Duluth--- Applications for Rhodes Scholarships which finance study at Oxford University in England are being accepted by UMD Academic Dean Thomas W. Chamberlin.

A candidate must be a male citizen of the United States, unmarried, between the ages of 18 and 24, and have at least junior standing at a recognized college or university.

Appointment is made for two years with a possible third year if the student's record and plan of study warrant it. No restriction is placed on the choice of studies.
