

O. M. Wilson Named As New U. of M. President

Dr. Owen Meredith Wilson, former president of the University of Oregon, was named president of the University of Minnesota January 15.

Announcement of Wilson's appointment was made at a news conference following the Oregon educator's appearance before the University board of regents. Wilson will replace Dr. J. L. Morrill, who retires June 1 after 15 years as Minnesota's president.

Wilson, 50, is a graduate of Brigham Young university in Provo, Utah, and has done advanced study at the University of Heidelberg, Germany, and at the University of London, where he acquired background for his major field—American colonial history. Before going to the University of Oregon, where he was president for four years, Wilson taught at the University of Chicago.

Married, with six children, Wilson is a Marmon, and neither drinks nor smokes.

Wilson will be the first president to occupy Eastcliff, a white Georgian mansion that was donated by a university benefactor.

Wilson will receive a salary of $27,500 yearly. He received $20,000 at the University of Oregon.

With respect to whether or not the university president should be a scholar or administrator, Wilson answered that although there is no way to avoid the president's administrative function, "education is scholarship. Without respect for and concern for scholarship, a president can't have any effective influence at all."

According to Wilson, "The student is the most important factor in the question of whether or not the University will reach its possible educational peak. It is important for the students to realize the University is "for studying, not teaching."

When questioned about the possibility of toughening admission requirements to deal with the influx of students to state universities, Wilson answered in terms of two principles involved in the question.

The first of these is that any declaration which would permanently close college entrance to people who are "late bloom-possible with the best minds" available . . .

"These principles are at war with each other," he said. The problem still adds up to the "most important problem in American education today," said Wilson.

Speaking on the disclaimer affidavit of the National Defense Education Act (NDEA), Wilson called it a "foolish inclusion which can do nothing and make the legislature look less wise than it is." He advised cooperation with the NDEA because of its importance and continued efforts to have the affidavit repealed.

Dr. Darland, in an interview with the Statesman said, "In my estimation Dr. Wilson is an excellent selection for the presidency of the University of Minnesota. His broad understanding of the role of a state University will be invaluable to Minnesota in the years to come."

Richard L. Griggs, University of Minnesota regent, made this statement of Dr. Wilson's appointment:

"We are very delighted Dr. Wilson accepted the position as president. We consider him one of the great leaders in America in administration and education. I think he will please the people of Minnesota very much."

ers" scholastically is against American education traditions.

The second principle deals with the necessity of the United States' moving "as rapidly as

Kirby Lounge Faces Destruction

By FRANK BURELLI

Whoever coined the expression that man is a gregarious animal must have gotten his inspiration from the situation in the Kirby lounge. Granted the lounge is meant to be used as a place to congregate, but when a herd of six or seven converge on a $112 chair designed for one person, then the situation has gone too far. It's true that in a co-educational institution like ours, this togetherness has many benefits, but none to the advantage of the furniture.

The lounge was intended to be used as a place where the students could come in their free hours to relax and enjoy themselves, similar to the living room of their homes. Instead it is being treated like a neighborhood club house or garage.

On a typical day one can observe Clarence Clod, a lounge major with a B. S. minor, walking into the lounge and dropping his frame on a davenport. With a sigh he gently plants his size 13 skis on a $122 formica table top. He is joined by Nervous Nellie, a Mrs. major who usually starts smoking and casually distributes the ashes over the $200 davenport. Following this, she takes her pencil and proceeds to pick apart the material of the couch and tries to poke holes through it.

These examples illustrate a few of the ways the students abuse the furniture. This lounge situation is nothing new; it is almost as old as the student center itself, and it will continue to be a problem as long as the present attitude prevails. The majority of the students who use the lounge don't really care how the furniture is treated, even though they are indirectly paying for it. If these individuals don't show some concern soon, there will come a day when the furniture they abuse will not be replaced and they will find themselves lounging on the floor.

EDITORIAL

Intelligent Cooperation

There exists in the minds of many students the idea that the administration and faculty of this or any school has one responsibility, that being the providing of an academic education. The job of the administration goes much further than this however, for the administration is also responsible for the conduct of the organizations and students existing on the campus.

There is more to an education than what is received in the classroom through books and lectures. The classroom material provides food for thought. Campus organizations such as student government, newspapers, fraternities and other extracurricular activities give students an opportunity to test the ideas which have resulted from this "food for thought" which they have been served.

There is a saying that reads "give him an inch and he'll take a foot." The time has come on this campus for each organization to analyze itself and its activities in the light of this saying. Have the organizations on this campus gone off the deep end? Why is it that agreement with the administration or even a consideration of their point of view is considered to be traitorous to "the cause." On the other hand there are those students who wouldn't think of actively objecting to anything proposed by a member of the administration or faculty. Neither of these approaches to life on the campus is satisfactory. The only answer seems to be a position which most seem to dread, the middle of the road or what might be better termed as intelligent cooperation.

Intelligent cooperation is not obstinance, submissiveness, or a combination of both. Rather it implies a close working relationship between organizations and the administration and faculty.

However, this state of intelligent cooperation will not simply come to exist. It will take effort on the part of both groups involved.

Students and organizations must:

1. Make themselves aware of the various regulations which govern student activities.
2. Cease looking upon organizational advisers as persons who should be kept in the dark, and whose ideas have no value.

On the other hand the administration and faculty advisers should:

1. Attempt to plant the seeds of ideas in students rather than presenting them with ideas and completely formulated plans for carrying out the ideas.
2. Accept the fact that a mistake and an understanding of the mistake can be a valuable learning experience.

Through intelligent cooperation UMD's organizations will grow, aiding individual members and the University as a whole.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Here's something that seems appropriate to the UMD situation: (Marshalltown, Iowa, Shaft).

ISN'T IT FUNNY

When the other fellow takes a long time to do something, he's slow. But when I take a long time to do something, I'm thorough.

When the other fellow doesn't, he's too lazy.

But when I don't do it, I'm too busy.

When the other fellow goes ahead and does something without being told, he's overstepping his bounds.

But when I go ahead and do something without being told, that's initiative!

When the other fellow states his side of a question strongly, he's bullheaded.

But when I state my side of the question strongly, I'm being firm.

When the other fellow overlooks a few of the rules of etiquette, he's rude.

But when I skip a few rules, I'm original.

When the other fellow does something that pleases the boss, he's polishing the brass.

But when I do something that pleases the boss, that's cooperation.

When the other fellow gets ahead, he sure had lucky breaks.

But when I manage to get ahead, man! hard work did that.

Funny isn't it . . . or is it?

Periodicals

Dear Lemme:

I like to read current magazines in the library. Trouble is that many of the current issues aren't available, they have been checked out either by students for a few hours or by the faculty (checked out for an indefinite period). Can something be done about this? Could the library restrict circulation of the current issues of periodicals so these issues would be available for everyone?

Readers Digest Reader

Lemme contacted Mr. Rudolph Johnson head librarian concerning this request. Mr. Johnson pointed out that periodicals may only be taken out over night by students and he felt that this system worked pretty well. According to Johnson if a particular issue of a magazine includes discussion of a "hot" issue the length of time for which a periodical may be removed from the library is shortened. However, he pointed out that this does not happen very often. Members of the faculty are allowed to take periodicals out for longer periods than students only needing to renew their request once per quarter and they may then keep periodicals out for an indefinite period. He does not feel that this works any particular hardship. Johnson is not in a position to change this situation since the Library committee sets all rules for circulation of materials. He further stated that anyone interested in having check out privileges on periodicals changed could send a formal letter to the library committee. (Lemme will contact the chairman of the library committee before next week.)

ONE MAN'S SENTIMENTS

America

Jeff Brodtkin

True democracy before 1776 was the hope of every man; but hopes are not built into reality without action. One hundred and eighty years ago, the hopes, the dreams, the prayers of all men were answered by a handful of people in America, Americans. Of course, out of this handful there was a group that griped, they wondered why America must lead the way. While the minority grumbled the majority rolled up their sleeves and made void plains, fertile farms and tree laden forests, majestic cities. They made America the birthplace of freedom.

Bear in mind that America goes deeper than fruitful farmlands and glorious cities. This country has that intangible something that sets aside the great from the common, the imperishable from the tottering, that something that men have tried to define since America's inception as a nation of the world.

So, what is America? America is Henry Clay who said, "I would rather be right than be President." America is F.D.R. who uttered the immortal "the only thing we have to fear is fear itself." America is a railsplitter who became president. America is the story of a father and his two daughters who were on a sight-seeing trip in Washington. The father let them out of the car in front of the Lincoln Memorial. Before parking he watched them climb the steps. He saw them go up to the soldier on guard. The guard shook his head to the negative. There was a pause and then the girls went into the Memorial. Later the father asked them what had happened. "The soldier said the memorial didn't open for another hour and it was againt regulations to let us in," one of the daughters said. "And what did you say?" asked the father. "Why I just told the trluth," she replied. "I said Mr. Lincoln wouldn't like that." This story is an example of the get up and go and the ingenuity of a typical American.

America is the scores of lives lost for freedom during the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, and the War Against the Kaiser.

America is the fury with which we fought Japan after the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. And later our retaliation against the world cruelties of Hitlerite Germany.

America is a country where the responsibilities of free thought lie with the individual.

America is G. I. Joe. Yes G. I. Joe, an individual who can think for himself. This is in direct contrast to the fascist or communist soldier who is a machine, and machines do not think for themselves.

America is you! Without you America is just another country. With you America is the answer to the hopes, the dreams, the prayers of all men, the obstacle dictators can not hurdle. With you America is magnificent, the land of the free and the home of the brave.

To the Editor

Dear Editor:

Why is it that in this day of ever expanding enrollments in American colleges, the schools that are being built are designed so they are too small before the doors are even opened.

It is my belief that college should do more than merely educate its students. It is the duty of the college to help the student adjust to his social environment. Why is it that this school seems unable to accomplish this? Why is it that attempts to strenghten the social calendar of this institution usually meet with failure? Is it the fault of the school administration? I think not. I believe it is the fault of the nature of our particular school. There is no feeling of closiness on this campus. No cooperative effort. This is due, at least in part to the fact that such a large percentage of the student body is comprised of Duluth residents. The people are not thrown together in a group. The student body is made up of individuals, a few of whom attempt to organize and lead a group for some social purpose, but usually fail because of this lack of cohesion or homogeneity of student interests. There is probably no solution to this problem, but I think it is at least worthy of recognition. Maybe all the students who are complaining that there is nothing to do on this campus will realize that is not any one person's fault but the fault of the student body collectively.

A socially maladjusted student

SA Meets Jan. 26 Speech Club Film Epic to Show

Tuesday, January 26, at 5:30 p.m., marks the first winter quarter meeting of the UMD - SA Assembly; please note that the meeting time is 5:30. This will be a supper meeting in Room 252 in Kirby.

All members of the assembly are urged to attend this meeting. At this time, pictures for the Chronicle will be taken. The principle items on the agenda include approval of the new Commissioner of Student Activities, Sue Hall.

Also on the agenda will be the final report of the Parking committee. Those present at the assembly meeting will help formulate a policy regarding the parking problem on campus. This policy will affect many students in years to come. All representatives are urged to poll the student body and record their attitudes towards a parking problem solution.

The commissioners extend a hearty congratulation to Gary Holzer, commissioner of National and International Affairs, for the political debate between the Democratic and Republican state party chairmen. This debate, has brought forth a revived interest in political club activity. Again, congratulations for a fine job.

On the past Wednesday, Jan. 20, Dale Huhtala, Commissioner of Leadership Development, staged a one-day leadership seminar. Dale spent a great deal of time on the project which can surely be labeled a success. A report on this seminar will be given at the assembly meeting. Tom Kraus, UMD - SA president, urges 100% attendance at the meeting.

The Duluth Stutter's Club held its first clinic of the year in room 130 Humanities on the UMD campus last Tuesday evening.

Pacy Friedman, instructor in speech, is directing the clinic which begins its fifth year of operation. Student clinicians are taking part in the program.

Instruction is free of charge and everyone is eligible except Duluth public school students. The public schools have their own speech correction program.

Sessions will be held the first and third Tuesday of each month. Further information can be had by calling UMD Randolph 4-8801 and by asking for extension 369 or 374.

"The Hunters" a film-epic about primitive people will be shown at 8 p.m. Wednesday, January 27 in the UMD science auditorium.

The film, released by Contemporary Films, involves four African Bushmen and the object of their hunt, a giraffe.

Voted one of the 10 best non-theatrical films of 1958, "The Hunters" was lauded for its "humanity and artistry"; acclaimed "Unforgettable near-poetry,"... "a blend of science, history and art."

The 73-minute color movie was produced at the Film Study Center of Harvard University. It is being sponsored by the UMD Geology club.

Admission is 50 cents.

Time Change

Bridge lessons, conducted by Dr. Lewis Rickert, will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesdays instead of 7:30 p.m., so as not to conflict with the UMD basketball and hockey games.

There still is time to sign up at the Kirby desk or at next Tuesday's meeting in the cafeteria of Kirby. Only $1.00 for the entire series of lessons.

Study In Russia As Exchange Student

Recently, representatives of the United States National Student Association and representatives of the Committee of Youth Organizations of the U.S.S.R. met in order to discuss an academic exchange between students of both countries. USNSA is now pleased to announce the results of these discussions.

An agreement has been reached between the respective student organizations of both countries which allows for a one-year academic exchange to commence in the Fall of 1960 and to be preceded by a one-semester academic exchange in the Spring semester of 1960. Both the Spring and Fall exchange programs call for the exchange of two students meeting minimal linguistic and academic standards outlined by the host organization.

According to the agreement that was reached by representatives of both organizations, neither organization was able to make an announcement of the program until all administrative details inherent in the program were solved. It is for this reason that the International Commission is now announcing the program and accepting applications for that part of the exchange agreement to commence in the Spring semester of 1960, lasting from February 7, 1960, through approximately the middle of June.

Students selected to participate in the exchange must:

1. Demonstrate an ability in the Russian language adequate for academic work.
2. Be presently registered and be in good standing at an American college or university.

3. Be familiar with contemporary social, economic and political problems facing our society and be able to discuss these with ability.
4. Be of sound health.

Final selection of participants for this project will be made by a special selection board. Participants in this exchange will receive free transportation to and from the U.S.S.R. in addition to a full scholarship providing for all tuition, books, room and board plus a modest living allowance.

More information and application forms may be obtained from Russ Schoumaker, USNSA coordinator.

Sno-Varieties 1960 the title of this year's Sno-week show will be one of the best that has ever been presented. The foremost directing and acting talent at UMD has come together to forge an hour of good entertainment. Following the show the 1960 Sno-week queen will be crowned in the midst of her royal court Admission to the event which will be held in Kirby Ballroom Monday at 8 is by Sno-week button.

Sports Day

Skating races, broomball and tug-o-war for men and broomball and hockey for women are among the events planned for Winter Sports Day, January 30. Organizational teams will compete for numerous trophies and participation points. All events will take place at Central Rink.

Sno-Sculpture

Sno-sculpture may be built between January 25 and January 27. Judging will be on Thursday.

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

Trophies

The $170 worth of trophies all of which become the permanent possessions of the winning organizations, include trophies for Men's Athletics, Women's Athletics, Sno-sculpture, Button sales, Ticket sales, and the all participation trophies.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

Sno-Jam

Thursday evening the Rangers club will sponsor the "Sno-jam" a casual dance from 8-12 in Kirby Ballroom. Refreshments will be served free.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

The DARTMOUTH

The roof fell in because "The New Hampshire" printed a letter insulting the attorney general of New Hampshire. The governor called for an investigation into the supervision of the newspaper; the "Manchester Union-Leader" advocated a further inquiry into the University of New Hampshire; the president of U.N.H. apologized, as did the editor of the student newspaper and the author of the letter.

What is the meaning of the letter, its publication, and the ensuing apologies and proposed investigations?

The letter is doubtless unfortunate. As a literary piece it is filled with character defamation and vicious metaphor. Moreover, its damaging maliciousness condemns it as libelous, according to the very strict libel laws of New Hampshire.

We have printed the letter to demonstrate that wisely grants such autonomy to THE DARTMOUTH. It is common knowledge that the administration here has "a long tradition of according to undergraduate journalism a freedom which is roughly comparable to the freedom accorded the press in American life generally."

Indeed, for this freedom we are grateful and usually mature. And when we are not mature, we have the privilege of developing maturity through having been given the opportunity to act immaturity.

Because we are genuinely grateful for our autonomy and because we regard with seriousness or responsibility to act maturely, we deplore printing libelous material. But we favor, and favor only, internal supervision of the manner in which we determine the content of this newspaper. In opposition to the rumblings in Concord and Manchester, we will fight to the end any administration or faculty supervision or formal guidance, direct or indirect, of college journalism.

Since we accept only internal supervision of the college newspaper, we reject violently the proposed investigation of "The New Hampshire" by the governor's executive council. Furthermore, we oppose any investigation by any other organization which is not invited or approved by the editors of The Hampshire. We stand firmly with "The New Hampshire" in their present plan of having prominent state newspapermen offer advice on policy formation to the student newspaper directly.

We think that the Powell investigation suggests a good deal more than the governor's sincere concern with removing libel from New Hampshire journalism. If Governor Powell is interested in true freedom of expression without libel, as he professes, then why does he tolerate the consistent libels brazenly printed in the editorials and news columns of the "Manchester Union-Leader"? (Witness our editorials from Tuesday and Wednesday.) Why does the governor pick on a rare libel from Durham while he has continuously ignores defamation from Manchester? And if it is truly libel that disturbs the governor, rather than party politics or personal rivalries, why has he remained silent about the tactics of the attorney general, tactics that are at best rude and at worst slanderous? If the governor is sincere in his distaste for libel, let him reply to our questions.

As we see it, the press has a sacred obligation in democracy: to provide the public with views from all ends of the opinion spectrum, views rationally and fairly expressed. Like all good Americans, we honor the law, which is always the foundation of freedom; however, we would not like to see journalists, in their cautiousness over committing libel, forget about their crucial function: printing controversial material relevant to issues of public concern.

In review, we abhor rhetorical and factual distortion, as exemplified by the "Manchester Union-Leader," to support vested interests. We agree with the governor and the law in asserting that truth is no defense if a statement is made with malice.

With "The New Hampshire," we jealously guard autonomy as a necessary condition of free college journalism. But most of all, we favor the open, bold, often embarrassingly truthful discussion of public affairs.

'60 CHEVY! ONLY WAY YOU CAN BUY A CAR FOR LESS IS TO BUY A LOT LESS CAR!

THRIFTIEST 6 IN ANY FULL-SIZE CAR—Chevy's Hi-Thrift 6 is the '60 version of the engine that got 22.38 miles per gallon in the latest Mobilgas Economy Run—more than any other full-size car.

NEW ECONOMY TURBO-FIRE V8—Here's a V8 with the "git" Chevy's famous for—plus a new economy-contoured camshaft and other refinements that get up to 10% more miles on a gallon of regular.

EASIER-TO-LOAD LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT—The trunk sill is lower and the lid opening is more than a foot and a half wider than Chevy's nearest competitor's. There's over 20% more usable space!
*Based on official data reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

MORE ROOM WHERE YOU WANT MORE ROOM—Chevy's trimmed down transmission tunnel (25% smaller) gives you more foot room. You also get more head and hip room than in any other 2- or 4-door sedans in the field.

WIDEST CHOICE OF POWER TEAMS—A choice of 24 engine-transmission teams in all—to satisfy the most finicky driving foot. There are seven engines with output all the way up to 335 h.p. and five silk-smooth transmissions.

EXTRA CONVENIENCES OF BODY BY FISHER—No other car in Chevy's field gives you crank-operated ventpanes, Safety Plate Glass all around and dozens of other Fisher Body refinements.

CHEVY SETS THE PACE WITH LOWER PRICES—All Bel Air and Impala V8's are lower priced, as are many options. Example: a Bel Air V8 sedan with Turboglide, de luxe heater and push-button radio lists at $65.30 less for '60.

QUICKER STOPPING BRAKES—Long-lived bonded-lining brakes with larger front-wheel cylinders for '60 give you quicker, surer stops with less pedal pressure.

SOFTER, MORE SILENT RIDE—Chevy's the only leading low-priced car that gentles the bumps with coil springs at all four wheels. Noise and vibration are filtered to the vanishing point by new body mounts.

NOT CHANGE FOR CHANGE'S SAKE, BUT FOR YOURS—There's only one person we consider when we make a change—and that's you. That's why we don't think you'll find anything more to your liking at anything like the price.

CHEVROLET

The more you look around the more you'll find to convince you that no other low-priced car has so much to show for your money as this new Chevrolet. Here's the kind of styling sophistication and subtle detail that only Fisher Body craftsmanship can create. Here's the kind of Full Coil comfort that neither of the other two leading low-priced cars—and only some of the smoothest riding higher priced ones—build into their suspension systems. Here's more room inside (where you want it) without an inch more outside (where you don't want it). And with all these advances Chevy has managed to hold the price line! Your dealer will be delighted to fill you in on all the facts.

Enrollment Tops Last Winter

UMD registration for winter quarter is almost three per cent higher than a year ago and graduate student enrollment is up 150 per cent.

In making the announcement, Provost Raymond W. Darland said, "We are pleased that an increasing number of students are taking advantage of the educational opportunities afforded them on the Duluth campus."

The total number of UMD undergraduates registered for winter quarter is 2,211 as compared with 2,148 last year. There are 40 graduate students registered at UMD, compared to only 16 at the beginning of winter quarter in 1959.

Noting the higher figure, UMD

Kirby Student Center. This should be done as soon as possible for both winter and spring quarter graduates.

No application for degree for winter quarter graduates will be accepted after Friday, February 8, 1960.

Students who have completed 84 credits of collegiate level work or who will do so during Winter Quarter 1960 must apply for admission to the Upper Division during the first four weeks of the quarter. Failure to do so will result in a denial of permission to register for Spring Quarter 1960. Register for an Upper Division orientation meeting in Room 130 Kirby Student Center. Students planning to leave UMD before completing a BA or BS degree should inform Miss Jacobs, Mrs. Beck or Mr. Falk concerning their plans so that they will be permitted to continue in attendance.

Academic Dean Thomas W. Chamberlin said, "Increased graduate enrollment at Duluth results from a greater awareness of the expanded graduate offerings on this campus combined with improved public school salary schedules which provide substantial pay increases to teachers having a master's degree."

Total University of Minnesota winter quarter enrollment is 24,- 585 which is 354 less than last year, according to Recorder True E. Pettengill at the Minneapolis campus.

He noted that graduate school attendance is up to 4,024 as compared to 3,904 in winter quarter, 1959.

At UMD, 60 new students registered for winter quarter, 57 of them new high school graduates. Of the new freshmen, 45 are men and 12 are women.

New cigarette paper "air-softens" every puff!

Now even the paper adds to Salem's springtime freshness!

Salem's amazing new HIGH POROSITY paper "air-softens" every puff.

Invisible porous openings blend just the right amount of air with each puff to give you a softer, fresher, even more flavorful smoke.

An important break-through in Salem's research laboratories brings you this special new HIGH POROSITY paper which breathes new freshness into the flavor.

Each puff on a Salem draws just enough fresh air in through the paper to make the smoke taste even softer, fresher, more flavorful. If you've enjoyed Salem's springtime freshness before, you'll be even more pleased now. Smoke refreshed, smoke Salem!

• menthol fresh • rich tobacco taste • modern filter, too

Michigan Tech, Olympics To Clash Here With UMD

By CHARLES HOFFMAN
The Canadian-dominated Michigan Tech Junior Varsity and the United States Olympic team will be featured attractions in hockey this coming week. On Friday and Saturday, January 22 and 23, Michigan Tech's freshman hockey squad will test UMD's strength and next Tuesday, January 26, the U. S. Olympic team will be in Duluth.

Bill Lucier's Michigan Tech freshman squad is composed of one American and 16 Canadians. In their last encounter with the Bulldogs in 1957, each school won one of the two games. In over-all play with the Junior Varsity, UMD has won three, lost one, and tied one. (Last season UMD played the Michigan Tech Varsity, but because of scheduling difficulties the Junior Varsity team will play the Bulldogs this season.) Although only freshmen, the Junior Varsity is usually as good, if not better, than the varsity squad. This is due mainly to the fact that most of the freshmen have played in Canadian hockey leagues.

In one encounter this season, the Tech squad downed a strong Marquette Sentinel team. The Sentinels were the leaders in the Central U. S. League last season and are noted for their strong offense and defense. This game is some indication of the strength of the Michigan team.

Coached by Jack Riley of West Point, the United States Olympic team is rated the best in years. With three scoring lines and a strong defense, the team is much stronger than in 1956 when they beat UMD 11 to 0. Last year when the U. S. Nationals played the Bulldogs, the Nationals won 6 to 2. Some of the members of the Nationals squad are now with the Olympics, strengthening that team's potential.

One of the featured attractions of the Olympic team will be center Tom Williams of Duluth. Tom is a brother of Jack Williams, a UMD sophomore forward. The contract and playing of both will be interesting to watch. Also, another Minnesota player is goalie Jack McCarten, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

In two previous games this year, the Olympic team defeated West Point 9 to 0, and also defeated a Connecticut amateur team 9 to 3. Before coming to UMD, the Olympic squad plays the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis and leaves for North Dakota after playing in Duluth.

According to information obtained from UMD hockey coach Ralph Romano, the United States Olympic and the Japanese Olympic (Jan. 30) games will be treated as a two game series. In other words, on the exchange date of January 25, students will have the opportunity of obtaining tickets for either game, but not both. After all students have had the opportunity of obtaining tickets, if wanted, the ticket exchange is again open for the other game.

Coming Next Week

Upper Minnesota stars Tom Williams of Duluth, left, and John Mayasich of Eveleth will face UMD as members of the U. S. Olympic team on Tuesday, January 26 at the Curling Club. Game time will be 8 p.m.

Cagers Win; Invade Redmen

By MIKE FEDO
Inexperience and a lack of height is the plight in which St. Mary's basketball coach Ken Wiltgren finds himself as he prepares to send his youthful Redmen against a rising UMD aggregation in Winona, next Tuesday evening Wiltgren has felt the loss of one of the all-time MIAC scoring greats, Dave Theis. Theis, now graduated, guided a mediocre St. Mary's quint to a creditable fifth place in conference standings last year.

Without Theis, the Redmen should be able to offer only token resistance against UMD if the Bulldogs play to their full potential. UMD has shown definite signs of development recently. Even without scoring ace Bill Mattson, they swamped a hapless St. John's last Tuesday, 89-68.

Mattson, waging a lingering bout with the flu, is expected to be at full strength for the invasion. With Big Bill at the pivot, and co-captain Dave Baker at forward, the Bulldogs brandish one of the most potent 1-2 scoring punches in the MIAC. Mattson has garnered 102 points in five conference frays, while Baker has meshed 114 points in six games. The latter raised his average almost two point by virtue of his 28 point blast against St. John's. Baker currently sports a 19 point average, as compared with Mattson's 20.4 production.

The Bulldog bench will probably be slated for more extensive duty on Tuesday, as Norm Olson sets his forces for the grueling title race ahead. The reserves showed up well in the St. John's game, and the performance of Gene Hamilton was especially gratifying. UMD will be gunning for its sixth straight league win since dropping their opener to Augsburg.

UMD faces a rest from league play until Feb 2 against Hamline.

Sports in General

By Tony Fiskett

Attention Football Players: According to a recent press release by the United Press International, college football rules-makers agreed "almost unanimously" on a more liberal substitution rule without the time-consuming check-off system which delayed so many games last season, much to the chagrin of the coaches. Final decision however, must be made by the 14-man NCAA Rules Committee.

UMD's Gene Kotlarek came home to display a little of his internationally known ski-jumping form last Sunday afternoon at Fond Du Lac's 55th annual Invitational Ski Jumping Tournament.

Kotlarek tied Joe Nowak's 1954 record jump of 226 feet before 8000 ski enthusiasts. But the big date for Gene will be February 16 when the 1960 Winter Olympics will debut at Squaw Valley, in sunny California.

Loren Myrhe, intramural program co-ordinator, promised me that he will postpone the deadline for team entries for all Winter Quarter intramural sports until Monday, January 25.

Myrhe says that teams are entered in all of the sports listed below, although he said, "We can use more teams to make it a really good program."

Table tennis — singles, doubles, mixed doubles
Handball (for men at the YMCA) — singles and doubles; double elimination

Bowling (downtown lanes)
Archery — individual or two-man teams
Badminton — singles, doubles, and mixed doubles.

An important feature about this year's intramural competition is that the winning team in every sport, save archery, will win a trip, University sponsored, to the Twin Cities for an MIAC Tournament to be held in mid-March at either St. Thomas or Macalester. Archery winners will receive trophies.

Team entries should be made before Monday evening at the Phy-Ed office. Event schedules will be posted on the bulletin board just outside the office.

UMD 89, St. John's 69. Just returned from this ball game which ended in a happy note, as the Bulldogs came up with some top notch shooting, rebounding, passing, and just generally good basketball for most of the evening.

The 20-point win might be even more appreciated when it is noticed that UMD was without the services of Mattson, who is good for 20 points a game or better these days.

Baker had a 'Baker Night', as everything he threw up, dropped in — 28 points. Some notable performances were made by subs, namely Hamilton, Richardson and Lindstrom.

MIAC NEWS

By COHEN & FISCHMAN

BASKETBALL
UMD's Basketball Bulldogs moved into title contention this past week with a pair of victories over Concordia and St. Thomas. These two wins have virtually turned the MIAC into a two team race between the front-running Hamline Pipers with a 7 & 0 record, and UMD, riding on their 4 & 1 mark.

The Bulldogs' 67-60 game with the Cobbers was a cold-shooting affair. Center Bill Mattson topped the Bulldogs scorers with 19 points and Dick Pesonen followed with 16. Concordia's Roger Adair was the only Cobber in double figures with 21 points.

Traveling to St. Paul, the Bulldogs stopped the tough Tommies of St. Thomas, 71-62. Showing good, steady playmaking, UMD was able to crack the St. Thomas zone defense. UMD's scoring duo of Dave Baker and Bill Mattson led the scoring parade with 25 and 20 points, respectively. With a 37-32 halftime advantage, the Bulldogs spurred to a quick 15 point second half margin and held off the Toms the rest of the way.

HOCKEY
UMD's five year unbroken winning streak in the MIAC was given a scare by stubborn opposition from St. John's and St.

Thomas last week. However, the Bulldogs were able to keep their unbeaten string intact.

With Orest Wojcichowski and freshman Ron Johnson each picking up two goals, the UMD sextet took their 46th straight conference triumph with a hard-earned 6-3 victory over St. John's.

The St. Thomas contest was even more-so nip and tuck with UMD emerging on top, 4-3. Carrying a 4-1 lead into the last period, the Bulldogs were hard-pressed to put down the fast skating Tommies. Counting goals for UMD were: Ron Johnson, Jerry Abelson, Jack Williams, and Grant Standbrook.
