Committee Reports Sno Week Trip Revised Telemark Substitute Ski Plans Approved

On Friday, Jan. 23, Sno Week chairman, Gayle Kennedy appeared before the committee on Student Affairs to present the revised plan for the Sno Week ski trip for the group's approval and received endorsement for a weekend at Sawtooth Mountain at Grand Marais.

The substitute idea matured because it was necessary to cancel the original trip to Mount Telemark, because of a misunderstanding on rates.

The Sawtooth ski trip was presented before the Student Affairs committee, and was approved with the following stipulations:

1. Only persons traveling on the Ski Trip buses will be allowed in the hotels.
2. The hotel managements would cooperate in maintaining proper order.
3. Acceptable chaperones would be provided for the trip.

4. The Sno Week committee would guarantee the behavior of the students.

The Sno Week committee met the necessary requirements. Therefore, the student buses will leave the campus for Sawtooth Mountain at 7 a. m. and 3 p. m., Friday, Feb. 8. The number of students participating will be limited to 100 and their fees will be $11. A $5 deposit will be required and the rest must be paid by Feb. 6.

The chaperones chosen by the Sno Week committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chelgren, Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker, Marge Papke and Bill Shimek.

Dr. Robert Heller, chairman of the Student Affairs committee was asked whether the committee had much difficulty in reaching a decision on the change in plans from Telemark to Saw Tooth area. The answer was: "It was simply a matter of having the same control at Saw Tooth that would have been possible at Telemark. The committee felt the plans presented by the Sno Week committee were adequate and consequently our group felt the trip would be a success."

Student Polio Shots Essential

All students of any age are requested to receive their first, second or third polio vaccinations at UMD Health Service in Washburn on Feb. 5, 6, 7, 8, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

It is recommended by the health authorities that everyone, especially those under 40 years of age, be immunized at this time. If possible, do not wait until closing time of the last day.

The complete polio vaccination consists of a series of three injections, with a recommended interval of from four to six weeks between the first and second shot. The third shot should be taken seven months after the second.

Another series of vaccinations will be given at the Health Service in four to six weeks. Watch for publicity. Students will pay $1.00 per immunization to cover the cost of the material.

'Mornings' Opens Feb. 6

Theatre director Harold L. Hayes has invited Harry Pauley, UMD instructor of speech and English, to direct the play. A graduate of Columbia university, with the B. A. degree in English and comparative literature and the M. A. in dramatic arts, Mr. Pauley taught at the New Hampton, N. H., school before coming to UMD last fall.

Von Glahn Book Published

(UMD-NS)—An extensive, personal acquaintance with the problems and practices of occupation involving belligerent countries has culminated for UMD political science professor Gerhard von Glahn in acceptance for early publication of his book, "The Occupation of Enemy Territory."

The University of Minnesota Press has accepted von Glahn's work for publication in 1957.

A detailed commentary on the law and practice of belligerent occupation, the work was completed under two grants in aid from the University's Graduate School in Minneapolis.

It brings up to date definitive studies of the subject which until von Glahn's book had covered only through 1914.

The UMD political affairs expert drew heavily upon his World War II experience as a specialist in civil affairs work in Germany. Entering the US armed forces in Feb. 1943, von Glahn first became involved in the study of occupation practices as an army specialized training program student at the University of Illinois.

UMD Sororities Pledge 43

Campus sororities officially closed their two-week rushing period last Tuesday, when they gave out bids and held introduction meetings for their pledges. A total of 43 girls were accepted into the three sororities. Of these, Gamma Omnicron Beta took in 17, Sigma Psi Gamma 15, and Sigma Phi Kappa 11.

This year has seen a smaller turn-out of girls for sorority membership. Because of the desire on the part of the sororities to keep their organizations compact and close-knit, there were also a small number of bids given out, according to the sorority presidents.

The Pledges will now go through a period of roughing for their respective sororities. Activities such as a pot-luck supper; luncheons; service projects to the city, Campus Chest and Sno-Week; a rummage sale; and an early dawn breakfast are included in the agenda for the next two weeks. An unusual aspect of this year's roughing will be the style show produced by the joint effort of Sigma Psi Gamma and Gamma Theta Phi pledges.

Commission Tables KUMD Charter

Richard Gottschald, president of KUMD radio presented his organization's constitution to the Student Commission at Tuesday night's meeting for approval of the articles after recent amendment.

Following a general round of discussion, which produced no decision the body moved to refer the matter to the Commission's executive board.

Gottschald was informed that the constitution should have been presented to the executive board prior to its submission to Commission proper.

The KUMD president replied to the decision that because of delays caused by his group's being "called on the carpet it is imperative that the decision of the constitution's approval be made now."

His plea was not considered.

Peter Thorsteinson, Student Commission President requested that "... hereafter, all organizations who plan to submit constitutions will present copies of said constitutions to each member of the Commission at least one week in advance of its formal presentation before this body."

The Commission had original-

Campus Competes For Sno Trophy

During this year's 7th annual Sno Week, campus organizations will compete for the first time for honors by active participation in the week's activities.

Gayle Kennedy, chairman, has announced that the Sno Week committee will award a trophy to this year's most active organization. This trophy will be on display in the school's book store window from February 4 through 15.

Competition will be based on a point system, and the organization with the highest score will have its name and the date engraved on the trophy, which will be displayed during the remainder of the 1957 school year. The award will be continuous with a competition provided every year.

The contest is open to all organizations, whether they are all male, female, or mixed group.

According to Miss Kennedy, "We hope that a participation trophy will be an incentive to organizations to make Sno Week a really big Winter Quarter event. Active competition directed in the right direction will also help to alleviate apathy on the UMD campus. I hope every organization will participate."

The list of events which organizations may participate in and the number of points awarded for each event may be found on page 6.

The KSC House and Finance Committee will hold a sale and auction of all unclaimed "lost and found" articles in the Kirby Student Center on Wednesday, Feb. 4, from 8:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.

The auction of all unsold objects will begin at three, with the proceeds going to the loan and scholarship fund.

Advisory Board Named for Group

Peter Thorsteinson, Student Commission president announced that Thomas G. Sturgeon, V. J. Kroeger, Lewis J. Rickert, and Henry Lepp have been named to the Faculty Advisory Board, "which from now on will be instrumental in making UMD's Student Commission more efficient and effective organization."

According to Thorsteinson, "This new arrangement will give the Student Commission and its executive board help and advice and thus create more workable and more beneficial programs."

The Advisory Board will represent and voice faculty opinion and will, by virtue of its more permanent status on campus and its greater knowledge of campus traditions, advise the Commission as to what courses it should follow in dealing with students.

The Faculty Advisory Board and the executive committee of the Student Commission met for the first time last week to discuss the new program.

WASHBURN 109

If the Humanities Department plans to allocate funds toward the development of KUMD, the move necessarily demands a great deal of consideration. The present status of commercial radio must be involved in the decision, along with the educational benefits of the station, and which areas, if any, will receive a budget-cut in the channeling of moneys.

Commercial radio in this market is programming along with the new station-wide trend of music, news and sports, with sports gradually losing emphasis. The Head-of-the-Lakes area is tight radio-wise, especially with the prospect of a new commercial station coming in. It is doubtful that a student-operated installation could find much purpose taking to the airwaves, listener-wise.

The educational benefits of this operation must also be considered in the light of commercial radio. With the advent of television, the production-type program is almost extinct in the audio medium; consequently, radio can offer little to the college trained individual other than spinning records.

Granted, television offers a wide field in the area of production, and the majority of today's television personnel are converts from radio. But the future crop of TV employees will come from a new breed of specialists, trained especially for the medium.

In the field that encompasses radio and TV production, the theater is the most versatile raining ground. And if UMD's theatre could be strengthened by an additional instructor, or improved facilities, it would be deprived in its primary function, education, by stretching the budget of the Humanities department to include KUMD.

The station staff is to be congratulated for its fine advances to date, but the ability of KUMD to provide a worth-while educational experience, and the cost of that experience, must be contemplated.

Letters to the Editor

January 25, 1957,
UMD STATESMAN
Duluth, Minnesota

To the Editor:

In last week's issue your editor's note in reply to the Student Commission president's letter asking for newspaper coverage of the Walter Lippmann lecture was "the official deadline for the UMD Statesman is Monday midnight." Your reply leaves much to be desired.

The following observations throw a relevant light on the situation:

(1) On page two was your reply asserting that on Tuesday night commission news would come in too late to be printed, while on page three were the partial minutes of a Tuesday night meeting (and quite unrepresentative minutes, at that);

(2) If your deadline was strictly adhered to, the weekly issue would consist over-all of not more than two pages of catch-all news and two-three pages of advertisements (and Gene, I say this only after staying up with you into the early hours of Wednesday mornings while working on last quarter's issues);

(3) On the particular Tuesday night in point, the commission took time out to clearly explain to your reporter the details of the proposed program after you personally had promised the Student Welfare commissioner that this important news, coming out on Tuesday night, would be printed;

(4) While the education value of this lecture was lost due to your space-make-up, an amount of column inches would have more than adequately handled the coverage was used to inform the student body. "T. G. I. F." (Thank God It's Friday); this was an interesting thought, but rather lacking in significance;

(5) We on the commission are not "demanding" anything of the paper; we are, however, asking for cooperation in coverage, as the University newspaper is the only medium open to us outside of posting the minutes, in providing the student body with an awareness of the work the commission is doing.

It would seem from your last week's curt editor's note that it is the role of the newspaper to criticize and not to be criticized. We are hopeful for a happier working relationship in the future.

Sincerely,

John Hill, Vice-President Student Commission
Dick Miller, Student Welfare Commissioner.

Opera Presented

Iota Psi Observes Birthday

The Iota Psi chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's national music fraternity, observed its tenth anniversary last Sunday at Tweed hall.

The "Charter Day Tea" was held to commemorate the founding of the chapter. Members of the Patroness, Alumnus and Active chapters were entertained by present members of the fraternity.

The opera "The Old Maid and the Thief" was performed through the courtesy of the Patronesses. The cast included Betty Evans, soprano; Marcia Galvin, soprano; Roslyn Laski, contralto; Ed Gruber, baritone; Alice McCabe, pianist.

Money was donated by the three chapters to the Sigma Alpha Iota Foundation.

The Iota Psi chapter was installed at Tweed hall Jan. 24, 1947 by a group of five national officers. Twenty charter members were initiated and five faculty members were installed as patronesses.

Admissions, Counseling Is In Hands Of Faculty-Composed Group

Robert J. Falk, secretary of the Student Personnel committee, says of the group that it is chiefly concerned with admissions to UMD and with the continuance of the student once he has been admitted to the university. There are a number of problems involved in dealing with students who are behind in their studies. Moreover, there are a surprisingly large number of students who have need of counseling in regard to their studies.

The committee, consisting of a cross section taken from the entire faculty, is intended to represent as wide a range of thought and philosophy as is possible. Members are Robert F. Pierce (Hum.), Ruth Palmer (Ed and Psych.), Albert Tezla (Hum.), John Dettman, (Soc. Sci.), Cecil Meyers (Soc. Sci.), Clarence Lindquist (Sci. and Math.), Gearld Gladstein (Ed. & Psych.). In addition, Harvard W. Archard, Supervisor of Admissions and Records, and M. F. Gum, counselor, meet with the committee and consult as needed.

At the end of the Fall Quarter 230 students were on probation of some sort and this is roughly 10 per cent of the entire student body. The personnel committee met 15 times during the same quarter in attempting to minimize the excessively large number of students who made the probation list one or more times.

NO DIRECTION

It is interesting to note that the figures reveal that the male student is considerably more susceptible to the influences that result in poor scholarship. The following figures indicate the percentage of men and women on probation in each class.

CLASS	MALE	FEMALE
Fr.	20%	8%
Soph	11%	3%
Jr.	7%	7%
Sr.	6%	4%

Falk says of the disproportionately large number of freshmen males on probation: 1/3 of 548: "This is due to the fact that freshmen boys take longer to settle down. They come to col-

Booklet Out

A new booklet titled, "Europe: Sources of Information," has been published by the Council on Student Travel, 179 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

The booklet has been compiled as a service to students and young people traveling on limited budgets. It lists, with brief descriptions, more than 50 current self-help books, pamphlets, directories and other guides. Jobs in Europe, study and summer projects abroad, travel hints and handbooks all are included for the cost-conscious traveler.

Most of the publications listed in "Sources" are free.

lege with no direction or purpose."

The largest portion of these students have been on probation only once as yet, and of these, a considerable number are taking the Associate of Arts degree. However, when a student is placed on probation more than three times he will be called before the personnel committee. The committee will interview the student on all phases of his college career (e. g. part-time jobs, residence, previous record) in order that they may obtain a comprehensive picture of the individual's progress or failure at UMD.

THREE COURSES

In general there are three broad courses of action that can be taken when a student's poor scholarship reaches a critical stage. The student may change his course of study to take an Associate of Arts degree. He may be permitted to continue in college if he maintains a certain honor point ratio. Or he may be canceled out of school. In the last case it is stipulated that the individual may re-apply for entrance into UMD after a lapse of one year. The period is calculated to give the student an opportunity to re-assess his goals and his talents and to dispel indecision or poor study habits that may have led to his being canceled out of the university.

All cases are dealt with individually, and though the decision of the committee is final, the cases are handled with leniency until it is obvious that a student is unable to make a success of his college career.

In addition to handling individual cases in their sessions, the committee finds time to discuss matters of policy pertaining to their work. According to Falk, "One of the major developments of the committee last year was the institution of the upper and lower divisions. This means that lower division students (freshmen and sophomores) will be required to complete their lower division courses before being admitted to the upper division."

The Student Personnel committee feels that it is capable of rendering competent judgments because of the careful study given each case presented and because its prime goal is to counsel and assist the UMD student in achieving the ultimate goal in the university, that is to say, a degree in his chosen field of study.

The Pickwick Papers

By Gene Gruba

"Welcome, my wayward friends, welcome to another recorded SESSION." That's what the man said. Yes ma'am, this is radio, Remember? This is probably the newsroom. It must be something of the sort because this is a desk and this machine is a typewriter and we've got an RCA mike swinging over our heads on a short-necked boom. The monitor on the wall is bubbling music while Western Union's time-piece ticks away the notes. And we're surrounded by the present day main-stay of the trade, records. Yes ma'am, this is radio and the lad behind the board spinning his sessionated spell is Douglas Eugene Rapp. Remember?

Time, temperature and music on a Saturday nite. Granted, this is no time to be pounding a Royal when Saturday is traditionally a time for emptying one, but this is SESSION and SESSION belongs to Saturday too. One time we'll do a column from a brewery. Who needs a typewriter?

Wherever you are, whatever you're doing, whenever you want radio you flip a switch and because of a guy named Marconi it works. But it sings because of a guy on this end who has a lot more than one switch to do. On your end of the speaker a recorded hour can be measured in pleasurable moments, but they could measure it here in snuffed-out cigarettes.

A record show isn't just a matter of stacking a deck of discs on a melody-go-round and purring between the sounds. A DJ that is worth his seasoning spends precious seconds between music deciding what is spun when. He has an audience and if he wants to keep it he has to concentrate on pleasing it. And if he wants to keep his job he has to keep in mind the conception that the station brass have regarding how to hold those listeners. There are the phone calls from a multitude of "Cats" who have a passion for Elvis, or something of the like, NOW and the network shows that won't wait for the end of that record that shouldn't be cut short. And not to be forgotten is the commercial spot that must be read as if the account's product is as necessary as life.

No, this isn't the whole story, but until you're here, instead of there, you won't understand anyway. So flip the switch, lean back and whatever you will and enjoy SESSION. That's what it's there for. Just remember, if you're enjoying it and you will . . . it isn't as easy as it sounds.

And so the DJ rides to your ears on velvet tonsils. You read the sound, but you're missing the busy hands. Sometime you think, "must be nice to just sit back to music, make a comment once a tune and relax." Remember, a record only spins for three minutes and if you're enjoying the program the jockey is going solid for those many many three minutes.

And now, 12:45 and the inkwell is dry . . . time to enjoy . . . Bedtime, so thirty.

Debaters Rated High in St. Cloud Test

The UMD debaters ranked among the top winners in the Intercollegiate Debate Tournament held at St. Cloud State Teachers College Jan. 25-26.

A gold medal was presented to James Cruickshank for first place in extemporaneous speaking for his interpretation of "How the US will be affected by the Middle East crisis." Young Le received "excellent" rating for his talk on the United Nations and Terry Goerne was rated "very good" in his talk on the future of NATO.

Leta Powell placed first in original oratory and also received a gold medal. Tom Taylor's oration was rated "excellent."

In the individual team scorings, Terry Goerne placed first in debate with 39 points out of a possible 41, Leta Powell followed with 38 points and Bob Hanson scored 37 points. The entire team won 4 out of 12 debates.

The college debate question this year is "Resolved; That the US should discontinue Direct Economic Aid to Foreign Countries."

The debaters also entered discussion groups in which they spent 3 hours in talking over the role of the US in the Middle East. Ruth Kent placed first with 117 points, Wesley Blasjo ranked second with 115 points and Leta Powell placed third with 113 points.

Dr. Robert Haakenson and Dr. Harold Hayes, coaches, made the statement, "For beginning debaters, the team shows much potential and if they continue at their present rate they will undoubtedly fare very well."

NACA Donates Notes, Bulletins to Library

A gift to the UMD Library has been put together by the Lake Superior chapter, National Association of Cost Accountants. Headed by Galen F. Striemer, Silver Bay, the chapter is making a complete collection of the NACA bulletins, containing articles on a wide range of industrial accounting subjects. Reviews of current accounting literature, plus notes on new developments in the accounting fields are included.

The gift was presented to UMD officials at a luncheon Tuesday noon, Jan. 29, in Kirby Student Center cafeteria. Philip Friest, lecturer in business and economics, was coordinating UMD arrangements.

PhD's Abound At UMD

By HAL HASE

It seems that UMD has an exceptional corps of instructors. Dr. Thomas W. Chamberlin, Academic dean, reported to the STATESMAN that of a total of 134 faculty members, 64 (or about 48 per cent) hold the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Of the remaining 70 instructors, a majority hold the Master of Arts degree.

Chamberlin remarked that some of the staff of 134 taught on a part-time basis, and that others were on leave. The actual strength of the teaching force was estimated at about 120 full-time instructors.

When compared with the main campus and with other universities in general, UMD is found to have a favorable percentage of Ph. D's on its staff.

Though the Duluth branch enrollment is of college size, we are fortunate in having a faculty of university stature.

The hi-fi Spectacular Series has been set for 3 p. m. Thursdays in the Hi-Fi Room of KSC.

To be presented:

Beethoven's "Ninth Coral Symphony," with Jan Pearce, Norman Scott and Eileen Farrell: Feb. 14.

Alban Berg's Modern Opera "Wozzeck": Feb. 21.

Attendance Up At Main 'U'

U of M News Service, Mpls.—Winter Quarter attendance at the University of Minnesota totals 23,961, an increase of 1,761 or 8 per cent over the 22,200 enrollment for Winter Quarter a year ago, True E. Pettengill, University recorder, reported.

Included in the current student total are 17,665 men and 6,296 women. A year ago there were 16,309 men and 5,891 women.

'One Hour Left' What To Do, Say Before Cashing In?

"You have only one hour to live . . . What thoughts run through your mind? What is important to you? What would you tell people about living? How would you spend that hour?"

These questions will be the subject of a 3 p. m. lecture to be given Tuesday, Feb. 5, in the KSC hi-fi room by Dr. Robert Haakenson, head of the speech department.

Dr. Haakenson will be the first of three speakers in this quarter's "Last Lecture" series sponsored by the Educational and Cultural committee of KSC.

The "Last Lecture" series is designed to create an individual interest by permitting the student to wonder just what he would do when confronted with this situation.

The Bulldog Grip

'Fact Better Than Fiction' Claims Romano

Duluth News Tribune's Arno Goethel, a basketball man by assignment decided to use his Sunday "Time Out" column to present his annual attack on hockey at UMD.

Goethel began things rolling by a few basketball scores, comparing them and deciding that UMD is one point worse than Minnesota. This he used as the basis for his claim that UMD playing hockey in the Western Conference should bring circular motions around the ear.

First, it is "cock-eyed thinking" for UMD to play in the Western Conference (Minnesota, Colorado, Michigan Tech, Michigan, Michigan State, Denver, North Dakota), claims Goethel.

Second, he states "Granted, UMD has one line that probably could stand up to WIHL competition. But Western Conference teams have three lines as good or better."

If we were to argue with Goethel, we would not dare claim a statement without facts. Take Arno's first remark. UMD has played three teams, St. Boniface, Winnipeg and Michigan

Tech JV, who have played or seen Western Conference action. Why didn't Arno get some information from these teams? There is one good reason. Till the information he could have gotten would have been the exact opposite of his major argument.

Now Arno's second point. Two members of the UMD line to which he was referring played in the powerful Western Junior Hockey League finishing 7th and 8th in scoring. Out of this league, which is considered the best in Western Canada, only one player who scored higher than them is now a member of a Western Conference team. In supplying this information, I am taking it for granted that Goethel knows where 90 per cent of the Canadian talent in the Western Conference comes from.

Now, how can he claim that nine players on every Western Conference team is as good as or better than UMD's first line.

His argument about the major problems to be solved in finding a place to play in Duluth seems to be the only sensible remark stated in his column.

It is also not the wish of UMD's athletic enthusiasts to disrupt our school standing in the MIAC by pulling out in hockey, as implied by Goethel.

However, we realize that if UMD continues to place strong emphasis on its hockey program, while the other MIAC school's consider it a minor sport, some difficulties may arise, public relations-wise.

Bulldogs Host St. John's Five

On Tuesday evening, February 5, UMD's basketball Bulldogs will play host to St. John's University in one of the final home contests of the MIAC season.

The Johnnies will come up to Duluth with an impressive record, including a 72-62 win over the Bulldogs on December 14. St. Johns, always a threat to MIAC opposition, is once again in the running for the conference crown.

The game on Tuesday night promises to be an exciting one. The Johnnies will bring with them, forward Dick Matchinsky who led all scorers in the last meeting with 27 points. Matchinsky has been one of the leading conference scorers each year. He has been an annual threat to the Bulldogs in every game at Colledgeville or at UMD.

It will be interesting to see which of the sophomore forwards will earn a starting position. Both Vince Ekroot and Harold Bergstedt seem to have earned starting berths, and the outcome could prove a deciding factor in the game.

Probable starters will be forward Bob Monson and center Jack McKillop—the one-two scoring punch of the Bulldogs. These boys also rank third-fourth among the MIAC scorers. McKillop is also the third ranking all-time scorer of UMD basketball teams.

Going into Tuesday's game, the Bulldogs have a 5-3 record. They are nearing the end of the season and still have a chance to finish among the leaders in the conference.

The attendance problem at basketball games seems to be improving. There have been noted gains in the number of people attending the games. Some of the organizations, namely the newly-formed Vet's Club, have been stressing the importance of group attendance at all-school activities. Every move to improve school spirit would be appreciated.

Once again Duluth Central's Vince Ekroot is moving into UMD's basketball picture.

The 6' 7" center has recovered from pre-season health and grade problems. In last week's win over Gustavus, Vince came in to turn in a sparkling defensive game, as well as counting for fifteen points. A big question mark in Coach Norm Olson's plans, Vince came through in fine fashion, drawing special praise for his improvement.

"He will certainly give us a big boost", was Coach Norm Olson's reply to the remarkable play of his "big center". Vince was one of the area's greater prep players, and captured the individual scoring crown in 1955 with 415 points. As a freshman at UMD he scored 109 points as Jack McKillop's understudy.

Ekroot's favorite shot is his colorful left, or right handed hook shot. His good hands and height make him a dangerous man on the boards at all times. Vince is ticketed for plenty of action for the remainder of the season.

Recent trend at UMD has been towards table tennis. At table tennis tournament in full the present time there is a swing. There were thirty-six entries made and eighteen matches drawn up. Semi-final and final games will be scheduled for the first part of next week. The winner of this tournament will receive his own paddle.

By DON ROMANO

UMD's remarkable puckmen, who haven't lost in the conference since 1955, will attempt victories 19 and 20 when they play Macalester at the Curling club tonight and Hamline at St. Paul tomorrow afternoon.

The Hamline tilt saw a home crowd of over 900 cheer the Bulldog's goal scoring as UMD won 8-0.

Pleban's well conditioned forward wall is being strengthened by the fine showing of his young defense. Freshmen Ron Pretlac, Don Judnick and Jerry Abelsen; sophomore Jerry Olson and senior John Bymark drew praise from Pleban following their Michigan Tech JV showing.

Alex Sisto, Bob Smith and Mike Horn broke out of their scoring drought in the tech series and are now making a strong bid in UMD's scoring race which at present is dominated by the Harvey Flaman, Elmer Schwartz, Butch Curran line and the Larry Cronkhite, Bernard Cousineu, Don Wilkie trio.

Coach Connie Pleban credited his boys with a job well done as the Bulldogs roared to impressive 7-0 and 11-3 victories over the Michigan Tech Junior Varsity Friday and Saturday on the Duluth Curling club ice.

A balanced scoring attack, which saw nine Bulldogs figure in on the goals, brought about Tech's downfall. Harvey Flaman and Elmer Schwartz, making a run-way of the scoring, combined for seven goals. Flaman flamed in for four and Schwartz three. Their wingman, Dutch Curran, notched two, along with center Larry Cronkhite and wingers Alex Sisto and Bob Smith. Defensemen Don Judnick, John Bymark and Jerry Olson tallied one apiece.

FORWARD, MIKE HORN, is rounding out his third year against MIAC competition. Mike is a graduate of Duluth Central High School. His strong desire and competitive spirit has installed him as one of the favorites of the UMD Hockey fans.

Bulldog's Swimming Team Plays Host to Macalester

By DICK BAKKE

Last Wednesday, January 23, the UMD swimming team competed in its first meet of the season. Swimming against St. Thomas, the team placed second best by a score of 45-31.

UMD's medley relay team, consisting of Harley Tennon, Tom Brown, Tim Birman, and Laurel Smith, placed first in the meet. Smith, Birman, and Tennon, together with Dick Niemeste won first place in the 400 yard free relay event. Tennon brought home the other first by winning the 200 yard backstroke. The sixth man to make the trip was Tom LaSalle.

Although the team failed to win the event, coach Don Otto feels that they profited greatly. Besides gaining experience, they discovered several faults in their respective styles that can be corrected. This was the first college meet for some of the team members.

Lack of depth was one of the main reasons for the defeat. Most of the swimmers were entered in two or more events. Also in each event UMD had only one entry. In a case like this, even if UMD wins first, the other team picks up several points by getting second and third place.

This afternoon, UMD plays host to Macalester at the Pyh Ed pool. Time for the meet is 4:30 p. m. Familiar surroundings coupled with another week of practice should give the team a chance to win this meet. Lyman Marshall, a former U of M swimmer, will be eligible for this meet and will help considerably. Some of the boys that swam in the last meet, although they did not win, turned in a good performance and with more conditioning may come away from the next meet in first place.

Tomorrow night, February 2, the team will journey to Hamline for the third meet of the season. The conference meet will be held March 1-2 at Macalester. By the time this meet rolls around, the team should be in shape to give some stiff competition to the other entries.

Another event that may be of interest is the annual high school relays to be held at the UMD pool on February 23. This meet is for high schools from the surrounding area and it may produce a future UMD swimming champion.

The public is invited to attend the Macalester meet this afternoon. Admission is free. The meet is scheduled to start at 4:30 p. m.

VETERAN SWIMMER, Harley Tennon is pictured en-route to victory in the 20 yard backstroke against St. Thomas. The UMD, 400 yard free style relay team consisting of Harley Tennon, Tim Birman, Tom Brown, Laurel Smith, and Dick Niemeste also came through with a first place and a new conference record.

Intramural

By DICK BAKKE

One more round of play remains in the intramural schedule. Following the final round on February 7, playoffs will be held to determine the team eligible to compete in the MIAC intramural championship. The volleyball league will complete its season on February 13. Two bowling teams have signed up and two more teams are needed to comprise a league.

Bulldog Notes

by Carl Jeanetta

Swimming and skiing are beginning to move into the sports picture here at UMD.

This afternoon the Bulldog tankers play host to Macalester at the UMD pool. The meet is scheduled to start at 4:30. For those of you whom have never witnessed a swim meet, I suggest you try to take in this meet. I'm sure that you will find this highly competitive sport very much to your liking. Let's show our swimming team that we are behind them. Try getting to the meet and giving them some good solid backing.

With a little luck weather-wise, area skiing will get into full swing this coming week. Still waiting for a little snow, our Bulldog skiers have scheduled daily practices in preparation for NCAA meets and defense of their MIAC crown, which they captured last year.

Congratulations to those 1600 or more students who attended last weekend's hockey games and gave our team the best support given by any crowd at any UMD sports contest for many moons. Let's give the same support to our basketball team—swimming teams, ski teams—THEY NEED AND deserve it.

The newly organized Vet's club at UMD plans to enter teams in the schools intramural program, basketball, volleyball and softball in a move to interest the 500 or so veterans on campus.

Noting the large vet attendance, Ron Thomas expressed the fact that winning teams could be produced.

Besides the intramural activity planned, the club is discussing several ideas for off-campus doings. Bowling, golf, curling and broomball have been considered.

When an intramural sport is offered a notice will be placed on the bulletin board in the physical education building. The off-campus activities planned will be run in the STATESMAN. Those interested in taking part in the fine program being assembled can contact Thomas or Leroy Pykkonen.

"Let's get behind this program", commented Thomas and show the youngsters in this school that us 'old timers' have some life.

WAA Activities

Janice Toms, president of WAA, has been chosen to represent this organization in the coming election. Jan is a junior, majoring in Phy Ed with health and recreation minors. She is also an active member in PEMMS, Aquatics, Women's PEMMS, Future Teachers of America and Modern Dance club. Her main interest outside of school is skiing.

The theme for the High School Playday being held Saturday at the Phy Ed building is "See You on the Slopes." Sev-

UMD Sponsors Hockey Clinic at Eveleth

Through the cooperation of the Athletic department of the University of Minnesota-Duluth Branch, the Minnesota Amateur Hockey association and the Recreation department of the City of Eveleth, a full scale hockey clinic will be held at the Eveleth Hippodrome on Tuesday, February 12th. This clinic will be conducted by the University of Minnesota-Duluth Branch Hockey Team and supervised by its coach, Connie Pleban—former Olympic Hockey coach.

Everyone is invited to this big event, especially coaches, officials and players. This includes high school players, city team players and players of Pee Wee and Junior teams throughout Northeastern Minnesota.

This clinic will start promptly at 6:30 p. m. at the Eveleth Hippodrome. The UMD hockey team will be in uniform on the ice. Under the direction of Pleban, they will give demonstrations, techniques, drills and fundamentals. This part of the program will be conducted for about an hour. Immediately after the conclusion of the demonstrations on ice, a regular intrasquad game is in progress, coaches and managers will meet in an informal session covering blackboard phases of the game and a question and answer session will take place pertaining to hockey rules, interpretations and techniques of coaching.

The public is invited. For further details, contact Louis Sabetti—Eveleth Recreation director.

Playday

"See You on the Slopes" is the theme of the annual Duluth high school playday expected to attract some 150 Zenith City girls to the UMD campus Saturday, Feb. 2.

The program will get underway in the Physical Education building at 9 a. m. Saturday with registration. Volleyball, cageball, basketball, swimming badminton and other activities are planned.

Depth Charges Discussed In UMD Science Building

Operations Research, the scientific field whose uses have ranged from determining the best way of setting depth charges to destroy submarines to determining specifications for submitting bids for oil leases, was the subject discussed at a meeting at 8 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 24, in the UMD Science building.

The session was that of the Lake Superior section, American Chemical society. Keith Goad, member of the faculty of Wisconsin State college at Superior, spoke on "Operations Research in Chemistry Industry and Civic Affairs." The meeting was open to the public.

Goad spent the summer of 1956 in Cleveland studying operations research at Case Institute of Technology. Key considerations in the study he found were the application of the scientific method to studies of dynamic situations or operations. Variable factors frequently include both men and machines.

Although Thursday's meeting was concentrated upon applying the benefits of operations research in the chemical field, it also covered examples of general interest on how the new studies have been used in the public interest, including reduction in cost of manufacturing jet engines.

Opportunity's Door Still Open

There must be students on campus who have little or no need for money. Thus far no UMD students have applied for aid under the new War Orphans Education Assistance Act (public law 634). Only six students took advantage of the opportunity during the fall quarter on the Minneapolis campus.

Public Law 634 provides benefits of $110 a month to children of servicemen who died of injury or disease incurred during active service in World Wars I and II or in the Korean conflict.

These people are eligible also for $30 a month under the Widows and Orphans Relief Act.

Students who feel they may be eligible for such assistance should contact Robert J. Falk in room 125, Kirby Student Center.

Von Glahn . . .

He did much of his recent research at the Pentagon in Washington and at the United Nations headquarters in New York. Most of the writing and research for his book was done during the past two years.

Heavily footnoted and with a bibliography of 690 references, the work includes latest available documents in Washington and gives detailed attention to the provisions of the Fourth Geneva Convention in 1949, ratified by the U. S., involving new responsibilities and restrictions applicable to US armed forces' practice in event of future conflict.

Von Glahn joined the Duluth State Teachers college faculty in 1941 and resumed his faculty position with the rank of associate professor of political science in June, 1947. In recent years he has concentrated his teaching efforts in the fields of international law and political theory.

Dimes March Marches On

Beta Phi Kappa's 3rd annual March of Dimes drive on the UMD campus has produced unexpected results. As part of the drive, Beta had placed two March of Dimes collection boxes in the Student Center cafeteria. One of these was the standard March of Dimes collection advertisement with an iron lung provided for student contributions.

During the frat's weekly collection last Tuesday, Jim Gillespie, in charge of collections, discovered the loss of the iron lung containing the money accumulated during the week. According to Gillespie, the "lung" must have been picked up sometime between last Friday night's Buckhorn dance and Tuesday noon, since its loss was not noticed until then.

Jock Glendenning, chairman of the drive, commented, "If someone wanted to borrow money, I'd be glad to lend it to them. There was only a small amount in the receptacle, but even that could have helped out some needy child. I hope that the person responsible will return it. If he wishes to do so, he may place it in Beta Phi Kappa's P. O. box, and no questions will be asked."

Seminar to Meet

Every Thursday from now until the end of the quarter, the LSA will be holding a seminar on dating, courtship, and marriage at First Lutheran Church immediately following the weekly meeting, or at about 7:45 p. m. The discussion will be led by different authorities on the subject. The speaker for next Thursday will be Mr. Gene Meyer of family service. He will discuss "In Courtship".

Vets Ask Support

The newly-reorganized UMD Vet's club held a coffee social meeting to enlist the support of organizations on campus. The club intends to sponsor all-school activities such as dances and will attempt to bolster sagging student spirit.

President Bob Pearl expressed dismay on finding that recalcitrant representatives did not attend the social.

Newman Fete Set

Hey kids, come and get it! Newman club members will be rolling meatballs next weekend for their spaghetti dinner 4:30-7:30 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 3 at Holy Rosary church.
