SOPHOMORES TO USE BALLOT.

Class Election Will Be Held This Morning.

The Sophomore Academic class will hold its election by ballot today in the Postoffice between 9:30 and 12:30.

The names of the candidates follow: President, Arnold Mikelson; vice pres. Miss Lillian McLaughlin and Miss Marguerite Grimm; sec., Miss Madge Ford; treas., Raymond W. Anderson and Cyrus S. Kaufman.

The voters will accept or reject the proposed constitution.

William Anderson, as president of the Academic Council, will have charge of the election.

Y. W. C. A. WILL GATHER IN HARVEST FESTIVAL

Dean Margaret Sweeney To Be Guest of Honor at Banquet Tonight.

Dinner Will Be Preceded By Recognition Service for New Members.

The climax of the Y. W. C. A. membership fall campaign ends tonight in a banquet to be held in Shevlin Hall. Dean Margaret Sweeney is to be the guest of honor and the students appreciate this opportunity to welcome her at this, the largest gathering of women students during the year.

The affair is to be on the order of a Harvest Home Festival, with decorations of autumn leaves and grain. Even the subjects of the toasts carry out this idea. The program of toasts for the evening is as follows:

Toast mistress—Luella Bussey.
"The Sheaf" (a welcome to the freshmen ..... Alice Anderson
"Stalks" ..... Hazel Switzer
"Jack Frost" ..... Myrna Pressnell
"Harvest of Welcome" (toast to Miss Sweeney) ..... Margaret Hutchinson
"The Binder" ..... Dean Margaret Sweeney

Four hundred places have been ordered so that any girl not in a position to make up her mind until the last minute, may still have a chance to come. However, a very few extra plates were purchaseable, so tickets for the banquet will only be on sale a few hours today. All freshman girls who are members of the association, are to be the guest of the upper-class girls tonight and they need not purchase banquet tickets.

The banquet will be preceded by a recognition service for all new members. This service will take place promptly at 5:30 p. m. and everyone is urged to be present at that time. The service is impressive and marks the first formal acceptance of the new members into the Association and is looked forward to with great interest each year.

Committees of freshman girls have been working to get new members, and prizes will be awarded at this initiation banquet to the three freshman girls securing the largest number of new, paid-up members. Up to 5:30 on Tuesday 185 entirely new members had been secured, 64 of whom were signed up by the freshman girls. Tuesday was a record-breaker in garnering new members, 96 having paid up on that day, making a total of over 350 paid-up members.

Be sure to bring your ticket to the banquet.

BOARD OF CONTROL ACTS ON IMPORTANT MATTERS

Women Will Be Granted Use of Northrop Field Daily From 8 to 1.

Prices For Student and Reserve Seat Football Tickets Arranged.

At the meeting of the Board of Athletic Control yesterday, it was decided to provide two new tennis courts on Northrop Field for the use of the students of the University. The courts will be made ready for use as soon as possible, but they will not be rolled until next year. By the addition of these two courts many will be enabled to enjoy this form of exercise, who would otherwise have been prevented because of lack of room.

In response to requests of Dr. Norris and President Vincent, Northrop Field will be opened to women every morning until one o'clock. They will have the exclusive right to the field and can indulge in any style of recreation they wish. It is predicted that many will take advantage of this opportunity to take a little exercise and forget scholastic troubles and difficulties for a time.

A number of new lockers are to be installed in the Armory for the use of the cross country squad which has so increased in numbers that the old lockers will not accommodate all.

The schedule of prices for the football games has been completed. For those who do not possess students' tickets the charge at the Nebraska game will be a dollar for general admission and a dollar additional for a reserved seat. If a game has been missed and the owner of a season ticket wishes to take advantage of the refund, he must present his ticket to the registrar within three days. Absolutely no refund will be given if the coupons are unattached.

To avoid the unpleasantness which has often occurred in former seasons when spectators endeavor to scale the railings and sit in sections reserved for the students, the board has determined to erect pickets over which no one can ascend. The military organization of the University will be on hand to assist the ushers.

DANCING CLASSES TO BEGIN

Many to Begin Work Under Direction of Dr. Norris and Miss Lyford.

Although no definite time has been decided upon, much interest is being shown among the co-eds in the prospective classes in fancy dancing, to be given this year under the direction of Dr. Anna Norris and Miss Lillian Lyford. Miss Lyford says that no time has been definitely settled upon but it is thought that the class in aesthetic dancing will be given at four o'clock on Thursdays, the same as last year. There will also be a class in folk dancing which will probably be given some time during the morning session.

All girls interested in fancy dancing should see Dr. Norris at once so that a convenient hour may be decided upon. Credit for the work will be given to juniors and seniors and those having had one year of gymnasium.

JUNIOR ELECTION HELD.

Class Lays Plans for All-Junior Spread in Shevlin.

At the junior-class election held yesterday in chapel the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: Pres. Rodney Ainsworth; vice pres. Margaret Heineman; treas. Ralph Johnson; sec. Viola Beebe.

The first official business of the class was to lay plans for an all-junior spread to be held in Shevlin early in November. Dancing and a short program of stunts given by the talented members of the class will follow the spread. Ben Webster was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements.

FOOTBALL MEN PRACTICE AS LONG AS LIGHT LASTS

Harris and McGovern Instruct Against Complex Nebraska Formations.

Second Team With Cornhusker Play Tears Big Holes in Varsity Line.

By "Mac."
After two days of signal practice and technical work, Northrop field was the scene of a real scrimmage yesterday afternoon, the men being held out on the gridiron until darkness had precluded the possibility of further work. Dr. Williams is pushing the team at a harder gait this week than since the beginning of the year, getting ready for Coach "Jumbo" Stiehm's Nebraska eleven.

While Harris and McGovern have been scrimmaging their men nightly, instructing them in the mysteries of Cornhusker formations, as diagramed by McGovern at the Lincoln game last Saturday, the Varsity eleven has done nothing more than formation and signal work.

Practice was not very satisfactory from a Minnesota standpoint, in view of the fact that the second team, under the generalship of "Sig," gained a lot of ground on the Varsity, with the Nebraska plays, tearing through the forwards for one or two long distance runs and in general making themselves very much in evidence.

Raymond was not out in a suit tonight, because of a slight indisposition that the doctor decided to let him cherish. He will be on hand today, however, and probably go back at his end. In his absence, it was reported that Solem had been shifted to end and Ostrem, the new heavyweight, had been given a tackle job to take care of.

Lawler was given another chance on the Varsity last night and from now on will be a dangerous candidate for quarterback honors. His kicking ability will offset his weight in part, and he seems to have genuine football instinct. Hayward and Erdall are fighting for right halfback honors, with the little fellow in the lead because of his showing in the Ames game. Erdall's injury in the South Dakota contest has set him back in his competition, and he will have to work hard to get back as a regular.

Faust Club Elects Officers.

The Faust club has elected the following officers: Pres. Ammy Lunstrom; vice pres., Florence I. Johnson; sec., Clara Brow and treas., Otilea Elertson. This organization, on a scholarship basis, is composed of girls who take or have taken the Faust course. The purpose of the club is to arouse greater interest in the study of Goethe's writings. Prof. Moore is the honorary member.

FOR A GREATER UNITY.
 In a communication to the Daily published in another column today, a member of the community offers a suggestion which we also think would do much to develop a "freshman" class consciousness." Right now, to the new students the word class has little or no meaning, and it is one of our misfortunes that this same ignorance is going to stay with most members of 1916 until they take a degree.
 We have no system here at Minnesota whereby members of one class are thrown together, and as a result hundreds of students go through the four years of college knowing perhaps, if their acquaintanceship is exclusive, one third or a fourth of their own classmates. The natural consequence of such a condition is that there is no class consciousness during the first year, when it should be unusually active; in the sophomore year it is dormant, breaking into life for a few days with the approach of the underclass scrap; in the junior year it is stirred a little by the publication of the class book; and in the senior year, after the class election, it is and has been nil.
 Outsiders wonder that there is so little of that sense of class unity in this university. When one looks to colleges in the East and West where class spirit is second only to loyalty to the institution, the explanation is found. The freshmen there are differentiated from upperclassmen from the first week of the college year. They have many things in common. Certain privileges are denied to them until the sophomore year. Some colleges require freshmen to wear class caps, or other distinguishing insignia. In this way the members of that class become familiar with one another, a closer association is brought about among them, and a consciousness of their class as a definite actuality must come. It would be well for us if this were true of classes at Minnesota.

COMMUNICATIONS
 To the editor of the Daily:
 Assuming that the establishment of certain traditions has a cultural value and is desirable in an educational institution, we venture a suggestion which, if followed, might have two beneficial results.
 The suggestion is this: Allow no freshman to use the west stair case or the west door of Folwell Hall, excepting in case of dire need.
 The results of such a practice might be a clearer development of the "freshman class-consciousness, and secondly a relief of the congestion of staircases, halls, and entries in Folwell between classes.

 Yours in the Fellowship,
 "Simon Simpleton."

MINNEHAHA TO TRY NEW PLAN
 Will Adopt Honor System In Distributing Next Month's Issue On Campus.

The Minnehaha Magazine is to adopt the honor system in the distribution of its next number. This plan calls for the placing of a stated number of copies in different buildings on the campus and students wishing to purchase a copy of the Funny Mag. merely drop a dime in the coin box and take their magazine. This plan has been tried out in several colleges throughout the country and been very successful.

The Minnehaha board also promise some thrilling literature in the number which is nearly due. More prize contests will be given and the winner will be elected to the board.

GLASS SCRAP NEXT SATURDAY

Tug of War on Campus Will Be Biggest Feature of Annual Clash.

Owing to an unfortunate accident which occurred last year, the annual Freshman-Sophomore cane rush will be supplanted by a milder, but it is hoped, as interesting form of contest. On Saturday afternoon the two classes will meet and struggle for the position of supremacy from which the victorious can look with haughty condescension upon the stricken fallen.
 The first blood will be shed when the wordy orators clash. Each speaker will be given five minutes, and he may use for his subject anything he wishes. The volume of words and the wit of the "speelers" will be the large factors in determining the winner.

After the battle of adjectives the tug of war will be held on the campus, in which the brawn of both classes will meet. Wrestling matches will then follow and the decision of the judges will be announced.

Learning that they can depend on Oak Tree sweets being absolutely fresh and reliable, students recommend our candy to each other. This is a sort of advertising greatly to be prized and could be enjoyed only by candy of distinctive superiority. We make a great many different varieties and feel sure that among them you will be able to find something that you will like.

Agricultural Club Initiates Freshmen.

The agricultural club of the agricultural college held its annual initiation yesterday at the drill hall of the college. All freshmen in the college were initiated as members of the club, paddles and other instruments of punishment being freely used. A fair percentage of windows in St. Anthony Park were washed by obliging first-year men, and several co-eds were sent into hysterics by sudden and inopportune offers of marriage. A banquet was given at the Radisson hotel in the evening, at which 150 students and faculty members were present. Dan Dvorček, president of the club, presided as toast-master. President Vincent, President Emeritus Folwell, and Dean Woods responded to toasts.

Woman's Council Fills Vacancies.

The Woman's Council, at its first meeting on Tuesday, elected Mary Kolars to fill the vacancy caused by Wilma Reed's leaving college. The present members of the council are: Senior rep. Luella Bussey, Mary Kolars; junior rep. Elizabeth Aiton and Ruth Tripper; soph. rep. Althea Heit-smith. The entire student council will meet next week Wednesday.

Suffrage Begins Membership Campaign.

The Equal Suffrage Club begins its membership campaign Thursday. Every girl interested in equal suffrage is urged to sign up at the tables in Folwell, Shevlin, and the P. O. Literature will be on the tables for those who wish to read up on the subject. It is hoped that this will arouse much enthusiasm. Dues are 25c. Martica Byrnes, Lillian Byrnes, Charlotte Stockwell and Josephine Schaller are in charge of the campaign. Corinne Bliss and Alice Washburn will have charge of the tables.

Indiana—"Although the time, the place and the boy and girl have a great deal to do with it, nevertheless flirting is the surest road toward the proper knowledge of social life" says Harvard's oldest professor. He tells the students at Radcliffe and Harvard that they devote too much time to their studies. Flirting is a good vacation from work.

Harvard: Before a Harvard student can be promoted to the junior class he must pass an oral examination in French or German. Many men who write excellent examinations are unable to pass these oral ones. Many of the cases of probation by which the athletic teams are at present embarrassed are caused by this new rule.

Advocates Medical Inspection of All Schools in County—Charges Neglect.

Dr. E. B. Hoag of Leland Stanford University, and special director of School Hygiene, Minnesota State Board of Health, has been addressing the medical classes and educational classes of the University this week.

Dr. Hoag says the medical inspection of schools should be the duty of the Board of Education and of the Universities. All over the country, however, this duty has been neglected by these bodies, with the result that the State Board of Health has had to undertake it.

Dr. Hoag has spoken among other topics, on the subject of "What a School Principle ought to know about Medical Inspection of Schools" and on the Sanitation of Schools. He has also published a pamphlet entitled "An Outline for the Health Grading of the School Child." This includes questions to be answered by pupil or parent and questions to be answered by the teacher on the general appearance, the mental and nervous conditions, the teeth, the eyes, etc., of the child.

DRUG GARDENS SUCCESSFUL

Annual Crop of Medicinal Roots and Leaves Harvested in Large Quantities.

The harvest season of the Pharmaceutical Gardens is about completed. During the last few weeks the plants have been stripped of their leaves, roots, and other parts valuable in the preparation of drugs. Dr. Newcomb in speaking of the gardens said that he was pleased with the success and extent of plant life that the gardens have covered in the two years in which they have been in operation. Few schools have as well equipped gardens to further study in pharmaceutical botany and other studies in the same branches.

The garden is located southeast of the dental building. The plants of the same families are kept as near as possible and plants of a poisonous nature are kept in a slatted house. In the winter, enough of the plants are kept potted to supply the classes with material for study.

The drying ovens have been kept going for the past three weeks. The work of preparing the products for commercial use will extend into November.

Dr. Newcomb said that the drug gardens were particularly successful because the student becomes interested in plants of drug value rather than in geraniums and other house plants which are of no value from the pharmacists point of view. Few schools have adopted the drug gardens because of the care required. Natural conditions must be supplied so far as possible. Many of the pharmacy students aid in the keeping up of the plants.

ROSE TO REVIVE ORCHESTRA

After Two Years of Inactivity Musical Organization Will Begin Again.

The University Orchestra which has been allowed to lapse for two years will again play a prominent part among the University organizations. Many of the old members will be back, and in an institution of this size enough material is available to make a strong musical organization.

The orchestra which will again be under the direction of Mr. B. A. Rose, instructor of the University Band, will have its first meeting next Friday afternoon in the chapel at 4:30 at which time the general plan for the year will be discussed. In speaking of the organization Mr. Rose said, "We want all those with orchestra instruments to turn out and thus help to make the orchestra a big and strong one."

The showing made by the former orchestra speaks strongly for the organization. Besides taking the instrumental parts in many of the University dramatic productions many concerts were given throughout Minneapolis as well as in some of the nearby towns.

LIBRARIES BEING ALTERED

Many Changes Being Made Which Will Increase Facilities For Study.

The stock and reading room facilities of the University Library are being doubled, according to a statement made yesterday by Dr. Gerould, University librarian.

With the completion of the added quarters the library will, with the exception of one history recitation room, occupy all of the second floor of the Library building. Part of the large Economics lecture room at the head of the stairs has been partitioned off for a stock room for municipal and government documents, the other part will be furnished with magazine racks and tables and used as current literature reading room. On the opposite side of the hall, a Sociology seminar and adjoining stock rooms will be divided off. A large addition will also be made to the main stock room of the library. Complete card catalogues of the Library of Congress will be placed in the former Economics recitation room in the back, and adjoining seminar rooms. Many new card cases, tables, and indexing devices will be placed in the different rooms, and will add greatly to the convenience and serviceability of the library.

Illinois—Dahringer, a promising candidate for quarterback on the Illinois team, was recently severely injured in a scrimmage with the freshman eleven.

Wisconsin — Physical examinations show that almost fifty per cent of the new students at Wisconsin have defective eye sight.
