

The Minnesota Daily Index
1900-1922, 1963-1977
List of Subject Headings and Cross References

---

This is a list of the subject headings and cross references used in the Minnesota Daily Index, 1900-1922, 1963-1977. The index is on 3 x 5 cards in the Reference Room, Wilson Library, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. Only local news was indexed by the staff of the Wilson Library Newspaper Room.

How does the list work?

Use this list to identify subject headings that might be useful when you are searching for newspaper articles in the card index to the Minnesota Daily Index, 1900-1922, 1963-1977. As with all indexes that use subject headings, it is often hard to guess what headings have been used for your subject. With this list it is easy to review all the subject headings and find those likely to be useful before you delve into the card file.

Broad categories are typical of this index. Although many cross references have been provided, don't rely completely on these. Review the entire list of headings yourself to find all of the possibly useful headings. For example, if you are looking for information on the death of a person you will see that there are very few entries for names of people. There is, however, a subject heading for "Deaths" and one for "Obituaries", but there is no See Also reference to direct you from one to the other.

What does the list give you?

For each subject heading the list provides a count of the number of index cards with that heading. If there is more than one index card for a heading, all but the last card will be filled with as many citations to newspaper articles on that subject as would fit on the card.

What is the next step?

After identifying useful subject headings use them to search in the card index to the Minnesota Daily. Write down useful citations. Go to the Newspaper area of the Reserve/Periodical Room in the basement of Wilson Library to find the newspapers you need. They will be on microfilm. Microfilm readers and some microfilm reader/printers are near the Newspaper Room. Check with the staff in that area or at the Reference Desk, first floor Wilson Library, if you have questions.

Note of Appreciation

Jeff Natzke designed the format, counted the cards in each subject category, and keyed in all the information. Without his expertise there would be no list. Thank you, Jeff.
