

Duluth-- "Going once. Going twice. Sold to the lady in the green hat in the front row."

Such will be the cry of auctioneer Herb Taylor at the annual UMD Art Students Auction from noon to 4 p.m. Wednesday (April 14) in Kirby Student Center ballroom.

Taylor, administrative assistant for Duluth Public Schools and formerly of KDAL-TV, will offer for public bidding prints, watercolors, oils, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry and drawings donated by UMD art majors and graduate students.

The auction is sponsored by the UMD Art Students Guild and Kappa Pi, campus chapter of the National Honorary Art Fraternity. Rodger Hansen, Duluth, and Guild president, is in charge of arrangements. Jeanne DeMarais, Bovey, and Bonnie Cusick, Duluth, will handle funds and records; Wally Hyleck, Duluth, and Bill Shipley, Cloquet, are in charge of publicity.

Proceeds from the sale of art objects will pay for two scholarships for next year; four summer workshop scholarships (two in ceramics and two in painting); the Art Students' Loan Fund; and operating expenses for Guild and Kappa Pi.
