Letter from the Dean

We gather today in celebration to award you with a degree that recognizes your tireless efforts, acknowledges your scholarly achievements, and symbolizes the transformative effect of business education. Whether you pursue a career in business, form your own venture, lead a nonprofit, or pursue further studies, your degree from the Carlson School of Management has you poised to create a brighter future.

And although you may be leaving the Carlson School after today, the Carlson School will not leave you. You have become part of a powerful entity comprised of the more than 50,000 graduates who came before you. A global force that reaches across 95 countries, yet still maintains a strong connection from whence it came.

Carlson School alumni are accomplishing amazing feats across the globe while at the same time ensuring that the next generation of leaders being shaped in Minnesota has the same opportunities afforded to them. They mentor our students.

They provide experiential learning opportunities. They employ our students and graduates. They become our business partners. They invest both their time and their financial resources in our progress. They realize that the value of their degree is not fixed; rather it appreciates with proper stewardship. I hope you will follow their lead. In appreciation, know that we will always be here to assist in your continued pursuits in any way we can.

On behalf of the University of Minnesota and the faculty and staff of the Carlson School, I offer you sincere congratulations. We are proud of all that you have achieved to date and are even more excited about all that you will accomplish in the years to come.

John G. Stumpf

John G. Stumpf
Chairman, President and CEO
Wells Fargo & Company

John Stumpf became Chairman for Wells Fargo & Company in January 2010. He was named Chief Executive Officer in June 2007, elected to Wells Fargo's Board of Directors in June 2006, and has been President since August 2005.

A 33-year veteran of the company, he joined the former Norwest Corporation (predecessor of Wells Fargo) in 1982 in the loan administration department and then became senior vice president and chief credit officer for Norwest Bank, N.A., Minneapolis. He held a number of management positions at Norwest Bank Minneapolis and Norwest Bank Minnesota before assuming responsibility for Norwest Bank Arizona in 1989. He was named regional president for Norwest Banks in Colorado/Arizona in 1991. From 1994 to 1998, he was regional president for Norwest Bank Texas. During his four years in that position, he led Norwest's acquisition of 30 Texas banks with total assets of more than $13 billion.

In 1998, with the merger of Norwest Corporation and Wells Fargo & Company, he became head of the Southwestern Banking Group (Arizona, New Mexico and Texas). Two years later he became head of the new Western Banking Group (Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming). In 2000, he led the integration of Wells Fargo's acquisition of the $23 billion First Security Corporation, based in Salt Lake City. In May 2002, he was named Group EVP of Community Banking. In December 2008, he led one of the largest mergers in history with the purchase of Wachovia.

He serves on the Board of Directors for The Clearing House, the Financial Services Roundtable, Target Corporation, and Chevron Corporation. He also serves on the Federal Advisory Council of the Federal Reserve Board as the appointed representative of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

A Minnesota native, he earned his bachelor's degree in finance from St. Cloud State University, St. Cloud, Minnesota and his MBA with an emphasis in finance from the University of Minnesota.

Carlson Scholars

This designation is based on a grade point average of 3.85 or higher. These students represent the highest level of academic achievement throughout the Carlson School and are invited to wear maroon and gold honor cords at the commencement ceremony.

Academic costume and regalia

Academic gowns date back to the 14th century, when they served two functions of nearly equal importance: to indicate the academic rank of the wearer and to keep the scholar warm in the drafty stone halls of academia.

The markings, cut, and color of the modern-day academic costume—cap, gown, and sometimes hood—indicate the academic degree, the field of study, and the institution that granted the degree.

Degree candidates wear the gowns appropriate for the degrees they are about to receive. Bachelor's degree gowns are black and untrimmed. A maroon and gold tassel hangs from the mortar board worn on the head by candidates. Master's degree gowns, black and untrimmed, have pointed sleeves.

Doctoral gowns in the United States traditionally have been black with velvet front facings and crossbars on the sleeves. The Minnesota hood, which may be worn by anyone with a doctoral degree from the University of Minnesota, is black with maroon chevron on gold. Each institution has its own pattern of colors on the hood, worn around the neck and down the back of the gown. The length and shape of the hood identify the most advanced degree the wearer has earned, and the velvet edging shows the field: drab for doctor of business administration.

In recent years a number of universities have adopted gowns of distinctive school colors. A new University of Minnesota doctoral gown and matching tam made their appearance in 1988 to celebrate the centenary of the first Minnesota doctor of philosophy degree. The new Minnesota gown is maroon-trimmed with black velvet chevron and gold metallic braid. The traditional gown may still be worn.

Commencement reception

Dear Graduate,

Immediately following today's commencement exercise, I would like to invite you and your guests to attend a celebratory reception hosted by Alumni Relations and the Carlson School Alumni Board in the DQ Club Room at TCF Bank Stadium.

TCF Bank Stadium is located directly across the street from Mariucci Arena. We encourage you to meet your families out front and proceed together to the celebration. The premium entrance to TCF Bank Stadium is located under the Benton County sign, directly behind Goldy's Locker Room.

On behalf of the entire Alumni Board, I want to congratulate you on your outstanding success and welcome you to the Carlson School alumni family.

Hail! Minnesota

Minnesota, hail to thee!

Hail to thee, our college dear!

Thy light shall ever be

A beacon bright and clear.

Thy sons and daughters true

Will proclaim thee near and far.

They will guard thy fame, and adore thy name;

Thou shalt be their Northern Star!
