DULUTH--Weather permitting, UMD's Darling observatory, 910 West Third street, will be open each Friday at 9 p.m. throughout the summer.

William R. McEwen, chairman, division of science and mathematics, said this week that the observatory will be in charge of a UMD student, Roger Johnson, Duluth.

A 9-inch refractor, a planetarium and solar transparencies will be available.

Donated to the University by John H. Darling, a long-time amateur astronomer in Duluth, the observatory is a popular summer attraction for tourists, townspeople and students.
