Saturday match with Wheaton College.

Gopher coach Don Lewis was not disheartened by his team's loss to the Wildcats. "Despite being shut out, we played well against Northwestern," he explains. "I think this is borne out by the performance of sophomore Jerry Noyce who gave Marty Riessen a real battle before losing 10-8." Riessen is a two-time Big Ten singles champ and twice runnerup in the NCAA.

Lewis was not as happy with the Gophers' showing in the 9-0 setback administered by Michigan last Friday or with their 5-4 victory over Purdue Saturday, both matches also being played at Evanston.

"We actually looked better against Northwestern than we did in beating Purdue," he contends.

Lewis thinks his squad has a good chance of beating Ohio State this weekend. "We look about even on paper," he says. The Gophers already have defeated Wheaton, taking a 6-3 decision here in April.

Minnesota's overall record is now 6-10-1 and 2-5 in Big Ten play.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Saturday's showdown at Delta Field between Minnesota and Michigan State, currently tied for runnerup honors in the Big Ten baseball race with 5-1 records will feature, among other things, a battle of former major league players who are now collegiate diamond masterminds -- coaches Dick Siebert of the Gophers and Danny Litwhiler of the Spartans.

Siebert, who has guided Minnesota fortunes since 1948, was regular first baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics from 1938 to 1945 and saw service with the St. Louis Cardinals before that. He finished his career with a .290 lifetime batting average and played on the American League squad in the 1942 All-Star game. He was one of the few batters who gave Cleveland's great Bob Feller a bad time during Feller's illustrious early years in the majors. His Minnesota teams have won four Big Ten crowns and two NCAA titles.

Litwhiler is in his first year as coach of the Spartans but he is no stranger to collegiate baseball. He coached at Florida State for nine years, fashioning a record of 189 wins and only 81 losses. He had no losing seasons. Seven of his teams played in NCAA district playoffs and three in collegiate world series, including last year's classic. He was a major leaguer for 12 years, seeing action with the Philadelphia Phillies, St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds before retiring as a player in 1951. He was with the Cards in the 1943 and '44 World Series and was a National League all-star in the same game in which Siebert competed.

The two old pros will be playing for high stakes Saturday. If either team can score a sweep, it will be assured of staying in the thick of contention for the Big Ten flag. The first game gets underway at 1 p.m.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Not many people expected either Minnesota or Michigan to cut much of a figure in the Big Ten baseball race this spring. Yet Friday afternoon they'll be playing for the Conference lead at Delta Field, starting at 3:30.

"Michigan has been a surprise," Gopher coach Dick Siebert acknowledges. "They hadn't been expected to do too well this year and they didn't look too good until the Big Ten got underway. Since then, they've been going great guns."

Indeed they have. The Wolverines stand 6-0 for undisputed control of first place. They've been getting both tremendous pitching and timely hitting. Their Big Ten victories have been at the expense of Wisconsin 6-1, Northwestern 7-1 and 8-1, Purdue 4-3 and Illinois 14-1 and 11-3.

Minnesota (5-1 in Big Ten play) hasn't exactly been pushed around since returning from its unhappy trip to Texas either. The Gophers have won 16 of 17 starts during that stretch, including Big Ten wins over Illinois 4-2 and 6-2 and Iowa 9-2, 4-0 and 2-0. Their lone Conference loss was to Purdue 3-2.

The Wolverines are expected to start ace lefthander Clyde Barnhart against the Gophers, although Jim Bobel, a righthander, is a possibility. Frank Brosseau will be the Minnesota starter.

Things won't be any easier for the Gophers Saturday when Michigan State provides the opposition in a doubleheader scheduled for 1 p.m. The Spartans are tied with the Maroon and Gold for second place but Siebert feels they are may be tougher than Michigan.

"If I had to pick a probable winner in the Big Ten, I'd have to go with Michigan State," says Siebert.. "They've got great hitting and good pitching."

The veteran Spartans, unlike the Wolverines and Gophers, were ranked among the title top contenders before the season started. They boast probably the best 1-2 hitting punch in the league in outfielder Joe Porrevecchio and first baseman Jerry Sutton.

Minnesota will be without its regular shortstop, sophomore Steve Schneider, in the weekend activity. He suffered a minor fracture of a bone in his shoulder last week. Junior Dick McCullough will replace him.

Another casualty, regular rightfielder Alan Druskin, is probably lost, too, due to a fractured thumb.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - There weren't many pre-season experts brash enough to predict that Minnesota's green baseball team would be atop the Big Ten standings with better than half the season behind it, but that's where the amazing Gophers are today. To stay there, they'll have to win on the road this weekend against a couple of tough opponents -- Indiana on Friday and Ohio State Saturday.

If they can weather this rugged assignment, they'll face their last Conference competition at home the following weekend against Northwestern and Wisconsin.

Ohio State and Indiana were both rated among the top contenders before the season got underway but have lacked consistency and are currently tied with Michigan State, Purdue and Wisconsin for third place on 5-4 records.

Michigan faces Michigan State in a key three-game series this weekend. Instead of the usual Friday-Saturday schedule, however, the intra-state rivals will play a doubleheader at Ann Arbor Saturday and a single game at East Lansing Monday.

Minnesota's veteran mentor Dick Siebert was understandably delighted by his squad's sweep last Saturday of a doubleheader from Michigan State's highly-regarded Spartans which boosted the Gophers (7-1) into a deadlock for the top with the Wolverines. The scheduled Friday single game between the current co-leader was rained out.

"Tremendous pitching and (shortstop Dick) McCullough were the keys to our success Saturday," Siebert explains. "Joe Pollack and Frank Brosseau pitched tremendous ball, and Mac made several big league plays at short."

McCullough, who made eight putouts and 10 assists without an error, won himself a regular job in the process. A junior with a superlative arm, Mac had been relegated to the bench after a dismal showing in Texas back in March. He filled in for the injured Steve Schneider Saturday and gave notice he has no intention of relinquishing the shortstop spot.

Another hero was right fielder Alan Druskin who, despite playing with a fractured thumb, swatted four hits in five appearances, including two doubles and a homer. Druskin boosted his batting average to .353, tops for the team. Still another was star third baseman Jerry Cawley who drove in the tying runs in both games.

Siebert, not surprisingly, plans no lineup changes for this weekend. The infield will have Bill Davis at first, Capt. Dewey Markus at second, McCullough at short and Jerry Cawley at third. The outfield will feature Dave Hoffman in left, Archie Clark in center and Druskin in right. Ron Wojciak will do the catching. Brosseau will start the Friday game while Pollack and Dick Mielke will get the call Saturday.

The Gopher pitching staff lowered its collective earned run average to 2.04 over the weekend. Brosseau is tops with 1.27, followed by reliefer Dan Howard with 1.30, Pollack 1.74 and Mielke 1.93.

Trailing Druskin in the hitting department are Hoffman with .337 and Davis with .329.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Minnesota's track team runs on its new Kalite track surface for the first time in competition Saturday when it entertains defending Big Ten champion Iowa in its only home outdoor meet of the year, starting at 1:30 p.m.

The new surface is a mixture of finely crushed rock and clay tile held together by a special binder clay. It replaces cinders which have been in short supply in recent years.

Minnesota will be facing Iowa for the third time in the outdoor campaign. The teams split in their two earlier meetings, the Gophers winning by a single point at Iowa City and the Hawkeyes reversing the outcome by the same margin two weekends ago, also at Iowa City.

"It should be another real close meet, just like the first two," predicts Gopher coach Roy Griak. Iowa is strongest in the sprints and middle distance events while the Gophers appear to have the edge in the distance and field events.

The Gophers lost to Wisconsin by a convincing 93-47 margin last Saturday but Griak was not dismayed. "We knew Wisconsin had too much depth for us," explains Griak. "We didn't have anyone entered in the broad jump or 440, but outside of those events and a poor showing in the high hurdles, we gave them a battle."

Gopher firsts were taken by Bill Stevens in the 100 yard dash, Wayne Thronson in the 880, Tom Barnes in the shot and Big Ten indoor champion Norris Peterson in the two-mile.

One of the brightest spots was the performance of Burt Ewing who captured second in the intermediate hurdles in his first competition of the year. Not so pleasant was the absence of quarter-miler Bar Uplinger who was sidelined by a recurrence of mononucleosis which hospitalized him for several weeks earlier in the year. Griak hopes he'll be ready for Iowa. Still another bad break for the Gophers is the loss of half-miler Carl Jones who has dropped out of school.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Members of high school golf squads will have a high priority in the selection of caddies for the 45th annual Big Ten Conference golf championships at the University of Minnesota course May 22-23.

Les Bolstad, coach of Minnesota's defending Big Ten championship team and a two-time winner of the Conference individual title, points out that caddying in a tournament of this calibre will enable high school golfers to gain valuable knowledge and experience.

Bruce Anderson, tournament chairman, indicates that 60 caddies will be needed for the two-day tournament. Boys interested in participating should call Roy Tutt in the University Athletic Department, 373-4200.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Les Bolstad's University of Minnesota golf team entertains old rivals Wisconsin and Iowa Saturday at the University Course in its first home Big Ten competition of the season. The action gets underway bright and early at 8:30 a.m.

The defending Big Ten champion Gophers hope for a better showing than was their fate at Iowa City last weekend when they finished last in a field of eight in a medal play tournament won by Notre Dame. Among the teams which finished ahead of the Maroon and Gold were this week's opponents. The Hawkeyes were fourth and fifth.

Capt. Dave Gumlia was the only Gopher to finish in the top eight at Iowa City. His 156 was good for a sixth-place tie with Notre Dame's Pat Danahry and Iowa's Joe McEvoy. Gumlia, who finished second in the Big Ten a year ago, will be Minnesota's chief threat against the Badgers and Hawkeyes.

Wisconsin's Bill Iverson finished ahead of Gumlia last Saturday by a single stroke to tie for third with two other players.

The Gophers will host the Big Ten golf meet on Friday and Saturday of next week.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Minnesota's tennis team warms up for next week's Big Ten conference meet by hosting Indiana, Michigan State and Wisconsin in a quadrangular meet at the University courts Friday and Saturday.

Friday's schedule finds Michigan State meeting Wisconsin at 9:30 a.m. while Minnesota battles Wisconsin and State goes against Indiana at 1:30 p.m. Saturday morning matches include Minnesota vs. Michigan State and Indiana vs. Wisconsin, both at 9:30. An afternoon clash between Minnesota and Indiana will wind things up starting at 1:30.

The Gophers will face some mighty rugged competition. Both Indiana and Michigan State are rated among the Big Ten's best. Wisconsin is considered weaker.

"We can beat Wisconsin if we play our best, but we'll have to make sure it's our top effort," says Gopher coach Don Lewis. "We'll be definite underdogs against the other two clubs.

Minnesota wound up a frustrating road trip last weekend by losing to Wheaton 6-2 Saturday. Earlier they were drubbed 9-0 by Northwestern and lost a 7-2 decision to Ohio State. The Buckeye defeat was much closer than the score would indicate, however. Several of the singles matches were tight affairs with state winning by narrow margins.

MINNEAPOLIS. - If a "Floyd of Rosedale" trophy were awarded for excellence in track, it would be up for grabs Saturday when Minnesota entertains Iowa at Memorial Stadium in the Gophers' only home outdoor track meet of the season.

As it is, there will be no trophy, but there should be a mighty close track meet. The Gophers edged the Hawkeyes by one point in a dual meet at Iowa City earlier in the season and the Iowans turned the tables two weekends ago in a triangular meet won by Wisconsin, also at Iowa City.

Field events get underway at 1:30 with the running events to follow at 2:00.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - No less an authority than Les Bolstad, coach of the University of Minnesota golf team that will be defending its Big Ten title, views Purdue as the odds-on favorite in the Conference golf championship tournament to be played over the University course Friday and Saturday, May 22 - 23.

"All you have to do is look at the record, and you have the reasons I pick Purdue," says Bolstad. "The Boilermakers always perform well in this meet. They have won it five times in the last nine years. This season they have a record of 20 wins against a single loss. No other team can come close to this."

Bolstad believes that the other nine teams are fairly evenly matched.

Leading performer for Purdue is Terry Winter, a junior who last year as a sophomore was named to the Golf Coaches Association All America squad. He tied teammate Bob O'Block for the Indianapolis District amateur championship, then lost in the playoff. Winter fired rounds of 71 - 67 in the recent Big State meet at Notre Dame. O'Block is a two-time Western Pennsylvania high school champion, a title once held by Arnold Palmer. Still another Purdue standout is sophomore Rick Radder, twice a medalist in the Wisconsin high school championship tourney.

All 10 squads competing in the Big Ten meet are due to arrive Thursday. The University of Minnesota and the "M" Club will be joint hosts at a pre-tournament dinner for coaches and players Thursday evening. Each school will be represented by a six-man team, with the low five players in each of the four rounds counting toward the team score. Play will consist of 36 holes Friday and 36 on Saturday.

Roger Eberhardt of Wisconsin, 1963 individual champion, has graduated. Minnesota captain, Dave Gumlia, runnerup to Eberhardt, is one of the ranking favorites.

The Tournament is open to the public without charge.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Despite his team's lackluster 2-10 record in Big Ten dual meet competition this spring, Minnesota tennis coach Don Lewis thinks the Gophers could finish as high as fifth in the Conference meet at Champaign, Ill. this weekend — if they play up to their potential and if they have a little luck in the pre-meet draw.

"We put all our eggs in one basket this time," declares Lewis. "It's the only meet that counts as far as ranking in the Big Ten is concerned. We'll need a good draw to finish fifth or sixth, but if we get a shot at some players in our class, we could do it."

Minnesota's chief threat will be No. 1 man Jerry Noyce, a sophomore who has been the Gophers' most consistent winner this spring.

Gopher singles players to be entered in the meet, in addition to Noyce, are co-captains Mac Lutz and Chuck Mikkelson, Dave Rosenberg, Brian Lawson and Jerry Krause. All except Krause also will compete in the doubles, along with Tom Boice.

Lewis pegs defending champion Northwestern as the favorite for the crown, with Michigan and Indiana vying for second. "After that, it could be a scramble," he says.

The Gophers leave for Champaign Wednesday. Competition gets underway Thursday and continues through Saturday.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Encouraged by the Gophers' one-sided victory over Iowa last weekend, Roy Griak hopes his University of Minnesota track team may be able to equal its fifth-place Conference indoor finish in the outdoor Big Ten meet at Evanston, Illinois Friday and Saturday.

At any rate, prospects are good that the Gophers will be able to surpass the seventh-place performance which was their lot in last year's outdoor meet here. Chances of rising higher than fifth, however, are slim.

"Michigan is the favorite but should get a close run from Wisconsin," says Griak. The Wolverines captured the indoor title back in March. Griak expects Illinois and Michigan State also to be strong.

Top Gopher point prospects include Norris Peterson, the surprise indoor champion in the two-mile run; Tom Barnes, who failed to place in the indoor shot put, but has a good chance in that event as well as the discus; Wayne Thronson and Ray Miller in the 880; Bill Stevens in the 100 and 220 yard dashes; Byron Gigler in the high and intermediate hurdles; Burt Ewing, in the intermediates.

In addition, fast-improving Mike Elwell is considered a threat in the mile and Creighton Fleming in the 660. Wendell Bjorklund and basketballer Don Yates are conceded outside chances of placing in the high jump, if they can get up to 6-4. Yates surprised against Iowa by clearing 6-2 and almost making 6-4 in his first collegiate competition.

Griak was well pleased with the Gophers' 86-44 win over Iowa. "I had expected a real close meet, with a 10-point margin for the winner at most," he explains. "It was the best day we've had all spring. We received exceptional performances right down the line."

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - All the marbles are up for grabs this weekend as the Big Ten baseball race goes down to the wire with no less than four teams still in the running for the crown -- Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State and Wisconsin.

Runnerup Minnesota (8-3) entertains Northwestern (4-8) in a single game Friday at Delta Field, starting at 3:30 p.m. and Wisconsin (8-4) in a twin bill Saturday at 1 p.m. The Badgers are currently tied for third with Ohio State, last weekend's conqueror of the Gophers.

Front-running Michigan (9-2) plays host to Ohio State Friday and Indiana in a doubleheader Saturday. The Bucks draw Michigan State for two at East Lansing Saturday.

The Spartans prevented the Wolverines from taking a stranglehold on first place by salvaging the third game of their intra-state series Monday 3-2. Had Michigan won that one, it would have entered the final weekend with a two-game advantage over Minnesota. Thus, it could have lost two out of three and still been assured of no worse than a title tie.

As it stands now, the Gophers could tie by winning all three of its remaining games while the Wolverines drop one. A deadlock for the top would give Minnesota the nod for an NCAA berth since the Gophers have not competed in the NCAA playdown since 1960 while the Wolverines went two years ago.

"Michigan's loss gives us a chance," says Gopher coach Dick Siebert. "We'd have been in pretty tough shape if they had won. It's still going to be an uphill fight but with a little help from Ohio or Indiana, we could do it."

Siebert was disappointed by his squad's heartbreaking double loss to the Buckeyes but still feels that the Gophers played well and that the outcome could easily have been reversed. He takes nothing away from Ohio, however. "They're tough," he allows. "They'll be tough for Michigan, too."

No lineup changes are on tap for the Gophers this weekend except for the return of pitcher Dick Mielke to the starting rotation. He is slated to start the Northwestern game while Joe Pollack and Frank Brosseau will try to keep Wisconsin in check. The Badgers have the most dangerous hitter in the Big Ten in Rick Reichardt who sports a .550 average in Big Ten play. He bashed three homeruns in Wisconsin's twin victories over Illinois last Saturday.

Bill Davis has taken over the Gopher team batting leadership with a .359 average. He is followed by Al Druskin at .322, Dave Hoffman .313 and Ron Wojciak .303.

"The Gophers"

The vanguard of the field of 60 competitors in the 45th annual Big Ten Golf championship tournament began arriving in the Twin Cities today, with the balance due to get in practice rounds over the University of Minnesota course Thursday.

Competition will begin Thursday when 36 holes of medal play are scheduled, followed by an additional 36 holes on Saturday. Six players will compete for the 10 schools entered, with the five lowest scores in each round counting toward the team championship. The player with the lowest 72-hole card will be named individual champion to succeed Roger Eberhardt of Wisconsin who won the title a year ago at Madison. Eberhardt has since completed his competition. Minnesota's Dave Gumlia of Crosby and Terry Winter of Purdue are co-favorites for the individual laurels. The University of Minnesota team coached by Les Bolstad, himself a two-time former individual winner, is the defending champion. A strong Purdue outfit with a 22 - 1 record in dual meets this season is regarded as the team to beat. Indiana, the only team to beat the Boilermakers, is also accorded a chance in the pre-meet predictions. Indiana is coached by Bob Fitch, former University of Minnesota track and football star. Fitch at one time held the world record in the discus throw.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Dick Siebert's fifth Big Ten baseball championship in nine years provided the big surprise for the University of Minnesota in Conference competition this spring.

The baseball Gophers, who were not considered contenders before the campaign started, replaced the golf team as Minnesota's only spring champion. The linksmen lost their crown to Purdue and dropped to fourth but turned in a highly respectable score of 1,524, just one stroke above last year's championship total.

Both the track and tennis teams came in eighth in their respective meets.

The baseballers won the right to enter NCAA district playoff competition this weekend by coming through in the clutch with three victories over Northwestern and Wisconsin last Friday and Saturday while Michigan obliged by dropping two of three. The Wolverines had entered the weekend's action with a one game lead over the Gophers.

Brilliant pitching by Dick Mielke, Frank Brosseau and Joe Pollack limited the Wildcats and Badgers to a total of one run in the three games.

Siebert's other Big Ten crowns came in 1956, '58, '59 and '60. His teams captured NCAA titles in '56 and '60.

Minnesota's top performance in the Big Ten golf tournament, played at the University course last Friday and Saturday, was turned in by Capt. Dave Gumlia, who repeated as individual runnerup. His score of 294 was four strokes off the winning mark of Indiana's Byron Comstock and was four lower than his own score last year.

Distance runner Norris Peterson narrowly missed adding the Big Ten outdoor two-mile crown to his indoor title when he finished second to Chris Murray of Michigan in the most thrilling event of the Conference outdoor track meet. Other Gopher point-getters were Tom Barnes, fifth in the discus and fourth in the shot, and Wayne Thronson, fourth in the 880.

"The Gophers"

Word has been received through the Greater University Fund of the University of Minnesota that the Henry L. Williams Scholarship Fund is to be enriched by $10,000 as the result of a bequest made in the will of the recently deceased widow of William S. Kienholz who lettered in football at The University in 1898-99. Mr. Kienholz died in September, 1958 at Seattle, Washington.

The amount is the largest ever donated to the Williams Fund. Williams Scholarships are based strictly on outstanding scholastic proficiency demonstrated by Minnesota student-athletes who have completed at least a year's work at the University, and are maintaining a B-plus or 3.0 grade average in academic work. More than 400 participants in Minnesota's intercollegiate athletic program have benefitted from the fund. Among them are Paul Giel, Dick Garmaker, Tom Brown, Wally Richardson, Willie Costanza and Larry Stordahl.

After receiving his degree in Education in 1904 Mr. Kienholz coached football at the University of Florida. He crossed the continent to the West Coast and settled in Seattle. He returned to the Minnesota campus in 1948 to receive his 50-year diamond "M" pin award. From that time until his death he took an active part in The University's alumni activities and returned regularly for the annual spring "M" banquet.

Mrs. Kienholz's Williams bequest and an additional $10,000 gift to The University's Cancer Fund will be distributed following completion of probate proceedings now in progress.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Lest everyone think that the Kent State baseball team which battles the University of Minnesota for the NCAA District Four crown at Kent, Ohio this weekend is a "soft touch," Gopher Coach Dick Siebert hastens to point out that such definitely is not the case.

"They could be the toughest team we've faced all year," he states. "Their record indicates that they are."

That record includes a sparkling 18-2 full season mark and an equally glittering Mid-America Conference figure of 10-1, good for a share of the league title. It also includes a 6-3 victory over co-champion Ohio University in a playoff game for the right to enter District competition.

Among Kent State's feats were 6-0 and 4-0 victories over Western Michigan, conqueror of Michigan, Ohio State and Michigan State.

The upcoming series marks the first time that the Gophers have played the Golden Flashes in baseball. The opener in the best of three-game series starts at 3 p.m. Friday. The second contest is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday with a third game to follow, if needed.

Kent State's credentials include a strong hitting attack, an adequate defense and a frugal pitching staff. Top hitters are shortstop Jim Murphy (.397), first baseman Gerry Hudec (.377) and catcher Joe Santora (.345).

Leading pitchers include Dave Lopatich, a lefthander, who has the best earned run average (1.31) and a 4-1 record, and righthanders Dan Norris (2.16, 5-0), Bob Haworth (1.84, 4-0) and Larry Rosche (2.96, 3-0).

Haworth was named to the All-District Four second team, along with rightfielder Andy Aljancic. Second-sacker Jim Thomas was a first team selection.

The Gophers leave for Kent by chartered plane late Thursday afternoon. They will return Saturday night but departure depends on whether two or three games will be required to determine the champion.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Can the University of Minnesota baseball team pursue its Cinderella story to a happy ending in the NCAA College World Series at Omaha June 8-12?

Coach Dick Siebert, while reluctant to make any predictions, thinks his squad must be conceded a chance of doing just that.

"If our pitching continues to come through the way it has all season and if we can maintain the hitting form we showed at Kent State last weekend, I'd have to say we have a chance," Siebert admits. "But remember, we'll be up against the best teams in the country. Several of them will have good chances to win, too."

Minnesota draws Texas A & M, champion of the Southwestern Conference, in the opening round of the double elimination tournament Monday, June 8. The Aggies twice defeated the Gophers in Texas last March by scores of 3-2 and 7-2, but Minnesota was far from the team it subsequently became. Testimony to this can be found in the seven errors committed by the Gophers in the second game.

The Gophers added the District Four title to their Big Ten crown last weekend by downing Kent State twice 7-4 and 13-2. The clincher came when Minnesota scored 10 runs in the first two innings of the second game.

"The most pleasing part of our performance was the fact that we started to hit better," Siebert notes. "This should give some of the boys a little extra shot in the arm for the NCAA tourney."

Among those who wielded hot bats were Bill Davis, the regular season Gopher batting champ, who flailed away at a .556 clip for the series, Steve Schneider (.500),

Archie Clark (.429), Jerry Cawley (.400), Dave Hoffman (.375) and Ron Wojciak (.333). The performances of Clark and Cawley were especially encouraging since both had been in slumps.

Schneider returned to the starting lineup at short for the first time since breaking his shoulder several weeks ago. A lefthanded hitter, he is likely to be platooned with Dick McCullough, a righthander, in the tournament.

Both Joe Pollack and Frank Brosseau earned Siebert's praise for their pitching stints against Kent State. Pollack didn't give up an earned run and struck out 11 in winning the second game, while Brosseau survived one bad inning and shut out the Golden Flashes the rest of the way in the opener.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Formation of a four-team summer baseball league designed to develop collegiate talent in the Upper Midwest, was announced today by University of Minnesota baseball coach Dick Siebert, who was instrumental in organizing the league.

The league, to be known as the Midwest Collegiate Baseball League, will operate teams in three communities -- Breckenridge-Wahpeton, Little Falls and Wadena -- with a fourth club, the Twin City Travellers, to be based in Minneapolis. The Travellers will be strictly a travelling team and will play all their games in the other three cities.

Talent for the league will be drawn from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and the Dakotas.

Adhering strictly to NCAA rules, the league will require that all players hold forty-hour-per-week jobs in addition to their baseball competition.

A regular season schedule of 30 games is planned. Each team, except the Travellers, will play four games per week -- on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights. The Travellers will play on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights only.

The regular campaign will open June 20 and close August 9. It will be followed by a best two-out-of-three game playoff, involving all four teams, which will end about August 20.

Tryouts for the teams will be held June 15-18 in Minneapolis. Players will be recruited from colleges and junior colleges in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, northern Iowa and western Wisconsin. In addition to college players who have eligibility remaining, the tryouts will be open to:

1. Players with good ability who have just finished their collegiate eligibility and have not signed professional contracts.

2. High school graduates who have not yet matriculated in any college. In the case of those who still have American Legion baseball eligibility remaining, they must have the written consent of their Legion Post Athletic Officer before they will be permitted to try out.

Coaches of the four teams, together with a representative from each city in the league, will select the personnel. Talent will be equalized as much as possible among the four squads. Each city will receive 12 players -- four pitchers plus one player at each of the other eight positions -- and will be allowed to supplement its roster with three players from its own vicinity.

The four coaches are: Breckenridge-Wahpeton -- Ken Staples, Robbinsdale High School coach; Little Falls -- Elmer Kohorst, St. John's Prep (Collegeville) coach; Travellers -- Pete Kramer, St. Paul Johnson coach; Wadena -- Glenn Gostick, University of Minnesota assistant coach.

Player application forms have been sent to all colleges in the five-state area. Other players may apply for forms by writing directly to Dick Siebert at 209 Cooke Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 55455.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Pitching could well be the key to the double elimination NCAA College World Series which gets underway at Omaha next Monday. It so happens that this department has been the University of Minnesota's strongest suit this spring. Such a coincidence could have far-reaching consequences.

Gopher coach Dick Siebert has great confidence in his pitching staff which was the best in the Big Ten but warns that Minnesota will be up against some pretty fair hurling, too. Furthermore, he points out that the excellence of the Gopher starters could actually have had a deteriorating effect on the rest of the staff.

The starting trio of Joe Pollack, Frank Brosseau and Dick Mielke was so effective during the Big Ten campaign that relievers were called on just three times, and on one occasion a starter, Brosseau, got the nod. Starters also went the distance in both games of last week's District Four tournament.

Such a prolonged period of inactivity can't help but create a little rust. Siebert hopes it won't be too much. Top relievers on the Gopher staff are lefthander Dan Howard and Tom Lindberg, a righthander. Howard's only action since April was in an abbreviated starting role against Ohio State. Lindberg has been used twice in relief, once early in the season and again near the end.

Both Howard and Lindberg are good pitchers and Siebert feels they will do a creditable job, when needed. Howard has a 1.66 earned run average while Lindberg isn't far behind with 1.93.

These figures compare favorably with those of the starting rotation. Mielke has the best season's mark (1.62), followed by Pollack (1.78) and Brosseau (2.03).

Mielke also boasts the best won-lost record (7-0 for the season). Pollack is 8-2 and Brosseau 6-1.

Pollack was the most effective of all during the Conference race, however. He was the Big Ten's best hurler, allowing opposing batters a paltry .122 batting average (lowest in the league) and fashioning a gaudy 1.50 ERA. He also set a Big Ten record by allowing only 17 hits. For his pains, he was named to the No. 1 all-conference honor team.

Brosseau was close behind. He allowed opposing hitters a .172 batting average and wound up with a 1.56 ERA. Mielke's earned run mark was 1.74. League batters compiled a .194 percentage against him. Overall the Gopher staff allowed the opposition a meager .170 batting average and posted a 1.67 ERA.

The Gophers leave for Omaha by plane Sunday afternoon. They will play Texas A & M in the first round at 2 p.m. (CST). Pollack is slated to get the starting assignment.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - How strong is the Texas A & M team that meets Minnesota in the first round of the NCAA College World Series at Omaha next Monday?

"They must be tough," says Gopher coach Dick Siebert. "I haven't had a chance to study the club in any detail yet, but their statistics indicate they have good hitting and pitching."

Indeed they have. Among other assets the Southwestern Conference champions boast the league batting champ in Lance Cobb, a sophomore who compiled a .383 Conference mark and a .380 percentage for the season, and a couple of first rate pitchers, Steve Hillhouse and Chuck McGuire, who have Conference and season earned run averages just slightly over 1.00.

The Aggies have three other regulars with averages above .300 for the year. They are first baseman Frank Stark (.357), left fielder Allan Koonce (.346) and third baseman George Hargett (.303). Other good hitting regulars are catcher Bill Hancock (.294) and shortstop Jerry Ballard (.271).

Texas A & M got off to a mediocre start in Conference play, losing two of its first three games. It rebounded, largely due to some robust hitting, and wound up with a record of 12-3. Overall, the Aggies stand 19-6.

Included among their victories are two over the Gophers. One of them was a 3-2 victory over Joe Pollack who went on to become the Big Ten's best pitcher. "I think Pollack will be ready for them this time," says Siebert. He'll get his chance Monday when the teams meet at 2 p.m. (CST).

MINNEAPOLIS. - Two runnerups in Big Ten Conference meets this spring, Norris Peterson in track and Dave Gumlia in golf, are among the six University of Minnesota athletes who will compete in NCAA championship competition next week.

Peterson will be the only Gopher entry in the track meet at Eugene, Oregon Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 18-19-20. Gumlia will be joined by four teammates, Dick Blooston, George Hallin, Jack Keohane and Bob Hustrulid in the golf tourney at Colorado Springs, starting Sunday (June 14) and continuing throughout the week.

After winning the Big Ten indoor two-mile crown in March, Peterson was nosed out for the top spot in the outdoor event by Chris Murray of Michigan last month.

Gumlia has been the "bridesmaid" in the last two Conference golf tourneys. He was the only Gopher to qualify in the NCAA a year ago.

Action at Colorado Springs will get underway Sunday with a preliminary East-West match play tournament. The NCAA tourney proper will follow with qualifying rounds Monday and Tuesday. Elimination match play starts Wednesday and concludes Saturday.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Rosters of the four teams comprising the newly-formed Midwest Collegiate Baseball League were released today by the League office.

Personnel of the teams were selected by the coaches of the four teams and representatives of the member cities during tryouts held at the University of Minnesota's Delta Field last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The league, designed to develop collegiate baseball talent in the Upper Midwest, starts play this weekend. Each team will play 30 games during the regular season with a post-season playoff, involving all four entries, to follow.

Opening games will find the Travellers at Breckenridge-Wahpeton and Little Falls at Wadena Saturday night. The Travellers move on to Little Falls and Breckenridge-Wahpeton to Wadena for Sunday night games.

Members teams are Breckenridge-Wahpeton, Little Falls, Twin City Travellers and Wadena.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Tom Kondla, 6-7, all-state center for Riverside-Brookfield (Ill.) High School, has signed a tender to attend the University of Minnesota and compete on the Gophers basketball team.

One of the most sought-after collegiate basketball prospects in the country, Kondla was recruited by Minnesota assistant coach Dan Spika. Over 100 colleges in the country, including every Big Ten school, had tried to sign Kondla who can play either center or forward.

MINNEAPOLIS. - University of Minnesota baseball coach Dick Siebert will launch a six-week University-sponsored program of summer baseball schools for state youngsters with a full week of activity at five Minneapolis playgrounds, starting Monday.

The schools will be open without charge to all boys, 9-18 years old. Participating youngsters will be divided into two groups, one for those under 12 and another for those over 12.

Fundamentals will be taught by means of mass drills in throwing, fielding, hitting, baserunning and sliding. There also will be individual instruction in pitching, catching, infield and outfield play. In addition, offensive and defensive play situation will be included for the older group.

Next week's schedule: Monday at North Commons; Tuesday at Windom; Wednesday at Brackett; Thursday at Nicollet; Friday at Lynhurst.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Members of the University of Minnesota School of Physical Education and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics will appear as special guests on "Sports with Bruce Anderson," a new summer-long series of programs being presented by the School of Physical Education on KTCA-TV (Channel 2) Tuesdays at 9 p.m.

Anderson, assistant intramural director and instructor in physical education at the University, is host for the series which began June 16 and emphasizes instruction and self-improvement in various sports along with other topics in the field of physical education. Anderson hosted a similar series last summer.

Here's the lineup for the remainder of the series:

June 23 — Modern Dance with Jean Morrison, instructor of dance in the Department of Physical Education for Women.

June 30 — Competitive Swimming with Bob Mowerson, swimming coach.

July 7 — Backyard Sports with John Schultz, instructor in recreation.

July 14, 21 — Golf, Short Swing with Bruce Anderson.

July 28 — Golf, Full Swing with Anderson.

August 4 — Golf, Putting with Anderson.

August 11 — Isometrics for Men and Women with Dr. Robert McAdam and Dr. Marjorie Wilson, professors of physical education.

August 18 — Dynamic Exercises and posture for Women with Dr. Wilson.

August 25 — Crew Racing with Ollie Bogen, University of Minnesota Crew Association.

September 1 — Research in Physical Education with Dr. Jack Alexander, professor of physical education.

September 8 — Gymnastics and Tumbling with Pat Bird, assistant gymnastics coach.

September 15 — Basketball with Dan Spika, assistant basketball coach.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Maybe there's something to this yarn about the University of Minnesota baseball Gophers being an election-year team. At any rate, this year's Maroon and Gold entry has followed the example of its predecessors of 1956 and '60 and towers supreme in collegiate baseball.

The Gophers won their third NCAA crown by whipping Missouri 5-1 Thursday night, thereby finally ending the marathon College World Series which ran for 11 days in rainswept Omaha. All three titles have come in national election years.

Coach Dick Siebert was even more elated by his latest conquest than by his earlier victories.

"The '56 and '60 teams were great but neither of them came from so far back as this club," Siebert avows. "When we returned from our Texas trip in March, my biggest worry was figuring out how to beat somebody out of ninth place in the Big Ten. Today we're national champs. It's been a great thrill and a great experience."

Gopher heroes were numerous. Five Minnesotans were honored on the all-tournament team: pitcher Joe Pollack, who won three games, first baseman Bill Davis, second sacker and captain Duane Markus, outfielder Dave Hoffman and catcher Ron Wojciak. But even those who didn't win special recognition played big roles in the happy outcome.

Minnesota pitching, a high spot all year, was one of the key factors in the success story. So was fielding, which although spotty at times, was strong when it had to be -- especially in the finale when the Gophers played errorless ball while Missouri committed four bobbles. Hits were in abundance in the opening 7-3 and 12-0 victories over Texas A & M and Maine but less numerous in later outings. Fortunately, they came at the right time. Finally, great competitive spirit, ability to capitalize on opponent miscues and well-knit teamwork paid dividends. The spirit and teamwork were in large measure the result of the great leadership provided by Siebert and Markus.

All of these ingredients combined to produce a "Cinderella" story with a happy ending, one that won't soon be forgotten by Minnesota fans.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Some 25,000 public season ticket applications to the University of Minnesota's 1964 home football games are in the mails today. Orders will be accepted starting July 1 with the priority period for season tickets extending to July 31. Season tickets are $25.00 this year for the first time, the individual game ticket price having been increased from $4.50 to $5.00. Minnesota is the last Big Ten school to make the raise.

The season ticket applications are being sent to anyone who has ordered football tickets by mail during the past three years.

Single game tickets go on mail order sale August 1. No applications before that time will be accepted. Approximately 40,000 single game applications will be mailed on July 29. They are sent to the same people receiving season ticket applications, plus 15,000 Minnesota alumni not on that list. Single game tickets are $5.00 with the exception of the California game at Berkeley for which the price is $4.00.

Applications for single game tickets will be received up to two weeks before the game. Seats are assigned on a first-come, first-served basis. Tickets are then mailed out 10 days before the game, and the remaining tickets go on sale Monday the week of the game at the Cooke Hall ticket office; the Downtown Ticket Office in the North Star Center, Minneapolis; and the Field Schlick ticket offices in St. Paul.

The Minnesota football schedule:

Sept. 26 -- NEBRASKA - here.
Oct. 3 -- California at Berkeley.
Oct. 10 -- NORTHWESTERN - here.
Oct. 17 -- ILLINOIS - here.
Oct. 24 -- Michigan at Ann Arbor.
Oct. 31 -- Indiana at Bloomington.
Nov. 7 -- IOWA - here.
Nov. 14 -- PURDUE - here.
Nov. 21 -- Wisconsin at Madison.

MINNEAPOLIS. The University of Minnesota batted 91 per cent in intercollegiate athletic recruiting this year for its best showing in recent years.

That, in a nutshell, sums up the University's amazing success in obtaining signatures to 72 of 79 tenders sent to prospective student-athletes. The maximum number of tenders which may be signed, according to Big Ten Conference rules, is 76.

Athletic Director Marsh Ryman was highly pleased by the response. "I think it is almost a miraculous achievement," he said. "It is especially gratifying considering the tremendous competition for outstanding athletes among Conference schools and the fact that Minnesota is on the western perimeter of the Big Ten area. Those boys who accepted must feel that the University has some valuable things to contribute in addition to its athletic program. I think it is a fine thing that these boys are interested in such values."

Football led in number of tenders signed with 30 of 33, followed by track (eight of eight); baseball (seven of seven); hockey (six of six); and basketball (five of six).

These figures indicate an extremely successful recruiting year, both in the overall picture and in terms of individual sports as well.

A total of forty-five signed tenders were returned by Minnesota residents. Twenty-six came from other states and one from a Norwegian track star, Richard Simonsen, who has been attending prep school in England.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Twenty-two University of Minnesota student-athletes have been named as recipients of Henry L. Williams Memorial Scholarships for the academic year 1964-65, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics announced today.

Swimming leads in number of recipients with seven, followed by baseball with four and wrestling with three. David Rosenberg, a junior tennis player from St. Paul, is the top student among the group with a near-"A" average. He has received just one "B" in six quarters' work.

Williams Scholarships are awarded on the basis of excellence in both academic and athletic prowess. Recipients must have a grade point average of "B" or better for the full preceding academic year or a cumulative grade point average of "B" or better for all academic work completed at the University.

The 22 scholarships represent an estimated value in excess of $20,000.

Twelve of the recipients are juniors, seven sophomores and three seniors. A large majority (15) of those honored are enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts. Four are in Education and three in the Institute of Technology. Fifteen are Minnesota residents while seven hail from other states.

The recipients include: Baseball -- Jerome F. Cawley, Waseca; Patrick F. Hergott, Le Sueur; Erik J. Kleven, Eau Claire, Wis.; Michael D. McNair, Fargo, N. D. Football -- William A. Bevan, Chisago City. Golf -- George Hallin, Excelsior; Arthur D. Skon, St. Paul. Gymnastics -- David M. Naftalin, Minneapolis. Hockey -- Douglas W. Woog, South St. Paul. Swimming -- Edward L. Bruce II, Seattle, Wash.;

Joseph H. Clack, Hales Corners, Wis.; James C. Dragon, Hopkins; John L. Gorny, Chicago, Ill.; John M. Romstad and Robert H. Scott, Minneapolis; Donald E. Spencer, Birmingham, Mich. Tennis -- David S. Rosenberg, St. Paul Central. Track -- George Podolsky, Minneapolis; John Valentine, St. Louis Park. Wrestling -- Leland J. Gross, Ellsworth, Wis.; Donald E. Henry, Cresco, Iowa; John C. Patten, Minneapolis.

Repeaters from last year are Bevan, Bruce, Clack, Dragon, Gross, Hergott, Kleven and Rosenberg.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Coach Murray Warmath is expecting 75 candidates for the 1964 University of Minnesota football squad to report for the picture-taking activities Monday at 1:30 p.m. and for the opening of practice Tuesday at 8:15 a.m. as he officially launches his 11th fall season at the Minnesota coaching helm.

The Gopher mentor goes into a season including games against Nebraska, California, Northwestern, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa, Purdue, and Wisconsin with a record of 47 wins, 42 losses, and three ties since moving to the Minneapolis campus in 1954.

The 1963 coaching staff of Warmath, Denver Crawford, George (Butch) Nash, Bob Bossons, Wally Johnson, Dick Larson, Don Grammer, Joe Salem, and Jerry Annis remains intact.

Warmath is hopeful that 18 lettermen will be included among those reporting Tuesday morning. They are Bill Bevan, Jr. and Larry Peterson, quarterbacks; Dick Harren, Kraig Lofquist, and Stan Skjei, halfbacks; Fred Farthing and Mike Reid, fullbacks; Aaron Brown, Bob Bruggers, and John Rajala, ends; Fred Nord, Gene Rabel, and Don Rosen, tackles; Willie Costanza, Bill Dallman, and Paul Faust, guards; Captain Joe Pung and Frank Marchlewski, centers. Of this number Brown, Bruggers, Costanza, Marchlewski, Pung, and Reid were "regulars" at some stage of the 1963 season.

Sophomores expected to receive special attention in early season preparation include Chet Anderson, Duluth, and Ken Last, Bloomington, ends; Dave Colburn, La Crosse and Ray Whitlow, Austin, Texas, halfbacks; Jerry Newsom, Minneapolis (South), defensive fullback; and Tim Wheeler, Richfield, line-backing guard.

The "call" squad: ENDS (14) -- Chet Anderson, Duluth; Ronald Austin, Uniontown, Pennsylvania; Jerry Bevan, Chisago City; Aaron Brown, Fort Arthur, Texas; Bob Bruggers, Roseland (Danube high); Al Bender, Minneapolis (Henry); Len Stream, Minneapolis (Washburn); Kent Kramer, Temple City, California; Ken Last and Bill Sausen, Bloomington; Roger Michalski, Silver Bay; Morrie Miller, Winona; Mike Orman, Hastings; John Rajala, Anoka.

TACKLES (11) -- John Baudler, Austin; Jim Fulgham, Biwabik; Patrick Keenan, Minneapolis (Roosevelt); Fred Nord, Minneapolis (Washburn); Jim Krohn, International Falls; Jim Leslie, Corapolis, Pa.; Jim Long, Eau Claire; Gene Rabel, Mahtomedi; Don Rosen, Rosemount; Jon Staebler, Morris; Gary Turnwall, Columbia Heights.

CENTERS (7) -- Jim Barle, Rian Tellow, Coleraine; Paul Belgum, Kensington; Frank Marchlewski, Parnassus, Pa.; Joe Pung, St. Martin (Paynesville high); Deryl Ramey, Atwater; Dale Rucker, Springfield.

QUARTERBACKS (7) -- Bill Bevan, Jr., Chisago City; Andrew Haines, New Orleans; John Hankinson, Edina; David Olson, Benson; Larry Peterson, Robbinsdale; Dick Tuohy, Chatfield; Glen Wirtanen, Downers Grove, Illinois.

HALFBACKS (16) -- Ed Christian, Mounds View; Dave Colburn, La Crosse (Central); Bill Crockett, Raleigh, N.C.; Rodney Elton, South St. Paul; Archie Givens, Minneapolis (Central) and Ken Jacobson (Central); Dick Harren, St. Paul (Cretin) and Mel Henderson (Central); Eugene Hatfield, Holcombe, Wisconsin; Kraig Lofquist, Biwabik; Stewart Maples, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Lonnie Morgan, Dade City, Florida; Mike Renner, Springfield; Dick Seitz, Columbia Heights; Stan Skjei, Appleton; Ray Whitlow, Houston, Texas.

FULLBACKS (7) -- Fred Farthing, Omaha, Nebraska; Gale Gillingham, Little Falls; Joe Holmberg, Mounds View; John Jelinek, Blooming Prairie; Jerry Newsom, Minneapolis (South); Mike Reid, Spring Valley, Wisconsin; Bruce Van De Walker, St. Paul (Washington).

Availability of Harren, a standout performer in Minnesota's 14 - 0 conquest of Wisconsin in the 1963 season's finale, remains in doubt because of a subsequent knee operation which caused him to miss spring practice. Harren has been haunted by knee troubles since enrolling at Minnesota, and may pass up future competition.

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota is mailing all public season football tickets on Friday, August 29.

Of the 19,524 season tickets ordered to date, 19,100 are reorders and 424 are new orders. As of now the season sale is down approximately 800 tickets. However, Shirley Korblick, athletic ticket manager, points out that the reorder percentage remains high at 91.7 compared to 93.2 in 1963. The percentage of reorders for seat locations between the goallines is 96.7.

Public season tickets at $25.00 are still available and will remain on sale until the opening game with Nebraska in Memorial Stadium September 26.

Single game tickets for all games are available by mail order. They are priced at $5.00 for all games with the exception of the California game at Berkeley on October 3. These tickets are $4.00. According to Miss Korblick the Illinois (October 17) and Iowa (November 7) games are the most popular home games to date. The Wisconsin game is topping other away games in ticket sales.

The staff-employee season ticket sale is currently in progress. The priority deadline for these tickets is August 31. Sale of tickets in this category is expected to total 3,800.

University student season tickets will be on sale Wednesday, September 23 through Tuesday, September 29 in the lobby of Williams Arena. Miss Korblick anticipates a sale of approximately 15,000 student tickets.

DAVE COLBURN

A handsome young towhead from La Crosse, Wisconsin holds the distinction of being the first sophomore to break into the University of Minnesota's first-team backfield. He is Dave Colburn, 175-pound halfback.

Colburn who built something of a reputation for himself at La Crosse Central high as a sprinter, came to the Minnesota campus virtually unheralded as a big-time college football prospect. He was one of the pleasant surprises of the '63 freshman squad on which he performed at left half.

"He caught my eye by the natural manner in which he ran the ball in scrimmage against the varsity," says Minnesota backfield coach Dick Larson.

With Dick Harren, a right halfback regular at the end of the 1963 season, limping as the result of a knee operation in February, head coach Murray Warmath decided he wanted some insurance at right half where sophomore Ray Whitlow and senior Stan Skjei are in contention. When the Gophers lined up for their first practice Tuesday morning Colburn was listed with the No. 1 unit at right halfback where he alternated with Harren in dummy scrimmage. If Colburn and Whitlow can demonstrate varsity caliber in the practice sessions ahead, they will relieve much of the concern over Harren's knee problem and will release Skjei for defensive duty.

It won't surprise the coaching staff at all if their new find from downriver measures up. They regard him as a "natural."

CHET ANDERSON

When football practice opened at the University of Minnesota on September 1 Chet Anderson was regarded as an excellent long-range prospect at end, a position at which the Gophers are well fortified.

Today the burly 235-pound sophomore who won all-state honors in basketball and football at Duluth Central is being closely watched by the Minnesota coaching staff as the answer to their desperate quest for tackle talent to replace the departed Milt Sunde and Carl Eller.

If Anderson lives up to the expectations of Murray Warmath and his aides, he will ease one of the most pressing problems confronting the staff. Indications are that Chet will do just this. In his short career at Minnesota he has shown the natural ability, competitive makeup, physical ruggedness, and desire that mark a good college football player.

Anderson is currently vying with Jim Fulgham, 6-6, 265 pound giant from Biwabik for the starting assignment at left tackle when Minnesota opens against Nebraska in Memorial Stadium September 26. From what they have seen in recent days, sideline observers are predicting that Anderson is a good bet to gain his objective -- the first team.

RAY WHITLOW

The knee troubles which have sidelined Minnesota's veteran right halfback, Dick Harren, have spelled "golden opportunity" for Ray Whitlow. And there is every indication as the Gophers gird for their September 26 opener with Nebraska that the stubby (5-9) scooter from Houston, Texas intends to take advantage of this opportunity.

At the present the 160-pound Whitlow is the only sophomore working with the Minnesota first-string lineup. He and another newcomer, Dave Colburn of La Crosse, Wisconsin are battling for the No. 1 right halfback spot.

Whitlow lettered in football, baseball, and track at Houston's E. E. Worthing high. He may be another Archie Clark type bonus for Dick Siebert and the University of Minnesota baseball squad, for his secret ambition is to be a professional baseball player. Clark, you may recall, came to Minnesota as a basketball prospect and turned out to be a star of the 1964 NCAA baseball champs.

Whitlow is enrolled in the College of Education with an intended major in mathematics. If he fails to make the grade in professional athletics, Ray says he will settle for a career in teaching.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Ask Coach Murray Warmath of the University of Minnesota what quality he rates most highly in a football prospect and he unhesitatingly replies: "aggressiveness."

However, he is convinced that maybe this particular trait is being overindulged by Paul Faust, hard-luck junior guard from Edina.

Paul came to the University three years ago with a strong background in football. His father, George, was a quarterback on championship Gopher teams of 1936-37-38 right in the heart of Minnesota's "Golden Era of football." He understudied Bud Wilkinson on the national champs of '36, and was top signal-caller and blocking back on Big Ten title-winning elevens of '37 and '38.

Paul won honors as a fullback on championship teams at Edina high before matriculating at Minnesota in the fall of 1961. Wally Johnson, freshman coach, looked on with relish as young Faust gobbled up opposing backs entering his line-backing domain. He passed the word to Warmath: "Here's a real live hard-nose." Faust's eagerness for contact cost him a knee injury that curtailed his frosh activities.

A jarring, jolting tackle on an opposing back in his sophomore year sent the former Edina star to the sidelines with a broken hip.

Off to an impressive start last fall, Paul suffered a painful shoulder separation while belting down a runner who had broken through the line. He was limited to 75 minutes playing time, and his loss was a severe blow to Minnesota's defenses.

Faust started right after the '63 season to get physically ready for the current campaign. He worked diligently with weights and built himself up from 205 pounds to a solid, muscular 215 by the time practice started September 2. Last Saturday in the season's first full-scale scrimmage, Gale Gillingham, 230-pound fullback candidate, burst through the first string line, and bolted into Faust territory. Paul accepted the challenge, met Gillingham with a shattering charge that set him back a yard or two, and came out of the collision with a painful shoulder separation. Faust will miss at least two weeks of practice.

Murray Warmath is not one to encourage his charges to let up, but the word is that he has advised Faust to curtail his bone-brushing activities in the interest of self-preservation. When healthy, he figures to be Minnesota's ace linebacker. On the sideline, he leaves a big hole to be filled in the near secondary.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - When asked earlier this week by a visiting newsman what progress he had made in settling on a starting Minnesota lineup for the September 26 opener with Nebraska, Coach Murray Warmath replied "We are still searching for the best men at both tackles, guards, quarterback, right halfback, and fullback.

This means that the Minnesota squad is still in a state of flux with many starting assignments still wide open as the first game nears.

In the positions that are considered more or less "set," Bob Bruggers, Kent Kramer, and Ken Last appear to be pretty well established in that order at left end. Bruggers, junior from Danube, is the only letterman. At right end lettermen Aaron Brown and John Rajala, both juniors, and Roger Michalski, hard-working sophomore from Silver Bay have been listed 1 - 2 - 3 consistently in recent practices.

Frank Marchlewski and Joe Pung, both seniors and two-time lettermen, are fixtures at center. As long as both remain healthy, "Marchy" will carry the offensive burden, with Captain Joe Pung specializing on defense. Warmath rates both players as "highly capable" and up to Big Ten standards. The 220-pounds he is carrying have not slowed Frank's offensive charge while making him more effective as a blocker.

Unless injuries enter the picture, Bill Crockett, 152-pound senior from Raleigh, North Carolina is firmly entrenched at left half. He is the backfield corps' niftiest runner. Both Crockett and Lon Morgan, rated No. 2 at left half, sat out the '63 season because of scholastic problems, but have apparently regained their competitive edge. While considered a defensive specialist, senior Kraig Lofquist may be called on, because of his advantage in experience, to share offensive left half duties with Crockett and Morgan.

The most competitive position of the moment is fullback where four players are fighting for the starting nod come the September 26 kickoff in Memorial Stadium. Fred Farthing, 200-pound junior from Omaha, Gale Gillingham, 230-pound junior from Little Falls, Mike Reid, 200-pound senior from Spring Valley, Wisconsin, and Joe Holmberg, 205-pound sophomore from Mounds View high (suburban St. Paul) are in the four-way contest. Farthing has a quick start, speed, and some of the running motions of a good halfback (his position as a sophomore in '63) in his favor. Gillingham who passed up football last year after a strong freshman showing, is the bull-dozer type whose weight and momentum carry him through tackles. Reid is a heady runner who uses his experience to good advantage. He will play both ways. Holmberg has raw power and is a strong straight-ahead plunger. He is at a disadvantage in experience, but shows good long-range potential. The fullback position manned by this quarter could be Minnesota's "most solid" by mid-season.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Randy Staten, junior guard from Charlotte, N. C., is making a determined bid for the University of Minnesota football team's starting right guard assignment left vacant by the graduation of Larry Hartse.

A highly-regarded prospect when he arrived on the Minnesota campus, Staten progressed more slowly than expected as a sophomore last year and did not letter.

Things have been different this fall, however. Staten was installed in the No. 1 right guard spot on the first day of practice and has stayed there ever since. As things stand now, he will see extended action, both on offense and defense.

Blessed with a tremendous, muscular frame, the 6-1, 215-pounder has ideal physical qualifications for a guard. He is also one of the Gophers' fastest linemen and has excellent mobility.

Gopher coaches feel that he is beginning to live up to his great potential and count on him to help alleviate Minnesota's line problems.

GARY REIERSON

Gary Reiersen, a handsome young blond from the "silk stocking" Minneapolis suburb of Edina, doesn't look like a "chew-em-up" guy. But his is a notable case of looks and background belying the nature of the individual.

A fullback and star baseball player at Edina-Morningside high from which he graduated in 1963, Gary followed Paul Faust there as a hard-hitting fullback on a winning team coached by Stav Canakes, former Minnesota tackle.

As fall practice progresses at the University of Minnesota this fall, fate is playing a strong hand in the Faust-Reiersen succession.

Faust has figured since a year ago as No. 1 left guard in coach Murray Warmath's defensive linebacking plans. He is the Julian Hook type who thrives on contact and knows where to be at the right time to match might and muscle with on-rushing backs. Newcomer Reiersen was far down the left guard list on the opening day of practice.

But as the tempo of contact work quickened on the Minnesota practice field, Gary steadily moved up in the estimation of the coaching staff.

A week ago Saturday, in the first full-dress scrimmage of the fall, 215-pound Faust slammed head-on in to 230-pound Gale Gillingham as the Little Falls bulldozer broke through the defensive line backed by Faust. Paul came out of the collision with a shoulder separation which doctors estimated would sideline him for two or three weeks. One-time Edina understudy Reiersen moved in to take his place. Line coach Denver Crawford liked what he saw. Though a relatively light guard at 180 pounds, Reiersen demonstrated that he had the other requirements in quantity.

This week Gary is rated No. 2 left guard behind the veteran Willie Costanza, and is slated for extensive duty against Nebraska. Those who have seen him at work are confident that he will measure up to the Hook-Faust tradition. He is a "tiger" who likes to eat 'em up.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Two members of the University of Minnesota football team, the sons of former Gopher grid standouts, have been nominated for the 1964 All-Big Ten Conference Academic football team, according to an announcement by Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed.

Guard Paul Faust, Edina, and Bill Bevan, Jr., Chisago City, are the Gopher nominees. Both are juniors. Faust's father, George, was a quarterback on Bernie Bierman's squads of 1936-37-38. Bevan is the son of Bill Bevan, Sr., who won All-American honors as a guard on Bierman's great 1934 team.

The Minnesota players were among 75 nominees for the twelfth annual team selected by the Big Ten sports information directors. Nomination is based strictly on scholastic proficiency -- a "B" or better academic average. After that, athletic ability is the sole gauge for those to be chosen to the team.

Two former Gopher All-Americans, halfback Paul Giel and tackle Bob Hobert, are members of the All-Time All-Academic Big Ten football team also announced by the Conference office. Giel, an All-American in 1952 and 1953, was selected to the all-academic squad in '53. Hobert, a 1956 All-American, made the scholastic squad in 1955 and '56.

A third, ex-Gopher, Perry Gehring, was one of five players to make the honor squad three times -- in 1956-57-58.

MINNEAPOLIS. - There are, by admission of Coach Murray Warmath, a good many uncertainties insofar as the makeup of the 1964 University of Minnesota football squad is concerned, but the defensive backfield that will take the field against Nebraska on September 26 is not one of them.

Warmath has definitely decided to platoon backfields. Competition for the starting nod at all positions in the offensive backfield remains keen, but the makeup of the defensive secondary is well defined. Andy Haines, New Orleans, and Bill Bevan, Chisago City junior, will share quarterback-safety duties. Kraig Lofquist, Biwabik senior is a fixture at defensive left half and may see some ball-toting duty. Stan Skjei, Appleton senior, is set at defensive right half. Mike Reid, senior fullback from Spring Valley, Wisconsin has a wide advantage over all other candidates for the corner linebacking job.

These veterans give Minnesota extensive experience at positions where there is a great premium on this commodity. As backfield coach Dick Larson points out, "It takes only one small mistake or a moment's indecision or hesitation on defense back there, and you get hurt or killed."

Warmath feels that these five men will fill the bill well and do a creditable job for the Gophers. Their role will undoubtedly be all the more important this year as they work behind a thinly-manned line with relatively limited experience. So far, no stalwarts have appeared to plug the gaps left by the departure of Carl Eller and Milt Sunde.

Approval by the Board of Regents of his appointment for the 1964-65 school year was announced today by Marsh Ryman, athletic director.

Steiger, a Rochester native and a one-time Minnesota State high school wrestling champion, will replace Glenn Gostick as assistant baseball coach. Gostick is on a one-year leave of absence from September 1 to September, 1965 to participate in Holland's national baseball program. He will headquarter in Amsterdam.

Steiger paced all Big Ten baseball regulars at the plate in 1953 with a .462 average, and he was among the leaders in 1954 with a .395 mark. Following completion of his college eligibility he signed with the Chicago Cubs. In recent years he has been employed in Brainerd, but resigned his position with a paper mill there to return to The University for advanced studies in Physical Education. Steiger will divide his time between instructing in the School of Physical Education, assisting Dick Siebert as freshman baseball coach, and working toward his masters degree.

Gostick will resume his duties at The University next September.

MINNEAPOLIS. - "We expect to be better than we were a year ago."

This is as far out on a limb as Coach Murray Warmath will go in speaking of prospects for the 1964 University of Minnesota football squad nearing the end of its third week of fall practice.

Asked to indicate in which respects he expected the Gophers to be stronger, Warmath replies "We have an experienced secondary defense in Captain Joe Pung (center), Paul Faust (left guard), Mike Reid (fullback), Kraig Lofquist (left halfback), and Stan Skjei (right halfback). We are solid at end with Bob Bruggers, Kent Kramer, and Ken Last on the left side, and Aaron Brown, John Rajala, and Jerry Newsom on the right end. Frank Marchlewski is an excellent offensive center. He and Pung give us good strength in this position. We feel that we should be better at fullback with Fred Farthing, Mike Reid, Gale Gillingham, and Joe Holmberg. Bill Crockett will give us good running at left halfback, even though he weighs only 152 pounds. If Dick Harren's knee comes around, we will be improved at right halfback where sophomores Ray Whitlow and Dave Colburn should help."

Warmath and his coaching aides consider the quarterback position the big IF as the September 26 opener with Nebraska nears. Says Warmath of this situation "IF John Hankinson, Larry Peterson, Glen Wirtanen, and Andy Haines can give us acceptable quarterbacking, we should be able to move the ball effectively. Right now we just don't know if there is one real Big Ten caliber quarterback in this group. This remains to be seen."

Warmath feels that much improvement is needed in the offensive play of the guards and tackles if Minnesota is to hold its own in the exacting schedule ahead (Nebraska, California, Northwestern, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa, Purdue, and Wisconsin).

KENNY LAST

If you will pardon the play on words, it's a case of Last, but certainly not least with the No. 1 sophomore end on the University of Minnesota football squad.

He is Kenny Last, the fine all-around athlete from Bloomington.

In sizing up the Minnesota football personnel for a group of visiting newsmen earlier this week Coach Murray Warmath singled out Last as the top sophomore end prospect on the squad, and predicted a bright future for him in Big Ten competition.

"Let him get some experience behind him," said Warmath, "and we expect him to measure up with the best. He is competitive, learns well, has good moves, and can catch the ball."

At 6 feet 4 inches (and 202 pounds), Kenny presents a good target for Minnesota's passers. His three seasons of stardom in basketball at Bloomington, including a senior year appearance in the State tournament, stand him in good stead when it comes to snagging aerials. According to End Coach Butch Nash, "Last has a real good pair of hands and the longest arms of anyone of our ends. He has what it takes to be an outstanding receiver."

Because of his stooped posture which belies his athletic talents, and arms which reach nearly to his knees, Kenny is known to his teammates as "gibbon" or "gangleon." He walks and runs with a deceptive gait which comes in handy when trying to elude defenders against passes intended for his hands.

Last played his high school football under Shorty Cochran, Minnesota halfback in 1950-54-55.

JOE HOLMBERG

With the switch of Gale Gillingham from fullback to tackle, it looks as if Joe Holmberg, the highly-regarded sophomore prospect from Mounds View has an excellent opportunity to see action this fall at the line-blasting spot.

Coach Murray Warmath apparently feels that the 6-0, 203-pound Holmberg is ready to back up Fred Farthing and Mike Reid, the Gophers' two top fullbacks. Farthing is expected to be the No. 1 offensive man at that position while Reid will be the leading defensive performer.

Earlier in the fall, the consensus of the Gopher coaching staff was that Holmberg had good potential and a bright future but might not see much, if any, action this year.

"Joe has good speed and quickness but needs experience," says Gopher backfield coach Dick Larson. "He does everything pretty well and is going to help us before he finishes his career here."

Holmberg, though not exceptionally fast, is a determined, hard-driving runner who has shown good power in recent scrimmages. He also is a capable pass receiver.

Joe, who admits to a secret yen to be a singer, played on Mounds View's 1962 Suburban Conference football champs. He also lettered in wrestling and track.

MINNEAPOLIS. - A flock of talented sophomores is expected to catapult the University of Minnesota's cross country team into contention for the Big Ten cross country title this fall.

Gopher coach Roy Griak is optimistic about his squad, which he feels has an excellent chance of improving over last year's surprising third-place Big Ten finish. The Gophers entertain Drake in the season's opener at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the University Golf Course.

Six first-year men hold the key to Griak's hopes, along with three lettermen, including Capt. Norris Peterson, who finished fifth in last year's Big Ten meet and went on to win the Conference indoor two-mile crown.

The leading sophs are Tom Heinonen, Robbinsdale; George Podolsky and Bob Weigel, Minneapolis (Southwest); John Valentine, St. Louis Park; Dave Wegner, Duluth (Central); and Jack Trolander, Minneapolis (Roosevelt).

This group formed the heart of last year's freshman team which placed second in the Track and Field News Two-Mile Postal Meet, a nation-wide competition for frosh won by San Jose State.

Weigel won the state cross country championship in 1962 while Valentine was the 1963 state mile champ. Wegner placing second.

Nebraska, defending Big Eight Conference champion and 1964 Orange Bowl victor, looms as one of Minnesota's most formidable opening day rivals in many seasons. In routing South Dakota University 56 - 0 last Saturday, the Huskers demonstrated that they again have a machine comparable to their championship outfit of last season. Coach Bob Devaney, starting his third season at the Nebraska coaching helm, brings a 20 - 3 two-year record at Nebraska as additional warning that Minnesota faces a large assignment Saturday.

Nebraska's multiple-T offense will be directed by Fred Duda, 185-pound junior quarterback who runs the option play with a high degree of efficiency and scampers with a baffling pace that makes him a difficult quarry for opposing tacklers. Right halfback Bobby Hohn, 181-pound senior and only returnee from Nebraska's starting 1963 backfield, is a leading candidate for all Big Eight halfback honors an outstanding threat to Minnesota's defenses. Kent McCloughan, 191-pound left halfback and Big Eight 220-yard sprint champion, is a breakaway runner who can go all the way when given a little daylight. His speed makes him dangerous each time he gets his hands on the ball.

Minnesota, like its opponent, features the multiple-T offense, but the backs who will try to make it go are of a relatively unknown quantity. Bill Crockett, 158-pounder slated to start on offense at left half, and John Hankinson, No. 1 quarterback, missed last season's competition. Fullback Fred Farthing, 205-pound junior from Omaha, played 72 minutes as a halfback. Ray Whitlow, ticketed for the right halfback starting assignment, is a 160-pound sophomore making his collegiate football debut.

All American Carl Eller and Milt Sunde, tackles who were key factors in Minnesota's strong defensive showing (No. 2 in Big Ten play) a year ago, are missing from the lineup and Coach Murray Warmath has had little luck in finding replacements near their caliber. He and his staff have been working feverishly to put together a front line combining some offensive punch with defensive ruggedness.

Minnesota will platoon at center, left guard, and in the backfield. Warmath has indicated that the Gophers lack the depth to platoon complete units. He expects most of his athletes to be prepared to play both ways.

Minnesota's principal strength is expected to be at center and the ends. Centers Frank Marchlewski and Captain Joe Pung will handle the offensive and defensive chores, respectively. With Bob Bruggers, Kent Kramer, and Ken Last showing well at left end, and Aaron Brown, John Rajala, and Jerry Newsom available at right end, Minnesota finds itself three-deep with dependable performers at the outposts.

MEET A GOPHER ROOKIE
#7 in a Series

"The Gophers"

TIM WHEELER

Making a strong bid for a place in the 1964 Gopher football sun is sophomore guard Tim Wheeler of Richfield, Minnesota. Though small by Big Ten standards at 5-11, 185 pounds, Wheeler has nonetheless attracted much favorable attention with his efforts as a linebacker.

"Tim has some trouble with straight ahead power plays because of his size," says assistant coach Don Grammer, "but he covers the ground well, shows good football sense, and is very scappy."

Wheeler's ability to move around rapidly in pursuit stems from his high school days at Richfield where, as a hard running halfback, he was one of the Lake Conference leaders in scoring and made All-State honors as well as All-Conference in basketball and letters in baseball.

Wheeler's tremendous desire to play football at the University of Minnesota may come in part from his father, Roger Wheeler, who lettered in football and basketball in 1924, '25, and '26 for the Gophers.

Enrolled as a pre-law student in the College of Liberal Arts, Wheeler indicates that he is working towards a legal career but says that he secretly wishes to play professional football.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - George ("Butch") Nash, University of Minnesota end coach and a man not given to overstatement, considers the 1964 Gopher football team to be blessed with possibly the finest set of ends in his 17 years on the Minnesota staff.

Nash rates his flankmen as potentially the best, both in depth and quality. He adds that there isn't a senior in the bunch. Indeed, so strong is the group likely to be that the Gopher coaching staff felt able to switch one of its finest sophomore prospects, Chet Anderson of Duluth (Central) to tackle.

Two returning starters head the list -- Aaron Brown, Port Arthur, Texas, and Bob Bruggers, Roseland. Brown is considered the finest end on the squad and potentially one of the best in Gopher history.

Other returning veterans are John Rajala, letterman from Anoka, and Kent Kramer, Temple City, Calif.

Promising newcomers include Kenny Last, Bloomington, Ron Austin, Uniontown, Pa., and Roger Michalski, Silver Bay.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota football team, fresh from "the one that got away" against Nebraska last week, tries again Saturday for victory No. 1 of the young 1964 season. The foe is a tough California team. The place the Berkeley lair of the Golden Bear.

How big an assignment the Gophers face was illustrated by Illinois' trip to the same site last Saturday. The defending Big Ten and Rose Bowl champs almost lost more than their hearts in the San Francisco Bay area. They were hard-pressed to salvage a 20-14 win and had to withstand a determined Cal drive which carried to the Illini six-yard line as the game ended.

Gopher coach Murray Warmath isn't making any promise above the declaration that his team will give its best effort to win. He recognizes the class of the Californians, led by their stellar quarterback Craig Morton. Warmath does hope that the Gophers left their mistakes on the field last Saturday. They made enough of them against the Huskers to last for several games.

It looks as if the same Minnesota team which started in the opener will be on tap for the road inaugural. This would mean an offensive alignment including Kent Kramer and Aaron Brown, ends; Don Rosen and Jim Fulgham, tackles; Paul Faust and Randy Staten, guards; Frank Marchlewski, center; John Hankinson, quarterback; Bill Crockett, left half; Ray Whitlow, right half; and Fred Farthing, fullback.

Sophomore Whitlow's status hinges largely on his recovery from a back injury suffered against Nebraska. If he is not ready, his place likely will be filled by another soph, Dave Colburn. Veteran right halfback Dick Harren will not make the trip due to his persistent knee injury.

Two other top men, No. 1 defensive halfbacks Kraig Lofquist and Stan Skjei, emerged from the opener with leg injuries. If they are not ready by Saturday, the Gopher secondary will be seriously handicapped.

Biggest task on the Gophers' practice docket this week is to tighten their defense against passing. Nebraska's quarterback Fred Duda piled up 188 yards and two touchdowns against Minnesota. At least part of the problem was due to a mediocre rush by the Gopher line which failed to harass the enemy passer in the patented manner of Bobby Bell, Carl Eller and other recent Gopher defensive greats.

Two of the happiest surprises of the Gophers' baptism of fire last week were the passing and field direction of junior quarterback John Hankinson who saw the first extended service of his Gopher career. He completed 12 of 25 passes for 97 yards and one touchdown and added another score on a 33-yard run.

Crockett, who missed last season due to ineligibility, returned to his 1962 running form and then some. Altogether, he accounted for 239 yards, including an 80-yard punt return and 88 yards racked up on three kickoff returns.

To date, California has had all the better of the short series with Minnesota, winning both games played by the decisive margins of 55-14 in 1951 and 49-13 in 1952. In all competition against West Coast schools, the Gophers stand 13-10-1.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - It will be a case of an inexperienced team with good potential against an experienced team of proven ability when the University of Minnesota's young cross country team challenges powerful Wisconsin at Madison Saturday.

The Gophers will be relying mostly on sophomores while the Badgers have seven of their top eight men back from last year's squad which defeated Minnesota 23-31 in a dual meet and nosed out the Maroon and Gold entry for second place in the Conference meet.

Coach Roy Griak admits that the Badgers are tough but feels his squad has enough strength to make the meet "real close." Griak was surprised by the Gophers' 15-43 margin of victory over Drake in last week's opener. Minnesota runners, four of them sophomores, took the first five places, paced by soph Bob Weigel's course record time of 21:07 over the four miles.

Wisconsin's top returning veterans are seniors Steve Tullberg who placed third in last fall's Big Ten meet, Jim Connors and Dave Heinrich, along with juniors Dick Peterson, Barney Peterson, Jim Weinert and Fred Logan.

Minnesota's leading competitors, in addition to Weigel, are sophomores John Valentine, Tom Heinonen, Dave Wegner and George Podolsky, Capt. Norris Peterson, a senior, and Mike Elwell, a junior.

The meet will be the first of the season for Wisconsin.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota football squad kicks off its 1964 Big Ten campaign Saturday in Memorial Stadium here against one of its most ancient and respected rivals -- the Wildcats of Northwestern University. The Gophers hold a 26-17-4 edge in the series dating back to 1892, but Northwestern has taken 34 - 22 and 15 - 8 verdicts in the last two seasons.

Average weight of backfields:	Northwestern - 190;	Minnesota - 178.
Average weight of team:	Northwestern - 213;	Minnesota - 207.

Kickoff time: 1:30 p.m. CST. Estimated attendance: 55,000.

Radio broadcasts: WEAW, WNMP, Evanston. WCFL, Chicago. WCCO (Plus North Star Network), WLOL, WTCN, Twin Cities. KROC, Rochester. Telecasts - none.

In its three starts this autumn Northwestern has defeated Oregon State 7 - 3 and Indiana 14 - 13. It bowed last Saturday to Illinois 17 - 6. Minnesota is one - one with a 26 - 21 setback by Nebraska and a 26 - 20 conquest of California to its credit.

While the Northwestern coaching staff headed by Alex Agase is making its first stand against the Gophers, an old nemesis returns to present severe defensive problems for the Gophers. He is Tom Myers, All American quarterback and forward passing genius for the Wildcats. As a sophomore he tallied 16 pass completions in 25 attempts for 251 yards and four touchdowns. Last season at Evanston he continued to torment the Gophers as he connected on nine of 17 aerials for 161 yards and two touchdowns. Indications are that Myers' throwing arm is just as fit as ever for he has completed 31 of 75 passes for 446 yards and two touchdowns.

The game could develop into a passing spectacular. Minnesota's John Hankinson completed nine of 13 tries against California and 12 of 25 against Nebraska for 242 yards, three touchdowns, and a 55 per cent completion record. The tall, slender junior from Edina is being hailed as the most talented slinger in Warmath's 11-year tenure at Minnesota.

Despite the touted artistry of Myers and Hankinson, all the fireworks will not be in the air. Both teams have fine running backs. Chief ground gainers for the Wildcats have been fullback Steve Murphy who has rushed 222 yards in 52 tries for a 4.3 average, and halfbacks Dick McCauley and Ron Rector. Rector has averaged 5.1 yards in 10 carries. McCauley's rushing record is less impressive with a net of 33 yards in 22 tries, but he has caught six of Myers' passes for 87 yards and a touchdown. Murphy, an injury victim in the Illinois game, may miss Saturday's contest.

The big gainer and principal ground-gaining threat for Minnesota is 155-pound Bill Crockett, senior left halfback. He has carried the ball 30 times for a net of 146 yards and a 4.9 per-try average. Crockett is a tricky, polished runner who runs with an abandon that belies his frail-appearing frame. The fullback punch in the Minnesota ground attack is provided by Fred Farthing, 205-pound junior who has moved the ball 106 yards in 23 carries for a 4.6 average.

Indications are that Minnesota will be minus the services of two of its top right halfbacks for the Northwestern encounter. Dick Harren, No. 1 at this position at the end of the 1963 season, is still nursing a knee that is slow in recovering from an operation last February. Dave Colburn, 175-pound sophomore who started against California, suffered a shoulder injury in that game. His availability is doubtful. He is being replaced by Ray Whitlow, 160-pound sophomore, in practice this week.

A turnout of 55,000 is expected for this 48th meeting of the Gophers and Wildcats. Plenty of tickets in the bowl end and West bleachers are still available at the Cooke Hall ticket office on campus, the Downtown ticket office in the North Star Center, Minneapolis, and the Field Schlick ticket office, St. Paul.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota's young cross country team, undefeated in its first two starts, Saturday takes on two Big Eight squads --- Iowa State and Nebraska --- at Ames, Iowa.

Gopher coach Roy Griak was extremely pleased by his team's winning performance against tough Wisconsin last Saturday and feels that the Cyclones and Huskers will give Minnesota another good test preparatory to next week's meet here with defending Big Ten champion Michigan State.

"We've had a real good week of practice and I'm more than satisfied with our team's progress this fall," Griak says. The Gophers' biggest problem this week has been a couple of colds which have afflicted Dave Wegner and John Valentine.

Nebraska was a late entry in this Saturday's card. The meet was originally slated to be a dual affair between Minnesota and Iowa State, but the Huskers were added this week. The action will be scored on a double dual meet basis.

"I really don't know much about Nebraska," Griak admits. "I'd know that State has considerably more experience than we have, although, on paper we figure to be stronger. What will happen Saturday is another matter."

The Cyclones top man is Brian Kohlman, a junior who ran four miles in 21:39 last year. Joining him are three more juniors -- Bob Rippe, Dennis Anderson and Gerald Van De Garder -- and three sophs -- Dave Lee, Rog Hanson and Bob Rowell. Lee is considered a top prospect among the newcomers.

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Illinois football team goes into the do-or-die phase of its Big Ten Conference title defense Saturday when it meets surprising Minnesota in Memorial Stadium here in a contest wrought with heavy historical overtones.

The encounter, thirty-first in a series dating back to 1898, will be Minnesota's Homecoming feature. Also, it will commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Memorial Stadium dedication game in which the Gophers engineered a stunning 20 - 7 upset win over the Illini and their famed Red Grange.

Illinois appeared to be prepared for a strong defense of its title as it tripped California 20 - 14 and Northwestern 17 - 6, only to be stifled by Ohio State 26 - 0 last Saturday. The Gophers carry a 2 - 1 record into Saturday's contest on the basis of 26 - 20 and 21 - 18 victories over California and Northwestern respectively, and a 21 - 26 setback by Nebraska in their opener. If comparative scores may be considered meaningful, Saturday's combatants are evenly matched.

As the result of a crippling foot injury sustained by ace halfback Bill Crockett in the Northwestern win last Saturday, the Minnesota coaching staff has been forced to make a number of personnel switches this week.

In Monday's practice Fred Farthing, 205-pound fullback, appeared at left halfback as a replacement for Crockett, and Mike Reid, basically a defensive fullback, took over on offense in place of Farthing. Jerry Newsom, untried 205-pound sophomore end from Minneapolis, moved to fullback with the No. 2 unit. Mike Orman, a senior who has been alternately listed as an end and a flanker back on the third team, traded places with Ray Whitlow at right halfback with the first team. However, Whitlow who made a spectacular 50-yard pass play gain against Northwestern will probably get the starting nod this week. Dave Colburn, one of Minnesota's brightest sophomore halfback prospects, is still hampered by a shoulder injury sustained early in the California game which he started at right half, and is apparently unavailable for Saturday.

Combining with Farthing, Whitlow, and Reid in the Minnesota backfield will be quarterback John Hankinson who has been something of a sensation so far this season. The rangy, wiry junior from Edina has provided the Gophers with their strongest aerial threat in Warmath's 11-year tenure. Hankinson has completed 31 of 53 passes for 426 yards, three touchdowns, and a 58 per cent completion mark while having none intercepted. In addition, he has a rushing net of 94 yards and has contributed three touchdowns. Hankinson's favorite receiver has been Aaron Brown, 6-4, 231 pound junior. Brown has nabbed 10 passes for 88 yards and two touchdowns. Crockett had snared seven for 71 yards prior to his injury.

Illinois' decisive loss to Ohio State has led to no changes in Minnesota's preparation for the upcoming clash. Coach Murray Warmath has held a high regard for the Illini since last year's 16 - 6 loss at Champaign. He is on record as believing Fred Custardo to be one of the best all-around and most dangerous pass - run quarterbacks in college football today. All too clear in the memory of the Minnesota coaching staff is the destruction wrought on their defenses by fullback Jim Grabowski. He crashed up the middle for 72 yards in 17 carries and was easily the outstanding factor in the Illinois victory. Custardo likewise ran effectively as he averaged 4.2 yards on eight rushes.

The best available information from Champaign - Urbana indicates that Coach Pete Elliott will not shake up the Illinois lineup which survived the Ohio State tilt in good physical condition. This means that Sam Price, 209-pound junior from Toledo and Ron Acks, 196-pound junior from Decatur will team at left and right halfback, respectively. The Orange and Blue starting offensive backfield averaging 203 pounds per man will have a wide weight advantage over the Minnesota backfield.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota's undefeated cross country team faces its sternest test of the campaign Saturday when it entertains Michigan State's defending Big Ten champions in a dual meet at the University golf course.

Gopher coach Roy Griak respects the Spartans but is not awed by their record which includes two straight Conference titles and 11 in the last 13 years. "We can beat State, if we make our very best effort," he declares. "Nothing but our best will suffice, however."

Griak is pleased with the steady progress of his young squad but feels that the Gophers have not run up to their potential as a team in their four victories over Drake, Wisconsin, Iowa State and Nebraska.

"Some of our individuals have shown to very good advantage," he says, "but we can do better as a unit."

Tom Heinonen, one of the numerous sophomores who dominate the Gopher team this fall, earned special praise from Griak for his progress. He has been Minnesota's top man the last two Saturdays.

State is led by co-captains Jan Bowen and Mike Kaines. Bowen, the No. 1 man, finished tenth in the Big Ten meet a year ago. They are joined by juniors Eric Zemper, eleventh in '63 Conference competition, and Paul McCollon, along with senior Jack Hamie. Top sophs are Keith Coates and George Baltrop. Coates is highly regarded.

The group comprised the Spartans' top five in their 22-37 victory over Wisconsin last Saturday. The meet was State's first of the year. Their winning margin was only slightly better than Minnesota's 25-36 showing against the same foe.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota football team, its Big Ten title aspirations tarnished by Illinois, seeks to regroup its forces for Saturday's invasion of Ann Arbor and the 55th renewal of the Little Brown Jug feud.

The Gophers, their front line troops decimated by injuries to key men prior to and early in the Illini battle, hope to regain some of this manpower in time for the clash with the Wolverines.

Minnesota went into last Saturday's contest minus the services of ace halfbacks Bill Crockett and Dick Harren, and starting defensive end John Rajala. The first casualty of the game was John Hankinson who had completed 31 of 53 passes for 426 yards, three touchdowns, and a .585 completion percentage. He suffered a concussion in the first five minutes of play and was sidelined. Other casualties were Brian Callahan, starting right guard, Fred Farthing, No. 1 left halfback, Fred Nord, first team defensive right tackle, and Glen Wirtanen, starting defensive quarterback. All except Nord were sent to University Hospitals for observation. Their availability for the Michigan encounter remains in doubt.

In view of this depletion of their top-flight performers, the Gophers face long odds in attempting to make it five in a row over their arch rivals whom they have defeated by scores of 10-0(1960), 23 - 20 (1961), 17 - 0 (1962), and 6 - 0 (1963) in their last four encounters.

The principal task of the Minnesota coaching staff in practice this week is to patch up the lineup and get the battered Gophers ready for a strong effort against the Wolverines. Recovery of Hankinson, Harren, and Crockett would restore Minnesota's passing-running threat that held them in such good stead against Nebraska, California, and Northwestern. However, their status remains in doubt at this time.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota football team is expected to enter Saturday's "Little Brown Jug" battle at Michigan in considerably better physical shape than it left the Illinois encounter last weekend, but some key performers are likely to remain sidelined.

On the bright side, five players that missed part or all of the Illini contest are ready to go, including quarterback John Hankinson who sat out most of the 14 - 0 drubbing at the hands of Illinois because of a mild concussion. Other casualties who will see action against the Wolverines are fullback-halfback Fred Farthing, defensive guard Brian Callahan and safetyman Glen Wirtanen. All three also were victims of slight concussions. Being counted on, too, is defensive end John Rajala who missed the Illinois game due to a knee injury suffered against Northwestern the week before. He is not definitely set but has been showing marked improvement.

Not so encouraging is the condition of speedy halfback Bill Crockett whose injured foot is still on the mend. Although not ruled out of the Michigan fray, his status is doubtful. Still another man on the doubtful list is defensive tackle Fred Nord, sidelined by a neck injury.

If Crockett and Nord are unable to play, their places will be taken by Farthing and Jim Fulgham respectively.

There is no indication when right half Dick Harren, incapacitated all season with a knee injury, will be available for action, but it apparently will not be this week.

A healthy Crockett would make a big difference in the Gophers' prospects for extending their four-year mastery over the Wolverines. During this span, Minnesota has won twice at Ann Arbor, 10 - 0 in 1960 and 17 - 0 in 1962.

Michigan leads in the series with 32 victories to the Gophers' 19. There have been three ties. One of those deadlocks came in the game which launched the famous "Brown Jug" rivalry back in 1903. Since then, the Gophers have had possession of the jug 17 times and the Wolverines 28.

Saturday's game will be televised on KSTP-TV (Channel 5) starting at 12:30 p.m. CST.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Minnesota must be considered a top contender for the Big Ten basketball crown this year on the strength of its showing last season when it finished third with a 10 - 4 record, just a shade behind co-champs Michigan and Ohio State (11 - 3). Only one regular, Capt. Bill Davis, is lost from that surprising squad.

The Gophers launched their six-week pre-season practice period last week with a nucleus of eight lettermen, including five men who were either starters or alternates on last year's team. Just one sophomore, highly-regarded 6 - 5 forward Paul Presthus of Rugby, N.D., is on the squad.

"We should be improved this year if we can find a suitable replacement for Davis," Kundla says with guarded optimism. "Otherwise, we'll be about the same."

Capt. Mel Northway heads the returning contingent. The 6 - 8 senior center last season broke the Gophers' record for most rebounds in a single conference campaign and ranked second in scoring.

Forward Louis Hudson, 6-5, top scorer on the 1963-64 team and tenth leading scorer in the Big Ten, also is back, along with guards Archie Clark, 6-1½, Terry Kunze, 6-4, and Don Yates, 6-2. The latter also played forward, and both he and Kunze are going to get a shot at the spot left vacant by Davis.

Other leading candidates to replace Davis, runnerup in '63-64 Gopher rebounding and third best scorer, are Presthus and letterman Dennis Dvoracek, 6-6.

Also missing from last year's team are guard Alan Druskin, 5-11, and forward Don Linehan, 6-2.

Additional returnees are reserve guards Wes Martins, 5-11, and Dave Nelson, 6-1, both lettermen, as well as three men who did not letter -- centers Dave Wykes, 6-6, and Don Ginsburg, 6-7, and guard Dean Lopata, 6-0.

Although Kundla expects the Gophers to be tough, he points out that the Conference should be improved as a whole. Michigan's mighty team is back almost intact and bolstered by some fine freshmen. Kundla also expects Purdue, Illinois and Indiana to be strong.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Even the most optimistic follower of Minnesota football finds it difficult to generate optimism this week as the Gophers gird for Saturday's invasion of Bloomington for the 26th meeting in this series dating back to 1906.

Fresh in mind is the 24 - 6 lacing dealt out by the Hoosiers a year ago in Memorial Stadium here. Principal tormentors were quarterback Rich Bader and fullback Tom Mowatzke who return with virtually the same lineup that handed the Gophers their worst setback of the 1963 campaign. The bulldozing Hoosier fullback crashed the Minnesota defense for a net of 138 yards in 24 rushes in one of the most impressive power displays seen in Memorial Stadium here in many years. He contributed three extra points and a 42-yard field goal. And Minnesota was No. 2 defensively in the Big Ten at the end of the season.

The injury-ridden Gophers are having their defensive problems. In recent weeks they have lost the services of Fred Nord, 240 pound No. 1 defensive right tackle, and John Rajala, No. 1 defensive right end. Nord is suffering from a nerve injury in his neck, and Rajala is recuperating from a leg injury. Coach Murray Warmath's defensive problems were compounded when Frank Marchlewski, standout offensive center, was cut down last Saturday in the Michigan game by a knee injury requiring surgery which eliminates him for the balance of the season. This loss deals a double blow, for it eliminates one of the league's best offensive centers, and necessitates the switch of Captain Joe Pung, a linebacking standout, to the offensive chores in Marchlewski's place.

The availability of Bill Crockett, Minnesota's top offensive halfback until injured in the Northwestern game October 10, remains in doubt. Early this week he was hobbling on a swollen ankle. His presence in the Minnesota backfield steps up its offensive potential considerably. At the time of his injury "The Crickett" had netted 157 yards in 36 rushes, had caught seven passes for 71 yards, had returned four kickoffs 112 yards, and had scooted 97 yards on four punt returns.

Indications are that quarterback John Hankinson will have to again shoulder the greater part of Minnesota's offensive burden, as he did last Saturday at Ann Arbor when he completed 17 of 27 pass attempts for 163 yards and one touchdown. To date this autumn Hankinson, tall lean junior from Edina, has connected on 47 of 84 aerials for 578 yards and four touchdowns, and has yet to experience an interception. He is 179 yards away from Minnesota's all-time record in Conference play set by Sandy Stephens in 1961.

Whether or not the Minnesota coaching staff will extend the experiment which found Ken Last, 6-4 and 200 pound sophomore switching from end to flanker back for the Michigan game, remains to be seen. Crockett's return to action could result in several backfield changes.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The most dazzling aerial display ever staged in Memorial Stadium here is in prospect for Saturday afternoon when Iowa's brilliant Gary Snook and Minnesota's sharp-shooting John Hankinson tangle in a forward passing duel that is certain to highlight the 58th meeting of these ancient and keen rivals. The Gophers have a wide edge in the series with 37 victories to 19 for the Hawkeyes. There is one tie game on record.

Probable starting lineups:

IOWA -

#81	Rich O'Hara (188, 6-3)	LE
#79	Bob Ziolkowski (262, 6-4)	LT
#77	John Niland (238, 6-3)	LG

Coach Jerry Burns and the pass-minded Iowans are intent on breaking a three-game losing streak which followed three successive victories at the outset of the season. Iowa downed Idaho 34 - 24, Washington 28 - 18, and Indiana 21 - 20 before succumbing to Wisconsin 31 - 21, Purdue 19 - 14, and Ohio State 21 - 19. In battling the Buckeyes, the nation's number one college team, right down to the final gun and narrowly missing a tie score, the Hawkeyes proved themselves capable of standing up to any team in the Conference.

Minnesota likewise owns a three-three record on the basis of wins over California (26 - 20), Northwestern (21 - 18), and Indiana (21 - 0), and losses to Nebraska (21 - 26), Illinois (0 - 14), and Michigan (12 - 19).

Both the Gophers and the Hawkeyes reached season peaks in their impressive performances last Saturday, even though Iowa's was a losing cause.

Underdog Minnesota came up with its best defensive effort of the campaign as it limited the powerful Hoosiers to a net rushing gain of 48 yards, and only two yards in the second half. The Gophers were sharp on pass defense, also. Indiana's Rich Badar, second-ranked passer in the Big Ten going into the game with a .536 completion average, had to settle for 13 of 35 attempts for 104 yards. Three of his tosses were intercepted.

Iowa was even more impressive statistically against front-running Ohio State. The Hawkeyes registered 18 first downs to 12 for the Buckeyes, outrushed them 94 to 79 yards, and topped them in passing average, 221 to 110.

The principal task of Coach Murray Warmath and his Minnesota coaching aides this week is to set up a defense cope with one of the nation's most effective forward passing attacks triggered by Gary Snook. The junior marksman from Iowa City has completed 112 of 217 passes for 1,506 yards and 8 touchdowns. His corps of receivers is the best in the Conference. Glue-fingered, elusive Karl Noonan has snared 45 aerials for 690 yards and three touchdowns. Rich O'Hara and Captain Tony Giacobazzi have grabbed 23 passes each — O'Hara for 328 yards and Giacobazzi for 315 yards. Other capable receivers are left halfbacks Dalton Kimble (9 for 57) and Craig Nourse (7 for 38), and right halfback Karlin Ryan (5 for 78).

The air lanes are not the only avenue of attack in which the Iowans are proficient. Halfbacks Kimble and Nourse combine with fullback Karl Noonan to give them a strong rushing threat. Kimble has netted 275 yards in 62 carries, and has returned seven kickoffs for 167 yards -- a 23.8 average.

Early-week indications are that Bill Crockett, Minnesota's fleet and elusive left halfback, will not be sufficiently recovered from an ankle injury suffered October 10 to take the field against Iowa. In Monday's practice the backfield was comprised of quarterback John Hankinson, left halfback Fred Farthing, right halfback (flanker-back) Ken Last, and fullback Mike Reid. This is the same quartet that started against Indiana.

In Crockett's absence, Hankinson will again have to spearhead Minnesota's attack, as he did against the Hoosiers with 30 net rushing yards and 11 pass completions for 149 yards. It was a 27-yard pass play from Hankinson to Last on a fourth-down-and-11 situation that put the Gophers on the winning track. Latest Minnesota statistics show the lanky, lean junior quarterback completing 58 of 108 pass tries for 727 yards and five touchdowns. Only two have been intercepted. He is within only 30 yards of the school single season record of 757 passing yards against Big 10 opposition established by All American Sandy Stephens in 1961.

As of the close of business Monday, some 2,000 tickets remained for the game which will attract more than 6,000 Iowa rooters to Memorial Stadium.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The moment of truth for the University of Minnesota's young cross country team comes Monday at Champaign, Illinois when the Gophers bid for the Big Ten crown in the Conference meet.

"We'll be a contender," declares Coach Roy Griak. "We'll have to run our very best, but if we do, we could do a real great job there."

A real great job is what the sophomore-dominated Gophers have been doing so far this fall. In nine dual meets, they have lost just once. That was a one-point affair against defending champion Michigan State which, incidentally, is the favorite again this year.

Capt. Norris Peterson, who placed fifth in last fall's Conference meet, will lead a seven-man Minnesota delegation which also includes junior Mike Elwell and sophomores Tom Heinonen, Dave Wegner, John Valentine, Bob Weigel and Stan Gaffin.

Both Heinonen and Wegner are handicapped by colds, while Peterson is still bothered by a troublesome knee which has slowed him down a little this fall.

Griak figures State is the team to beat but thinks Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana will all be tough, along with Minnesota. He sees the individual championship battle as wide open.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Just 15 years later the "shoe is on the other foot" as Purdue's football forces prepare to battle Minnesota in Memorial Stadium here Saturday.

In 1949 the Minnesota football team had rolled over four opponents and appeared to be headed for its first Rose Bowl bid. Michigan then upset the Gophers who were still favored to make it to Pasadena on New Years Day. It was the general concensus that Minnesota would rebound and easily handle underdog Purdue the following Saturday. The Boilermakers ruined Homecoming and Rose Bowl hopes with a stunning 13 - 7 reversal. Bernie Bierman and Co. went on from there to outscore their next three opponents -- Iowa, Pittsburgh, and Wisconsin -- 93 to 20, but the damage had been done.

Probable starting lineups:

PURDUE -

#86	George Catavolos (173, 6-1)	LE
#61	Lou Defilippo (230, 5-9)	LT
#69	George Pappas (199, 5-10)	LG

Average weight of lines: Purdue - 210; Minnesota - 220.
Average weight of backfields: Purdue - 185; Minnesota - 188.
Average weight of teams: Purdue - 201; Minnesota - 209.

Time of game: 1:30 p.m. CST. Estimated attendance: 60,000.

The aroma of roses was rather strong in Lafayette last Friday as the Boilermakers took off for East Lansing boasting a 4 - 0 record in Conference play. Michigan State proceeded to score a 21 - 7 upset. Purdue, with a seven-game Big Ten schedule, retains a good chance to win the championship and the Rose Bowl nod if it can win remaining contests with Minnesota and Indiana.

While the series dating back to 1894 stands 15 - 10 - 3 in favor of Minnesota, the Boilermakers are traditionally at their best against the Gophers. In 1960 Minnesota was within two games of its first undefeated season since 1941 when Purdue pulled a shocking 23 - 14 upset that cost Murray Warmath & Co. a clear championship. They finished with an 8 - 1 record, and a title tie with Iowa. Minnesota squeaked past Purdue 10 - 7 and 7 - 6 in 1961 and '62. Last year at Lafayette Purdue took a bitterly contested 13 - 11 verdict. Regardless of the outcome of these games in recent years, they have featured bone-bruising contact and fiercely spirited competition.

On a basis of comparative records this season, Purdue must be considered the favorite in Saturday's clash. It has conquered Ohio U., Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, and Illinois while losing to Notre Dame and Michigan State. Minnesota has a 4 - 3 season mark consisting of wins over California, Northwestern, Indiana, and Iowa. Losses have been to Nebraska, Illinois, and Michigan. Gopher followers have been cheered by recent performances which found Minnesota reaching its season peak in a 21 - 0 conquest of Indiana two weeks ago, and a 14 - 13 verdict over arch-rival Iowa last Saturday.

Minnesota's principal hope of tumbling the invaders rests on the talented arm of quarterback John Hankinson who has broken one school forward passing record, and is nearing several others. The lanky, lean junior from suburban Minneapolis has completed 70 of 132 pass attempts for 837 yards and six touchdowns. An important factor in these figures has been perhaps the most able corps of receivers in Minnesota's football history. Aaron Brown, mammoth junior right end, has snared 25 passes for 243 yards. Kent Kramer, towering left end, has gathered in 14 for 260 yards. Ken Last, sophomore flankerback, has latched on to 16 for 198 yards.

The Minnesota running attack, since halfback Bill Crockett was injured and disabled in the Northwestern game October 10, has left much to be desired. The Minnesota coaching staff hopes to have him ready for full duty against Purdue. In the event of his sufficient recovery, Crockett will resume his left halfback role. Fred Farthing who has been pinch-hitting at left half, would then return to his normal assignment at fullback, a position at which he is considerably more effective.

Minnesota trainer Lloyd Stein is hopeful that tackle Gale Gillingham, fullback Mike Reid, and defensive quarterback Bill Bevan who were forced from the Iowa game by injuries will be sufficiently healed to make a stand against the Boilermakers.

Purdue suffered a major player loss in the Michigan State encounter when Bob Hadrick, brilliant junior end, incurred a severe ankle sprain. He has been the favorite target of Bob Griese, one of the nation's best sophomore quarterbacks. George Catavolos is working in Hadrick's place this week. Griese who completed eight of 11 pass tries against MSU for 83 yards ranks among the Big Ten's elite in the aerial department with 43 completions in 86 attempts.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf is expected to go along with the same backfield combination that took the field against the Spartans — Griese, left halfback Jim Morel, right halfback Gordon Teter, and fullback Randy Minniear.

The game which will complete Minnesota's home schedule is expected to attract 60,000 to Memorial Stadium.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - Winter sports fans will be treated to a free peek at the highly-rated University of Minnesota hockey and basketball teams during the next 10 days.

The curtain goes up first on John Mariucci's powerful ice warriors with an intra-squad battle Tuesday, starting at 8 p.m. Then, on Friday, the Varsity takes on the Alumni, also at 8:00. Both games will be played at Williams Arena and will be preceded by Freshman Intra-squad games at 6:30.

John Kundla's basketball squad, considered a leading challenger for the Big Ten crown, goes into action the following Tuesday (November 24) in an Intra-Squad contest, starting at 8 p.m. in Williams Arena. An all Alumni battle will fill the preliminary spot at 7:00.

All three games are free to the public.

Both Varsity teams are loaded with lettermen, the hockey entry with 16 and the cagers with eight, including five members of last year's six man regular contingent. Stars in action will include hockey all-American Craig Falkman and basketball and all-American candidates Lou Hudson and Archie Clark.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - A University of Minnesota football team that has confounded the "experts" and made prophets of Coach Murray Warmath and Captain Joe Pung ("I'll tell you one thing, we aren't going to finish last like they say.") heads for Madison this weekend and the season's finale with Wisconsin shooting for a possible second place tie in the final Big Ten standings.

This amazing development could come about should the surprising Gophers win from the Badgers while Michigan is bowing to Ohio State in the big showdown at Columbus.

The Wisconsin and Minnesota football teams go in to their 74th meeting since 1890 with at least one thing in common -- a season marred by the loss of many first-line players for one reason or another, mainly injuries.

Minnesota's upset victory over highly-favored Purdue last Saturday was a particularly remarkable achievement in view of the fact that no less than six valuable players sat out the game because of injuries. They were Frank Marchlewski, outstanding offensive center; halfbacks Dick Harren and Bill Crockett; Paul Faust, No. 1 offensive left guard; Gale Gillingham, highly-rated offensive and defensive right tackle; and Tim Wheeler, middle linebacker. Harren was outstanding in last year's 14 - 0 conquest of the Badgers as he rushed the ball 18 times for a net of 82 yards and caught two passes for 37 yards.

Marchlewski who is on crutches following a knee operation and Harren will definitely miss Saturday's action at Madison. Crockett, Faust, Gillingham, and Wheeler are all on the "doubtful" list.

Again Minnesota will pin its hopes of victory on the forward passing of record-breaking John Hankinson and the receiving of flanker-back Ken Last, and ends Aaron Brown and Kent Kramer. With the Gopher ground attack pretty well thwarted by the powerful Purdue line, Hankinson threw spectacular bullseye aerials to Last and Kramer for the game-winning touchdowns.

Hankinson, the rangy, lean junior marksman from suburban Minneapolis, already owns two all-time school passing records: 1. Most yards gained passing in one season -- 159 for 996 yards. 2. Most completions in one season -- 78.

Minnesota passing records within reach of Hankinson are: 1. Most passes attempted in one season -- 154 by Duane Blaska in 1962. Hankinson with 147 needs 7 to tie. 2. Most touchdown passes in one season -- 9 by Sandy Stephens in 1961. Hankinson with 8 needs 1 to tie. 3. Most yards gained by passing in Conference games in one season -- 757 by Stephens in 1961. Hankinson with 754 needs 3 to tie.

Each time Aaron Brown, Minnesota's giant right end, catches a pass he ups his own school record which stands at 26. The former mark of 24 was set by Bud Grant in 1949.

With good days on the receiving end of Hankinson's tosses both Kramer and Last could make their way into the "Receiving" department of the Minnesota record book.

Sixteen members of the varsity squad will end their Minnesota football careers with the Wisconsin game. They are ends Len Stream and Bill Sausen; tackles Fred Nord, Jim Leslie, Jim ~~Krohn~~; guard Willie Costanza; centers Frank Marchlewski, Joe Pung; quarterbacks Larry Peterson and Ken Jacobson; halfbacks Stan Skjei, Kraig Lofquist, Rodney Elton, Mike Orman, Bill Crockett; fullback Mike Reid.

The Gophers will not be without moral support at Madison Saturday. Some 8,000 fans are expected to make the trip.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. Ken Yackel, an all-American defenseman at the University of Minnesota ten years ago, will be at the helm of a strong Alumni team which challenges the Gopher varsity Friday night at Williams Arena.

Game time is 8:00, with a freshman intra-squad preliminary set for 6:30. The action is free to the public and has been designated as a Williams Scholarship benefit. Voluntary contributions will go to the scholarship fund which aids student-athletes at the University.

Yackel, former coach of the Minneapolis Millers in the International Hockey League, was recently named coach of the 1965 U. S. Nationals team which will play in the World Games at Helsinki, Finland this winter.

Two other former Gopher all-Americans, defenseman Louis Nanne and wing Dick Burg, will be among Yackel's leading players. Nanne was WCHA scoring champion in 1963 as well as most valuable player.

Six members of last year's U. S. Olympic team will also be in action — defensemen Wayne Meredith and Jim Westby, along with forwards Dave and Herb Brooks, Gary Schmalzbauer and Len Lilyholm.

Other former Gopher stalwarts who will sport Alumni livery are goalie Mike Larson; defensemen Larry Johnson and Larry Alm; centers Larry Smith and Roger Rovick; wings Bill Ramsay, Marv Jorde, Dale Rasmussen, Dave Rovick and Rick Alm.

RADIO & TV BRIEFS FOR WILLIAMS SCHOLARSHIP BENEFITS

"The Gophers"

For use November 17 - 20 inclusive.

Substitute "tonight" for "Friday" when used on 20th.

If you missed Tuesday's free preview of the University of Minnesota hockey team, don't despair! You'll get another chance Friday when the Gopher varsity takes on the Alumni in Williams Arena at 8:00 p.m. Yes, its free, too.

So is the freshman intra-squad preliminary at 6:30.

This will be the first time the Gopher varsity, rated the best in years, has been on display as a unit. As you may remember, Tuesday's preview was an intra-squad affair.

The game has been designated as a Williams Scholarship benefit, with voluntary contributions by spectators going to this worthy fund.

It's not very often that you can watch a top-flight hockey game for free, but you can Friday night at Williams Arena. That's the night the University of Minnesota's highly-rated squad meets a strong Alumni team. Game time is 8:00, with a freshman intra-squad game thrown in for good measure, starting at 6:30. That's right, its all free.

The game has been designated as a Williams Scholarship benefit. Spectators will be given an opportunity to make a voluntary contribution to this fund which aids student-athletes at the University.

One of the strongest Alumni squads in many years supplies the competition for the University of Minnesota hockey varsity Friday night in the Gophers' second preview of the week at Williams Arena. Game time is 8:00 with a freshman intra-squad preliminary at 6:30. Admission is free.

Among the exciting "Old Grads" on hand will be two all-Americans, defenseman Louis Nanne and wing Dick Burg, and six members of last year's U. S. Olympic team -- Dave and Herb Brooks, Gary Schmalzbauer, Len Lilyholm, Jerry Westby and Wayne Meredith.

The contest has been designated as a Williams Scholarship benefit. Voluntary contributions by spectators will go to this very worthy fund which aids student athletes at the University.

The University of Minnesota hockey squad, widely touted as the best Gopher sextet since the days of John Mayasich & Co., gets its first test of the campaign Friday night when it tangles with the Alumni at Williams Arena. The game, which starts at 8:00, is free to the public.

There will be a freshman intra-squad preliminary at 6:30.

The Gophers are loaded with talent, and the Alumni squad promises to be nearly as strong as last year's, rated the finest ever.

The game has been designated as a Williams Scholarship benefit. Spectators will be given the opportunity to make a voluntary contribution to this worthy fund which aids student-athletes at the University.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - What could be the strongest University of Minnesota hockey team since the heady days of John Mayasich & Co. back in the early fifties gets its first taste of competition as a unit Friday when it takes on a tough Alumni squad at Williams Arena.

Face-off time is 8 p.m. The annual battle will be preceded by a freshman intra-squad tilt at 6:30. Admission is free. The attraction has been designated as a Williams Scholarship benefit. Voluntary contributions will go to the scholarship fund which aids student-athletes at the University.

Coach John Mariucci was satisfied with the Gophers' performance in their intra-squad preview Tuesday but allows that there is considerable room for improvement. He respects the Alumni team which he feels could give the varsity a good test for this early stage of the season.

Sixteen lettermen provide a powerful nucleus for the Gophers, including All-American wing Craig Falkman and Larry Stordahl, who missed last season due to a knee injury. Stordahl has been shifted from wing to defense. Another former forward, Dick Haigh who was a center, has also been switched to the blueline patrol. Haigh, however, did see some action at defense last year.

Letterman defensemen returning are Jerry Edman, Frank Zywiec and Pat Furlong. Up front, the Gophers have a flock of good forwards back, in addition to Falkman — Roy Nystrom, who was last year's leading Minnesota scorer, Lorne Grosso, Doug Woog, Bruce Larson, Gary Hokanson, Mike Alm, Mark Ryman, Dick Bloom and John Torrel.

Returning in the goal is John Lothrop, rated by Mariucci as possibly the finest Gopher netminder since Olympic hero Jack McCartan in 1958.

Leading newcomers are defensemen Jim Branch and Bill Ronning, center Jack Dale and wings Rolf Vinnes and Dennis Zacho.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The Big Ten champion University of Minnesota cross country team will try to make lightening strike a second time Monday when it vies with the nation's finest in the NCAA meet at East Lansing, Michigan.

Coach Roy Griak isn't expecting any surprises comparable to the Gophers' victory in the Big Ten meet two weeks ago. "It would require a fantastic performance on our part to win," he declares. "The competition will be so tough we would have to come through with a performance far better than anything we've done to date. I'd be real tickled if we could finish in the top six."

The same seven-man squad that romped to the Conference crown will be making the trip -- Capt. Norris Peterson, who was Big Ten runnerup, Tom Heinonen who placed fourth in the Conference, Bob Weigel, John Valentine, Mike Elwell, Dave Wegner and Stan Gaffin.

Elwell has been bothered by a sore throat and Wegner by a persistent cold. Otherwise the Gophers should be in top physical shape.

Griak expects Georgetown, Kansas, Notre Dame, Oregon and Western Michigan to be the top contenders for the team title. Bill Clark of the Fighting Irish, Walt Hewlett of Harvard and Joe Lynch of Georgetown are his selections as the most likely prospects for the individual crown.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota hockey team, still smarting from an upset 5-4 defeat at the hands of the Alumni, opens its 1964-65 Western Collegiate Hockey Association schedule at Williams Arena Friday and Saturday against a much-improved Colorado College team.

Game time both nights is 8:00. A freshman intra-squad clash will provide preliminary action Friday, while Richfield and Minneapolis Patrick Henry tangle Saturday. Prelim faceoff time is 6:30.

"That was a mighty good Alumni team we lost to last Friday," says a somewhat subdued Coach John Mariucci. "It was the best we've ever been up against in that annual game. Colorado won't be any easier. They've got a good club and have some real fine sophomores. We'll be out to win both games, though."

The Colorado roster is loaded with Minnesotans, including the coach, Bob Johnson who was a Gopher star back in the fifties. He is starting his second year as Tiger head man and his team could be a darkhorse for WCHA honors.

Thirteen members of the CC travel squad also call the Gopher State home. They include Dick Haugland, Jim Amidon and Glen Blumer, all of International Falls; Bob Magie, Duluth (East); Ken Hanson and Bob Lindberg, Minneapolis Washburn and Roosevelt respectively; and seven players from St. Paul -- Tom Brindley (Johnson), Dick Garvey (Mechanic Arts), Roger Simon, Dave Peterson and Jeff Sauer (Washington), John Genz, (Humboldt) and Steve Ebert (Central).

Although the Tigers have 13 lettermen, the sophomore line of Amidon, Genz and Lindberg has been creating most of the excitement in intra-squad games. This combination recently scored a total of 17 points in two contests, outscoring both experienced varsity lines led by Capt. Warren Fordyce and Sauer.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - It will be teacher vs. pupil when Minnesota takes on Colorado College in this weekend's Western Collegiate Hockey Association series at Williams Arena. The action will be the first of the year in WCHA competition for both teams.

Game time Friday and Saturday is 8 p.m. with preliminaries at 6:30 --
Freshman intra-squad Friday and Richfield vs. Patrick Henry Saturday.

The teacher is none other than veteran Gopher coach John Mariucci. The pupil, or rather former pupil, is ex-Minnesota hockey star Bob Johnson who now coaches the Tigers. Johnson played wing for Mariucci back in the halcyon days of 1953-54. He did a good job then, and he is doing the same now in his second year at Colorado.

Mariucci and Johnson stand 2-2 in their rivalry to date. "Maroosh" got the jump last year with a sweep of the series here, but Johnson's team ambushed the Gophers at Colorado Springs, taking both ends of the series there. The double loss knocked Minnesota out of contention for the WCHA crown and launched them on a four-game losing streak.

Nothing would give either coach more pleasure than a sweep of the upcoming series, especially since both clubs are expected to be contenders in the WCHA.

Mariucci respects Colorado, but he fully intends to win both games. "A sweep would mean a great deal at this early stage of the season," he explains.

John plans no lineup changes for the Tigers. He may go with three sets of defensemen -- Co-Capt. Larry Stordahl and Dick Haigh, Frank Zywiec and Jim Branch, Jerry Edman and Pat Furlong. Up front, there will be a senior line composed of Lorne Grosso, All-American Craig Falkman and Roy Nystrom; a junior line featuring Doug Woog, Bruce Larson and Gary Hokanson; and a sophomore line of Jack Dale, Rolf Vinnes and Dennis Zacho. John Lothrop will be the goalie.

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota wrestling team opens its 1964-65 season at Williams Arena Saturday when it entertains Iowa State, Iowa and State College of Iowa in the Minnesota Invitational quadrangular meet, starting at 12 noon.

Iowa State finished third in the NCAA meet a year ago and will be led by Gordon Hassman, defending national champ at 157 pounds, and Bob Buzzard, last year's Big Eight champ at 147. The Cyclones are expected to be among the nation's toughest teams again this winter.

Iowa was runnerup to Michigan for Big Ten honors last year and is rated a leading contender for the Conference title again this season. SCI is not considered as tough as the other Iowa powers but is rated a better-than-average squad.

Team totals will not be kept for this event. Competition will be on an individual basis only. Freshman will be eligible to compete, and two men will be entered from each school in each weight class.

The Gophers, who could have their best team in several years, are expected to use the following lineup:

115 pounds -- Jim Anderson and Don Henry; 123 -- Larry Lloyd and Denny Preble; 130 -- Terry Barrett and Gary Alexander; 137 -- Bob Henry and Dick Garza; 147 -- Ron Ankeny and Len Robertson; 157 -- Lee Gross and Ted Anderson; 167 -- John Klein and another wrestler to be determined later; 177 -- John Patten and Curt Hess; 191 -- Bob Ramstad and Jim Werner; Heavyweight -- Jon Staebler and Pat Parr. Preble, Alexander, Werner and Parr are all freshmen.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Two world champion divers will highlight the University of Minnesota's first annual "Aqua Spectacular" in the Cooke Hall Pool Saturday, December 5. The water show, something entirely new for the University, starts at 7:30 p.m. Tickets go on sale Monday at the Cooke Hall Ticket Office.

Bob Webster, 1960 and '64 Olympic platform diving champion, and Dick Kimball, world's professional diving champ and coach of the '64 U. S. Olympic diving team, are the headliners. Webster is only the second diver in history to win two Olympic gold medals. The first man was his one-time coach, Sammy Lee, in 1948 and '52. Webster was also the 1963 Pan-American Games platform diving champ.

Also appearing will be Ron Jaco, University of Minnesota diving coach, former All-American at Michigan and runnerup to Kimball for the world's professional diving crown; Virg Luken, former Gopher All-American, NCAA breaststroke champion and Olympic swimmer; and members of the Minnesota swimming team. Luken was a member of the medley relay team which set a new Olympic record this year in Tokyo. He is the first Minneapolis swimmer ever to make an Olympic squad.

Webster, Kimball and Jaco will combine in an exhibition of precision somersaulting and twisting dives. They will dive from a specially-constructed platform and trampoline. Luken will present an ensemble of zany swimming strokes which he learned in the Orient on his trip to the Olympics.

The show also will include precision springboard diving, a water ballet, various comic swimming and diving acts, as well as a couple of surprise numbers featuring a group billed as the "Fitzsimmon Sisters," an individual who claims to be "Superman" and another performer said to be the "world's fastest swimmer."

MINNEAPOLIS. - A veteran University of Minnesota basketball squad that will be hard-pressed to live up to pre-season speculation and "notices" will kick off its intercollegiate campaign Tuesday night in Williams Arena against South Dakota State University with emphasis on the reserves whom Coach Kundla hopes to develop into a strong "bench."

The encounter with the Jackrabbits from Brookings is expected to provide Kundla an opportunity to test and evaluate each member of his 12-man squad.

Indications are that Kundla is pretty well "set" on his starting combination -- Lou Hudson and Terry Kunze at the forwards, Captain Mel Northway at center, and Archie Clark and Don Yates at the guard positions. Kunze, a guard through his sophomore and junior seasons, appears to be adjusting well at forward.

Kundla rates his number one problem the developing of an adequate replacement for Northway at center. The most likely candidate of the moment is Dennis Dvoracek, 6-6 junior from Eau Claire, Wisconsin whom Kundla rates as the "most improved" member of the squad. Dvoracek has been working at forward where he and sophomore Paul Presthus, 6-5 former prep All American from Rugby, North Dakota are understudying Hudson and Kunze. However, Dvoracek must be ready to step in for Northway and may get a lengthy trial at center against State.

Also expected to get a thorough testing Tuesday are guards Dave Nelson, Minneapolis senior, and Wes Martins, Moorhead junior. Kundla indicates that this pair is ready to render valuable service in relief of Clark and Yates, and he intends to bring them along as rapidly as possible for this role. Both have made marked improvement since last season.

The 6:15 preliminary pits the Minnesota freshmen squad against a combined group of former Gopher cagers and current members of the Minnesota football squad with strong basketball backgrounds. The main event starts at 8:00 p.m.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - If the University of Minnesota's ambitious hockey team emerges unscathed from its junket to the home of Michigan's defending WCHA and NCAA champions this weekend it will have to be rated a prime contender for the Association crown.

The Gophers couldn't have picked a much tougher test for their first road trip of the campaign. Although the Wolverines lost goalie Bob Gray and their outstanding top line of a year ago, they still have the makings of another powerful team.

"I wouldn't say that they are the favorite for the championship again this year," says Gopher coach John Mariucci. "However, they certainly have to be ranked as one of the top contenders, along with Michigan Tech, Denver and North Dakota. They have fine personnel."

Mariucci wasn't exactly ecstatic over the Gophers' performance against Colorado College last weekend, despite the pair of victories. "We were lucky to win both games considering the way we played," he admits. "I was encouraged by our improvement Saturday night, though."

"Maroosh" was most happy with the work of goalie John Lothrop, especially his 42-stop job in the 5-4 Friday triumph. He also lauded the performance of Doug Woog's junior line, which thus far has carried the brunt of the scoring burden, and the defensive work of Dick Haigh and Larry Stordahl.

Gary Hokanson is the leading Gopher scorer after three games with seven points on four goals and three assists. Woog is second with four.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Hopkins nosed out Edina for top honors in a pre-season rating of the dual meet strength of high school swimming teams throughout Minnesota, as released by Mike Chopp, secretary of the Swimming Coaches Section of The State High School Coaches Association.

The pre-season rating is based primarily on the results of last year's state meet and subsequent losses of seniors through graduation.

Rochester was ranked third, Robbinsdale fourth, Virginia fifth, Hibbing sixth and St. Louis Park seventh. All of these teams will compete against each other this season.

Austin, St. Paul Central, Chisholm, Minneapolis Southwest, Minneapolis Roosevelt, St. Cloud Tech, Winona and Bloomington were bunched for places 8-10.

Hopkins meets Edina Friday and Virginia takes on Robbinsdale December 12 in two of the outstanding pre-Christmas events. The St. Louis Park Invitational Relays, featuring Austin, Roosevelt, St. Cloud Tech, St. Paul Murray and St. Louis Park is also scheduled for the latter date.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Among the headliners in the University of Minnesota's first annual "Aqua Spectacular," to be presented in the Cooke Hall pool at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, is Dick Kimball, one of the world's most versatile acrobats as well as professional diving champion.

The graduate of Rochester, Minn. High School was not only a national collegiate diving champ while performing for the University of Michigan but a star trampolinist on the gymnastics team, too. He captured the NCAA three-meter springboard crown in 1957, the first national diving title won by Michigan in 20 years, and was an all-American for three seasons.

The "Aqua Spectacular" will afford local fans a chance to see Kimball's diving and acrobatic talents in combination. A specially-constructed diving platform, complete with trampoline, will catapult Kimball to within skimming range of the rafters high above the pool, along with his fellow divers, two-time Olympic champion Bob Webster and Minnesota diving coach Ron Jaco who was runnerup to Kimball for the world's professional title last year.

Kimball won four straight Minnesota state high school diving championships at Rochester and was undefeated throughout his entire prep career, a fete which earned him high school All-American honors for four years. He also competed in track, winning his conference pole vault championship.

Currently diving coach at Michigan, Kimball has performed all over the world, including such far-flung spots as Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Egypt, Greece, Italy, France, Spain and Ireland. He also starred at the Seattle World's Fair in 1962.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Olympic gold medals don't come easily. In the long, colorful history of the Games there have been just two double winners in platform diving. The most recent, Bob Webster, will be in action at the Cooke Hall Pool Saturday at 8 p.m. when the University of Minnesota presents its first annual "Aqua Spectacular."

Oddly enough, or significantly, the other two-gold medal diver is Webster's former coach, Sammy Lee who captured the medal back in 1948 and '52. He coached Webster when the latter was a school boy in Santa Ana, California.

Webster won his first Olympic championship in 1960. He was Big Ten three-meter champ for Michigan the same year. He captured his second world's crown in 1964. In addition, Webster has won the following titles: 1963 Pan-American platform diving, 1962 National AAU one-meter springboard, and 1964 AAU platform diving. He toured the Far East in 1961 on a State Department good will tour.

Two other former University of Michigan All-American divers, Dick Kimball and Ron Jaco, will join Webster Saturday in an exhibition of precision and comic diving. Kimball, who coached the 1964 U.S. Olympic diving squad, is world's professional diving champion, and Jaco, Minnesota diving coach, was runnerup to Kimball for the pro crown.

The Gopher swimming team and another Olympian, Virg Luken, will also participate in the water show, first of its kind ever presented at the University. Luken was a member of the U.S. medley team which shattered the Olympic record in Tokyo this year.

MINNEAPOLIS. - John Mariucci's high-scoring University of Minnesota hockey team, averaging 6.4 goals per game, invades Duluth Wednesday night for its first encounter of the year with University of Minnesota Duluth.

The Gophers salvaged a split in last weekend's series at Michigan with a thumping 10-3 victory Saturday after dropping a 7-6 squeaker Friday. The results left Minnesota in second place in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association with a 3-1-0 record. Michigan Tech took over the top spot by virtue of a two-game sweep over North Dakota.

"We really came to life in the second game," Mariucci explains. "Just about all our men played well. We got scoring from all three lines, and John Lothrop played especially well in the goal."

The Gopher coach pointed out that Minnesota's defensive play still leaves something to be desired, however. Saturday's game was the first in which the opposition has not scored at least four goals.

Mariucci is not taking UMD lightly, especially after last year when the Bulldogs took three out of four from the Gophers. In their first four games this winter, the Duluthians have won a pair from Colorado College and dropped two to North Dakota.

Wednesday's game will be the first of four scheduled between the two Minnesota schools. At stake is the Taconite Hockey Trophy, now in the possession of the Bulldogs. The trophy is awarded annually by the Duluth Blueline Club.

MINNEAPOLIS. - Saturday, January 9, 1965 will be "Winter Sports Day" at the University of Minnesota, the Athletic Department announced today.

Four Gopher teams will be in action at home that day. Included will be an afternoon hockey game against Michigan State and an evening basketball contest against Wisconsin. High school athletic teams throughout Minnesota are invited to attend the entire slate of activity at a special reduced rate of $1.00 per athlete.

A wrestling meet between the Gophers and Kansas State will kick off the day-long program, starting at noon in Williams Arena. The Minnesota gymnastics squad takes on the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle (Navy Pier) at 1:30 in the Cooke Hall gymnasium.

Hockey action gets underway at 12:30 with a preliminary game between Eveleth and Edina, followed by the Gopher-Spartan clash at 2:00. A freshman intra-squad game will launch the evening schedule at 6:15 with the Minnesota-Wisconsin game starting at 8:00 p.m.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The pell-mell University of Minnesota basketball squad has come to the end of "easy street" as it reflects on victories over South Dakota State, Drake, Iowa State, and Marquette and girds for the dual challenge of final examinations and the impending clash with powerhouse Utah State University in Williams Arena here Saturday, December 19.

The Aggies from Logan, Utah pose a serious threat to Minnesota's four-game win skein. In his three years as head coach, LaDell Andersen has directed State to season records of 22-7, 20-7, and 21-8. In each of these seasons the Aggies have made it into the NCAA regional playoffs. This year they play one of the toughest intersectional schedules of any college basketball team in the nation with such giants of the court as Butler, Bradley, San Francisco, Texas Western, and Seattle on their non-Conference slate. This would indicate that Coach Andersen is confident that his Aggies "have what it takes" to stand tall in big-time competition.

Minnesota's practice schedule for the coming week will be interrupted by fall quarter final examinations, but once these are out of the way Coach John Kundla plans to bear down in an effort to get the Gophers in top condition and readiness for the Utah State game. State will come to the Twin Cities with the advantage of a sharpening-up contest with ever-tough Bradley on December 17.

Latest official four-game statistics show Minnesota's five starters each in two figures, with Lou Hudson leading the way on a 15.8 point average. He is followed by Archie Clark (12.8), Mel Northway and Don Yates (11.5), and Terry Kunze (10.8).

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - It will be a long time between games for the University of Minnesota hockey team which dropped a 6-5 decision to UMD Tuesday and will not play again until it entertains the University of Manitoba at Williams Arena December 29.

The Gophers lost their fourth in the last five starts against the fast-improving Bulldogs from Duluth and now stand 3-3 for the season. They are in better shape in the WCHA with a 3-1 mark. Their next Association series won't be until January 8-9 when Michigan State comes to town.

Coach John Mariucci is unhappy with Gopher defensive lapses which have been key factors in the large number of goals (4.84) scored by the opposition to date. Fortunately, Minnesota has been even more productive on attack, scoring an average of 6.17 goals per game.

"Our offense has been doing a good job," says Mariucci, "but we can't afford to continue this ragged defensive play. It puts too much of a burden on John Lothrop in the goal."

Lothrop has been a busy man. He has averaged almost 35 stops per game and has come up with some outstanding efforts. His stop percentage is .877 despite the 29 goals scored by the opposition.

Gary Hokanson continues his blistering scoring pace. He has eight goals and seven assists for 15 points. Hokanson's line partners, Doug Woog with 10 points and Bruce Larson with nine, are his nearest competitors, along with Roy Nystrom, last year's scoring champ, who also has nine.

STATE HIGH SCHOOL SWIMMING RATINGS
(Submitted by Mike Chopp, Secretary Minn. State High School Swimming Coaches)

Following the season's first three weeks of action, Minnesota High Schools' swimming elite found several previously obscure teams ranked in the top ten.

Newcomers were St. Paul Murray, Bloomington, following a win over Robbinsdale and St. Cloud Tech. on the strength of a 63 - 32 romp over eighth ranked Virginia.

Hopkins showed championship form with a 59-36 victory over number two ranked Edina. The Warriors are currently rated number one in the state.

Important meets which will precede Christmas find Edina at St. Cloud, Bloomington and St. Louis Park, two-thirds of a three-way tie for fifth, meeting at Bloomington and tenth ranked Robbinsdale at number eight Virginia.

Complete state high school swimming ratings look like this:

1. Hopkins
2. Edina
3. St. Cloud
Rochester
5. Bloomington
St. Louis Park
Hibbing
8. Virginia

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - A collision of undefeated giants of the collegiate basketball world, with a lofty national rating as the reward for victory, is in prospect for Saturday night when Utah State University and Minnesota clash in Williams Arene here.

The Aggies have rolled over Idaho State 107-60; Butler 88-84; Loyola of Los Angeles 96-69; College of the Pacific 98-74; and Nevada 101-80. They face ever-tough Bradley at Peoria Thursday night before moving on to the Twin Cities to challenge the Gophers who mowed down South Dakota State, Drake, Iowa State, and Marquette before taking a respite from competition for final examinations presently under way.

The powerful Aggies have posted a record of 68 victories and 22 losses under Coach LaDell Andersen (including their five victories this season) who is in his fourth season at the basketball helm. They participated in the NCAA regional playoffs last year, and are regarded as a good bet to gain them again this season.

In capturing their five victories this winter the Aggies have averaged a whopping 98 points to 73.4 for the opposition.

Scoring pacemaker for Utah State is All American Wayne Estes, 6-6 senior forward from Anaconda, Montana. In State's first four victories (fifth game stats are unavailable) Estes averaged 33.5 points per game, hit his field goals at a 47.4 clip, cashed 26 of 27 free throw chances, and snared 75 rebounds - an impressive 18.8 per-game average.

Another standout in the Utah cast is LeRoy Walker, 6 foot jumping-jack forward who averaged 20 points and grabbed 34 rebounds in these games.

Needless to say, the Gophers have their defensive work cut out for them come Saturday night.

An attractive high school preliminary starting at 6:15 p.m. finds Willmar, one of Minnesota's best, tangling with Superior (Wis.) East which may be one of the top teams in its state.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - John Mariucci's league-leading University of Minnesota hockey team ends a 20-day drought of activity Tuesday (Dec. 29) when it entertains the University of Manitoba at Williams Arena, starting at 8 p.m.

The game will be the first between the Gophers and Bison since 1948. Manitoba has been extremely tough for Minnesota to beat, having captured 15 victories in the 17-game series. Most of the games have been extremely close, however. The largest margin being the 5-0 Bison victory in 1937.

This year's Manitoba team is rated the strongest in recent years. Bolstered by nine returning lettermen who helped guide the Bison to a second place tie in the Western Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Association last year, Manitoba also has a rookie crop which is considered the finest to play for the Canadian school in years.

Thus far, the Bison stand 2-1 in competition. They whipped the Winnipeg Monarchs, a local Junior "A" club 8-0 and split with Brandon College, bowing 5-3 and winning 10-3.

The Gophers moved back into first place in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association last weekend without lifting a stick. North Dakota repaid Michigan Tech for an earlier double taste of defeat by sweeping a pair from the Huskies and dumping Tech into a four-way tie for second place with the Sioux, Michigan and Denver.

A high school preliminary, featuring Ely and Rochester John Marshall, will precede the Gopher-Bison clash, starting at 6:30.

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - The University of Minnesota basketball team will pack its 6 - 0 record aboard a west-bound jet airplane Sunday and lay it on the line in Los Angeles' Memorial Sports Arena against the University of Washington Monday at 3:30 p.m. P.S.T. in the opening round of the Los Angeles Basketball Classic.

All games in which Minnesota competes will be aired by WLOL and WCCO, Twin Cities.

Meanwhile Coach John Kundla is fretting and stewing for fear the Gophers will not be mentally and physically sharp as they go against the eight-team field that includes Arizona, Iowa, Michigan State, Utah, Washington, Southern California, and host UCLA. He was anything but pleased with the showing made by his charges as they galloped by Loyola of Chicago 89 - 75 Tuesday night. "We were lucky to win," claims Kundla. "It's not often that you can make 24 mechanical errors and pull through. I hope we can snap out of it now that final examinations are over. We are going to have to make every minute of practice count, for we don't have much time to get ready for our biggest test yet this season."

Kundla is slightly aghast at the two national news service polls that rate Minnesota's basketball forces No. 3 in the nation. Laments John, "I sure hope our players won't think they can take their clippings onto the floor at Los Angeles and impress anyone with them. UCLA, Utah, and Arizona have real outstanding teams. If we are fortunate enough to get by Washington, we'll have to play our very best to have a chance against tough outfits like these."

In addition to the fast break that has proved so effective in their six wins to date, the Gophers will present a balanced scoring attack. Latest statistics show forward Lou Hudson averaging 18.7 points, guard Archie Clark 13, center Mel Northway 12.3, guard Don Yates 11.7, and Dennis Dvorachek, a two-game starter at forward, 8.8 points. Minnesota has averaged 81 points per game against 61.8 for the opposition. The statistics to date:

"The Gophers"

MINNEAPOLIS. - A slumping University of Minnesota hockey team will try to snap a two-game losing streak Friday and Saturday when it renews an old but long-dormant rivalry with Wisconsin at Madison. The Saturday game will be televised locally by WTCN-TV (Channel 11), starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Gophers, after successive losses to University of Minnesota Duluth and Manitoba, have seen their season record skid to a lackluster 3-4-0. Despite this alarming fact, they still lead the Western Collegiate Hockey Association with a 3-1-0 mark. This weekend's action is the last non-league competition before John Mariucci's skaters return to WCHA play against Michigan State here the following weekend.

"Maroosh" was far from pleased with the Gophers' performance against Manitoba. Although readily acknowledging that the Bison have a fine hockey team, he was quick to point out that the Gophers committed far too many mistakes to stay in contention.

Minnesota and Wisconsin will be meeting for the first time since 1935. The Badgers dropped the ice sport after that season and only revived it last year. So far this season they have fashioned a 6-2 record, sweeping series from Macalester, St. Mary's (Winona) and Hamline and losing a pair to Michigan State by scores of 9-2 and 9-0.

In the overall series, dating back to 1922, Minnesota holds a 35-6 victory margin. Four games have ended in ties.

Gary Hokanson continues to lead Minnesota scoring with 15 points, despite being blanked by Manitoba. Doug Woog follows with 12.
