Duluth--- The Executive Board and Professional Improvement Committee of the Minnesota Industrial Arts Association will meet Saturday (Sept. 21) at UMD.

About 50 industrial arts from throughout Minnesota will attend, according to Norman G. Laws, head of the UMD Department of Industrial Education.

During the all-day meeting, members of the MIAA will hear committee reports and conduct organization business. A major topic of discussion will be the Domian Report as it affects the teaching of industrial arts.

The group will also discuss the need for an assistant to the state supervisor of industrial arts.

In attendance will be MIAA President Floyd Wruscher, Gaylord; Vice President Harry Padelford, St. Paul; Secretary Orville A. Buehler, Anoka; Treasurer Robert Wallberg, Duluth and delegates from 12 regional industrial arts clubs and seven colleges. A. E. Pagliarini will represent the State Board of Education.
