Committee To Study Marketing Programs (0:35)

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz has appointed a panel to study the effectiveness of U-S-D-A programs that regulate marketing. The advisory committee will evaluate each regulatory program's contribution to the orderly marketing of farm products. The panel will also review the program's impact on farm income and consumer prices.

The panel will be under the direction of Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard Feltner and consists of consumer, industry and government representatives.
