Liberal Arts RESEARCH NEWS AND COMMENT

September 22 1983

LARES Volume IX Number One

LARES TO CHANGE

During the course of the academic year 1983-84, the Office of Research Development will experiment with new formats and ideas for LARES. A new item in this issue is a pre-addressed tear-off sheet for obtaining additional information on items listed in Funding Notes. Please note that news items are now numbered sequentially. Should you want additional information about an item or items, simply write the number(s) on the tear-off sheet (next to last page), fill out your name and address, and add any additional remarks or suggestions you wish to make.

We hope you will find the forthcoming changes in LARES beneficial. Your comments are always welcome.

ORD FALL QUARTER OFFICE HOURS SET

The Office of Research Development will keep the following hours during fall quarter:

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday	8:00 - 4:15
Wednesday	9:00 - 4:00
Friday	9:00 - 12:00

Professor Kvavik will be in 1427 Social Sciences Building on Thursdays from 1:15 - 3:00 for the convenience of faculty on the West Bank.

FUNDING NOTES

by Marybeth Bremer

(1) Approximately 200 faculty have completed questionnaires necessary for inclusion on ORD's faculty research index. Information about specialized grant opportunities will be transmitted to the faculty by means of the index. Several of you have already received such information and the flow will intensify during the year.

(2) State Legislative funds will again be available in 1983-84 to support faculty travel for the purpose of securing sponsored grants and contracts. $8,000 in travel funds has been allocated to the College of Liberal Arts.

These funds are intended to be used exclusively for the purpose of securing financial support for projects of research, training or public service. Generally speaking, the funds should be used for the purpose of discussing a preliminary proposal. They might occasionally be used to negotiate the budget of a final proposal, when it appears that such a face-to-face meeting would ultimately prove beneficial to the investigator's grant. The funds might also be used for travel to meet with a collaborating investigator to prepare a final proposal.

Funds may not be used for recruiting faculty or students, for student travel, for hand-delivering final proposals, or for general conferences on how to write grant proposals. They may not be used for travel to professional meetings either, though if such meetings include time spent with a program officer to discuss the investigator's preliminary proposal/research program, an appropriate amount of per diem expenses may be covered. International travel is also not supported by these funds, though as in the example of the professional meetings, an investigator may have the opportunity, while attending an international conference, to discuss a preliminary research proposal with federal agency program officers. In such cases, some per diem expenses might be reimbursed.

Applications forms for these travel funds are available in 404 Johnston Hall (3-5101).

(3) The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) has announced a special fall deadline in its Basic Research Program (formerly General Research Program) for proposals eligible in the Project Research category. This category supports collaborative or coordinated research projects involving two or more scholars or individual researchers working with consultants, research assistants, clerical or technical support personnel. Projects are expected to lead to publishable products. Applications should be postmarked no later than October 21. For further information, please call or write: Basic Research Program, Division of Research Programs, NEH, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue N.W., Room 319-Gs, Washington, D.C. 20506, (202) 786-0207. Some forms are also available in 404 Johnston Hall.

(4) Reminder! Guggenheim applications are due October 1. For information call 3-5101; application forms are not available in 404 Johnston.

(5) The Council for the International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) has announced that it is accepting applications from institutions for its 1984-85 Fulbright Scholar In Residence Program. The purposes of the program are to strengthen the international dimension of institutions with limited ability to attract foreign scholars, and to develop or enrich established international programs. Grants covering travel expenses, books and educational materials, medical insurance, and a monthly stipend ranging from $1,675 to $1,825 per month will be provided to the scholar. Grants will be made for up to one complete academic year. The deadline for proposals is October 15.

For proposal forms and further details on awards in specific geographic areas, contact the following program officers: Africa, Linda Rhoad, 202/833-4976; American Republics, Robert Burnett, 202/833-4957; East Asia and the Pacific, Mary Ernst, 202/833-4979; Middle East and North Africa, Gary Garrison, 202/833-4983; South Asia, Lydia Gomes, 202/833-4985; Western Europe, Gladys Semeryan, 202/833-4967; Eastern Europe, Georgene Lovecky, 202/833-4987.

(6) Rockefeller Foundation Humanities Fellowships are available to support the production of works of humanistic scholarship intended to illuminate and assess contemporary social and cultural issues. The ordinary grant will be in the range of $15,000 to $20,000, and will not exceed $25,000. First-stage proposals must be received by October 14. Address inquiries to: Rockefeller Foundation Humanities Fellowships, The Rockefeller Foundation, 1133 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10036. Or use the convenient tear-sheet at the end of this issue of LARES for more information.

(7) The Council on Foreign Relations has announced its 1984-85 International Affairs Fellowship competition. The program is designed for men and women of American citizenship between the ages of 27 and 35 from government, business, professional and academic communities. Academics and other professional from the private sector spend their fellowship tenure in public service. While candidates of the program have usually come from the fields of political science, economics, and law, individuals representing other disciplines in the humanities, particularly history and philosophy, are encouraged to apply. Application deadline is October 31. Address all inquiries to: Director, International Affairs Fellowship Program, Council on Foreign Relations, 58 East 68th Street, New York, N.Y. 10021. Telephone: 212/734-0400.

(8) U.S. citizens are invited to compete for a limited number of one-year Rome Prize Fellowships to work independently in their chosen fields as members of the Academy's community of artists and scholars. American Academy Fellows are provided with living and working quarters, most meals, a travel allowance of $800, and a yearly stipend of $5,400. The Academy program also includes the following special Rome Prize Fellowships: Andrew W. Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowships in the Humanities; Samuel H. Kress Foundation Predoctoral Fellowships; The NEH Postdoctoral Fellowships, The National Endowment for the Arts Advanced Fellowships in the Design Arts and the Graham Foundation Advanced Fellowships in Architecture. Application deadline is November 15. For more information use the tear-sheet or call 3-5101.

(9) December 15 is the deadline for 1984-85 Metropolitan Museum of Art Fellowships. For complete information on the fellowships available and application procedures use the tear-sheet or call 3-5101.

(10) The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) has established a new Travel to Collections Program to enable American scholars to travel to research collections of libraries, archives, museums, and other repositories in North America and Western Europe. The program provides grants of $500 for consultation of materials essential to a scholar's research but not readily available near the scholar's home. Awards will be made to help defray travel costs, subsistence and lodging, reproduction and xeroxing costs, and certain other associated research expenses. Proposals must be received on or before January 15, 1984 for travel to begin after June 15, 1984. For further information and applications, call or write: Program Officer, Travel to Collections, Division of Research Programs, Room 319-GT, NEH, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506. Telephone: 202/786-0207. Forms are also available in 404 Johnston.

(11) The Annenberg/CPB Project invites preliminary applications for funding of projects that bring together telecommunications technologies and higher education. Preliminary applications for the funding year 1984 may be submitted up to December 30, 1983. For information and guidelines, write to: The Annenberg/CPB Project, 1111 16th Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

(12) The Rockefeller Foundation Humanities Fellowships have annually aided scholars from all disciplines in the humanities to advance understanding of the modern world through the better understanding of the past or through the direct assessment of the present. For 1984-84, eight of these fellowships will be offered as residencies through a set of host institutions. These residencies are intended to support individual scholarship while at the same time encouraging direct involvement of scholars in enterprises likely to reach and benefit the public. All inquiries about eligibility, stipends, procedures for application, and deadlines should be directed to the institutions listed below.

Women's Studies in Religion, Harvard Divinity School

Write: Constance H. Buchanan, Director of Women's Programs, Harvard Divinity School, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138.

Center for Philosophy and Public Policy, University of Maryland

Write: Henry Shue, Director, Center for Philosophy and Public Policy, Woods 0123, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland 20742.

Write: Office of the Director, Walker Art Center, Vineland Place, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55403

Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars

Write or call: The Wilson Center, Room 331, Smithsonian Institution Building, Washington, D.C. 20560. Telephone: 202/357-2841.

(13) The American Institute of Pakistan Studies offers fellowships in several categories: Postdoctoral Study, Library Service, Professional Development and Predoctoral Study. Applications for all grants should be made not later than January 1. Detailed information is available by calling 3-5101 or using the tear-sheet.

(14) Principal investigators are reminded that requests to the Office of Research Administration for approvals authorized by the National Science Foundation's Organizational Prior Approval System must be reviewed and approved by the principal investigator's department head, or where the principal investigator is also the department head, by the dean of the college or his/her designee.

(15) The Mary Ingraham Bunting Institute of Radcliffe College has announced the Bunting Fellowship Program for 1984-85. The Program supports women who wish to pursue independent study in academic or professional fields, in creative writing, or in the arts. Appointments are full time for the year July 1 through June 30 and require residence in the Boston area during the appointment. The stipend is $15,250; application deadline is October 7. Inquiries and requests for application forms should be made to: Bunting Fellowship Program, The Mary Ingraham Bunting Institute of Radcliffe College, 10 Garden Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138. Telephone: 617/495-8212.

(16) The Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts, a part of the National Gallery of Art, has announced its program for Senior Fellows. Applications will be considered from scholars for study in the history, theory, and criticism of the visual arts of any geographical area and of any period. Applications are also solicited from scholars in other disciplines whose work examines physical objects or has implications for the analysis and criticism of physical form. For particulars on qualifications and selection call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet. Deadlines vary according to the type of appointment.

(17) For the academic year 1984-85 Harvard Law School offers four or five Liberal Arts Fellowships to college and university teachers in the arts and sciences for a year at the Harvard Law School. The purpose of the fellowships is to enable teachers to study fundamental techniques, concepts, and aims of law, so that, in their teaching and research, they will be better able to use legal materials and legal insights which are relevant to their own disciplines. The grant covers tuition and health fee only, as well as provision of office space. January 15, 1984 is the application deadline. For application information call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet.

(18) The deadline for submission of completed applications to the W. K. Kellogg Foundation for Kellogg National Fellowships is October 17. Information and application forms for this program are available in the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs, 213 Morrill Hall (373-2033) and in 404 Johnston Hall (3-5101). Or use the convenient tear-sheet at the end of this issue of LARES.

(19) Radcliffe College has announced a three-year program of support for scholarly research, funded by a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. The purpose of the program is to encourage scholars to enrich their study of American society by drawing upon resources available at the Arthur and Elizabeth Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America and at the Henry A. Murray Research Center of Radcliffe College. In particular, scholars will be able to draw upon these resources in developing new perspectives to incorporate in college and university curricula. Call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet for more information. The application deadline for stipends for the summer of 1984 or for the 1984-85 academic year is November 4.

(20) The American Council of Learned Societies has opened competition for a variety of awards including the following: Fellowships for six to twelve months for up to $15,000 (deadline: September 30); Research Fellowships for Recent Recipients of the Ph. D. for six to twelve months up to $8,500 (deadline: September 30); Fellowships for Studies in Modern Society and Values for six to twelve months (deadline: September 30); Grants-in-Aid for significant humanistic research (deadline: December 15); and Travel Grants for Humanists to international meetings abroad (July 1, November 1, and March 1). The Council also administers grants for Chinese and East European Studies and certain programs jointly administered with the Social Science Research Council. For further details contact ACLS, 228 East 45th Street, New York, New York 10017. Telephone 212/888-1759. Information is also available in 404 Johnston Hall, 3-5101.

(21) The Office of Research Administration has revised its BA Form 23, "Application for External Research or Training Support." The revised form is available from the General Storehouse. Departments may continue to use the old form until present supplies are exhausted. However, changes indicated below must be incorporated when using the old form. If the Research Project Distribution is not provided, it will be necessary for ORA to contact the Principal Investigator for this information.

CHARACTER LIMITATIONS. Since the form provides preliminary information used as the basis for creating the Account Profile Data Base, it is necessary to limit the Application Title to 60 characters and the Principal Investigator's name to 25 characters. Also, the Brief Statement of Purpose of Project should be limited to ten 80-character lines.

RESEARCH PROJECT DISTRIBUTION. On proposed projects for research, a distribution is requested which designates the percentage of the project devoted to basic research, applied research, or development efforts. This information will be used to respond to NSF's annual surveys of federal funds for research and development. The following definitions, as provided by NSF, should be used in determining the percentage distribution:

Basic Research is systematic study directed toward gaining fuller scientific knowledge or understanding of the fundamental aspects of phenomena and of observable facts without specific applications toward processes or products in mind.

Applied Research is systematic study directed toward gaining fuller scientific knowledge or understanding necessary for determining the means by which a recognized and specific need may be met.

Development is systematic use of the knowledge or understanding gained from research, directed toward the production of useful materials, including design and development of prototypes and processes.

(22) Andrew W. Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowships in the Humanities at Stanford University will be awarded to highly promising scholar teachers in the humanities. These non-faculty one-year positions will carry department affiliation and limited teaching duties, and the opportunity for scholarly work and intellectual growth. The Ph.D. must have been received after June, 1979, and before September, 1984. The award carries an annual stipend of $21,000 and may be renewable for a second year. Applications are due no later than November 15. An application form is available in 404 Johnston Hall, 3-5101.

(23) International Research and Exchanges Board (IREX) administers research exchange programs with the U.S.S.R. and the countries of Eastern Europe. The program is open to advanced graduate students, postdoctoral scholars, and faculty members in all fields of study who are U.S. citizens. Exchange agreements are in effect with Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, the German Democratic Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, the U.S.S.R., and Yugoslavia. In addition to fellowships, IREX offers travel grants to senior scholars; grants for collaborative projects involving American scholars and their counterparts in Eastern Europe and the U.S.S.R.; and developmental fellowships for special advanced training prior to exchange participation in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. For more information write: IREX, 655 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10017. The application deadline is traditionally November 1.

(24) December 1 is the deadline for grants for international research offered by the Social Science Research Council (SSRC). These grants are designed to support research in one country, comparative research between countries in an area, and comparative research between areas. The grants may be used for travel and research expenses as well as for maintenance. Countries and areas included in this program are Africa, China, Japan, Korea, Latin America and the Caribbean, Near and Middle East, South Asia, and Southeast Asia. For particulars write: SSRC, 605 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10158. Information is also available in 404 Johnston Hall (3-5101).

(25) Dumbarton Oaks offers fellowships in the three areas of Byzantine studies (including related aspects of late Roman, early Christian, western medieval, Slavic, and Near Eastern studies), Pre-Columbian studies, and the history of landscape architecture. Call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet for terms of fellowships and procedures for application. The deadline for submission of applications for all awards is November 15.

(26) The German Marshall Fund has announced its 10th Annual Research Fellowship Program for 1984. The Fund offers grants for research projects that seek to improve the understanding of significant contemporary economic, political and social developments involving the United States and Europe. Completed applications must be mailed no later than November 30. For application forms and additional information, contact: The German Marshall Fund of the United States, 11 Dupont Circle, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Telephone: 202/745-3950.

(27) The Council for European Studies invites applications for Research Planning Group awards. The purpose of the awards is to promote long-term collaborative research by West European and American scholars on policy problems of common concern, e.g., problems related to inflation and unemployment, the provision of social services, crime, the environment, urban crises, education, incomes policy, technology, economic growth, etc.

Awards will enable an expenditure of up to $10,000 for the international travel, communication, conferences and interim meetings of a multi-national group of scholars, required in laying the groundwork of long-term collaborative research. Funds are intended for meetings of the group as a whole. Information on application procedures is available by calling 3-5101 or using the tear-sheet. Deadline: December 1.

(28) Harvard University has announced competition for the Andrew W. Mellon Faculty Fellowships in the Humanities for 1984-85. Applicants must have the Ph.D., received prior to June 30, 1982, and have completed, at the time of appointment, at least two years postdoctoral teaching in the humanities at the college or university level, usually as Assistant Professors. The annual salary will be $20,000. For details contact Dr. Richard M. Hunt, Program Director, Harvard University Mellon Faculty Fellowships, Lamont Library 202, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138. Telephone: 617/495-2519. Deadline: November 1.

(29) November 4 is the filing deadline for Bush Foundation Fellowships for Artists. Those eligible are visual artists (painting, sculpture, graphics, film, video, photography); writers (fiction, non-fiction, poetry, playwriting); composers of music and choreographers. Applicants must be Minnesota residents and at least 25 years old. Stipend is $20,000 for 12 to 18 months and $1,666 per month for 6 to 11 months. Application forms are available from: Bush Foundation Fellowships for Artists, E-900 First National Bank Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101. Telephone: 227-5222.

(30) Professor Charles Speaks has announced that the fall quarter deadline for submission of McMillan Travel Fund and Faculty Travel Fund requests is November 10. Application forms are available in 225 Johnston Hall. Completed applications should be returned to 225 Johnston in care of Professor Speaks.

(31) October 1 is the deadline for applying for Graduate School Research Funds for 1983-84. Faculty members who hold Regular appointments may apply for funds for research and artistic projects only. Application forms are available from Mrs. Suzanne Zorn (373-7924,5,6) in 303 Johnston Hall.

(32) Be sure to check the listing of deadlines in this issue of LARES. Information on all programs is available in 404 Johnston Hall (3-5101).

LARES Volume IX Number Two

CORRECTION

The September issue of LARES incorrectly stated Professor Kvavik's office hours on the West Bank. On Thursdays during fall quarter, Professor Kvavik will be in 1427 Social Sciences to sign BA 23 forms and field research inquiries from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon (376-9988).

NEW SECTION OF LARES INTRODUCED

In this issue, a new section of LARES is being introduced called "Budget Notes." It is intended to provide you with information pertaining to the preparation of a grant or fellowship budget. Changes in fringe benefit rates, useful reference materials, tips for doing budgets are examples of items to be included in this section. Look for "Budget Notes" right after "Awards" and before "Deadlines."

INFORMATION SHEETS AVAILABLE

The Office of Research Development has prepared a number of information sheets on the following topics:

1. Bibliography of funding source guides, rules and regulations (public and private), patent policies, budget preparation, guides to writing proposals, etc. There are currently 90 references on the list.
2. Definitions of terms used in the grant application process; explanation of types of grants.
3. Rules pertaining to fiscal accountability. Summary of public and private guidelines.

4. Summary of rules: regulation of research risks.
5. Disclosure policies, patent policy, privacy acts summarized.
6. How to prepare a research contract.
7. Summary of rules governing the administration of grants.
8. An explanation of the history and content of indirect costs.

To obtain a copy or copies, simply check the appropriate box on the tear-sheet in the back of this issue.

FUNDING NOTES

by Marybeth Bremer

(1) The Office of International Programs has announced its Development Grant Program for 1983-84. The program supports: participation in professional international conferences or meetings; collaboration with foreign colleagues regarding cooperative research, teaching, service, and/or educational exchanges of faculty and students; and seminars, lectures, conferences, and exhibits of international scope held at the University and/or involving international scholars from outside the University. U of M faculty with regular full-time appointments are eligible for awards which will average about $400. In most cases, at least half of the funds required for the proposed activity must come from other sources. Application deadlines are November 21 and February 21. For application procedures contact the Office of International Programs, 201 Nolte West, 373-3793.

(2) The Wellesley College Center for Research on Women invites applications for its 1984-85 national fellowships. The program provides approximately five one-semester fellowship awards each year for scholars who have been involved in projects to integrate materials on women into the traditional curriculum, and/or scholars who have been involved in Minority Women's Studies. The focus in 1984-85 is on Math, Science, Technology, Minority Studies, and interdisciplinary fields. Maximum stipend is $10,000. For further information and application forms, write: Irene Perry, Administrative Assistant, Faculty Development Program, Wellesley College Center for Research on Women, Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181. January 16 is the application deadline for fellowships.

(3) A two-week workshop to help create a shared context for humanistic learning will be held on the campus of Princeton University June 17-29, 1984. Participants will rethink the nature of their disciplines and address those aspects of conventional teaching that result in student disaffection with humanistic learning. Twenty-five humanities teachers having a minimum of five years teaching experience will be chosen to participate, based on their commitment to excellence in teaching and interest in the philosophy of humanistic education. For further information and applications, write to Humanities, WNNFF, Box 642, Princeton, New Jersey 08542, before January 10.

(4) The National Research Council plans to award approximately 35 Post-doctoral Fellowships for Minorities in a program designed to provide opportunities for continued education and experience in research for American Indians and Alaskan Natives, Black Americans, Mexican Americans/Chicanos, and Puerto Ricans. Fellows will be selected from among scientists, engineers, and scholars in the humanities. The deadline for submission of applications is January 16. All inquiries concerning application materials and program administration should be addressed to the Fellowship Office, National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20418.

(5) December 15 is the deadline established by the Wang Institute of Graduate Studies for its 1984-85 Fellowship Program in Chinese Studies. Fellowships of up to $25,000 will support full-time research by post-doctoral scholars in any period or area of Chinese Studies. For additional information or an application, write to: Wang Institute of Graduate Studies, Fellowship Program in Chinese Studies, Tyng Road, Tyngsboro, Massachusetts 01879.

(6) The National Humanities Center in Research Triangle Park, North Carolina, has established a deadline of December 10 for fellowship applications. The Center is especially interested in applications from scholars whose proposed research would fit into one of the following seminars during 1984-85: (1) The Bicentennial of the American Constitution, which will explore the distinctive contribution of the humanities to understanding the Constitution and constitutionalism; (2) Patronage of the Arts and Learning, which will focus on the history of patronage, the relations between patrons and artists or intellectuals and private and public patronage. For more information about the Center use the tear-sheet or write: National Humanities Center, Box 12256, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27709.

(7) Reminder! The deadline for McMillan Travel Fund and CLA Faculty Travel Fund is November 10. No applications will be accepted after the deadline. Faculty may apply for both funds but must send separate applications. For information and forms call Mary Bandow (3-4340).

(8) The American Association of University Women Educational Foundation awards postdoctoral fellowships to women who are citizens or permanent residents of the United States and who have achieved distinction or promise of distinction in their fields. Awards are up to $10,000 and are for a 12-month period beginning July 1, 1984. Fellows are expected to devote full time to the project during the funding year. Application forms are available through the AAUW Educational Foundation Programs Office by written request. December 15 is the deadline for receipt of applications. Write: AAUW Educational Foundation Programs, 2401 Virginia Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

(9) The National Endowment for the Humanities and the American Schools of Oriental Research are offering up to $88,000 for postdoctoral fellowships at the Albright Institute of Archaeological Research in Jerusalem, and at the American Center of Oriental Research in Amman. The Program encourages the study of the Middle East from prehistoric times to the modern era. For particulars on eligibility, stipends and application procedures, please use the tear-sheet at the end of this issue. Deadline: November 15.

CONGRATULATIONS!

The following scholars were awarded grants and contracts in the amount of $1,235,179.00 for the period 1 July through 30 September 1983.

BUDGET NOTES

by Robert Kvavik

A computer program has been developed by our office to facilitate the preparation of a grant budget. For those of you familiar with the IBM Personal Computer and software, the program has been prepared with the aid of a spreadsheet program called Calc-86 (MC DOS 1.1). It is available for your use in 404 Johnston Hall. You can run the program yourself with the help of a sheet that we have prepared to guide you through the loading and running of the program; or we will be happy to run the program for you.

What does this program do? It prompts you to enter figures for items such as salaries, travel, equipment, consultants, etc. It automatically figures fringe benefits, indirect costs (on a modified indirect cost basis as used by the U of M), projects for inflation, etc. If your budget begins to run too high, you can get a calculation as to the amount you are over (or under) and adjust your figures accordingly. If matching funds are required, you may manipulate the entries until you realize the amount of match expected by the funding agency. When you are satisfied with the distribution of funds, simply print the program and take home the data required to finish a correctly calculated and properly formatted budget. At this point, it should be a simple matter of filling in the boxes on the agency's budget form (if one is provided by the agency).

And that's not all! Ideally, you construct a budget by calculating the amount of money needed for salaries, fringe benefits, etc., and arrive at a total figure by adding up what you have determined is required. In reality, you have an idea of the maximum amount of money available from an agency and the budget is structured accordingly. This may present a budgetary dilemma: if you can get $45,000 from an agency, what will you have to spend after fringe benefits and indirect rates are deducted? Or, you have $5,000 available in matching funds and the agency requires a 5% match, the indirect rate is 39%, what is the maximum amount of money you can request from the agency, what is the total budget, and what amount is available to you as direct costs? Our program figures this out immediately, whereupon you can begin to structure the budget as described in the preceding paragraph.

Feel free to call us at 3-5101 for more information on this program.

LARES Vol. IX, No. 3

Office Hours:

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday: 8:00-4:00;
Wednesday: 9:00-4:30;
Friday: 9:00-12:00.

After hours, the ORD phone (373-5101) announces pending grant deadlines; it will tape messages.

I. GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS:

1. We are pleased to announce that our computerized index of faculty research interests is operational and that we expect to inform many of you of funding opportunities in a timely manner. A copy of the funding agency's announcement will be sent to you when a match is found. If we are sending you information that is no longer of interest, please let us know so that we may make the necessary corrections in our data file. Or, if your research interests change, please inform us if you wish to obtain grant information pertinent to your new interest. The index may be used to locate faculty with a research interest similar to your own.

Should the notification be of interest to you, you may want to call us back for information on CLA's past record with the agency in question - number of awards, amount, and the names of successful applicants.

Please note that the index is not intended to inform you of general grants such as NSF, NEH, Guggenheim fellowships, etc., but rather we will use it to announce specialized opportunities of interest to a select group of faculty.

2. Beginning January 1, 1984, SPIN -- Sponsored Program Information Network -- will be available for your use in 404 Johnston. With the support of the Graduate School, we have subscribed to an information network managed by the State University of New York. SUNY maintains and updates on a daily basis information on funding opportunities, deadlines, program officers, etc., for approximately 2000 major public and private funding agencies. There is virtually no federal program that is omitted from the data base. Also, SUNY is beginning to enter information on many federal

"RFP's." There is no cost for this service. You can request information by field of interest, type of grant (e.g., travel, training, conferences, equipment), etc. The system is especially useful for locating sabbatical support.

We are uncertain about the initial user demand for the system and the number and complexity of queries that you are likely to make. We will take simple requests over the phone, e.g., address and phone number of an agency, or a description of a particular program. If your request involves a search involving multiple agencies and grant categories, it will be necessary to make an appointment to use the system. If demand warrants expansion of the system, we will install terminals with departments having a computer that can emulate an IBM 3101 dumb terminal and a modem capable of transmitting at 1200 baud. An "order sheet" has been developed for SPIN to facilitate customized searches. It has been sent to you as part of a special newsletter to introduce you to the services of this office. Additional order sheets can be obtained by calling the office.

3. We are pleased with your reception of our budgetwriter program. If you have a complicated grant budget to write or are unsure of indirect costs, fringe benefits, matching fund requirements, then please make an appointment to use our program. Budgets that normally take numerous hours to complete can be done in less than 30 minutes.

4. The December issue marks a major revision of LARES. New information sections are introduced and the issue is organized differently. We hope you like the change and we would appreciate any comments or suggestions you might wish to make.

II. FUNDING NOTES (Deadlines are summarized in Section VII):

A. General:

1. National Endowment for the Humanities information booklets available for your perusal include the following: (1) The Bicentennial of the Constitution; (2) Division of Education Programs; (3) Program Development, Guidelines and Application Instructions; (4) Humanities Projects in Media; (5) NEH Fellowships at Centers for Advanced Study 1984-85; (6) Overview of Endowment Programs 1983-84; (7) Travel to Collections, Guidelines and Application Instructions; (8) General Research Program, Guidelines and Application Instructions. If you are interested in any of the above, please indicate such on the tear-sheet at the end of this issue of LARES.

2. Reminder! January 15 is the deadline for the National Endowment for the Humanities Travel to Collections program. For information call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet.

3. Faculty in all fields are invited to submit applications to the American Institute of Indian Studies for short-term support of research in India. Awards include 1-3 months' maintenance stipend, research allowance, and international travel. Applications must be postmarked no later than January 15, 1984. For application forms and further information, contact Frederick Asher, 3-9834. These grants are available to Minnesota faculty because the university maintains membership in the American Institute of Indian Studies.

4. The Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) announces that applications are now being accepted for certain Fulbright Scholar Awards abroad during 1984-85. Over 100 lecturing awards are available in most academic disciplines and countries. American literature, business, economics, engineering, and English as a foreign language are several fields in which applications are still being accepted. There is no specific deadline for receipt of applications for 1984-85 awards; however individuals should act promptly if they wish to be considered for an award. Applications and further information may be obtained from CIES, Eleven Dupont Circle, Washington, D.C. 20036, Telephone 202/833-4950. NOTE: Prospective applicants should verify with a CIES program officer that a particular award is available before completing an application!

5. Resources for the Future has recently initiated a program of small grants to be awarded each year for the support of research on issues related to the environment, natural resources, or energy. Proposals for RFF small grants may originate in the humanities or in the social or natural sciences. They may deal with either theoretical or applied topics, but they must be focused on research. The maximum grant will be $30,000, including overhead, but most grants will be for smaller amounts. Applications for grants must be received by March 1, 1984. For further information and forms, write to Mrs. Jean Schanz, Resources for the Future, 1755 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

6. February 1, 1984 is the deadline for submission of proposals to direct 1985 National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Seminars. These seminars provide opportunities for teachers at undergraduate and two-year colleges to work in their areas of interest with distinguished scholars at institutions with library resources suitable for advanced study. Proposal guidelines and application forms are available in 404 Johnston Hall. Also available is a list of 1984 seminars. Call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet for further information.

B. Fellowships for the Humanities:

1. National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships are available for scholars who wish to spend from six to eleven months in residence at the Newberry Library during the academic year 1984-85. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or nationals or foreign nationals who have been living in the U.S. at least three years, and must be pursuing research in a field appropriate to Newberry's collections. Fellowships carry a maximum stipend of $25,000 for eleven months' residency, proratable for lesser periods of time. The deadline for application is January 15, 1984. For additional information and application forms, write to: Committee on Awards, The Newberry Library, 60 West Walton Street, Chicago, Illinois 60610.

2. Cornell University's continuing program under an Andrew W. Mellon Foundation grant provides postdoctoral fellowships for nontenured scholars and teachers in the humanities. Four two-year postdoctoral teaching-research fellowships will be awarded for the period beginning September 1984. The fellowships offer an annual stipend of $17,000 and health insurance benefits. Applicants must have completed requirements for the Ph.D. after June 1979 and before applying. For information on areas of specialization for 1984 appointments and application procedures, call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet. Application deadline is February 15, 1984.

3. The American Antiquarian Society will award a number of short-and long-term Visiting Research Fellowships including at least two long-term National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships. The Society's collections are centered on materials printed within the boundaries of the United States, Canada, and other former British possessions in the New World. For a complete description of fellowships available, call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet. Application deadline is January 31, 1984.

4. Fellowships for tenured and untenured scholars in the humanities are being offered by The Stanford Humanities Center for 1984-85. Awards will be based on the distinction of the previous work of the applicants and on the promise of their research proposal. Fellows will receive stipends based on their expected academic salary for the year. Application forms and further information are available from the Stanford Humanities Center, Mariposa House, Stanford University, Stanford, California 94305. Application deadline is December 15.

C. Grants and Contracts:

1. The Department of Education has announced that it is accepting applications for new grant awards under the comprehensive program of the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education. The deadline for preapplications is January 10, 1984, with full applications due April 10. FIPSE lists seven program priorities for 1984: Learning difficult subjects such as math, science, writing and foreign languages; providing programs to help workers, unemployed individuals and businesses adjust to the changing economy; understanding the educational implications of new technologies such as computers; increasing access to graduate programs; enhancing teacher education; improving institutional leadership and management; and improving course and program completion rates for high schools. Approximately 75 new awards ranging from $5,000 to $200,000 will be made. For further information, contact FIPSE, 400 Maryland Avenue, S.W., Room 3100, Regional Office Building 3, Washington, D.C. 20202. Telephone: 202/245-8091.

2. The National Endowment for the Humanities has had a longstanding interest in the humanities study of science and technology. Starting this year, the Endowment is significantly augmenting its ability to serve scholars working in this area. New NEH Research Awards in Humanities, Science, and Technology (HST) will support research on a broad range of topics. Appropriate foci for these new research awards might include: the form and content of scientific and technological knowledge, the interaction among science, technology and other elements of culture, and the conceptual and methodological foundations of humanities studies of science and technology. The program invites proposals which approach any of these foci from the perspectives of history, language and literature, philosophy, art history and criticism, comparative religion, jurisprudence, and those areas of the social sciences which emphasize historical and philosophical methods. The first deadline will be March 1, 1984. However, applicants are urged to submit preproposals by January 1.

For guidelines and application information write or call: David E. Wright or Eric T. Juengst, Humanities, Science and Technology Program, Division of Research Programs, NEH, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506.

D. Intramural Funding:

1. The College of Liberal Arts has an annual fund to help defray the costs of conferences held on campus and organized by faculty of the College. The Scholarly Conferences Committee is now accepting applications for conferences for the academic year 1984-85. Proposal information is available by calling Gerri Perreault, 3-4340, or by using the tear-sheet at the end of this issue of LARES. March 12, 1984 is the deadline for applications.

2. Reminder! January 9 is the deadline for applications for support for visiting faculty for the academic year 1984-85 under the CLA Visiting Faculty Program. $70,000 has been set aside by the College for this purpose. For complete information call 3-4340.

3. Bush Sabbatical applications are due in 225 Johnston Hall on January 6. Application materials may be picked up in 225 Johnston (3-4340).

Note: Funding notes in LARES are dated. For the most up-to-date information, please arrange to use SPIN -- Sponsored Program Information Network. Call 373-5101 for an appointment.

III. AWARDS:

A. Statistics:

Number of applications to date (academic year 1983-84): 31;
 Number of applications past 12 months: 159;
 Amount solicited (academic year 1983-84): $1,612,588;
 Amount solicited past 12 months: $8,418,804;
 Number of grants awarded past 12 months: 58;
 Amount awarded past 12 months: $2,169,836;
 Grants pending past 12 months: Number=35, $4,373,914.

B. Recent Awards:

The following scholars were awarded grants and contracts in the amount of $550,717.00 for the period 1 October through 31 October 1983.

IV. FUNDING TRENDS:

Starting this month, federal agencies will be required to allow applicants at least 45 days to submit their proposals for federal contracts. The law requires agencies to set aside at least 15 days for applicants to request a copy of a new RFP, and another 30 days to apply for it. The law requires that agencies publish a notice of their intention to award a contract on a sole-source basis. Official estimates of total federal contracting run as high as $180 billion a year.

If you are interested in RFP's, especially during the summer months, we have prepared a brief guide to preparing contracts. Also, as noted in the general announcements, RFP's will be entered into the SPIN system making it easier for you to find a project of interest to you.

V. BUDGET NOTES FOR SPONSORED PROGRAMS:

We have prepared a small brochure which explains rules and guidelines governing grant accountability. Topics include allowable v. unallowable costs (tests for allowable costs), how to make budget revisions (summary of OMB circulars A-102, A-110), effort reporting (A-21), program monitoring and reporting, and changes in the program (e.g., changing institutions).

VI. RESEARCH NOTES:

Many of you are using micro computers for research purposes. We would appreciate your letting us know about software programs that you have found particularly useful so that we may share the information with our colleagues.

The Office of Research Development uses a number of software programs developed for the IBM personal computer: Condor -- a data base manager, Calc 86 -- a math spreadsheet, Proofwriter -- a word processing program, and personal bibliographic system -- a bibliography program. We would be happy to answer any questions about these programs and demonstrate them for you.

Proofwriter is particularly attractive for word processing if you employ foreign characters or mathematical symbols. The characters appear on the screen and are easily printed on a dot matrix printer. You can create your own symbols. Proofwriter has been used to write in Sanskrit, for example. It is a very easy program to use and its cost is approximately $165.

We have a demonstration disk that we can send you if you would like to try the program.

Liberal Arts REsearch NEWS AND COMMENT

February 17 1984

LARES Volume IX, Number Four

Office Hours:

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday: 8:00-4:00;
Wednesday: 9:00-4:30;
Friday: 9:00-12:00.

After hours, the ORD phone (373-5101) announces pending grant deadlines; it will tape messages.

I. GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS:

1. If you are planning to take a sabbatical leave in academic year 1985-86, the time to start applying for supplementary salary from extramural sources is now. Many public sector agencies have established June 1984 deadlines; a host of private sector agencies require completed applications by October 1984. The latter group often insists on your submitting "preapplications." The SPIN system may be used to determine precise application dates and procedures.

2. Beginning February 1984, the National Institutes of Health (NIH) will announce their funding programs using a coding system (keyword thesaurus) developed by the National Science Foundation. This is the same code used by this office for its index of faculty research interests. The introduction of coded announcements will allow our office to notify CLA faculty of research opportunities in a systematic and speedy manner. It is expected that many more federal agencies will adopt the code in the near future. For faculty interested in NIH programs, we have a summary of keywords to be employed by the agency. We will forward them to you on request. You may wish to update (or join the index) the information you have entered into our research index.

3. SPIN or Sponsored Program Information Network is now operational. We are in the process of improving the software that allows us to access the mainframe computer at the State University of New York in Albany. Ultimately, SPIN will be usable without the help of our office. We intend to have the system available to you at multiple terminals around the campus.

II. FUNDING NOTES (Deadlines are summarized in Section VII):

A. Fellowships:

Fellowships for the Humanities:

1. Early Reminder! National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships for Independent Study and Research have a deadline of June 1 for projects beginning in January of 1985. Application forms will be available in 404 Johnston Hall.

2. March 1 is the deadline for Research Fellowships awarded by the John Carter Brown Library at Brown University. The Library is an outstanding collection of primary materials relating to virtually all aspects of the discovery, exploration, settlement, and development of the New World. Normally, fellowships will be tenable for one to six months, with a monthly stipend of $800. Detailed information on these fellowships is available in 404 Johnston, 3-5101.

3. The Newberry Library has announced the availability of additional fellowships for 1984-85. Applicants for Exxon Education Foundation awards must be postdoctoral scholars at early stages in their careers; applications will be accepted for study in any field appropriate to the Newberry's collections. March 10 is the deadline for completed applications. For additional information use the tear-sheet or write to: Committee on Awards, The Newberry Library, 60 West Walton Street, Chicago, Illinois 60610.

B. Grants and Contracts:

1. The Northwest Area Foundation has issued a request for proposals in the field of higher education to consolidate and strengthen educational opportunities. Approximately $500,000 will be available in 1984 to support projects from one to three years in duration. Such projects must be intended to both lower the cost and improve the quality of instruction. The application process will be in two stages: Letters of Intent, followed by formal proposals by invitation. A Letter of Intent should be postmarked no later than March 9, 1984. If you are interested in a program rationale and description plus application procedures, call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet.

2. The Harry Frank Guggenheim Foundation has established a program of research to advance the understanding of human social problems related to dominance, aggression, and violence. A small number of awards are made biannually to support research from any discipline that will further the Foundation's intellectual and practical objectives by contributing to a comprehensive and essential awareness of dominance, aggression and violence as they affect human relationships and social processes. New guidelines and application forms are available in 404 Johnston, 3-5101. Examples of recent awards are also available. The biannual deadlines are March 15 and September 15.

3. Carnegie Corporation of New York has announced that the foundation will pursue new directions in grantmaking, concentrating on four broad goals:

- *Avoidance of nuclear war and improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations;
- *education of all Americans, especially youth, for a scientifically & technologically based society;
- *prevention of damage to children and young adolescents;
- *strengthening of human resources in developing countries.

Detailed guidelines for these programs will be issued shortly.

In fiscal year 1984 ending September 30, the Corporation has available approximately $20 million for grants and projects. For further information write: Avery Russell, Director of Publications, Carnegie Corporation of New York, 437 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022. Telephone: 212/371-3200.

Grants and Contracts for the Social Sciences:

In phasing out the Argonne Universities Association (AUA), some of the member institutions used the resources available to the association to create the AUA Trust Fund. Under the direction of six trustees and in a period of ten years, the fund plus any earned income is to be expended for the following purposes:

1. To foster scientific research by providing funding for conferences, workshops and seminars that stimulate scientific and technological progress or strengthen the understanding of science and technology in the Midwest and the nation.
2. To foster scientific research by providing funding for activities which promote scientific and technological collaboration either among universities or between universities and industry, government or national laboratories.

Proposals will be accepted at any time, but action on proposals will be taken on a quarterly basis. For application procedures call 3-5101 or use the tear-sheet at the end of this issue of LARES.

C. Intramural Funding:

Reminder! The CLA Scholarly Conferences Committee is now accepting applications for conferences for the academic year 1984-85. Funds are awarded to help defray the costs of conferences held on campus and organized by faculty of the College. March 12 is the deadline for applications. For more information call 373-4340 or use the tear-sheet.

Note: Funding notes in LARES are dated. For the most up-to-date information, please arrange to use SPIN -- Sponsored Program Information Network. Call 373-5101 for an appointment.

IN ADDITION:

Professor George T. Wright, English, has been awarded a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship for Independent Study and Research. Professor Wright's award will help him complete a book on Renaissance iambic pentameter during his sabbatical in 1985.

IV. AGENCY PROFILES AND FUNDING TRENDS:

An analysis by this office of where our colleagues are applying for money shows that the largest part of our support comes from the public sector. We thought it would be helpful to include a profile of a number of private agencies in order to stimulate more applications to this funding sector. Note that the profile is obtained from the SPIN system.

PROGRAM TITLE: Research Grants Program

OBJECTIVES: The Foundation supports social science research in three areas : (1) The Changing Role of Gender in American Institutions, with emph asis on adaptations to changing roles of men and women, especially women, in and out of the work place, with the implications of these changes on the family, the elderly, public policy issues such as wel fare, voluntarism; (2) The Growth of Procedural Complexity, emphasi zing the increased insistence upon participation and recognition of diversity that has led to increases in regulation and litigation and has lessened the flexibility of institutions and the trust in them (3) Risk Perception and Risk Management, emphasizing the need for taxonomy of social, environmental and health risks, the manner by which the perceptions of risks are formulated and the manner by which groups and institutions cope with perceived tasks.

RESTRICTIONS: Pre-application consultation with the sponsor is advised.

V. BUDGET NOTES FOR SPONSORED PROGRAMS:

The University Computer Center has prepared a "Grants Primer" designed to help you to obtain extramural support for computer equipment and use. In addition to describing equipment available at the U of M, it explains costs for new equipment, computer supplies, and use of current equipment. Sources of funds are noted along with agency guidelines for requesting funds, e.g., NEH, NSF. For assistance, call Vicky Walsh at 373-5780. For a copy of NEH or NSF guidelines, please contact ORD via phone or the tear-off sheet.

VI. RESEARCH NOTES:

1. Personal Bibliographic System for the micro computer. A program has been developed by Victor Rosenberg of the University of Michigan for preparing bibliographies using the ANSI standard -- The American National Standard for Bibliographic References. Note that this is not the standard used by societies such as the Modern Language Association or the American Psychological Association. The program allows you to develop a bibliography with a maximum size of 480 entries with ample room for annotation. It automatically punctuates the entries and you may develop an index for sorting and creating specialized bibliographies. For example, ORD uses the program to prepare specialized bibliographies for you. If you want a list of books on doing budgets or sources of funds for the humanities, we prepare it using Personal Bibliographic System.

While we have not seen the new version of the program, it is now possible to copy bibliographic entries from mainframe bibliographic data bases such as RLIN. Thus one can avoid having to manually enter the majority of data for your bibliography.

2. NSF is adopting an alternative mode for submission of renewal proposals under NSF research grants. Called "Accomplishment Based Renewal" (ABR), the intent of this approach is to decrease paperwork and reduce administrative burdens on the research community.

Submission and content of renewal proposals under the ABR option. All proposals for renewed support of NSF grants may be done by the traditional method or by submitting copies of publications resulting from research supported by NSF during the preceding 3 - 5 year period together with a brief (not more than 4 single-spaced pages) description of research plans for the requested support period. The content and format of the research plan is left to the discretion of the principal investigator.

April 1 1984

Volume IX, Number Five

Office Hours:

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday: 8:00-4:00;
Wednesday, Friday: 9:30-12:00.

After hours, the ORD phone (373-5101) announces pending grant deadlines; it will tape messages.

I. GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS:

1. During the Spring Quarter, Robert Kvavik will conduct three workshops for faculty on the preparation of grant proposals. The sessions are organized as follows: Workshop 1. Proposal development strategies and writing tips; Workshop 2. Preparation of a budget; Workshop 3. Identifying and contacting funding agencies. The workshops will be limited to 15 faculty on a first come first served basis. Workshop 2 involves the use of ORD's computerized budgetwriter. Workshop 3 will demonstrate the SPIN system. The sessions will be held in 408 Johnston during the noon hour. Bring your lunch.

If you wish to participate in one or all of the workshops, please fill out the order sheet or call 3-5101.

II. FUNDING NOTES (Deadlines are summarized in Section VII):

A. Fellowships:

1. Applications for advanced research fellowships in India are currently being accepted by the Council for International Exchange of Scholars. This program is designed to open new channels of communication between academic and professional groups in the U.S. and India and improve the research activities between both countries. Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the postdoctoral or equivalent level. A living allowance of $1,500 per month will be provided. In addition, an allowance for books and travel in India and international travel costs will be covered. Applications are due June 15. For further information, contact CIES, Attention: Indo-American Fellowship Program, 11 Dupont Circle, Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036. Telephone: (202)833-4985.

April 1, 1984

2. The Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) has received from agencies and embassies abroad the list of Fulbright Scholar Awards available to American scholars. Usually covering periods of two to ten months, Fulbright Scholar Awards are available in all academic fields and a wide range of professions. This year's offerings include approximately 275 awards for postdoctoral research. Application deadlines for 1985-86 are: June 15, 1984--Australia, India, and Latin America and the Caribbean; September 15, 1984--Africa, Asia (except India), Europe, and the Middle East. Application forms will be available at the Office of International Programs or ORD.

3. The American Institute of Indian Studies (AIIS) has announced its deadline for submitting applications: July 1. AIIS Fellowship Programs include the following: Senior Research Fellowships, Faculty Training Fellowships, Postdoctoral Study Tour Awards, Library Service Fellowships, Professional Development Fellowships, Junior Fellowships, and Translation Projects. Application forms are available from: AIIS, 1130 East 59th Street, Chicago, Illinois 60637. Telephone: 312/962-8638.

Fellowships for the Humanities:

1. June 1 is the deadline for National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships for Independent Study and Research. These fellowships are designed to provide time for uninterrupted full-time study and research. Fellowships are awarded for continuous periods of either six or 12 months, and carry a maximum stipend of $11,000 for six months and $22,000 for 12. We will have forms available in 404 Johnston or you may write to: National Endowment for the Humanities, Division of Fellowships and Seminars, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506. Please note that these applications do not require a BA 23 form and do not have to be processed through our office. However, we would be interested in knowing about your application and helping you in any way we can.

2. American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) Fellowships, Research Fellowships for Recent Recipients of the Ph.D., and Fellowships for Studies in Modern Society and Values all have a deadline of September 30, 1984. Contact ACLS at 228 East 45th Street, New York, N.Y. 10017 after July 1 for application materials.

B. Grants and Contracts for the Social Sciences:

1. The National Institute of Dispute Resolution has announced that it is accepting pre-proposals for grants under a four-year program designed to test, examine and promote non-legal methods of resolving disputes. Approximately $3 million will be available over a four-year period for this program. Pre-proposals will be accepted in each of the following six areas: Disputes between individuals and institutions; Complex, multiparty disputes; Disputes between individuals; Research and practice; Legal and professional education; and Communication and information. For more information contact: Madelein Crohn, President, National Institute for Dispute Resolution, 1901 L Street, N.W., Suite 600, Washington, D.C. 20036. Telephone: 202/466-4764.

C. Intramural Funding:

1. REMINDER! Funds for faculty travel are still available for the purpose of securing financial support for projects of research, training, or public service. The travel form is a simple one-page affair available in 404 Johnston Hall. If you have questions regarding the guidelines for use of these funds or procedures for getting access to the funds please do not hesitate to call us at 3-5101.

2. To facilitate faculty applications for travel funds, the McMillan Travel Fund and the CLA Faculty Travel Fund have been combined into the "Faculty Travel Fund." The monies in the two funds will continue to be maintained separately. Information sheets and application forms have been sent to chairs and directors. Forms are also available from the Associate Dean for Faculty Affairs, 225 Johnston, (3-4340) or ORD (3-5101). The next application deadline is April 10.

3. Curriculum Development Grants in International Education support efforts by faculty and faculty-student groups to develop innovative projects that will add an international dimension to the teaching of the disciplines. Awards of up to $2,500 will be made. For information and guidelines, contact: Office of International Programs, 201 Nolte West, 373-3793. Application deadline is Friday, April 27.

Note: Funding notes in LARES are dated. For the most up-to-date information, please arrange to use SPIN -- Sponsored Program Information Network. Call 373-5101 for an appointment.

PROGRAM TITLE: Grants Programs

OBJECTIVES: Support is provided for efforts to improve the quality of education, particularly at the level of higher education. Grants are awarded in the areas of:

CURRICULUM AND TEACHING--for programs that will lead to the improvement of instructional methods and content as well as the evaluation and dissemination of such efforts. The sponsor is particularly interested in projects that:(1) cross traditional lines between disciplines, professions and institutions; (2) promote interaction between humanists and social scientists and representatives of scientific, technical and professional fields; (3) involve a reexamination of basic educational purposes, programs and requirements; (4) introduce the consideration of values issues into professional and graduate training; and (5) reflect a concern for the international dimension and the need for heightened awareness of global issues. In addition to these areas, the sponsor has supported faculty development in education and research activities in engineering, business and public policy; computer literacy programs, particularly for those in nontechnical fields; and programs supporting the educational advancement of women.

MANAGEMENT OF HIGHER EDUCATION--for projects that foster:(1) improved allocation and use of resources among and within educational institutions and systems;(2) improved understanding of the economic forces affecting educational services and institutions; (3) improved institutional response to economic change. Typical grants have supported efforts to promote inter-institutional cooperation as well as research on such topics as faculty development and retirement options, student financing and fundraising.

MATCHING GIFTS PROGRAM--in which the sponsor matches employees and annuitants' gifts to colleges and universities on a three-to-one basis. The sponsor also provides additional grants through the program areas of research and training and organization and institutional support. However, these areas are not open to application.

RESTRICTIONS: Eligible applicants are tax-exempt institutions and organizations. No grants are made to individuals. The sponsor favors institutions and organizations that have more than local influence and projects that have an impact beyond the recipient institution. Awards have ranged from $10,000 to $600,000. The sponsor does not usually consider indirect costs. The sponsor will not ordinarily fund the adoption of established educational or administrative methods or materials, capital purposes (equipment, buildings or endowments), institutional scholarship funds, or standard course or curriculum development activities normally covered by institutional budgets. The sponsor program discourages requests for operating funds for an existing college or university program.

Detailed application procedures may be obtained from the sponsor.

V. BUDGET NOTES FOR SPONSORED PROGRAMS:

Growth in Academic R&D Forecast for 1984. Colleges and universities are likely to perform $10.5 billion worth of research and development in 1984, an increase of 5%, says a report from the Batelle Memorial Institute. Overall, research and development expenditures are expected to reach $94.2 billion.

Data show that industrial support of research is growing at a faster pace than support from the federal government. Industry will account for approximately $400 million of academic R&D, a growth rate of 7%.

LARES Volume IX, Number Six

Office Hours:

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday: 8:00-4:00;
Wednesday, Friday: 9:30-12:00.

After hours, the ORD phone (373-5101) announces pending grant deadlines; it will tape messages.

I. GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS:

1. The Office for Research Development has prepared a small brochure on securing extramural support for sabbaticals. University rules and procedures are outlined and a description is offered of intramural and extramural sources of funds. Only agencies that support research in multiple disciplines are included. Also, Minnesota applicants must have had previous and continuous success with the agency. Other requirements for inclusion in the brochure include a well-funded program, straightforward application procedures, and announcement of awards in a timely manner. The brochure should be used in conjunction with the SPIN system. To receive a copy of the brochure, please check the order sheet and return to ORD.

If you are interested in taking a sabbatical in 1985-86, applications to most federal agencies are due this June. Private foundations have September-October deadlines. We estimate that if you miss these deadlines, at a minimum, 75% of your chances for securing extramural funds will have been lost.

2. Workshops to help you to secure extramural support for your research will be held on the following dates:

- a. Sources of funds: May 17;
- b. Proposal development strategies and writing tips: May 24;
- c. Preparing budgets: May 31.

All sessions are in 408 Johnston during the noon hour. They are fairly well subscribed. If you are interested in attending, please call ORD -- 3-5101. The sessions are for faculty only.

3. The French Embassy was recently the first foreign mission to appoint a social science attache--Mlle. Laurence Ratier-Coutrot, a sociologist from the Centre National de Recherche Scientifique. She plans to organize meetings in which French and American scholars can compare their approaches to similar subjects. Those interested in contacting Mlle. Ratier-Coutrot may write to: French Embassy, Suite 325, 4400 Jenifer Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20015.

II. FUNDING NOTES (Deadlines are summarized in Section V):

A. Fellowships for the Humanities:

1. National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Stipends provide support for college and university teachers to pursue two consecutive months in full-time study or research. The University will nominate three members of its faculty for Summer Stipends via an internal competition in CLA. The scope of support includes but is not limited to, the following: history, philosophy, languages, linguistics, literature, archaeology, jurisprudence, history and criticism of the arts, ethics, comparative religion and those aspects of the social sciences that employ historical or philosophical approaches. This last category includes cultural anthropology, sociology, political theory, international relations, and other subjects concerned with questions of value rather than quantitative matters.

If you wish to be considered for nomination for a stipend, send a two-page proposal outlining your project and a curriculum vitae to: Office of Research Development, 205 Johnston Hall. We must receive your proposal no later than SEPTEMBER 14. The three nominees will be notified by September 21 with their final proposals due in Washington OCTOBER 1. Stipend: $3,000. Call 3-5101 if you have questions regarding this program.

B. Grants and Contracts:

1. Approximately 15 awards will be available for 1985-86 to enable American scholars to undertake research on topics that will further an understanding of European politics, society, and culture, past and present. Applications will be accepted from scholars in any discipline in the social sciences and humanities. Preference will be given to scholars with a demonstrated professional interest in European studies, whose projects cannot be accommodated under individual country Fulbright programs. Projects should be regional or comparative in scope. All projects must involve a significant period of time in each of two or more countries, which include Austria, Belgium, Cyprus, Denmark, Finland, France, the Federal Republic of Germany, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Malta, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and the United Kingdom. Grants are for a minimum of 3 months and a maximum of 9 months. Preference will be given to projects of 6 months or less. The base stipend is $3,000 and an additional $2,000 is provided for each month of the grant.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to: CIES, Eleven Dupont Circle, N.W., Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036. Deadline for application is SEPTEMBER 15, 1984.

2. At least ten 3-to-10 month grants are offered to U.S. scholars during the 1985-86 academic year for research on a significant aspect of Southeast Asian society and culture. Fields of research include the humanities, social sciences, communications, education, law, and business. Proposals for support of translation of Southeast Asian literature will also be considered. Countries of study include the 5 ASEAN nations, Brunei, and Burma; fields of research in Burma, however, are limited to the arts, history, language and literature. Collaborative research proposals will be considered, as will proposals with inter-country travel, except for Burma. For details and application deadline contact: CIES, Eleven Dupont Circle, N.W., Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036. Telephone: (202)833-4979,80,81.

3. Up to 13 research awards, each for 6 months, will be awarded under the Fulbright American Republics Research Program. Proposals will be accepted in any discipline, for one or more countries of the Caribbean, Mexico, Central or South America. Applications are encouraged from scholars whose projects involve collaboration with colleagues in the host country and who are willing to give occasional lectures. Applicants for non-English speaking countries should have sufficient language ability to conduct the proposed research. Deadline is JUNE 15. For more information write: CIES, Eleven Dupont Circle, N.W., Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036. Telephone: (202)833-4955,56,57,58.

4. Approximately 10 grants are offered for three-to nine-month research programs in any field, with openings in most African countries. Projects may be carried out in more than one country. Applications for French-speaking countries are particularly welcome. Letters from host country colleagues or officials expressing interest in the proposal should be included in the application. Grantees will be responsible for obtaining research clearances and visas for all countries involved in the proposed program. In planning research programs, applicants should take into account long delays and difficulties in obtaining research clearance from some African countries. Benefits include a fixed-sum grant to cover living and travel expenses, reimbursement for dependents' schooling, and basic health insurance. Grants average about $28,000 for nine months.

Detailed information is available by writing or calling: CIES, Eleven Dupont Circle, N.W., Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036. Telephone: (202)833-4975,76.

5. The Council for the International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) is accepting proposals for the 1985-86 Fulbright Scholar-In-Residence program.

Under this program, colleges and universities may invite a scholar from abroad to lecture for an academic year or term in any field of the humanities or social sciences. Grants will provide funds for travel expenses of the scholar, a monthly stipend and limited reimbursement for books and other educational materials. Institutions will be required to provide a supplement to the monthly stipend. NOVEMBER 1 is the deadline for applications. For general information about this program, contact CIES, 11 Dupont Circle, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

C. Intramural Funding:

The Office of International Programs has announced its Development Grant Program for 1984-85. The program supports: participation in professional conferences or meetings which are held abroad and address issues of international development; international studies; or the application of agricultural, medical, or technical sciences to international settings and/or problems; consultation with foreign colleagues regarding cooperative research, teaching, service, and/or educational exchanges of faculty and students; and seminars, lectures, conferences, and exhibits of international scope held at the University and/or involving international scholars outside the University. Awards will average $400, but individual grants will vary. Application deadlines are: May 15, August 15, November 15 and February 15; award dates are June 1, September 1, December 1, and March 1, respectively. For details, contact the Office of International Programs, 201 Nolte West, 373-3793.

Note: Funding notes in LARES are dated. For the most up-to-date information, please arrange to use SPIN -- Sponsored Program Information Network. Call 373-5101 for an appointment.

PROGRAM TITLE: Grants Program

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund (RBF) recently issued new funding objectives for the 1980s, focusing attention on the international issues of resource use and global security. Projects funded in the area of global security will attempt to address issues not only related to the nuclear arms race, but also those involving international relations, development, and trade and finance. Through its global interdependence theme, RBF will fund projects in the area of resource use, which will encompass fostering agriculture techniques and underwriting efforts in both the developed and less developed countries to improve food production methods and energy generation.

RBF's grantmaking process will remain intact under the reorganization, with proposals reviewed four times a year in April, June, October and November. Preliminary letters of interest outlining the project proposal may be submitted throughout the year. RBF awarded approximately $26 million in grants in 1983.

A copy of the new funding guidelines will be available in 404 Johnston or you may write to the above address.

Office Hours -- Summer Sessions I and II:

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday: 8:00-4:00;
Wednesday, Friday: 9:30-12:00, and by appointment.

After hours, the ORD phone (373-5101) announces pending grant deadlines; it will tape messages.

I. GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS:

1. Budgetwriter enhancements. In recent weeks, we have made numerous improvements to Budgetwriter -- ORD's computer program to prepare budgets for sponsored research. Now Budgetwriter can be operated using LOTUS 1-2-3. Also, multiple-year budgets can be constructed. A summary budget is automatically provided. The Lotus version is much easier to use than the earlier Calc-86 version.

2. The software used to search the SPIN system (Sponsored Program Information Network) has been simplified to the point where we would like to distribute the system to departments with an IBM-PC and a modem operating at 1200 baud. We feel that SPIN would get more use if searches could be made at the departmental level rather than in Johnston Hall. Interested departments should contact ORD.

3. "Kvavik's Dog and Pony Show!" In the Fall quarter, ORD will make house calls. Departments wishing to see the SPIN system or budgetwriter demonstrated can contact Robert Kvavik. Also, if departments are interested, ORD's miniworkshops on preparing budgets, proposal preparation and writing strategies, proposal review processes, and identifying funding agencies can be organized for faculty and graduate students at a meeting arranged by the department.

II. FUNDING NOTES (Deadlines are summarized in Section V):

A. Fellowships:

1. Because the University of Minnesota is a member of the American Institute of Indian Studies, faculty and Ph.D. candidates may apply for fellowships to support research in India. Fellowships are available both to specialists in Indian studies and to scholars in other academic fields. Application deadline is JULY 1 for grants to be commenced after June 1, 1985. For further information, contact Frederick M. Asher, 373-9834.

June 15, 1984

2. Guggenheim Fellowship applications are due OCTOBER 1. Please request application forms from the following address: Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, 90 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.

3. Reminder! Preliminary proposals for National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Stipends for 1985 are due SEPTEMBER 14 in 404 Johnston Hall. Final proposals are due in Washington OCTOBER 1.

B. Grants and Contracts:

Grants and Contracts for the Humanities:

1. SEPTEMBER 15 is the application deadline for the National Endowment for the Humanities Travel to Collections Program. This program enables American scholars to travel to use the research collections of libraries, archives, museums, or other repositories to consult research materials of fundamental importance for the progress of their scholarly work. Research trips must be made within North America or Western Europe. Preference will be given to applicants who have no other source of funding for the trip proposed and whose costs amount to at least $500. Application forms will be available in 404 Johnston or you may write to: National Endowment for the Humanities, Travel to Collections, Division of Research Programs, Room 319, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506.

2. Upcoming deadlines for Minnesota Humanities Commission general grants are JULY 20 and OCTOBER 19. Small grants applications may be submitted at any time. Contact the Minnesota Humanities Commission, LL85 Metro Square, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101 for information.

3. The next deadline for submitting proposals for research conferences in the humanities to NEH is SEPTEMBER 15. Application forms are available by writing: General Research Program, NEH, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506. Telephone: 202/786- 0207.

Note: Funding notes in LARES are dated. For the most up-to-date information, please arrange to use SPIN -- Sponsored Program Information Network. Call 373-5101 for an appointment.

CONTACT TELEPHONE NO: 212 697 1505

LAST POSTED DEADLINE DATE(S): Sept. 30, 1984

PROGRAM TITLE: Fellowships and Grants-In-Aid

OBJECTIVES: The sponsor provides opportunities for advanced humanistic research in the following fields of specialization--philosophy (including philosophy of law and science); aesthetics; philology, languages, literature and linguistics; archaeology; art history and musicology; history (including history of science, law and religions); cultural anthropology; and folklore. Proposals with a humanistic emphasis in economics, geography, political science, psychology, sociology and the natural sciences will also be considered.

RESTRICTIONS: Types of awards offered are: RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS FOR RECENT RECIPIENTS OF THE PH.D.--Deadline Date:09/30/84--for applicants who have been officially conferred their doctorates between 01/01/82 and 12/31/84 with all degree requirements fulfilled prior to the application deadline. Recipients must devote a minimum of six consecutive months to a maximum of one year to uninterrupted full-time research. Awards will not exceed $8,500. FELLOWSHIPS--Deadline Date:09/30/84--for applicants who have their doctorate or its equivalent and except for those whose careers have been interrupted by unusual circumstances should be under fifty-one years of age as of the application deadline. Recipients must devote a minimum of six consecutive months to a maximum of one year to uninterrupted full-time research. Awards will not exceed $15,000. FELLOWSHIPS FOR STUDIES IN MODERN SOCIETY AND VALUES--Deadline Date: 09/30/84--provide support for humanistic research which will illuminate and assess social and cultural ideas of 19th and 20th century society. Applicants must have been officially conferred their doctorate between 1/1/82 and 12/31/84, with all degree requirements fulfilled prior to the application deadline. Recipients must devote a minimum of six consecutive months to a maximum of one year to uninterrupted full-time research. Awards will not exceed $8,500. GRANTS-IN-AID--Deadline Date:12/15/84--are to advance specific programs of humanistic research-in-progress. Applicants are required to have the doctorate or its equivalent. The award should be expended within one year after acceptance. The award will not exceed $3,000.

COMMON FEATURES: Applicants must be citizens or permanent residents of the U.S. Awards are primarily provided for the provision of free time and may include travel, clerical or research assistance and the reproduction or purchase of materials. Only in exceptional cases will grants be made to relieve scholars of the necessity of teaching beyond the conventional academic year. Support is not provided for study towards an additional degree; curricular, pedagogical or other studies directed primarily toward the improvement of education; the preparation or revision of textbooks; translation projects; lecturing, teaching, teaching seminars or attendance at learned society meetings; or the publication of manuscripts. Applicants whose projects necessitate stays of two months or more in the Soviet Union or Eastern Europe should apply to the International Research and Exchanges Board for that segment of the research. In requesting application forms the applicant should state age, highest degree held and date received, citizenship or permanent residence academic or other position, field of specialization, proposed subject of research or study period of time for which support is requested and the specific award program of interest. Those who have not received the doctorate must include the anticipated receipt date of the degree.

PROGRAM TITLE: Travel Grants for Humanists

OBJECTIVES: Travel support is offered to scholars in humanistic disciplines that include philosophy (including philosophy of law and science); aesthetics; philology; languages, literature and linguistics; archaeology; art history and musicology; history (including history of science law and religions); cultural anthropology; and folklore. Proposals with a humanistic approach in economics, geography, political science, psychology, sociology and natural sciences are also considered. The grants enable scholars to participate in international scholarly meetings held outside North America (including the Caribbean). Well-planned, broadly international meetings are a first priority. Significant international congresses that meet infrequently and meetings (particularly those of membership organizations) are also encouraged. RESTRICTIONS: Applicants must hold the Ph.D. degree or equivalent, be U.S. citizens or permanent residents and must not have received travel grants in the two preceding years. Funds are provided to scholars to present papers at or to have a major official role in the meeting. Preference is given to the presentation of scholarly papers over the performance of bureaucratic functions; youth over age; and scholars who have not previously received grants over former recipients. Meetings concerned with social action, international relations, purely technical studies, education or the creative or performing arts are not eligible for support. Application forms must be requested from the sponsor stating the scholar's name, scholarly interests and roles in the meetings; and the dates, place and sponsorship of the meetings.

PROGRAM TITLE: International Affairs

OBJECTIVES: Foundation support is in four major areas: maintenance of peace and security, with emphasis on U.S. military policy and the security concerns of small nations; the changing world economy with emphasis on the impact of world inflation; the increasing flow of refugees and migrants around the world with emphasis on migratory patterns and issues related to coping with refugee crises of survival and resettlement; conduct of U.S. foreign policy; impact of population pressure on natural resources; and fertility-related health issues.

RESTRICTIONS: Applicants must represent charitable, educational or scientific organizations under the appropriate provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. No specific forms are required of applicants; one is encouraged to make initial inquiry by means of a brief descriptive letter.

PROGRAM TITLE: Governance and Public Policy

OBJECTIVES: The Foundation will support exploration of public policy alternatives that seek to balance equity and efficiency, central control and pluralistic diversity, authority and liberty, the welfare state and individual self-sufficiency, public and private roles. The manner in which factors such as technology, dislocations in the work force, inflation and alienation of the young impinge on the balance of government is considered important. The Foundation also has an interest in judicial alternatives, and, in Third World situations, the training of leaders for civil service positions. RESTRICTIONS: Applicants must represent charitable, educational, or scientific organizations under the appropriate provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. No specific forms are required of applicants; one is encouraged to make initial inquiry by means of a brief descriptive letter.

PROGRAM TITLE: Education and Culture

OBJECTIVES: The major objective is to promote equity and excellence in higher education, scholarship and cultural life. Implementation of this goal takes several current forms: invigoration of research and scholarship in the humanities and arts at selected universities; increasing access of minorities of higher education through the post-doctoral level; encouragement of artistic expression of minorities; examination of public policy issues affecting American Higher education; preservation of distinctive cultures in Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America. RESTRICTIONS: Applicants must represent charitable, educational or scientific organizations under the appropriate provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. No specific forms are required of applicants; one is encouraged to make initial inquiry by means of a brief descriptive letter.
