

Linking with Limited Interaction Learners.

Offered through IDS

If you see your students for only two or three hours per semester, your limited interaction may be restricting your opportunities to build rapport and to create interest in your content. This session will expedite learning when there is not much time to get to know students or to create the need to know. To prevent your students from seeing themselves as “academic hostages,” and yourself as an itinerant teacher, attend this economical, one-hour workshop where we will investigate how to turn your limited time with your students into treasure.

Link with your Learners by:

- Connecting with student interests
- Creating curiosity as a catalyst for learning
- Employing a hands-on approach
- Moving seamlessly between demonstration and discussion
- Integrating collaboration and application.

This workshop will be especially beneficial for those who teach online classes, stand-alone presentations, team-taught courses, workshops, or informational sessions. Become a limited interaction learner yourself by registering for this workshop!

To register and/or to request disability accommodations, including interpreters, please contact Jason Ellis at jellis2@d.umn.edu or x6214

We look forward to seeing you!

Mon 1/28/13

12.00-1.00pm

KSC 268

UMID

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA DULUTH

Driven to Discover™

