

Appreciate special mention of this to clarify some misunderstanding on registration deadlines

Registration for the fall quarter will begin the week of Sept. 23 for most students, UMD officials reminded prospective students today.

They have asked that students applying for admission should have their applications and previous scholastic records in hand by Sept. 1 to assure processing of the applications in time for the fall quarter, which opens Sept. 30.

Actual registration will be Sept. 23-26 for new freshmen, who also will receive orientation to the campus during this period.

Previously registered students with registration permits will be accommodated as follows: Juniors and seniors, Sept. 20; sophomores, freshmen and adult specials, Sept. 24.

For new students applying for advanced standing, orientation and testing will be conducted Sept. 19 and registration Sept. 20.

Previously registered students failing to apply for registration permits must do so in order to be eligible for registration on the morning of Sept. 27.
