Duluth--- Two recruiters from the Peace Corps will be at UMD on April 15-16 to supply information and interview applicants for the organization.

They are Patti Wright and Juanita Garcia-Maldonado. Both have served two years in foreign countries.

The recruiters will staff an information booth in Kirby Student Center corridor during both days. They will also show films, give classroom presentations and arrange testing for prospective Peace Corps representatives.

Miss Wright, from DeKalb, Illinois, taught English to students in a middle school in Huaza, Turkey and helped write and translate a tourist pamphlet about the city during her two years in the Peace Corps.

Miss Maldonado, from Chicago, lived in Tanzania for two years. While there she taught in an upper primary school and was in charge of the school's food supply.
