ANNOUNCEMENTS

Reports from your OCLC Members Council Representatives

Through the years many MINITEX delegates to OCLC Members Council have expressed that their service on the Council has been one of the most interesting professional development opportunities they have experienced.

To try to share some of that experience with other MINITEX/OCLC members and to supplement the official OCLC summary of the recent Members Council meeting, held Feb. 10-12, 2008, we asked the MINITEX representatives who attended to provide us with their thoughts on, and reactions to, the various topics under discussion.   You can view the official OCLC summary here:
http://www5.oclc.org/downloads/design/abstracts/02252008/memberscouncil.htm

Bruce Willms
Director of Technical Services, Metropolitan State University (St. Paul, MN)
MINITEX Delegate (2005-2008)

> Excerpt: "I gave a presentation on Automated Cataloging, which involves using ONIX data from publishers in combination with a crosswalk to MARC to automatically generate bibliographic records far upstream in the supply chain, and make them available via WorldCat."

Bruce's full report: http://www.minitex.umn.edu/bats/WillmsReport.pdf

Wilbur Stolt
Director of Libraries, University of North Dakota (Grand Forks, ND)
MINITEX Delegate (2007-2010)

> Excerpt: "There appears to be some tension between the need for OCLC to look and act like a global corporation and the desire to retain the collaborative foundation and philosophy on which OCLC was founded. There is an effort to facilitate the business needs while retaining collaborative."

Wilbur's full report: http://www.minitex.umn.edu/bats/WilburReport.pdf

Ethelle Bean
Director/Associate Vice President, Dakota State University (Madison, SD)
MINITEX Alternate (2007-2008)

> Excerpt: "I wanted to serve on Members Council because I wanted to learn more about the direction OCLC is planning for its future, in particular WorldCat Local. SDLN is engaged in strategic planning and it seems very sensible to learn as much as possible about open source, various new or future OCLC services, become more informed by the research done by them, and by getting a peek at the envisioning...that is currently in process at OCLC."

GENERAL

WorldCat Collection Analysis Best Practices

Two new WorldCat Collection Analysis Best Practices scenarios are now available.

"Annual Collection Review" shows how to use WorldCat Collection Analysis to make and support informed decisions on which titles to retain, weed, and acquire as a result of an annual collection review.

The "Introduction to Using Excel®" provides a brief introduction to some of the more common actions within Microsoft Excel® and is designed to help those who are unfamiliar with Excel® to gain familiarity with working with spreadsheets.

These scenarios are available from the WCA Documentation page. Here is the link:
    http://www.oclc.org/support/documentation/collectionanalysis/default.htm

Please note that OCLC previously made available three other Best Practices scenarios: "Analyze Collection Gaps," "Changing Demographics," and "Preparing for Digitization Projects."

New WorldCat.org Blog

Recently introduced, the WorldCat Blog is designed to be a fun spot to read about what's happening on WorldCat.org and to share cool ways that people are using the site in their libraries.

The team at WorldCat.org is working on new social and Web 2.0 tools to allow you to make the most of all the resources WorldCat has to offer. They will be sharing these things with you in this blog and hope that you will share your ideas as well. They would love to get your thoughts along the way on how they're doing and any lessons learned that you may want to share from your activities.

View the WorldCat Blog here:
   http://worldcat.org/blogs

In addition, there is a recently published YouTube video on how to create Lists in WorldCat.org and use the citations feature:

OCLC Research Podcasts

A new series of podcasts and webinars from Programs and Research staff is available on the OCLC Web site. The podcasts are recorded impromptu interviews in which Programs and Research staff ask the question, "What's keeping you awake at night?" to selected people who are thinking ahead, worrying about big issues, or imagining the next big thing.

The first podcast is available, in which RLG Program Officer Merrilee Proffitt interviews RLG Program Partner Mark Dimunation, Chief of the Rare and Special Collections Division at the Library of Congress, about "The Value of Physical Artifacts in an Increasingly Virtual World."
   www.oclc.org/programsandresearch/parcasts/

If you visit the OCLC Programs and Research Web pages, you will also find a list of webinars. The webinars are recorded online presentations that cover topics such as the latest RLG Programs work agenda updates, reports, or project findings. Participation in live webinars is available exclusively to RLG Programs partners as a benefit of partnership, but recordings are made available on the PARcast Web page for the benefit of all.

The recording of the first webinar, "Out of the Stacks and onto the Desktop: Rethinking Assumptions about Access and Digitization," with RLG Program Officers Ricky Erway and Jennifer Schaffner, is also available online.

CATALOGING & METADATA

Training for Cataloging and Acquisitions Staff

Check out the new Cataloging Basics Training Series (two of three sessions still open) from MOTSE, a volunteer library organization. The remaining two sessions cover Access and Subject Analysis. These workshops may be taken individually or as a set. They provide an overview of cataloging according to Anglo-American Cataloging Rules (AACR2r), Library of Congress Rule Interpretations and other cataloging standards.

Presented by MOTSE, the sessions are sponsored by MELSA, the Twin Cities area regional public library system, and MINITEX. The workshops will be free to staff of MELSA libraries. There is a charge of $100 for each session for non-MELSA librarians. Lunch will be provided.

Session II – Access Workshop
Covers all standard name and title access points – titles, personal names, corporate names, geographic names, series and uniform titles.
Focus will be on selecting, formulating, and evaluating the more common types of access headings.

- Thursday, May 1,
  9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Registration for MELSA staff: http://www.minitex.umn.edu/events/training/oclc.asp#184
Registration for non-MELSA staff: http://www.minitex.umn.edu/events/training/oclc.asp#181

Session III – Subject Analysis Workshop
Covers the choice and structure of classification numbers (focusing on Dewey Decimal classification) and subject headings (LC subject headings).

- Monday, May 19
  9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Registration for MELSA staff: http://www.minitex.umn.edu/events/training/oclc.asp#185
Registration for non-MELSA staff: http://www.minitex.umn.edu/events/training/oclc.asp#182

Who should attend?   Any library staff person involved in creating or editing brief or full MARC records for acquisitions or cataloging purposes, or those desiring a basic cataloging refresher.

Pre-requisites: None.

Location:
Hennepin County Library, Ridgedale - Meeting Room
12601 Ridgedale Dr., Minnetonka, 55305

Keep Up-to-Date with Death Dates

Back in 2006, the Library of Congress began adding death dates to personal name authority headings. This has been and will continue to be a gradual process, with death dates being added to personal name authority records as LC and NACO catalogers come upon them in the course of their regular work.

Many libraries would like to incorporate these changes into their catalogs and OCLC has devised a means to help you do this. Weekly, OCLC posts a list of all authority records to which death dates have been added since the last post, and they provide an RSS feed that can serve as an alerting service.

If your library doesn't contract with authority control services, this may be just what you need to keep your catalogs up-to-date.

OCLC posts the weekly lists here:
http://www.oclc.org/rss/feeds/authorityrecords/default.htm

This site includes an archive (in HTML) of all the lists, going back to February 1, 2006. It also links you to the RSS Feed, and from there, you can subscribe to the feed. Or, you can go directly to the RSS feed at:
http://www.oclc.org/rss/feeds/closedauthorityrecords.rdf

(Please note that updates posted after Jan. 19, 2008 require Arial Unicode font to display all extended characters.)

We've Got LHOP! Now What Do We Do With It?

In the short time since Local Holdings Offline Products (LHOP) have been available, over 40 libraries in the MINITEX region have ordered and received a file of their local holdings information in OCLC. We know some of the ways libraries have used this information in the past, but LHOP are different.

The new files include a variety of information from the MARC Local Holdings Record (LHR). The OCLC site has a "Quick Reference Guide to the Local Holdings Offline Product," which can help staff of libraries that haven't yet ordered one to see what fields are included in the file. Follow the link below to view the Quick Reference Guide:
> http://www.oclc.org/us/en/support/documentation/localholdings/offlineproduct/lhm_offlineproduct_quickref.pdf

Each library gets the same file with the same data elements, but staff are also free to manipulate the file, select the information they want, and present it in whatever format they think will be most useful. But OCLC doesn't answer the question we're most interested in: How could a file with this kind of data help you?

Or from another perspective, if your library has ordered a LHOP file, what are you hoping to do with it? Are you creating tools for your patrons, or are you planning to have staff use the data internally, or both?

We would love it if you could share your ideas with both MULS staff and the rest of our library community. Go to the MULS blog and share your ideas with all of us about how this information can help us serve our users:
> http://blogs.minitex.umn.edu/muls/

We've got LHOP! How do we SHARE it?
Staff at several libraries in our region received Local Holdings Offline Products. So naturally, the question arises: How do we present the LHOP file data?

The OCLC Quick Reference Guide to the LHOP includes a brief description about how to convert the tab-delimited LHOP file into an Excel spreadsheet. But it does not seem to me that the spreadsheet is a very convenient form to read the holdings information; title information is in column B, while holdings data is in column H (LHR summary) or O (852 field), or even R and beyond (the 86X fields).

Library staff can decide which fields in the LHOP file are useful and how to present them. The basic questions are things like:

- Which fields does your library actually want to include in any file or printout you'll use?

- Is the tab-delimited file useful as it is, or do you need to edit it before you can actually use it?

With some help from our MINITEX IT crew, we are looking at the possibility of creating a way to manipulate the file into some pre-set forms, more like the old printouts we used to get from OCLC. Of course, this raises another set of questions:

- If it were possible to turn the LHOP file into a simpler form of holdings list (for example, leaving out some of the coded data). What would you want to do?

- If you could pick the parts of the LHOP record that you wanted to see in a modified product, what fields would be useful to you?

There could be different elements for different purposes and different presentations for different audiences, so please indicate what you would want to do with the modified file.

We hope you'll send us an e-mail or join in on the MULS blog to share your ideas. We'll see what MINITEX can do to help you make these files work for you, and to share our experiences with each other.

For that matter, MINITEX is certainly not the only place with an IT department. If you're ahead of us and have already modified your LHOP file, let us know what you did. Maybe you'll be a pioneer, blazing trails for the rest of us!

DIGITIZATION & PRESERVATION

Featured CONTENTdm Customer Collections

This month, three collections from the CONTENTdm Collection of Collections are featured on the CONTENTdm Web site. The featured collections for March are JoCoHistory, The Cuban Historical and Literary Manuscript Collection, and Fons digitals de la Cartoteca de Catalunya.

JoCoHistory - http://www.jocohistory.org
Johnson County Library
JoCoHistory is a joint project of museums, archives, libraries, and historical societies in Johnson County, Kansas. The database provides access to historic images related to the people, places, culture, and social groups of the area.

The Cuban Historical and Literary Manuscript Collection - http://merrick.library.miami.edu/cubanHeritage/manuscript
University of Miami
Comprised of original manuscripts dating from the 17th to the 20th centuries, this collection includes books, slavery sales, property documents, and correspondence. Highlights include a journal of events from March to August 1762 of the British expedition in Cuba under the command of Earl Albermarle and Sir George Peacock; a May 12, 1895 letter from Cuban patriots José Martí and General Máximo Gómez clarifying military orders to General Jesús Rabí during the Cuban War of Independence; and the manuscript of the renowned 19th century Cuban writer Nicolás Heredia's novel Leonela.

Fons digitals de la Cartoteca de Catalunya - http://vacani.icc.cat
Institut Cartogràfic de Catalunya
The Map Library of Catalonia makes available to the general public more than 4,000 maps and photographs organized in thematic collections. You can find maps of Catalunya and also of the world starting at XVIth century to the present date.

These are just a few of the many digital collections created by CONTENTdm users. To access the entire Collection of Collections go to:
> http://www.contentdm.com/customers/index.html

If you would like to add your collections to the Collection of Collections go to > http://www.contentdm.com/USC/collections.asp and follow the instructions. Be sure to submit metadata for all required fields including the Entered by field. Note that you will need to log in to the User Support Center before accessing this page.
