Coffey Becomes Acting President

OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA ON JULY FIRST
UNANIMOUS APPROVAL IS GIVEN TO REGENTS' CHOICE

Dean Walter C. Coffey

The "Main Campus moves to the Farm!"

This was the concensus of opinion when the Regents of the University announced their appointment of Dean Walter C. Coffey of the Department of Agriculture as Acting President of the University beginning July first.

The School of Agriculture is peculiarly pleased with this appointment for throughout the twenty years Dean Coffey has served as head of the department he has been the active friend and advocate of the School. Its welfare has always been his concern. Its students have had the unusual opportunity of knowing him intimately through hearing his Sunday morning song service talks.

Unanimous approval of Dean Coffey's appointment to head the University while further search is made for a successor to President Ford is voiced by all friends of the University.

Such editorial comments as the following appeared in city papers as soon as the action was known.

"The regents have acted with wise promptness in electing Dean Coffey, admired and beloved Dean of the University's Department of Agriculture as Acting President—They have filled the post admirably meanwhile with a man who commands the great respect of the legislature and the people of the State."

Mikes, James Kohler, and Hugh Munns.

The hospitality committee, directed by Hans Sorenson, Jean McConnell, and Harry Stewart, met and directed the guests about the dormitory rooms. Lothair Bracewell, Allen Brakke, Thomas Dickerman, Stanley Ewald, and Allan Johnson, issued the Open House invitations. Louis Obowa and Roseville Josephson managed general arrangements for the party.

H. Maxwell and W. Penn presented tiny American flags of silk to all who had February birthdays.

Reserve Power Rests on Abiding Faith in Ideals

Dear Students: Well, here we are now with but a few weeks—a few short weeks—before each of you will again depart for your homes. You will be heading home, and there awaiting you will be your folks, anxious to learn what kind of a year you have had.

Superintendent J. O. Christianson

Some of you may have difficulty in finding things to report along a constructive line, things that you have done in developing yourselves as stronger young men and young women in the interest of clean, courageous lives in service to Christian ideals.

Happily, however, most of you—the great majority of you—may report that you are stronger in the faith of your fathers, that you have participated in worthwhile activities, that you have carried your program of work through not only to a satisfactory completion, but also in such manner as to be of most value to you and to them.

You will be coming home in a spirit of satisfaction, knowing that you have not neglected opportunities but that you have availed yourself of the many, many privileges available at this great School campus. Sometimes I wonder whether it is not a bit difficult for you to see the great many privileges and opportunities that are yours.

This University makes these available to all of you, hoping that out of the group there may be enough participation and utilization as to make such offerings worthwhile, not only to you but to your community.

For you are here not only for yourselves. It should be the duty and objective of each of us to so live and so work as to make this world a little bit better place in which to live, in which to have homes in a spirit of Christian tolerance and decency.

As each day goes by, it seems that the world enters into greater confusion. It is only among those who are of abiding faith in what some may call "old-fashioned" values that we find confidence and a reserve power wherein civilization itself must find its resting hope.

Sister Schools Lavish Hospitality on Athletes

Both squads, basketball and wrestling returned from the trip up North singing the praises of the hospitality shown them at both schools. "We think they treated us better than we treated them" was the way the U. Farm boys felt about the entertainment they had at Grand Rapids and Crookston, on February 21 and 22. "Let's do more for them next year," is their pledge.

To you who are young in attendance here at this School of Agriculture, much of this may sound like old-time worn and possibly out-of-date philosophy—and yet through all the ages civilization after civilization has risen and fallen as it has served or neglected these ideals.

And so, you as individuals will grow, prosper and be of service or fail as you also serve or fail to serve in the light of worthwhile Christian decency and courageous ideals. As you make yourselves better young men and young women, you serve not only yourselves but you serve humanity, and as you serve humanity, you serve God.

Northerners Overwhelmed By U. Farm Aggie Matmen

Two wins were chalked up to the credit of the wrestling squad on their jaunt to Grand Rapids and Crookston on February 21 and 22, respectively. Not satisfied with rubbing the Range boys into the dust, 20 to 8, they laid the Crookston muscle artists out as flat as their prairie, 24 to 10.

In both events, the U. Farm boys were advanced each to wrestle in the next higher weight because of losing Edward Johnson, heavy-weight. He had come down with the mumps.

The summaries follow: at Grand Rapids, Molitor, Schulz, and Maxwell won by decisions; and Paschke and Ruder, by falls. Gans and Heikes each took a draw, and Frank lost in a pin.

At Crookston, Schulz, Ruder, and Paschke won by falls; Molitor, Heikes, and Maxwell got their points by decisions; and Frank and Gans were pinned.

B. B. Championship Title Is Won in Crookston Game

A 41 to 40 victory over the Northwest Aggies at Crookston on February 22 cinched the title for the local basketball squad to the conference championship. Out of six starts, the squad met one defeat, and that on the small floor of the Grand Rapids gymnasium where their plays did not work out to their satisfaction. Grand Rapids Aggies won the game 24 to 22 on February 21.

Captain Pinke, Meschke, Monsen, Kohler, McCallum, Frisby, and Olson gave good account of themselves at Crookston. Schulz and Sorenson had their hands in the Grand Rapids game also.

Girl Athletes Carry On

Thank you girls! and I really mean it. In the Field Meet we had your whole hearted support; not only that, but we can boast of two record breakers. Mickey Halland in the rope vault broke the record which was 6'6" by 3½" and Ruth Bremer broke the archery record of 152 with a score of 170. Congratulations to you both! The other girls may not have broken records but they did a wonderful job of showing "Aggie Spirit."

Our basketball team surely has done a fine job in bringing honor to the Aggies. In the game with Saint Columba on January 18 we lost by a score of 18-17, but it was a fast game and the plays were excellent. Sendelbach made five out of seven free throws. In the last thirty seconds of play, Saint Columba made a basket that gave them the winning score.

Bethel College and Aggie girls battled at our Field Meet with a final score of 13-9, in our favor.

41-9 was the score in the game with the Neighborhood House on February 13.

The first team members are Kanduth, Sendelbach, Madden, Wendt, Nahrgang, Klockmon, G. Lieske, and E. Jerabek.

* * * *

Girls! Here's an opportunity to win a fish emblem. The tests will take place the third week in March. So, let's see you girls out there practicing.

Keep up the good work, girls; and we'll make records, this year, too.

There were many thrilling events and among those the 440-yard dash was a standout. Keith Miller beat Myron Alberts by a stride in a photo finish.

Three records were broken during the afternoon. This was done by Austin Isaacson high jumping 5 feet, 7 inches; Maxine Halland rope vaulting to a height of 6 feet, 10 inches; and Ruth Bremer shooting 170 points in archery.

Johnson, timers; and Sierk, announcer. Supt. J. O. Christianson presented medals won during the meet at the close of each event.

At times the meet resembled a four-ring circus as so many events were staged at the same time, the main floor, at the beginning, set up jumping and rope vault stands, a shot put line, and archery targets. All these events were off together as were several succeeding events.

Throughout, the meet was exceptionally well-timed and coordinated.

Dinner Is Occasion For Field Meet Toasts

The dining hall was a beautiful picture as one entered the doorway at the Field Meet and Homecoming Dinner. Special tables were reserved for the speakers, the local and visiting basketball teams, the girls basketball team, honored alumni, the class cheer leaders, and the Little German band. These were decorated with lighted candles and center pieces of balloon clusters.

Under each plate of every table was tucked a balloon which was discovered even before the yelling led from the balcony by the class cheer leaders had begun.

After all were seated, Toastmaster Edward Johnson welcomed the audience to an evening of jollity. When the dinner was concluded, he presided over the program of toasts which had "National Defense" as their theme.

Edna Talbert toasted, "The Home Guard;" Jean McConnell, "Fighting on Three Fronts;" Obert Jacobson, "Victory;" Walter R. Smith, "On Schedule;" and Marsh Ryman, "Volunteer Enlistment." Songs were sung by the audience led by Harlan Janzen, the Junior class cheer leader.

Basketball captain Herb Pinke spoke his mind on "Defense must not lag," and Harold Lloyd, Crookston's captain, took up the challenge in his toast, "No sit down strike."

Supt. J. O. Christianson climaxed the discussion in his talk, "Fitness for defense" and complimented the classes on their fine display of good sportsmanship at the field meet.

As a mark of honor to the victorious class, the banner of the Junior class was displayed from the balcony. The Little German Band contributed several numbers during the program. The singing of "God Bless America" concluded the program.

The Reverend Father Francis Jaeger, first chief of the division of beekeeping at University Farm, died early in February at Alexandria, Louisiana, where he had gone to spend the winter, as was custom, with friends, and especially his bees.

Father Jaeger was chief of the beekeeping division at University Farm from 1928 when he resigned to give attention to his own extensive apiary and to his church work.

Father Jaeger was a gifted teacher and enjoyed great popularity from his talks about bees.

Professor Tanquary says of him, "He was always enthusiastic when talking about the wonders of bee-life and contributed much to the success of any keeping meetings he attended. The present day beekeepers in Minnesota and elsewhere owe their initial interest in the subject to his teaching. He was much happier than when he was out in his apiary where he loved to work, and he was cussing with friends the wonders of bee-life."
