Award-winning Minnesota Photojournalist Brian Mark Peterson to Speak

By Elizabeth Tollefson on Tuesday, September 20, 2016

Brian Mark Peterson, a staff photojournalist for the Minneapolis Star Tribune, will speak on Monday, October 10, 2016, at the University of Minnesota Crookston. The presentation by the nationally acclaimed photographer begins at 7 p.m. in Bede Ballroom, Sargeant Student Center. The focus of the presentation includes his experiences as a photojournalist, his recent coverage of the 2016 Olympics, and his book Voices for the Land. A book signing will take place following the presentation. Everyone is welcome to attend, there is no admission charge, and parking permits are not required.

Peterson's recent book is based on the Voices for the Land project, organized by the nonprofit group 1000 Friends of Minnesota that encouraged Minnesotans to write about the land they love and fight for its preservation. The Star Tribune published 52 of the essays, with Peterson's photographs of the authors, in a year-long photo column. The resulting documentary was published in book form by the Minnesota Historical Society Press and was honored with three Minnesota Book Awards.

Peterson has had the privilege of photographing four Winter Olympics Games first in Nagano Japan, in 1998; then Salt Lake City in 2002; and Vancouver, Canada, in 2010; and most recently the 2016 Summer Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

The visit by Peterson is sponsored by the Communication Program at the U of M Crookston. For information, contact Heidi Guggisberg-Coners at 218-281-8241.
