TSURUMI SPEAKS HERE TOMORROW ON THE FAR EAST

Native of Japan Will Talk On Diplomatic Relations At Convocation Hour

SEEKS U. S. FRIENDSHIP

Chosen Commissioner to China and Europe; Authority On Immigration

Son-in-law of the "Roosevelt of Japan" and one of the leading literary men of Japan, Yusuke Tsurumi is to be the guest of the University of Minnesota tomorrow. He will deliver an address on the diplomatic and economic relations between the United States and Japan at convocation hour in the Army.

Mr. Tsurumi has come to America to interpret the Japanese nation to Americans and to show the condition of international relations in their true light. He has said that upon his return to Japan it will be his mission to show his people the true spirit of the American people.

Is Seeking Closer Relations As a result of his close contact with influential people in Japan and America, he has gained a most comprehensive view of the relations of the two peoples. He has been chosen by his country to act as special commissioner to China, Europe, and America, and represented Japan at the Institute of Politics at Williams town last summer.

He is a member of the Seiyukai political party. Until last summer Mr. Tsurumi was a high official in the Japanese department of railways. Many universities in various parts of the United States have welcomed him as a speaker, and last summer he was requested to give a series of lectures at Williams college. While there he conducted a lecture course in contemporary politics.

His mastery of the English tongue, and his candid speech, together with his comprehensive knowledge of his subject make him a stimulating speaker, and a power in broadening American thought on the important phase of American-Japanese relations, according to Harold S. Quigley, associate professor of political science here.

Praised by Quigley "I am well acquainted with the career of Mr. Tsurumi," Professor Quigley said yesterday. "He is genial and frank, a man in his early thirties who is still close to the student point of view."

Mr. Tsurumi has written for the Outlook, Foreign Affairs, and the World. At the present time he is preparing an article for the Saturday Evening Post.

Trinity Baptist Church Pastor Talks Today In Shevlin; First Of Series

Dr. Bryn Jones, authority on international relations, will speak under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. at 4:30 this afternoon in the Jean Martin Brown room of Shevlin hall.

The world fellowship committee of the Y. W. C. A., under the chairmanship of Alice Jacobson, is arranging a series of three meetings at which well known men will speak on subjects of interest to the University student. Today's lecture by Dr. Bryn Jones is the first of the series. The others will be announced later.

Dr. Jones is at present pastor of Trinity Baptist church and is one of the prominent speakers of the north-west. He came from Wales to Coleridge college where he was a member of the faculty for several years.

The meeting is open to all University students, particularly those who are interested in political science. A large number signed up at the beginning of the year for world fellowship work. This group of students is especially urged to hear Dr. Jones' talk.

Many Surprises Promised at Ag Dance Saturday

Moonlight dances with hidden lights casting shadows on the dancers, unusual features which the entertainment committee steadfastly refuses to divulge, and refreshments are promised at the Green and Gold dance to be given by the junior and seniors of the ag campus at the Minnesota Union on Saturday night, Jan. 17.

Tickets for the dance went into the hands of two score students yesterday and the advance sale indicates a large attendance. They sell for one dollar, and may be obtained from members of the two classes or at the door on Saturday night.

Arrangements are being made by committees composed of members of the two classes, who plan to make the dance an all-University affair. No pains have been spared in making arrangements and William Olson, junior class president, expects it to be one of the biggest informal events of the quarter.

WOMEN'S CLUB TO HEAR DR. WENDELL

Will Discuss Value Of Esperanto In Peace Promotion At Meeting Today

Dr. Lehman Wendell, assistant professor of prosthetics in the college of dentistry, is to speak today to the College Women's club on "Esperanto—Its Possibilities in the Promotion of World Peace." The international affairs section of the club is to meet at the home of Mrs. Edwin Clarke, 606 Thirteenth avenue southeast, to hear the address of Dr. Wendell, this afternoon.

A short history of the language and explanation of its structure will be given, followed by a discussion of its important in world politics. Esperanto is an invented language based upon the European languages and is not a simplified form of any certain language. The greatest appeal of the language is in the simplicity of the grammar, which can be put into six easy rules. The vocabulary is international, no word, as a rule, being chosen unless its root is found in at least three languages.

Dr. Wendell says, "The value of Esperanto to the world is easily apparent: in the saving of time, money, and exertion; in commerce, in travel, in international communication; in science and education, and in general culture."

Esperanto has a literature of 4,000 volumes, and this is being enriched at the rate of a new book every other day.

Through oversight, it appears, Mr. Stiff failed to receive an invitation to the affair. Hence the following sarcastic outburst which came in the morning mail:

"Dear Sirs and Madames: I read by the paper that today was the last for acceptance of Gridiron banquet invitations. I wish to let you know that I will be very glad to attend although I did not get an invitation. I will be willing to speak on my football career. I am enclosing my picture which you can use in advertising for the affair.

Yours respectfully, Billy Stiff, Esq.

'U' PLANS MUSIC CONTEST IN MAY

Extension Division Sponsors Competition Among High Schools In State

To stimulate interest in music in the high schools throughout the state, and to raise the standard of musical performance, the general extension division of the University of Minnesota will hold a state high school music contest during May.

The exact date will be determined later when the preliminary contests are over. Bulletins announcing the contest were mailed to about 1,000 high school principals and music supervisors Thursday.

Those appointed are J. J. Bohlander, Moorhead, and R. L. Brown, Marshall, superintendents of schools; Mrs. Ann Dixon, Duluth, and Mrs. Adele Lien, Rochester, supervisors of music; Miss Harriet Johnson, Bemidji, and Walter Grimm, Winona State Teachers' college, and Irving W. Jones, University of Minnesota, chairman.

By bringing the schools into competition where comparative accomplishment may be criticized by competent judges, according to the bulletin, schools will be able to judge their work.

Preliminary contests will be held at Bemidji, Duluth, Moorhead, St. Cloud, St. Paul, Marshall, Mankato, and Winona, district centers.

The string instrument musicians had their first practice of the quarter Tuesday evening and last night there was an ensemble practice with the choir. Although the present groups are talented and capable of mastering the desired selections, Mr. Pepinsky would welcome further additions to both groups.

In a French program Cesar Franck's symphony in D minor will be the "piece de resistance" of the first winter quarter concert of the University Symphony orchestra, according to Mr. Pepinsky.

Spade and Compass club, a farm campus society for students interested in landscape architecture, will be re-organized Wednesday, at a meeting to be held at 8 p. m. in room 102 of the Horticulture building.

This year students will not be excluded from the club if they are interested in landscape architecture but are not taking major course in the subject. Officers will be elected and plans made for meetings to be held in the spring. Members of the club also plan to issue a monthly magazine devoted to landscaping.

Either Roscoe POUND, dean of the Harvard law school, or Robert M. Lovett, dean of the University of Chicago, will probably be the future president of the University of Wisconsin.

Standing education and school committees for both branches of the Minnesota legislature were appointed yesterday by Lieut. Governor W. I. Nolan and Speaker J. A. Johnson, and began their duties immediately.

The University and state schools committee named is: Duemke, chairman; Washburn, Adams, A. Anderson, Benson, L. Peterson, Scallon, Strandemo, Spindler.

The House of Representatives committee on education is: Moen, chairman; Kolshorn, Benson, Blum, O. H. Dahl, Herfindahl, Herried, Hitchcock, Jacobson, Johnson, Edward C. A. Johnson, Rollin Johnson, F. D. Long, Lord, Mayman, McKnight, Nellermo, Paige, Spindler.

The Senate committee on education: Jackson, chairman; Thwing, Haegenson, Madigan, Schmechel, Millett, Solberg, Gemmill, Frisch, Wahlund, Ahles, Lee, Larson, Sweet, E. P. Peterson.

In spite of the fact that Buck Cole's right leg was amputated when he was seven years old, he is the star right guard on the Methodist orphanage football team of Raleigh, North Carolina.

A patent for an alkali radio tube recently developed by H. A. Brown and Dr. C. T. Knipp, both of the University of Illinois, will be granted to the University.

PROGRAMS READY FOR CADET BALL

Can Be Had Thursday in Exchange For Tickets In Rotunda Of Old Library

Exchange of tickets for programs for the Military ball can be made Wednesday as previously announced in The Minnesota Daily. Tickets are to be exchanged in the old library rotunda.

The final meeting of the cadet officers club before the Military ball was held last evening when all arrangements for the ball were completed. Pay for the fall quarter was distributed at that time, and many of the cadets bought their tickets at the meeting.

All students planning to attend the Military ball should get their tickets before noon in order to be placed on the guest list and assigned a place in the grand march and should place their order for the tickets soon to avoid disappointment as the number of guests is limited.

As at all Military balls of former years here and following the custom of the annual Army ball, there are to be no flowers worn during the evening.

Y. M. AND Y. W. TO SPONSOR 'U' VISIT OF DR. J. M. MOTT

World Famous Religious Leader Will Be On Campus Feb. 18, 19 and 20

'Y' GENERAL SECRETARY

Works Among College Students; Has Wide Knowledge Of World Religions

Dr. John R. Mott, the world's foremost "lay-religious" leader, will be on the University campus Feb. 18, 19, and 20, to hold a series of meetings open to the public and to speak at the regular convocation Feb. 19. His coming is being arranged by a central committee of University students, members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., and community churches.

As general secretary of the national council of Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States, Dr. Mott is directly connected with that organization, and is in addition chairman of the World's Student Christian Federation, comprising student movements in about 40 countries, and chairman of the International Missionary council.

Lundgren Heads Committee Walter C. Lundgren, Academic junior, is chairman of the joint committee to arrange for Dr. Mott's appearance. The committee is composed of about 32 students, and 11 faculty members.

Mott became a traveling secretary for the Y. M. C. A. on graduation from Cornell university in 1888, working among the students of colleges in the United States and Canada. In 1915 he was made general secretary of the international committee of Y. M. C. A. and in 1924 accepted the general secretaryship of the national council when that body succeeded the committee with which he formerly had been affiliated. William H. Taft has written of him:

"His knowledge of the moral and religious spirit of people of all countries and of the effective method of reaching and stimulating that part of their natures is extraordinary. Leaders in centers of influence the world over have a familiarity with his genius and capacity. This has made him a great agent in the progress of civilization."

David R. Porter head of the Y. M. C. A. student work in the United States and Canada will be on the campus at the same time as Dr. Mott. Mr. Porter became famous as an athlete when, in a Harvard-Bowdoin football game, he picked up a fumble nearly under his own goal post and ran 95 yards for a touchdown.

PURDUE BOTANIST VISITS MINNESOTA

Rust Authority Here During December For Study Of Holway Herbarium

H. S. Jackson, leader in botany at Purdue University, supreme authority on rust in North America, spent ten days in December at the University of Minnesota studying the Holway Herbarium, to facilitate his determination of rusts.

Professor Jackson had been an associate of E. W. D. Holway during his life time, and in 1920 Mr. Holway had given him a part of his first collection of plants to work upon.

After Mr. Holway's death Mr. Jackson asked to the British Museum collection, and a consultation of botanists chose him as the outstanding man to carry on and finish the work, called the greatest collection ever brought out of South America.

Mr. Jackson expects to publish a report on two-thirds of the Holway South American collection in the spring. The remaining third part, most of which are new species, will take more time since they need further comparative study with specimens in the large herbaria in Europe.

Mr. Jackson took his freshman work at Cornell with Dr. E. J. Durand, who at the time of his death was professor in the botany department at Minnesota.

Fair Sex Swim as Frost King Holds Land in Icy Grip

A mass meeting which counts as a practice will be held Thursday, January 15, at 12:30 in the hygiene room of the Women's gymnasium. Although eight practices are required, women entering now are still able to get in the necessary practices before the teams are chosen, according to Miss Belair. Freshmen practice at 4:30 Wednesday, and juniors at 4:30 Friday.

Class managers have been elected. Dorothy Lestina heads the freshmen, Elinor Belair the sophomores, Victoria Krueger the juniors, and Charlotte Curran the seniors.

A BALANCED DIET
An English youth goes to a university to develop himself; an American youth goes to distinguish himself.

Such is the essence of an editorial which recently appeared in The Minneapolis Journal. The editorial goes on to point out that American students are constantly endeavoring to "attain some outward sign of achievement, to make the college paper, to make one of the clubs, fraternities or athletic teams."

Action rather than insight into the ways of thinking and methods of reasoning, as in the English universities, is the center of gravity in American higher education. "Badges, caps, and canes, pins and buttons reflect the tyranny of uniformity and categories. The desire to be different is discounted, and to step out of line is regarded as bad form." This, it is suggested, accounts for the paucity of geniuses in art, science, literature, and philosophy produced by the American universities.

Undoubtedly there is foundation for this indictment of the American educational system; Americans generally are more active, more progressive, more ambitious than their English brothers. An American youth journeys through life with a definite objective in view. He decides to be a doctor, a lawyer, a minister, or a "business man" early in life. He neglects much of the so-called cultural training in favor of a practical education. As he goes through the university he sees about him a miniature world—a world of campus political elections, campaigns, drives, student governing organizations, publications, dramatics, forensics, fraternities, sororities, and other evidences of worldly activity. Whereas the student is apt to shun such extra-curricular activity, the American student comes to regard it as an integral part of his training for a professional career. In his little university "commonwealth" the American student does not permit the flood of literature on philosophy, law, science, and the arts to sever him from contact with his fellow students.

Possibly the ideal university training would be a compromise between the leisurely cultural training of the English, and the practical, matter-of-fact drilling which is so abundantly supplemented by "student activities" in the American universities.

Perhaps the impetuous, ambitious American student has something to learn from his more conservative English brother who believes that it is better to develop himself first and distinguish himself afterwards.

THE COUSIN OF LEPROSY

Cancer isn't caused by the wrath of the gods, who want to burn a person slowly and painfully out of existence; it is not the result of eating too much pepper, or feasting on the pulp of the mustard seed; nor can it be blamed to the rays of a too warm sun.

Oddly enough, it can't be cured by taking daily snow treatments; by drinking a burning tea concocted from the leaves of shrubs; or by whispering mystic words over the body of the afflicted one.

It isn't the uncontrollable fatal disease that it has heretofore been thought. It is no less serious than it was a decade ago, nor has it changed its gruesome way of functioning, but science has found out more about it than was formerly known, and has perfected means to combat it effectively.

Nevertheless, people as a whole know very little about cancer. It is a diabolical something—a torture that puts to shame the methods used by the Spanish Inquisition. It eats little by little into the tissues of the body to cause inevitable death; and as it grows, the person infected feels helplessly a slow, certain end.

If the disease is treated in time, it can be cured, but so few people know anything about its symptoms that a majority of cases are allowed to go until they are incurable. This in spite of the fact that popular lectures are constantly being given to spread information about the sickness.

This evening in the Chemistry auditorium, there will be a lecture on the subject of the dread cancer. Delivered on the campus, presumably in the very center of scientific thinking, it will undoubtedly be well attended by the group which tomorrow will be the thinking portion of an intelligent society.

The Higher Lunacy

The Hired Hand, P. O. 391
"All men are necessarily mad; not to be mad would amount to another form of madness."
—Pascal.

Thoughts while strolling about the yard: Song wakes in the pinnacles of the Music Building. The door of the postoffice gaps and I watch the seething humanity. A primrose car with a menacing shining bonnet. Business students. Greedy for quick returns of profit. A young girl ventures neck and all in crossing the thoroughfare. An unperplexed professor. They are really quite infrequent. Dented groans from an upstairs clinic. An aroma of spinach. Two girls meet and enjoy a coincident curvature of the lips. I stand there quite baffled. Across to Folwell. A debacle of raccoon coats. Two girls holden down the steps. Girls excel in inelegancy. Here comes Olmstead with his everlasting cigar. Most of the boys are again wearing garters. Hundreds to their caverns. Sadly descends the evening.

WHO'S WHO At Minnesota U

JOSEPH M. THOMAS
"Good friend, for Jesus sake forbear:
To digg the dvst enclosed heare:
Blest be ye man yt spares the stones,
And cvrst be he yt moves my bones."
Woe unto the freshman student of rhetoric who fails to "spot" this passage, and likewise woe to the senior college student who knows not the sanctum it guards on this campus.

Freshman students first meet Dean Thomas in the Music Auditorium, where sharply outlined against the dark back drops, he delivers an occasional lecture for the rhetoric sections, searing a path across the dulled mind with an incomparable wit and sarcasm. If these same students are treated kindly by fortune, they will have an opportunity to meet Dean Thomas again in the senior college.

Dean Thomas was born at Sangzuck, Michigan, in 1876. He attended the University of Michigan, graduating in 1898 with a degree of Ph.B., letters in track and football, and a Phi Beta Kappa key. With his education thus begun at the age of 21, he set out in search of knowledge, and his studies carried him to Harvard, London, Grenoble, and Paris, earning in the meantime the degrees of A. M. in 1903, and Ph.D. in 1909. His teaching began at Ironwood, Michigan, where he was teacher and principal of a high school. From 1901 to 1909 he was Instructor and Assistant Professor of rhetoric at the University of Michigan.

He came to Minnesota in 1909 as a Professor of English. At present, he is Assistant Dean for the Senior College, Professor of English, and Chairman of the Department of English. His duties now are largely of an advisory nature. All students who enter the senior college must present credits satisfactory to Dean Thomas, and he supervises the work of all senior college students.

The grim sentiment which hangs on the wall, and the austerity of his presence, are vanished into thin air by the confession—expected and awaited—that he is overwhelmingly fond of fishing and golf.

Romance of Constantinople Latest Book by W. S. Davis

Magnificence and Brilliance, Humor, Excitement and Pathos Characterize Narrative By Minnesotan

By Margaret Limburg
For magnificent settings, emotional appeal, and romantic narration, it is very doubtful if any present novel can exceed "The Beauty of The Purple", the latest book by William Stearns Davis of the history department.

A romance of imperial Constantinople twelve centuries ago, the book "attempts to show forth something of the brilliancy, magnificence and teeming life of Christian Constantinople in an age when London and Paris were little better than squalid villages."

Tells of Peasant Youth
It also tells the tale of Leo the Isaurian, a lovely peasant youth, who came to be the saviour of Constantinople, and later defended the Roman Empire from the Saracens, delaying Moslem supremacy in the Near East for 700 years.

From the very beginning, when the strong minded and courageous Leo has the audacity to voice his desire to begin military life as a Protector, we see the making of a man who is destined to be one of the characters of Roman history.

The thread of romance begins weaving in a fascinating manner in the early part of the story when the humble peasant lad saves the small girl Anthusa, daughter of Kallinikos the scholar, from being trampled upon by a ram.

Siege of City Described
Leo's rapid rise to high command under his emperor, and then his succession to the throne, his great battles fought on land and sea with odds against him; his success in the mighty siege of Constantinople with the newly-discovered "Greek fire," are all unfolded in a powerful manner in this vivid adventure.

Humor and sadness, tragedy and pathos, historical color and romantic love are all high lights of Mr. Davis' splendid novel.

Throughout the entire book Leo plays the part of a man who places his country first in his mind, even before all personal hopes and desires.

Chose Humble Bride
Traces of humor are found occasionally, particularly in the great reception various "people of family" give Leo, who was a target for the wiles of lovely women just as handsome and debonaire bachelors are sought today as the object of feminine attention. Only Leo, even in his moment of greatest power, never forgets that his origin was humble, and so he chose his bride from the lower class, and in so doing made her father and all descendants patricians.

Thrills in the book are furnished by the difficulties which Anthusa and her sister seemed more than susceptible to, and by the retiring, self-effacing, University professor, Kallinikos, who was tried for his life and branded sorcerer time and again for his great discoveries, notably that of "Greek fire" by which Constantinople was saved.

THE JOB AHEAD
Almost every person, young or old, is looking toward the "job ahead," hoping some day, somehow, to achieve it. But the fate of the ordinary person makes it to believe that he can "jump" into the coveted place. Promotion in business comes steadily, not by leaps. ## GYMNASTS PREPARE FOR HAWKEYE MEET

Prospects Bright For Championship Team; First Meet Feb. 6

Gopher gymnasts are steadily snapping into form for the first conference meet of the season, which will take place here on Feb. 6, in competition with Iowa. Coach Foster has all but two of last year's team back, and with the addition of several new stars, prospects for a championship team are very bright.

Captain Skurdalsvold, the "Old Ironsides" of the gym team, will perform on the rings, parallel bars, and the mat this year. Skurdalsvold is conference champ on the parallel bars, and is also a very clever tumbler.

On the rings, Perry, a man from last year's squad, is making rapid progress, and should aid Skurdalsvold in pulling points in this event. Saxe and Whitney are working out on the horse daily in conjunction with Julius Perit, captain of last year's team. Perit is conference champion on the horse, and is also a consistent point-getter on the horizontal bar and parallel bars.

Davidson, a member of last year's team, is doing good work on the horizontal bars and the rings, and should be an important cog on this year's aggregation. Kose, veteran tumbler of last year's squad, has some scholastic difficulties to clear up before he will be eligible for conference competition.

All of the men are in excellent condition except for a few minor bruises, and the dope favors Minnesota to beat Iowa, despite the fact that the Hawkeyes boast the best team in years. Minnesota was second last year in the conference meet, and should make plenty of trouble for all competitors this year.

A course of lectures on "The United States and Canada; their Position in World Economy and World Politics," is now offered at the University of Berlin.

University Publishes Pathology Work

"The Outlines of Pathology," is the title of the new book which has just been published by the graduate school. Dr. E. T. Bell, professor of pathology, is its editor.

This book represents the lectures given in the courses of pathology in the University of Minnesota. Formerly oral lectures were given, but it was found that many students did not get accurate or complete notes and that there was no time left for quizzes or demonstrations. During the past two years, the lectures have been given to the students in advance in the form of mimeographed pages bound together.

This solution of the problem, it is thought, will be helpful to both students and instructors.

Hestian Club Plans to Entertain Friday

Mrs. Mary Staples, head of the housing bureau, and Dean Anne D. Blitz who is the sponsor of the club, will be honor guests. A large number of students are expected, according to Mary Shemorry, president of Hestian.

Catalog Department of 'U' Library Big Aid to Student

Thousands of Books Go Through Involved Filing System Each Day to Make Studying More Simple For Students

With the exception of agricultural and law books, the catalog department of the University library handles every other kind of volume.

Miss Edna L. Goss stated that these books passed through the hands of at least six people before they were placed on their respective shelves.

This library is one of 50 which gets printed cards from the Library of Congress, which are filed in the department catalog and are available to both students and faculty.

After the book comes from the order department, the bills are checked and accessioned, and following this, book plates and pockets are added.

Classification in the next process, and the Dewey decimal system is used, with modifications, Miss Goss said.

He marks the back and sends the volume on to the reference librarian, who places it on the accession shelf if it is in demand.

"Even though all the shelves were open to the students, the catalogue would still be a necessary tool," said Miss Goss. "If any library books treat of several subjects, and these could not be listed all under one head. Here the catalog is of use, for it tells where various things may be found in many books."

"We urge students to ask for help any time they are not able to find desired information," she added.

SCHOOL OF CHEMISTRY Students registered in courses in the School of Chemistry who received an F in their condition examination should check out their apparatus by January 15th. A charge of at least a dollar ($1.00) will be made if this service has to be rendered a student.

VARSITY QUINT PREPARES FOR NEXT FOE

Gophers to Meet Chicago Basketball Team Saturday

Second Stringers Use Maroon Plays in Workout With Varsity; Minnesota Cagers to Battle Northwestern at Evanston Monday

Two conference games, one with Chicago and one with Northwestern, make up the objective for the Gopher basketball team in their workout this week. Coach Taylor will take his men to Chicago for their game with the Maroons Saturday night, and will have them battle the Northwestern five at Evanston Monday night.

It is the polishing up of the team play and ironing out the defects in the offense which showed themselves in the Wisconsin game last Saturday, that take up the principal coaching of Harold Taylor. Last night the varsity took on the second stringers in a light scrimmage, one which is expected to benefit the boys when they hit Coach Norgren's Chicago crew Saturday night.

The second stringers were equipped with Chicago plays, while the varsity tried to hold them down to a minimum score.

Part of the time was also spent with Merickel and Rasey taking the ball on offensive plays to perfect a short passing game. Wolden and these two are working to add more precision to the scoring ability of the Maroon and Gold five, as Taylor feels that if they are to go through with the present string of games on the schedule, they must be able to do better work in the line of scoring.

Captain Vic Dunder, who showed the Badgers a few things about guarding when the Wisconsin forwards tried to get close to the basket, was on the sidelines last night. The Minnesota chief is taking things easy until his injured shoulder is healed. He will be in tip-top shape for the battle with Chicago, and should be in for another hard game, much as he exhibited against the Windy City cagers.

While Chicago lost to Illinois last Saturday, Coach Taylor is expecting the hardest kind of a scrap when his team invades the Chicago gymnasium. The Chicago team is a hard outfit to down on their own home floor, and the Minnesota mentor is not letting up in Minnesota either. He wants to have his men on edge so that they may be able to play a strong game and hang up the second conference victory.

Northwestern was forced to bow before the class Michigan basketball team, but reports from this game showed that the Purple is not the weak team of former years, but that they rate with the leading fives of the conference. The Minnesota party will remain in Chicago over the week-end.

MILITARY BOXERS TO HOLD TOURNEY

Matches to Be Held on Tuesday and Thursday; 150 Out

The military boxing tournament, sponsored by the military and intramural athletic departments, will swing into action as soon as the purchasing department will secure the rope for the rings, which were ordered three weeks ago.

Nearly 150 men have been paired off and the matches will be held on Tuesday and Thursday nights, in the north wing of the stadium, while the semi-finals and finals will be staged in the armory gym. It is expected that ten matches of three rounds each will be fought each night.

Director Smith of the intramural office has announced that all men desiring to enter the boxing class should do so at once, as the class enrollment has reached 58 and the roll will soon be closed. The class is coached by Blaine McKusick.

Semi-finals in the all-'U' boxing will be held on April 7, and finals on April 9. Both these dates come immediately after the spring vacation, and have been set in order that the entrants will be able to train during the let-up.

Yost Field House Is Cleared of all Debt This Week

Ann Arbor, Jan. 13.—Yost Field House, constructed three years ago at a cost of $450,000, became university property clear of all debt this week, the final payment being made from 1924 football profits. In addition, 40 acres provided for future athletic plant expansion, were purchased. Michigan played before 341,000 people last fall, the largest football audience in the history of football.

In addition to completing the payment on Yost Field House, earnings provided 7,000 additional seats for 12,000, paid for extensive repairs

EIGHTY TRACKMEN OUT AT MICHIGAN

Coach Farrell Has Large Squad On Wolverine Cinder Crew

Ann Arbor, Jan. 13.—More than 80 men, many of them sophomores, have reported to Coach Steve Farrell to try for places on the Michigan track squad, and this number will be increased to 100 or more, it is thought, when examinations are over.

The second-year men are the strongest class aggregation ever to report for varsity track. First among this row of stars is Leschinsky of Detroit, who created a sensation last year when he smashed Paddock's Olympic record in the Olympic tryouts.

Weeks and Roth, who have gone better than six feet in the high jump, did excellent work last year, and are showing consistent improvement in daily workouts. Weeks was a member of the Notre Dame track squad for a year.

Prout, who has done 12 feet in the pole vault, is another steady second-year plugger. Voelker and Walk, point makers for the freshmen a year ago, are also out and showing considerable improvement.

Lovette and Munz, football reserves, are showing up well in the weight events.

In all events except the 440 and 880, second-year men are making varsity men of a year ago work hard to hold their places.

Grid Season at Buckeye School Proves Success

Columbus, O., Jan. 13.—Football receipts for the 1924 season at the Ohio State University totaled $318,290.03, it was announced today by R. M. Royer, athletic association treasurer. Net receipts after deducting the shares of visiting teams were $19,457.13.

The six at-home games drew a total gate of $282,568.30. Ohio State's portion of the receipts of the Iowa and Illinois contests, played away from Columbus, amounted to $35,721.73.

As was the case in the 1922 season, when the stadium was dedicated, the Michigan game resulted in the largest crowd and the greatest single financial return of the year. Gate receipts from that game were $140,748.60.

Fifty thousand dollars of the net proceeds from the football season will be applied on the principal of the stadium debt. The balance unpaid on the stadium is $472,000. More than $12,000 additional goes to support the extensive system of intramural athletics here.

'U' High Fans to Have Special Train

Coach Hansen's basketball team from the University is to play the Northfield high school team at Northfield, Friday, Jan. 16. A large delegation from the local school is expected to go down. Coach Hansen and George Smith are making arrangements to schedule a special train for the occasion. The Minnesota, Northfield Southern railway, the former Dan Patch road, is to put on a special train if it is guaranteed $92, which means that there will be at least 50 students making the trip.

FRATERNITY TEAMS BATTLE IN CLOSE BASKETBALL GAMES

Many Intramural Teams Forfeit to Their Opponents; Hand-Ball Games Played

Rushing activities accounted for many forfeits in the intra-mural basketball and handball league last night, but several close games featured by persistent, if not rough, playing made the evenings schedule one of interest.

Sigma Chi defeated Sphinx in a hard fought basketball game 20-19. At the end of the first half Sphinx led 10-9.

Chi Delta Xi defeated D. U. Chi Psi forfeited to Alpha Delta Phi, and Chi Sigma Phi won over Phi Kappa Psi when the latter team failed to appear. Chi Delta Xi defeated Delta Upsilon in a hard fought battle by the score 12-11. Henry Fonda, playing right forward for the Chi Delta Xis, was the star of the contest with two field goals and one free throw. For the D. U.s., Mathews with three baskets was high point man.

Theta Chi trimmed Phi Sigma Kappa in a game which was marred by rough playing and wild passing. Weston, playing right forward for the Phi Sigs, looked like the best man on the floor. He was high point man for his team, looping six field goals through the net, for Theta Chi. LaDue starred with five baskets.

Psi Omega Wins Handball Game In the handball tournament, Ryan of Psi Omega beat Ohlweiler of Alpha Chi Sigma in two games 21-18 and 21-20. A.T.O. forfeited to Chi Sigma Phi, and Zeta Psi lost to Sphinx by default. Triangle won over Phi Delta Phi by default, and Beta Theta Pi forfeited to Alpha Sigma Phi.

Indiana-De Pauw Grid Battle Called Off Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 13.—The Indiana-DePauw game tentatively scheduled to open the football season here next year on Oct. 3, has fallen through. DePauw had originally scheduled Butler College for that date and Butler had no open date to make a switch. Indiana is looking for a game for Oct. 3 and will probably book some college in the Hoosier state.

The establishment of an employment bureau at the University of Illinois by Sigma Delta Chi was planned at a recent meeting of the executive council.

COLLEGE SENIORS ENTER I-M LEAGUE
Senior Classes to Compete For Basketball Loving Cup

When the honors for the intramural basketball season are divided up, the senior classes of the various colleges on the campus may have something to say about the matter, judging from the action taken by the all-senior council on the matter of entering teams in the intramural league.

The plan, as outlined by the council, calls for a team from every senior class in the numerous colleges on the campus, and demands that they play in a division of their own, so as to select the winner to play for the all-University title against the other division winners.

The senior president of each college will be the team manager unless they secure someone to take their place. The college presidents are as follows: Agriculture, Harold Morris; business, Ralph Rotnem; chemistry, Paul Covell; dentistry, Harold Worman; education, Levi Osterhus, all-senior treasurer; engineering, William Brose, all-senior secretary; law, Douglas Hunt, all-senior vice-president; mines, Bernard Larpenauer, all-senior president; S. L. & A., John Brackett; pharmacy, Paul Bartholow.

Any senior is eligible to play on the team in his college providing he is not playing on any other team in the intramural or varsity basketball. The all-senior council has voted to present the champion team with a loving cup. The committee in charge is Levi Osterhus, chairman; Bernard Larpenauer, and Paul Covell.

Wisconsin students are now turning all their attention toward their annual Prom, which is the big event of the year at the Badger school.

FEW BIG CHANGES IN BASKET RULES FOR 1925 SEASON

Meanwell, St. John, Represent Big Ten Athletics In Rules Conference

Chicago, Jan. 13.—For the first time in several years, the basketball rules committee made almost no change in the playing code. The game has undergone many radical rule changes during the past four seasons, but 1924 brought such general satisfaction that it was not thought necessary to do anything but some minor tinkering for this winter.

The rules committee was in session at the Hotel Biltmore in New York on April 10-11. Dr. Walter Meanwell of Wisconsin and L. W. St. John, athletic director at Ohio State were Big Ten athletic men at the meeting. Z. G. Cleveland, director at Indiana, resigned last winter from the committee.

Improvements in Game
Since the war the game has been speeded up greatly. Enlarging the playing floor with a three-foot extension at both ends beyond the line of the backboard has increased the scoring possibilities under the basket. Cutting out of free throws after technical fouls was a great improvement and the rule requiring the man fouled to attempt the free throw proved a fine change during the past season and the double free throw fouls in the scoring zone practically eliminated roughing the shooter.

Nothing so drastic as these recent big changes was adopted at the New York meeting. It was made mandatory for the officials to call a personal foul when a defensive man guards the man with the ball from behind. Crowds at Big Ten games have often "booed" officials, not understanding the importance of helping the offense and eliminating rough "hacking" by the defense.

Umpire Given Powers
The umpire has been given greater powers. This winter he may make out-of-bounds decisions no matter where the referee is on the floor, and if he is nearer to a held ball than the referee, he may toss it for the jump.

The rule requiring jumpers to keep one arm behind their backs on the tip-off has been slightly altered. In case one man violates this rule, he is penalized only if he tips the ball to a teammate.

No More Bench Coaching
It is no longer possible to substitute a man who takes out two minutes time and then substitute before the expiration of time.

Northwestern Swimmers See Certainty of Big Ten Title

Theodore Hyde, Medic, Completes Membership For Sigma Delta Psi

W. R. Smith, director of intramural athletics, announced last night that Theodore Hyde, Medic '25, has completed qualifications for membership in Sigma Delta Psi, the honorary athletic fraternity.

He will discuss, "What forms of exercise will I use to keep myself fit 10 years after graduating from college, as part of his required work for membership. Prof. O. S. Zeller, Dr. H. S. Diehl, Dr. L. J. Cooke, Fred Luehring, E. B. Pierce and W. R. Smith will meet at the Minnesota Union Tuesday, Jan. 20, at 6:30 p. m., to cross-examine the candidate.

Alexandria Gridiron Coach At Old Post
West Point, Jan. 13.—Captain John J. McEwan, who has acted as head grid coach at West Point for the two past years, has been reappointed as coach for the Cadet eleven for 1925. Captain McEwan is from Alexandria, Minn., and state fans feel justly proud over this contract.

Championship This Year Would Be Ninth; Ralph Breyer and Dick Howell, Olympic Swimmers, Form Backbone of Purple Team
Evanston, Ill., Jan. 13.—The winning of the western conference swimming championship is getting to be a regular thing at Northwestern university. Purple fans are beginning to regard it as an annual event, for Coach Tom Robinson's men have stroked to eight titles and at present it looks as if nothing short of an earthquake could prevent the Purple from repeating this year after championships in 1923 and 1924.

The backbone of the Northwestern squad is the combination of Ralph Breyer and Dick Howell both of whom represented America in the recent Olympic games. These two mermen are distinctly the class of the college field in the crawl stroke and sprint events, holding four national intercollegiate records between them. Breyer, the Purple captain, paddled twelve seconds off his own record in the 440 yard swim at the national meet at Annapolis last year, while Howell hung up new marks in the 40, 100, and 220 yard events during the year.
