BASEBALL PICNIC SUPPERS—CALLED ASSEMBLY—DANCE FEATURE JUNE 17 REUNION UNIVERSITY FARM

Recharge Your Batteries Come to an Aggie Reunion this Summer

Do you have that run-down feeling? Do you ever wonder if no one cares for you? Does the job ahead seem a tough one? Then here's the trouble: You missed that last School reunion! You failed to get your annual charge of pep, your batteries have run down.

Now, read this remedy carefully. You are going to have several chances to recharge those batteries this summer. There will be local Aggie reunions, district reunions, and the grand old reunion at University Farm. Paste these dates in your hat, and let nothing prevent you from attending at least one of these reunions, for there you will get your batteries recharged with Aggie pep and spirit.

Meet your old pals and chin with them about the days when you were in School, when men were men and girls were lovely! It was a great school in those days. Records were made. Maybe you made one. What a roar the crowd let out. It was a victory!

If you have lost touch with the School you may want to know what is happening there now. You see, it's got to grow, (President Roosevelt has just made got to internationally famous) root and branch. It is still the largest School of Agriculture in the world. It is still offering the best course of study of any school of its kind. But not the same course of study that you knew in detail. The tree has been trimmed and new branches have been grafted on. Come to a reunion and learn what the School of Agriculture is doing to fit young people of today for life.

Watch for the publicity about your local get-together. These reunions are dated and officers are planning them:

June 17, University Farm, Rudolph Clausen, Howard Friese and Harris Withers, co-chairmen.

June 18, Montevideo, Peter Hoff, president.

June 18, Worthington, Magnus Christiansen, president.

June 25, Pine County, at Grindstone Lake, Alvin Jensen, president.

July 16, Goodhue County at Red Wing, Cletus Hallquist, president.

July 3, (Tentative) Mankato district at Mankato

Sept. 17, Faribault County at Blue Earth, Ralph Wood, president.

Planning the program for the University Farm reunion are Gertrude Esteros and Einar Saarela and Howard Friese. Alma Hammann, Reynold Bergman, Miles Rowe, Margaret Meikle Frederickson, will assist Truman Nodland with the publicity. The dance and refreshments will be managed by Howard Friese, Ralph Mimbach, Erhardt Bremer, Harry Nelsen, and Goodwin Sonstegard; while John Marrs, Verne Clementson, William Haight, Vera Smith, Muriel Bassett, Stephen Senesac, Bernice

Midsummer Reunion, University Farm

ORDER OF THE DAY

- 3:00 Ball Game on the Athletic Field. Battery—Rufus Christgau, catcher; Walfrid Mattson, pitcher.
- 5:30 Picnic Supper on the Campus. Tables will be rrranged. Coffee Served Free.
- 7:00 Special Called Assembly. Principal Christianson, presiding. Hoff will sketch the great and near great of the alumni. Community singing, led by Mrs. Philip Larson. School Band, under the direction of Mr. Boland. Announcements.
- 9:00 Dance in the Gymnasium. Rasmussen's Orchestra.

Eidsmo, Margaret Rule, and Francys Young will decorate the gymnasium.

At three o'clock will be played a baseball game between an Aggie team and the Indian Team from Welch, Minnesota.

In the evening, the program over which Principal Christianson will preside, will be a model assembly with several favorite entertainers, music, and community singing. The beginning time is seven o'clock. Remember your attendance at assembly was nearly perfect?

After the last song has been sung, the re-unionists will troop up to the gym for an informal party and dance.

Besides the already dated reunions, there are others that will occur during the summer and fall. These will be announced locally.

There is a five-county group including Waseca, Freeborn, Mower, Steele, Olmstead, that meets in these counties in rotation. The president is usually elected from the county in which the next reunion is to be held. The last information is that Emery Eisert of Waseca is president.

The Houston County Aggie Association usually meets in connection with the county fair. Raymond Fruechte of Caledonia is president.

Washington County has an Aggie association of which Lloyd Booren is president.

Harry Hanson is president of the Nicollet County group; and Roy Munson, of the Brown-Watonwan Aggies.

If there are other Aggie reunions planned, information about them should reach Principal Christianson's office soon.

But whether the reunion is near you or far away, bring that old battery of yours and get it charged with fresh Aggie spirit!

School of Agriculture Opens on Monday, October 2

Plan to register in the School of Agriculture at University Farm on Monday, October 2. All classes will meet on Tuesday, October 3. It will pay to be on time and get your choice of courses before classes fill.

Send the regular two dollars for Room Deposit.

These two dollars are returned to the depositor at the end of the second week of school.

Inflation Boosts Prices of Farm Products

Has No Effect on School Costs

In spite of the fact that the prices of all farm products have advanced and will continue to advance, no changes in the costs of schooling in the School of Agriculture are anticipated. The cut that was made in the cost of board in 1932-33 to meet depression prices is expected to stand for 1933-34. This will be good news to old as well as new students.

In no other school to our knowledge is so much offered to its students at the same cost as in the School of Agriculture of the University at University Farm. The total cost, including board, room, laundry, books, and tuition, is approximately $70.00 for a 3-month term.

This money spent at the School of Agriculture entitles one to attend classes in Agriculture, Home Economics, and related subjects, without the payment of extra fees in any course. For private lessons in music, only, separate fees are charged. The laboratories and equipment in agriculture and home economics are probably the finest of any school of like grade in the county. The instructors are specialists in their fields, many of them are nationally known. All of them are deeply interested in giving the young people in their classes courses that are practical and rich in information.

The student need not confine himself and is encouraged not to confine himself to production courses in agriculture and home economics. More important than skill in cooking and in clothing construction is home making and home management. It is necessary to know what and how to buy, how to budget time as well as money in the home. Marketing and farm management and economics are courses that are as essential to successful farming as those in production.

The prospective student who plays a band or orchestra instrument should bring it or them with him and be ready to take his part in the school organization. There are glee clubs, choruses, and quartets organized for those who sing. One can join a free class or take private lessons in piano, voice, or violin or band instrument.

Four times a week students gather at assembly to hear speakers, often of national or international importance, or entertainers, or to see educational movies. Upperclass men pride themselves on never missing an assembly exercise, rating it as more important than any single course.

Briefly, these are a few advantages which the School of Agriculture at University Farm provides for its students.

You are invited to become a member of the School this fall, and discover for yourself how much more this School affords for tuition paid than any like school.

County Farm Bureaus Will Build Up Loan Funds

Under the leadership of Mrs. E. V. Ripley, Menagha, who is chairman of the Home and Community Committee of the State Farm Bureau, the county home and community committees have undertaken a campaign to raise money for a loan fund to be available to students in the School of Agriculture whose parents are members of the Minnesota Farm Bureau. The goal toward which they are working is a fund made up of contributions of at least $25.00 from each county unit.

This is a generous expression of the confidence which the Farm Bureau has in the education given by the School of Agriculture.

Service Scholarships Partly Pay School Expenses

It is proposed to make available to a limited number of capable students in the School of Agriculture service scholarship or work rights to enable them to earn their school expenses in part.

These scholarships will vary in value, some of them allowing a student to work for room rent, others for his board, and still others for a set sum of money.

It is planned that students who need to work to earn their schooling may secure application blanks for these service scholarships from the Principal's office or from the project supervisors. Each application will then be decided on its own merits.

Some work has always been available to students who are working their way while in School, but this is the first time an effort has been made to distribute the work to a larger number of deserving students.

If this helps solve your problem, write to Principal J. O. Christianson for further information.

Miss Matson Manages Camp Izatys

Following a short vacation spent at her sister's home in Albert Lea, Miss Laura Matson went to Onamia to open and manage Camp Izatys on Lake Mille Lacs. In June she expects to visit the World's Fair at Chicago.

A Letter from Tony

Dear Aggie Friends:

I am writing this letter to all of you whom I did not have the pleasure of seeing and bidding farewell before I left that hospitable state of Minnesota for Virginia.

After school closed, my room-mate, Myron Clark, kindly invited me to go to his home with him. I did, and had a very delightful time, but my visit was cut short by Dr. Menzel's letter, at that time a correspondent friend of mine in Washington, D. C. I had previously written to him asking if he could find a place where I might work during the summer near the city of Washington. His answer was encouraging, so I decided to start right away. It was then that I realized how hard it was to say goodbye to those dear friends close to me.

I left St. Paul about 9 o'clock in the evening, the first of May. The bus was packed with passengers going direct from St. Paul to Chicago, so there was no chance for sleep that night. I reached Chicago about two o'clock the next day after an interesting but wearisome trip. In Chicago I stopped for two days. I stayed at the Y. M. C. A. Hotel, where the cost was very reasonable. The employees were very friendly and willing to help. I took a sight seeing trip of the city that took me through the most interesting and historical places of the town, among them the World's Fair Grounds, one of the most fascinating places I had ever been in. Let me encourage all of you to make an especial effort to realize a trip to the Century of Progress, or World's Fair. It will certainly be worth your time and money. I enjoyed Chicago immensely.

Proceeding on my trip to Washington, I passed through Cleveland and Pittsburgh, two of the larger cities. I cannot tell you much about them because I did not stop very long in either one of them.

Riding through the State of Pennsylvania, I enjoyed the green mountains, and rivers which had a resemblance to those at home, and made my trip the more enjoyable. I reached Washington the following night after leaving Chicago. Washington is a beautiful city, with wonderful buildings full of the most interesting things, lovely parks and play-grounds, impressive statutes, etc. The negro population is the largest I have seen in any city I had ever been in.

My friend, Dr. Menzel, is a splendid gentleman, and I felt proud of my acquaintance with him. I was in Washington for three days before coming out to the farm where I am to work. I like my new place very well and feel sure I will learn a great deal of practical knowledge about the production of milk. The farmers around here ship their milk to Washington where they sell it at 27c a gallon. The requirements for the production of the milk that goes to the city are very strict. The farmers are compelled to build new barns and keep them clean and attractive as possible. Their milk houses are immaculately clean and supplied with new and modern equipment. This accounts for the nice places one sees in this part of the country. The soil is not very good, a red clay that has to be well cultivated every time they put seed in the ground in order to produce anything.

I believe I have told you as much as you would be interested to read.

With hearty greetings and best wishes, I remain,

Sincerely,

ANTONIO FERNANDEZ.

% G. Beyer, Herndon, Virginia.

His friends will be interested in knowing that Antonio goes to New York City in September for a short visit. From there he leaves for his home in Honduras, where he will become Mr. Brosius's assistant in his school for boys.

Gertrude Esteros Awarded Honors

Gertrude Esteros' 31 ability to win prizes and awards through excellent scholarship has not become less now that she is a sophomore in the College of Home Economics.

At the Recognition Assembly which was held in May, 1932, Gertrude was awarded the Home Economics Association cash scholarship which she has applied to her expenses this year.

Early in May, 1933, Mr. T. A. Erickson, State 4-H Club leader, named Gertrude as one of four outstanding 4-H club leaders selected to go to the National 4-H Club camp at Washington, D. C. The News joins with her many friends in congratulating her on the honors that have come to her.

Gertrude also had the distinction of being one of that small group of students in the University who maintained more than a "B" average.

Gleanings From Aggie Fields

Teaching school at Marine-on-St. Croix has occupied Florence Natt's time this year.

Leighton Clarence Natt, ten months old, is officially enrolled in the Class of 1950. His father and mother are Clarence and Ethel Rydeen Natt of Marine-on-St. Croix.

Stephen Becker and his wife have just moved onto their new farm near Dundas.

Winfred Wallraff's address is for the present the Forestry Camp at Cass Lake. He enrolled in the reforestation army at Fort Snelling in April.

The secretary of the Moose Lake Farm Bureau Unit is Olaf Torvick, '30.

Mr. Bassett says he has the best crew he has had working at University Farm. A careful check revealed that the crew was entirely made up of Aggies and included John Marrs, Vernie Clementson, Rudolph Clausen, Harries Withers, Stephen Senesac, Ralph Mimbach, Goodwin Sonstegard, Harry Nelsen, Merle Jondahl, Howard Friese, Einar Saarela, Lambert Erickson, and Gerardo Cueva are employed in various departments at University Farm.

William Haight, '32, has found new interest in dairy husbandry since his employment by the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc. this summer, and expects to make it his major in college.

Alfred Sjowall, School, '20, College, '25, Washington county agricultural agent, underwent an emergency ophthalmectomy in May. He was one of the county agents who visited University Farm during the June 2-3 conference.

Forty members is the enrollment in the new young people's society which George Thurnbeck has just organized at Forest Lake.

The Dovray Implement and Hardware Store has just been purchased by Harris Johnson, '28.

Stanley Sather, a winter term freshman from Lac qui Parle county, has the honor of being named an alternate to attend the National 4-H Club Camp. As nothing but serious illness will prevent any of the regular appointees from going, Stanley is contenting himself with the satisfaction of being named one of the eight leading 4-H club juniors in the state, and is seeking to better his 4-H club record this summer.

Elsie Jokeinen Plays Joke on 'Em

It happened at the State High School Livestock Judging Contest held at University Farm in May. There were over 400 high school boys and four high school girls entered in the contest. Elsie Jokeinen of Toivola in St. Louis County was one of the girls. She was entered as a substitute, but became an active contestant when a boy on the Toivola team did not arrive.

In the over 400 livestock judges, many had taken part in previous contests and were seniors in high school.

When the results of the two days contests were announced, to Vaad Jacobsen of Toivola went sweepstakes as the best all-around judge. When his name was read, it was Elsie Jokeinen who came forward to receive the award, for Vada was the boy who had failed to come, and Elsie, the substitute, had used his card throughout the judging.

Elsie's instructor says that girls are apt livestock judges, that Elsie had had only one course in judging, was only a sophomore, and had never before seen a beef animal!

Dorm. Campus Improved

The Horticultural division has beautified the dormitory campus by landscaping the grounds about the girls' dormitories, Pendergast Hall, and Dexter Hall this spring. The drive way past Dexter Hall is being graded and will be seeded down to grass, improving the approach to the building considerably.

Horticultural News

Dr. L. E. Longley Head of the Section of Landscape Gardening, and L. Sando of the Section of Floriculture, are hoping to make an extended trip the latter part of June, that will take them into many parts of the state. The purpose will be many fold, but primarily to visit the sub-stations of the state and collect plant material. Visits will also be made to as many nurseries as possible, and commercial greenhouses will also be visited as far as time allows. A survey of this kind will furnish the Floriculture Section with a quantity of material on the trees, shrubs and plants most commonly grown, and their hardiness.

The dates and places given are tentative. Some changes may be made as the trip progresses.

June 15, St. Paul to Cambridge, Hinckley, Askov; June 16, Cloquet, Duluth; June 17, Eveleth, Virginia, Hibbing; June 18, 19, Grand Rapids; June 20, Bemidji, Crookston; June 21, East Grand Forks, Morden; June 22, Grand Forks; June 23, Fargo; June 24, Moorhead, Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, Battle Lake; June 25, Alexandria, Morris, Sauk Center, Little Falls; June 26, Brainerd, Aitkin, Milaca; June 27, St. Cloud, Howard Lake, Willmar, Olivia; June 28, Redwood Falls, New Ulm, Mankato; June 29, Faribault, Owatonna; June 30, Rochester, Austin, Albert Lea; July 1, Preston, La Crosse; July 2, Winona; July 3, Lake City, Red Wing.

Commencement

What was one of the most outstanding commencement exercises at the School of Agriculture was the one at which Governor Olson was the principal speaker on March 28. He told his audience that he had prepared the usual academic speech, but was so impressed by the performances of the five student speakers that he put it in his pocket and used their talks for the basis of his. He congratulated the School of Agriculture on the timeliness of the subject matter and the fearless way in which it was handled. He commended the speakers upon their dramatic presentation.

Following the Governor's extemporaneous address, President Coffman conferred the certificates and joined Governor Olson in congratulating the class on having had their education related, not only to the profession each has chosen, but to politics and economics and challenged the members of the class to take active part in community and national life.

Principal J. O. Christianson presided over the exercises and introduced the student speakers. Paul Popken's talk, "Taking Your Own Part," dealt with the conduct of meetings, the duties of the presiding officer, the priority of motions. He used the graduating class to demonstrate the points he made. "Prepare for the Emergency" was the subject of Alma Hammann's demonstration and talk. Probably more accidents occur in the home than anywhere else. A first aid kit should be fitted with common remedies and used in common emergencies. Proper bandaging of an injury protects the patient and eases pain.

Myron Clark's diagram of a homestead combining 'Plowed Grounds and Play Grounds' and the granary fitted with play equipment probably sent many home determined to introduce more play and recreation into farm home life.

All war is costly. It represents "The Greatest Cost." The sacrifice of human beings in battle never settled anything that could have been settled in conference. The march of the invisible hosts who made the great sacrifice is a protest against war. Edith Molenaar's dramatic comparison of the costs of education, welfare, agriculture, and education is not easily forgotten.

"Economic Anemia" is a disease resulting from that economic war when a nation tries to cut off commercial contacts with nations that wish to sell and build walls, tariff walls, so high that goods cannot pass in; when a nation lends money to another country and sets up such limitations that the payment of the debt is impossible. Economic anemia may find a remedy in economic cooperation. It was George Wilken's presentation of this subject that made the governor put his speech in his pocket.

The faculty orchestra, directed by Mr. Boland, played "War March of the Priests" for the class processional which was led by the godparents, Dr. and Mrs. William E. Petersen. The orchestra also played incidental music between talks by the seniors.

Rev. Lloyd H. Rising gave the invocation, and Rev. Arthur H. Gilmore pronounced the benediction.

There were four graduates whose parents were graduates of the School of Agriculture: Robert King, Margaret Lind, Evelyn Henry, and Dalcyce Oberg.

William Dankers Re-Elected President Aggie Alumni Association

At the annual meeting of the alumni association, held Monday afternoon, March 27, William Dankers, '25, was re-elected president, and L. B. Bassett, '96, secretary.

Monday was set aside from commencement week as alumni day, and the morning was given over to reunions with godparents and classmates, graduates of '03, '13, and '23, having made special efforts to revisit the campus.

All gathered as one body with the class of 1933 as guests of honor at the dining room for the annual banquet. Following the invocation by Dr. Andrew Boss, '91, President William Dankers introduced Hoard's Dairyman Editor, Arthur Glover, '93, as the toast master.

Otto Hjermstead, '25, known to his radio friends as Tom Baker, sang a group of songs. Betty Phelps, Margaret Roehl, and Vera Smith danced and sang in the "Happy Days in 1933" act, and the Danish Glee Club contributed a number of songs to the program. In cowboy costume, Cleve Johnson, Hjalmar Hulín, Ed Jones, and John Marrs took the audience "Down on the Old Cow Trail" with their singing and mouth organ and violin music. Herman Frederickson performed on his accordion.

Principal J. O. Christianson responded to the toast "Our School of Agriculture," and god-parent, Dr. Wm. E. Petersen, spoke for the Class of 1933.

The reminiscences and responses of the classes of 1893, 1903, were attended by easily maintained dignity, but when the class of 1913 was announced its entrance justified all the "biggest" claims made for it by its members. Costumes historic and grotesque, characters famous and notorious, had been resurrected, and hilarity marked every stunt which the class presented. Their fun was so contagious that all the other honor classes extemporized competing acts.

Following the closing song, "God Be with you Till We Meet Again," the alumni banquet was concluded.

Spruce trees lined the walls of the dining hall and circled the pillars, and potted plants decorated the tables, the 1913 tables being lavish with blooms. At the speakers table was a handsome bouquet of 100 red carnations which were distributed to the ladies who were going to the dance, at the close of the program.

Nine o'clock found several hundred alumni gathered at the gym to dance to the melodies of Art Greer's orchestra. Goodnight everybody, come again next year, marked the conclusion of the dance and the reunion.

Honored classes next year will be those of 1894, 1904, 1914, and 1924. Begin now to plan to come.

Edith Molenaar's Marriage Climaxes Graduation Day

On the evening of her graduation day, March 28, Edith Molenaar was married to Clinton Halvorson by Reverend John Deitrich at the parlors of the Unitarian Society in Minneapolis. Only the members of her family were present. The bride and groom are making their home on the Molenaar farm near Renville.

Highest Caleb Dorr Award Earned By Russell Hoven

A straight A average in scholarship is Russell Hoven's record for the winter quarter. Closely following him were Bernt Flagstad, Annette Wilkens, Walter Ditlevson, and Andrew Teigen. Other students who paced them were Reo Swenson, Edwin Cutting, Cecil Wenger, Carl E. Anderson, Michael Fogarty, Delphin Keiper, Lorenz Miller, George Thurnbeck, Astrid Storlie, Neva Harris, and John Hatch.

To the first five were awarded the Caleb Dorr term scholarships which are based on excellence in scholarship, 90%, and citizenship and leadership, 10%. Each is to be congratulated on this achievement.

Final Assembly

The S. A. U. M. Orchestra playing O. Metra's "The White Queen" under the direction of Mr. Boland opened the last assembly exercises, Thursday evening, March 23.

The Honorable K. K. Solberg was the principal speaker of the evening and presented the certificates to thirty-six post graduate students. Principal J. O. Christianson introduced him as a man with a record in community leadership. Mr. Solberg told of his experiences as presiding officer of the Senate and of the fight that was being made to safeguard education for all of the people.

Certificates marking completion of entrance requirements to the College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Home Economics were presented to Howard Baer, Walter Clausen, John Dunnwald, Lambert Erickson, Arthur Fahland, William Haight, Alice BuDahu, Donaven Ogren, Gilman Hoven, Russell Hoven, Palmer Landro, Harry Nelsen, O. Paul Smith, Goodwin Sonstegard, Alma Josephson, George Wilkens, and Reo Swenson.

Post graduate students and high school graduates who had been in attendance one year and completed 30 or more credits of work received certificates also. They were Antonio Fernandez, Edwin Cutting, Robert Garbe, Neva Harris, Evelyn Henry, Cletus Hallquist, Wilbur Kraus, Melvin Kullhem, Esther Keller, Margaret Lind, J. Edwin Norton, John Marrs, Oren Shelley, Doris Axelson, Elma Bajari, Olive Bishop, Helen Davis, Dagny Sailand, and Olga Fruechte.

In the extemporaneous speaking contest that followed, Hon. K. K. Solberg, Mr. R. A. Trovatten, and Dr. C. H. Bailey were the judges. Carol O'Daniels won first place and the privilege of keeping possession of the D. D. Mayme diamond medal for one year. The other participants rated as follows: second, Frederick German; third Russell Hoven; and fourth, Roy Stutzman.

Esther M. Nelson was given a Caleb Dorr cash scholarship of $15.00 for being the senior who had maintained the highest five term average. She also received a gold medal for writing the best senior essay and another $15.00 prize for the most outstanding horticultural project. Other essay prizes went to William Thompson, silver medal, second place, and Vernice Noble, bronze medal, third place.

Victor Serota received ten dollars, the second prize for the most outstanding horticultural project.

The highest degree in scholarship and activity in the fall quarter was rewarded with Caleb Dorr cash scholarships. Russell Hoven received first prize, $5; Myron Clark, second prize, $3; Lyndon Gammalson, third prize, $2; Elna Ward, fourth prize, $2; and Ralph Mimbach, fifth prize, $2.

Gold medals were awarded to members of the debate squads, Myron Clark, George Wilkens, Harry Nelsen, Carol O'Daniels, Russell Hoven, and Melvin Kullhem.

The members of the Schools of Agriculture championship basketball team, George Wilkens, Paul Haven, Gilman Hoven, Wilbur Krause, John Marrs, Theodore Kuhnau, and Palmer Landro, received gold basketballs.

Awards were given to students who excelled in typing, bookkeeping, in beginning and advanced swimming.

Margaret Weber, for participating in the field meet three years and Elma Bajari for four years, received as their reward the S. A. U. M. letter.

The members of the girls basketball team, Olga Fruechte, Doris Axelson, Elma Bajari, Margaret Lind, Muriel Molenaar, and Martha Baumhoefner were given the Basketball A.

Music concluded the exercises, the orchestra playing "Remembrances of Waldteufel," and "Victorious Legion" by Seredy. Following the singing of "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by the Girls' Glee Club, the School was dismissed with the singing of "Vale," the Aggie song of farewell.

County 4-H Club Leadership Engages Several Aggies

Aggies who have been 4-H club members before and during their school days always remain interested in club work. This summer seven of them are engaged at county 4-H club leaders and expect to bring members of their clubs to University Farm to attend the Junior Short Course, June 13-16. Esther Peters is club leader in Murray and Pipestone counties; Hilda Bartelt, in Nicollet county; Lillian Wilson, Goodhue county; Alma Josephson, Washington county; Lily Drews, Beltrami county; and W. H. Turner, Isanti and Kanabec counties. Several students have taken local 4-H club leadership as a summer project. Among those are Elna Ward, Aitkin; Eleanora Wagenknecht, St. Paul; Mildred Bissen, Calendonía; Rudolph Bode, Courtland; Margaret Lind, Winthrop; Teckla Nelson, St. Louis county; and Cecil Berg, at Houston.

Eric Ahlstrand Graduates

Eric Ahlstrand will receive his diploma and B. S. degree at the University graduation exercises at the stadium Monday evening, June 19. Eric majored in dairy husbandry and won distinction as a wrestler, being captain of the University squad. His interest in them is no doubt the reason for the many successes enjoyed by the School of Agriculture wrestlers, too. By other school students, he will be remembered as the popular usher in the dining hall.

Abidel Russell Succumbs to Heart Attack

A heart attack was the direct cause of Abidel Russell's death on April 21. Abidel was a member of the class of 1934, and her home was in St. Paul. Her family say that the happiest year of her life was the one spent in the School of Agriculture.
