Social Media Relations Specialist: Maggie Mills

Tips for on-campus and online students: Allow yourself to get excited and celebrate every small step you take towards your career goals. And if you don't know what your goal is, celebrate the fact that you have the ability to choose your goals. Also, always remember that if you're not sure what you should be doing, remember that life ALWAYS has a way of working out (typically better than you would've imagined.)

Favorite quote: No matter if I was happy or down, growing up my dad would always tell me to "Just keep smiling." So if you're having a rough day, remember to smile! It makes you realize that there's always a positive outlook in every situation!

Fun fact about me: I was only planning on attending UMN Crookston for just one semester. WHAT?! Yup, I had plans to only come one semester and then transfer down to the Twin Cities campus, which was closer to my family's dairy farm. After my first semester here, I fell in love with the campus and the people and I knew it was the right place for me despite being 6 hours away from home. At the beginning of my sophomore year, I got an email from University Relations about a work study position and I felt that internal push that I needed to take that opportunity. Three years later, I went from being a communications assistant, to university relations intern, then to a full-time employee shortly after graduation. In short, you'll never be certain where life will take you, but always be open to new opportunities and enjoy the crazy ride.

From Facilities

Due to the cooling weather Facilities and Operations staff will be firing the boiler and switching the buildings over to heat this week.

If you have the need to run a space heater while the heat comes up in the buildings make sure that you are plugging the device directly into a wall receptacle, DO NOT USE A POWER STRIP OR AN EXTENSION CORD FOR A SPACE HEATER. The use of an extension cord or power strip for a space heater is a fire hazard. Make sure that the device is unplugged when you are not present.

Hispanic Heritage Month

September 15-October 15

Difference between the terms Latino/a/x and Hispanic - Neither term identifies race, as Hispanic/Latinos belong to different races, these terms are used to identify an ethnic background.

Hispanic is a term used to describe people who either speak Spanish or are descendant from Spanish speakers,

Latino/a/x is a terms related to geography; Latin America. Example: A person from Spain can be Hispanic but not Latino/a/x as Spain is in Europe. An individual who is from Brazil can be Latin/o/a/x but not Hispanic, as Portuguese is the spoken language in Brazil. As always, people tell us how they choose to identify and not the other way around.
