

Felix Morley At Convo Today

'Education, Citizenship'
Topic of Journalist

Felix Morley, educator and journalist, will speak on "Education and Citizenship" at Convocation at 11:30 a.m. today in Northrop auditorium.

Morley, a former president of Haverford college in Pennsylvania, resigned to head a Washington news service. He also is a former editor of the Washington Post and a frequent contributor to the Saturday Evening Post, the Wall Street Journal and the Washington Evening Star.

Like his brothers, Christopher, author and essayist, and Frank, publisher, Morley won a Rhodes scholarship after graduating from Haverford. He entered Oxford in 1919.

He returned to the United States in 1922 and joined the staff of the Baltimore Sun. In 1925 the newspaper sent him to the Far East, and he spent six months in Japan, China and the Philippines.

Morley became editor of the Washington Post in 1933 and became known as a critic of New Deal policies. He won a Pulitzer prize for his editorials.

Morley and Dr. Leighton Stuart, president of Yenching university, China, will be guests at a luncheon in the Union after Convocation.

Emotion Rules Over Conscience, Beach Says

Literary tyranny prevails over the social conscience in modern poetry, Joseph Warren Beach, chairman of the department of English, said yesterday in the fifth address in the symposium on civilization in the United States, sponsored by the Program in American Studies.

Professor Beach believes that individual emotional problems have taken precedence over the social conscience in poetry. Edna St. Vincent Millay is concerned chiefly with the emotional problems of women; T. S. Eliot advocates a return to the catholicism of Dante. "The art of poetry today consist chiefly in avoiding the literary cliché."

A writer must be in possession of both a social and a literary conscience and must reconcile his social with his literary conscience. Professor Beach mentioned Dante's Divine Comedy as an illustration of a poet-writer who used his social conscience: the recognition of worldly evil, as a basis for his literary conscience.

Social conscience is a universal phenomenon, not limited to literature but found in both music and painting. "I am convinced that in the United States today there are men and women of genius who will in the future voice the social criticism of their consciences," Professor Beach declared. "But I do not know where they are to be found."

U Trailer Camp To Open Feb. 21

19 Veterans' Families
Ready to Move in Official opening of the University's emergency Como avenue trailer camp will be next Thursday, Joseph C. Poucher, director of service enterprises, said yesterday.

Twenty trailers will be occupied for the first time on that date, with others to follow as additional sanitary and utility facilities are set up and more trailers arrive and are reconditioned.

Occupancy notices now are being sent out to 19 married Minnesota veteran students, Poucher said. All were chosen by lot at a drawing conducted by President J. L. Morrill about a month ago.

The first student on the list to occupy the trailers is Donald I. O'Dean, Business junior, who, with his wife and seven-month-old daughter Georgia Lynn, has been living in an apartment with friends.

O'Dean, who was discharged from the army in 1943, says he and his family have been "bounced about quite a bit" in finding a place to stay. He is sure he will be comfortable in a trailer.

Other married veteran students who are included in the first occupancy list are Roman Miller, Donald Glisky, Orval Dohmolt, Larry Langen, Donald Eyberg, Clarke Taube, Kenneth Winsness, Ronald Dunnell, G. L. Maxwell, Bernard Berke, Harold Todd, John Snyder, James Bennett, William Douglas, Marvin Holmgren, Burton Borg, Ernest Ready and Howard Agre.

Only students holding a number one priority will be included in the first group to occupy the trailers on Feb. 2. This priority was granted to married veterans with children.

Other priorities are as follows: number two—married but childless Minnesota veterans; number three—married non-resident veterans with children; number four—married but childless non-resident veterans.

The one additional trailer which will be ready for occupancy next Thursday will be assigned to John Volden, Graduate student, who has been chosen as manager of the camp. Volden will live in the trailer until an office trailer arrives.

Vet Enrollment To Hit 18,000?

By Richard E. Kobak

Estimates of the number of veterans enrolling at the University spring quarter ranged from 8,800 to more than 18,000, according to predictions made yesterday on figures released by the bureau of veterans affairs and the veterans administration.

The bureau's figure was the number of veterans declaring their intention of registering spring quarter. VA figures showed the number of applications made for educational benefits under the GI bill of rights. Figures released previously have shown that half the number of veterans applying for such benefits in the state come to the University.

This means that of the 8,506, 4,253 may come here. If the number of veterans applying for educational benefits remains the same for the next two months, 12,759 new veterans would enroll.

There is nothing to indicate when these men would enroll, but presumably, since they have already declared their intention of going to school under the GI bill, many would enroll for spring quarter.

Added to the 5,600 veterans already enrolled at the University, the 12,759 might bring veterans enrollment up to more than 18,000. Even if many of the veterans enrolled at present were to drop out of school, enrollment of veterans still would be very high.

The increase in the number of men applying for educational benefits is due mainly to two factors: the newly revised GI bill provides increased subsistence allowances for men attending school, and demobilization has been speeded up.

An enrollment of about 18,000 veterans would depend almost entirely on the rate of demobilization for the next few weeks.

Another estimate of veterans enrollment spring quarter can be reached on figures released yesterday by Curtis E. Avery, director of the bureau of veterans affairs.

Sixty-four veterans a day have come into the bureau of veterans affairs since Jan. 21 and signified their intention of entering the University in spring quarter. If that number remains constant, 3,200 new veterans will enter the University spring quarter making a total enrollment of more than 8,800.

Writers Club Today

Writers club will read and criticize manuscripts at its weekly meeting at 8 p.m. today in 231 Union. All students may attend.

Regents May Ban Non-Minnesotans

Indication that the Board of Regents may act on restricting registration of out-of-state students at its meeting tomorrow was made by an authoritative source yesterday.

What course the Regents will decide upon cannot be predicted accurately, but it is thought that they may consider some form of out-of-state restriction.

Several members of the faculty and administration have pointed out that such limitation will have little effect in solving problems of crowded enrollment.

Opponents of a restriction plan argue that a true solution to the problem can be reached only through expansion of the facilities of the University. The action of the Regents tomorrow may indicate their opinions of this suggestion.

While many persons are against restricting enrollment, they believe that this University may be forced into accepting such a measure because of the action of other Western conference universities.

YWCA Holds Carnival Today in Great Hall

"Atlantic City Boardwalk" is the theme of the YWCA carnival at 5:30 p.m. today in the Great hall of the YMCA.

The carnival will include telegraph and fortune-telling booths, dart throwing, movies, penny toss, freak show, fish pond and a stage show. Food will be on sale.

There is no entrance charge to the carnival, but small fees will be charged at each booth. Purpose of the carnival is to earn money to send delegates to the YWCA convention March 2-8 in Atlantic City, N. J.

Delegates will be Joan Clark, president of YWCA; Louisa Wetherbee, vice president; Ruth Koplitz, public affairs chairman; Merriam Sprague, club chairman; Barbara Rucker, freshman program chairman; Louise Jones, assistant director.

Prometheans to Discuss FEPC at Meet Sunday

"Shall We Establish a Permanent FEPC?" is the panel discussion topic for the next meeting of the Promethean club at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Unitarian church, 1526 Harmon place.

All students may attend. Refreshments will be served. Moderator is Addison Patter, Law student.

Magnets and Semantics

'Log Predicts Big E-Day

By Virginia Caldwell

A bigger and better Engineers day has been predicted in the February issue of Technolog which comes out today.

The editors have traced the celebration back to 1903 when a large stone fell off the Mines building onto the foot of an engineering student, thereby distracting his attention from a passing blonde.

Of interest to all students is the six-page spread of household marvels they can expect to see and use in the near future. Coeds especially will want to see what's new in the way of electric dishwashers, automatic clothes washers and dryers and electric blankets.

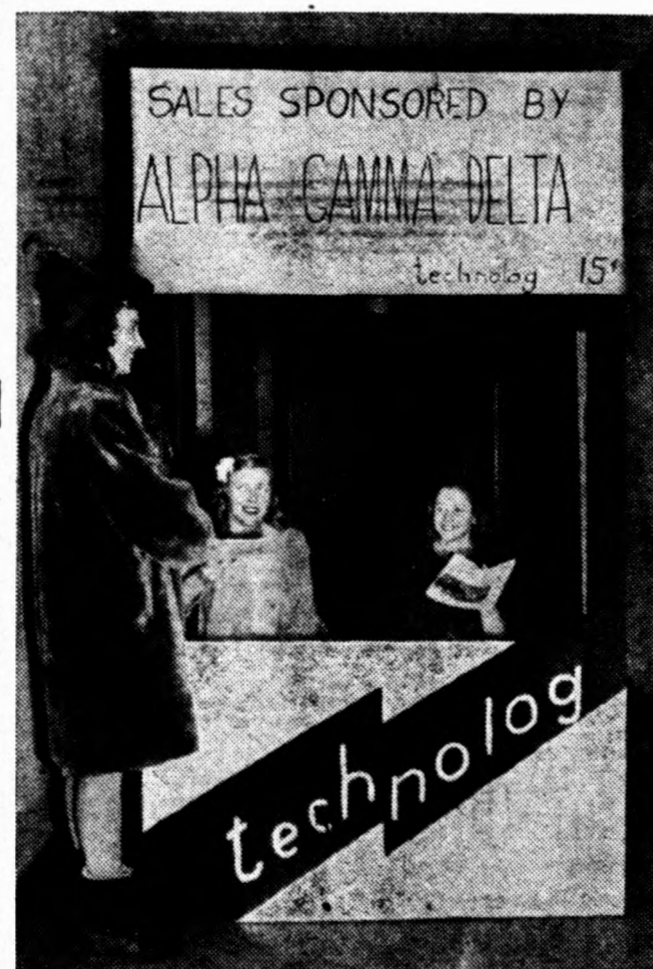

Semantics come in for a beating from William Campbell, Technolog sophomore, in "What Are These Things Called Words?" He'll have you as confused as Garver and Hansen have Economics 6 students when you finish reading his article.

Ted Lee, Technolog freshman, has written "Midgets of Strength, an article about the mysteries of magnetism. He explains that the main factor holding back completion of research in the science of magnetism is that none of the theories have been verified thoroughly.

Engineers will be interested in the preview of the 1946 Engineering-Industrial Exposition and Victory conference which will be held from Wednesday through Feb. 23 at the Minneapolis Armory and Radisson hotel.

The Greeks come in for a classification in Campus Types. And there's the double-page picture spread of well-known campus characters—"Progress Parade," "Your Colossal Ideas," "The Minnesota Doily," "Names for Fame" and three pages of Purloined Prototypes.

Technolog will continue a recently inaugurated sales policy. Alpha Gamma Delta sorority will sell copies in Folwell hall, and in the Union Postoffice.

Northwestern Wins, 72-49; Gopher Defense Collapses

EVANSTON, ILL.—(Special)—Max Morris showed the Minnesota basketball team why he was last year's Big Ten scoring champion when he pivoted and spun his way around the bewildered Gophers last night to ring up 30 points and lead his Wildcat teammates to a 72-49 victory before a jam-packed crowd of 2,600 in the Evanston high school gym. The defeat was the third straight loss for the Gophers and it all but eliminated them from any chances of sharing in the conference title. It also shoved them down to fifth place behind the victorious Wildcats.

It was just a matter of time to pick the winner as the Gopher defense fell all to pieces after the first seven and a half minutes.

With four minutes gone, the deficit and appeared very much in the ball game. Then Morris broke loose and three minutes later the score had mounted to 22-14 for Northwestern.

The Wildcats continued to peck away at the Minnesota basket and left the floor at the end of the half on the long end of a 43-23 score.

Three Gophers—McIntyre, Ajax and Brewster—took turns guarding Morris. Ajax had the most success.

Morris' total might have been higher if he could have hit with more regularity from the free throw line. He hit on only 4 of 14 chances.

King and Morris each scored a basket to put the Cats out in front, but Jaros kept the visitors in the running with four points. How-

McIntyre then sank two quick baskets and Kernan drove in under the basket to score and give Minnesota its only lead of the night, 10-8. From there on it was all Northwestern as Morris and his mates started to hit consistently and ran up their wide margin.

Gophers Rout Engineers, 7-2

By Rod Rasmusson

Minnesota's puck team systematically ripped apart an outclassed Michigan Tech squad and coasted to an easy 7-2 win last night before 1,500 fans.

Taking up from where they left off in last week's Michigan series, the Gophers took control of the game from the initial faceoff and blasted away at the weak Engineer defense. Only the brilliant work of Tech goalie Steve Meyers kept the Gophers from piling up an even larger margin.

The bespectacled Meyers had a total of 59 stops, most of them of the sensational variety. Almost buried under the Maroon and Gold avalanche in the final period, Meyers kicked out a total of 29 shots.

The impotent Tech offense made no serious threats after the middle of the second period. And in the final 20 minutes the Engineers were on the Minnesota side of the blue line only once.

Led by Joe Tergesen who continued his bruising blue line work, the Gophers played their best defensive hockey of the year. The rugged defenseman scored his goal after a sensational solo dance through the entire Tech team despite the fact that he was playing with a broken arm.

The Gophers opened the game slowly, scoring first when Dick Roberts hit the net on a shot which ricocheted off a Tech man's skate. The Engineers tied it up a moment later when Jack Ruhl batted Abby Maki's rebound past Red McCabe.

At 4:20 of the second period big Bud Frick scored on a pass from Flemming to give the Gophers a 2-1 lead. Abby Maki tied it up again when he got a red light on an assist from Ruelle. Tergesen's solo dash then gave the Gophers a lead which they never relinquished.

Just before the end of the period during a wild melee in front of the Tech net, Finnegan's pass was deflected into the cage when it hit Dennis Rolle's stick. The surprised Rolle had his back to the nets when the goal was scored.

Jim Wild, Bob Flemming and Bud Frick punched in the last three Gopher tallies in the final period which was played almost entirely on the Tech side of the ice.

SALLY & BUD

Be Careful, It's My Heart!

Word o' Warnin'

When he looks at you with passion,
Swears his love undying,
When you whisper you'll be his,
Shivering and sighing,
Sister, make a note of this:
One of you is lying!!!

These

Delts don't have much trouble getting acquainted, we hear. Seems like the lad who's having the least trouble is Jack Morse, and running a close second is Jerry Wickland. Havin' fun, fellahs???

Get Out Your

Weeping rags, gals! This man is "out of circulation"! And Bud Giddings announced it by passing a cradle-full of suckers to the Alpha Gams, where he's busboy, to announce his engagement to Pat Kelley of Winona.

Don't You Love

surprises? And don't you love to cause them, too? Fine—it's for you we have a tip: How about surprising some little shaver on your list with an exciting colored picture-story book. Perine's (across from the knoll) have some new ones in, for only $1.50. You'll be delighted to delight some tot with one of these!

Gatherin' Moonbeams

Is the favorite pastime of Donna Mae Peterson and Don Hoffstedt, V-12. They must kinda like that moon stuff, 'cuz they're to be married March 2! And while Don is winnin' a wonderful gal, pore ole Murphy Hall is losin' a real sweet librarian!!

A Well-Developed Personality,

sez Bud, may be the thing that makes ya click, chick—but a well developed wardrobe is what'll make ya shine 'n be mine. And the right way to develop your summer crop of cottons is to start right now by choosing one of the gay and giddy summer arrivals at Peggy's Dress Shop, near the Varsity theater in Dinkytown.

Last Chance Looie

Is that you? Valentine's Day is here and you've forgotten all about getting anything for your special Valentine! Don't despair, you can pop into University Florists in Dinkytown and take her a corsage or some cut flowers—and save the day!

Show me the Scotchman who doesn't love a bargain,
Show me the Englishman who doesn't go for tea,
Show me the student who doesn't go to Stumble Inn
And come out singing
"That food's for me!"
1407 University S.E.

How Ya Feelin', Huh?

Have you been gaining weight? Does your head feel heavy lately? Do you feel as though there is a curtain between you and the outside world? What you need, brother, is a trip to the Minnesota "Take Off" Barber Shop, 1323 Fourth St. S.E. You need a haircut, Silly!

Cutest Couple of the week and it didn't take much lookin' to find them either, are Mary Kvaase, KD, and Joe Buckhouse, Phi Gam.

No, No, No,

it couldn't be true, that I could look any lovelier than I do. It's all on account of because I rented my luscious formal for the dance Saturday from the Campus Wardrobe Exchange, 418 14th Ave. S.E.

So You Can't Cook!

Well, the least you can do is look charm-in' while you're tryin', anyway! And who wouldn't look that way in the gay, flowered aprons at McGrew's, 403 14th Ave. S.E.???

What a Punch!

She's ticklish, ADPI's Jeannie Dyson, that is! So Wayne Sueker, Sigma Chi, found out. Just take a look at the gash on his eye, and his nose that he didn't know was busted until he tried to blow it, and it moved! He'll try to tell you it happened when he was fixing his car—don't believe it!

Some Call It Smearin'

but we call it art—'n everybody who's in the know about what's grillin' in the art department knows that there's nothin' missin' in the line of artists' dreams at Acme, 421 14th Ave. S.E.

They Feel So Gay

And nothin' melancholy about it either, 'cuz Lloyd Boyd hung his Acacia pin on Ruth (Hotsie) Eddleson, ADPI, and for them, it might as well be spring.

Let It Snow

And snow and snow, or hail, or rain, or storm—nothin' d stop us from going out to Nolan's (3926 W. 50th St.) for a spot of food to finish off a perfect evening.

The Music Played

and it was so heavenly. That's 'cuz we were dancing to music by the Twin Cities' finest 12-piece band—Clausen-Bossing. Call them at Lo. 2966.

Question of the Week

Who was that cute brunette who helped out the three lonely Sigs at Moon Valley last Tuesday?? Rog, Fred and Jim would like to hear from you—what say??

And This Got By

I know a girl I do,
Her name is Annie Lou,
And all she ever likes to do,
Is feed her face and coo.
So now when I take her out,
She never, never pouts.
We go to the show and pet
And to the Gopher Cafe to et.
809 Hennepin Ave.

Feet First

They say, and what they mean, a 'course, is to take care of your feet 'fore other less important things! The best solution we've found for your feet problem is the 50% wool sweat sox and American made tennis shoes at C. L. Thurston's, 1322 Fourth St. S.E.

Well, Honey-Chile!!

Me-bee those weren't the exact words, but anyway Fred Gross, Sigma Chi, repinned Beryl Jean Schwartz before he left for medical school in Kentucky.

Better Late

Than never, you're heard say. Could be! If you haven't sent a Valentine card off yet, you'd better hustle right over to Brown's Drug Store—600 Washington—and pick out some Hallmark cards to send now! Last call!

It Had Been a Long, long time since Gloria Hagen, Alpha Chi, had seen Jerry McDonald. But now that he's home from the South Pacific and going to school—they're having a wonderful time, 'most all the time.

Ummmmm—Nice!

Said the lassie, and "gee!" said the lad. What brought on all this smoochful talk?? Why, nothin' but Brock Holmes when he hung his Acacia pin on Lelle McNeill!

SALLY & BUD

Look Out!—

Over the river and through the woods—but not to Grandmother's house you'll go. For the horse knows the way to carry the sleigh—for your party at the Hilltop Riding Academy, 4500 Central Ave. N.E., Gr. 1441.

Spring brings the urge for short hair. Have your hair cut the way you like it.

Ritter Beauty Salon

J. David Ritter, hair stylist

(Professional Advice in Choosing the Lipstick, Makeup, and Cosmetics That Are Right for You)

Harvard & Washington Ave. S.E. Gl. 5566

That Locket in His Pocket

was OK while he was in service, but now that he's sportin' a ruptured duck he'll want a glamour photo of you to gaze at night and day. So why not present THE BOY with a lush drape picture such as they take so beautifully at Newburgs??

SOS—SOS

Emergency! Here it is Valentine's Day and you've clean forgotten to get anything for your gal. You're sunk! Almost—but not if you dash into Sheffield's Florists, Oak and Washington, and pick out a corsage or bouquet quick like. A tight situation will be rescued!

Well, So to Speak

And while you're speakin', might as well make talk about the topic of the week! Well, natch, it's the Newman Hop, to be held next Thursday in the Junior Ballroom in the Union. Bud Strawn's band will play, and all you gay lads and lassies really ought to come!!

Valuable Slip

Of paper, that is! It's Jack Williams' discharge paper from Uncle Sam, reason why Zeta Tau Alpha's June Williams is beaming these days—her hubby's home!

If You Don't Study

then skip this item, 'cuz you wouldn't care about gettin' lit up anyway (uh huh!!). But if you're one of the 2% of the students who beat the books, you'll want to glow while studying, wontcha?? Well all reet, stop in at Crane's in Dinkytown and pick up one of their new fluorescent study lamps—guaranteed to make you "bright" while beaverin'.

Socially Speaking

If you like to sing . . .

. . . you'll like the noon sing at 12:30 p.m. today in the Union main lounge. There will be group singing led by a student leader and special numbers.

Union main ballroom . . .

. . . is the home of the Beginners' Lindy dance instruction from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. today. Al Wiklund will instruct and admission is 10 cents.

Occupational . . .

. . . therapy club will meet at 12:30 p.m. today in 343-344 Union. Mr. Boe of the Fine Arts department will speak on the "First Two Years of Occupational Therapy."

Sweetheart . . .

. . . of the navy ring dance was Mary Ann Kooser, Alpha Gam, who was escorted by Phi Delt Stan Prather.

Fifteen . . .

. . . girls from the Northeast Settlement school will be entertained by the Pi Phi today at a Valentine party.

Diamond-shaped . . .

. . . pin wearers of SAE are new actives John LaVine, Dave LaVine, Jack Hedlund, Fred Herfurth, Darrel Hoffman and Don Grawert.

President . . .

. . . Lloyd Boyd of the Acacias has just hung his pin on Ruth Edelson, ADPI.

Latest . . .

. . . candy passer at the Gamma Phi house is Margaret Kimpel who announced her engagement to Nels Gunderson Monday night.

Chi Omega's . . .

Pathologist to Attend Washington Meeting

Dr. J. J. Christensen, acting chief of the division of plant pathology, left yesterday to attend a meeting of the National Research Council in Washington, D. C. The meeting is being held tomorrow and Saturday.

The council has invited Dr. Christensen to discuss plant growth at its botany symposium.

Union Board Plans National Convention

Union board members from colleges throughout the country, who will be guests of the Union board in April, will be given a chance to choose their topics of discussion, George Wright, president of the Board, announced at the meeting last night.

A letter, sent out today, proposes four possible discussion topics and asks the union boards to number them in order of preference.

Interviews of resigned committee chairmen, conducted by Margaret Nelson, program consultant, showed that most of the reasons for resignation were not the fault of the Board.

Miss Nelson recommended that a more careful investigation be undertaken regarding the students' activities. Previous commitments were given as a reason for resignation by a considerable number of chairmen.

A further suggestion was made that an examination be made of the programs for which the committees were responsible. "Some of the committees," Miss Nelson said, "do not give much chance for the student chairman to use his initiative."

The following sponsorships were appointed: John Richter, arts; Jack Wiersma, music; Hern Sittard, dance.

Northrop Club to Hold Banquet in Union Today

Northrop club, Congregational student organization, will hold a banquet at 6:30 p.m. today in the Union junior ballroom with John Christianson, Law freshman, as master of ceremonies. Banquet speaker will be Hugo Thompson, professor of philosophy at Macalester college.

Don Toland, Arts sophomore, will sing. Members of the decorations committee are Meriam Sprague and Betty Jane Hicks. Social chairman is Gordon Ruth, Arts freshman.

Sculpture Show in Union Directed by Omega Rho

A sculpture show consisting of ceramics and wood sculpture will be held from Monday to Feb. 23 in the Union Terrace room under the direction of Omega Rho, art organization.

The exhibit will be judged by John Rood, art education lecturer, and Laurence Schmeckebier, chairman of the fine arts department.

Bottineau Beats Wings, 23-21

By Don Olson

In one of the biggest upsets of the intramural basketball tourney Bottineau's giant killer toppled the previously undefeated and highly touted Wings quintet, 23 to 21, last night.

Towering Warren Anderson provided the needed punch for the winners as he slipped in 11 points while holding the Wings ace John Moir to one basket. The halftime score showed the Wings leading by a scant 7 to 6 margin, but an entirely new Bottineau team broke the spell and stepped out in front.

Bob Sandburg rugged Wings guard was the defensive star for the losers as well as high point man with 10 markers. His exceptional floor game and rebounding monopolized the ball throughout the tilt.

Karl Michalik loomed up out of the 5 Bees aggregation to spell defeat for the hapless 5 Mistakes, 42 to 22.

Karlsrud, stellar Mistake center, had a bad night and saw his usually high scoring average pared down to 10 points. Michalik dropped in 13 counters to take scoring honors and lead the winners' attack.

The plucky Newman Club lead by Hyland's 14 points walked over the demoralized Wolves, 39 to 25, in a contest marked with fine passing and lightning-like fast breaks. Majjala contributed 7 points for the losers.

Legion Post 528 drilled the Miners, 34 to 26, by virtue of Sabako's 20 point scoring spree. Anderson, mainstay in the losers' lineup, turned in his usual brilliant performance and hung up 16 counters.

A well balanced Strays team literally scuttled the bluejacket Co. I, Platoon quintet, 35 to 19, as they were paced by Emerson with 10 points.

Jacobson, M and M forward, garnished 14 counters and assisted in nudging 109 Club out of the running with an impressive 43 to 28 win.

The Agates felt the fury of Co. V's sailors and came in on the tail end of a 31 to 18 score. Gaarder, talented free throw artist, netted 13 points of which 7 were free throws.

In the fraternity competition Beta Theta Pi ran roughshod over Phi Kappa Psi, 40 to 28, as Bryngelson dropped in 22 points for the winning quintet.

Dick Johnson was the high man with 16 markers for the triumphant Sigma Nu five in their lopsided 45 to 18 win over the Phi Epsilon Pi team.

Volleyball Players Sought for Tourney

Volleyball teams and single players are wanted for an all-University tourney beginning Feb. 20. Entries should be made at the Intramural office, 203 Cooke hall, by today.

From 6:30 p.m. on, the Field house will be given over to volleyball. Games are limited to 11 points to assure players of seeing action in several games during playing time.

Dates for the tournament play are Feb. 20, 26, 28 and March 5 and 7.

Handball and squash entries also are being taken at the Intramural office. No dates have been set. Both individuals and organizations may enter.

Morris Takes Conference Scoring Lead

Northwestern's giant forward, Max Morris, defending champion in the individual scoring race, surged to the front of the pack over the weekend by pouring 49 points through the hoop in two games, for a total of 147 in nine games.

Morris went on a spree to ring up 30 counters against Minnesota and counted 19 more against Wisconsin to pass Illinois' star forward, Bob Doster, by 11 points. Doster had held the lead from the start of the season.

Needing only 42 points in his team's three remaining games, Morris appears certain to surpass his winning total of last season when he won the title with 189 points. He has an average of 16.3 so far this year and if he can keep this pace up will wind up with 195 counters.

Leading the Minnesota scoring is forward Tony Jaros, who has rung the bell for 106 counters in the Gophers' eight contests. He is the only one to top the century mark among the Gophers. Trailing Jaros in the team scoring is freshman center Jim McIntyre, who has 68 points. Warren Ajax, senior guard, and Ed Kernan, freshman guard, follow with 66 points apiece.

Michigan took over the team scoring leadership with an average of 54.3 points per game, with Minnesota trailing by one-tenth point with an average of 54.2. Michigan has played 11 games to the Gophers eight. Northwestern follows in third position with a 53.5 average.

Illinois continues to lead the defensive department, allowing the opposition an average of 38.5 points, while league leading Iowa and second place Ohio State follow in a tie with averages of 43.3.

Following are the first ten men in the individual scoring race:

| Player, Team | G | FG | FT | PF | Pts. |
|----------------------|----|----|----|----|------|
| Morris, Northwestern | 9 | 56 | 35 | 21 | 147 |
| Doster, Illinois | 9 | 54 | 28 | 16 | 136 |
| Cook, Wisconsin | 9 | 54 | 23 | 17 | 131 |

I-M Slate I-M Sportsmanship Criticized by Smith

By Harland Olson

Poor sportsmanship on the part of Intramural teams who forfeit games without due notice was criticized sharply by W. R. Smith, Intramural director, following a recent night of play in which only two of four scheduled games could be played.

Scoring the inconvenience caused by the forfeitures, Smith emphasized the obvious necessity of notifying the Intramural office if a team scheduled for play finds it necessary to forfeit its match.

Because of the recent epidemic of forfeitures in which no previous announcement was made of the default, several teams have been inconvenienced by the failure of their opponents to appear an student's valuable time has been sacrificed unnecessarily.

If the Intramural office had been notified of the forfeitures prior to gametime, other games scheduled for later that night could have been moved up, saving the time of students, officials and the house-keeping staff.

Abuse of the privileges accorded teams in the Intramural leagues, including free use of the Field house, free officiating and free use of equipment, are the least of the irritations, Smith said.

In the future, Smith continued, if it is necessary for a team to forfeit a game, it is requested that the Intramural office be notified of the default so that a rescheduling of other contests for the same night may be effected.

Veterans Club Board Tables Division Plan

The Veterans club executive board tabled action to reorganize the club again last night.

The proposed reorganization would mean breaking the club down into smaller units, so that more members would become active.

At present, only about 100 members are active on committees, and attendance at general business meetings never has exceeded 300 of the club's 2,700 membership.

The executive board also passed a recommendation of FEPC legislation. The recommendation will be brought up at the general business meeting today for approval by the membership.

If approved, copies of the resolution backing legislation will be sent to President Truman, Senators Shipstead and Ball, representatives from Minnesota, Postmaster General Robert Hannegan and Alben Barkley.

The executive board also passed a recommendation to be presented to the general membership today backing the measures proposed by Wilson Wyatt, federal housing expediter, to cut down unnecessary building in favor of housing.

Merchant Marine Vote At Vet Club Meet Today

The Veterans club will hold a general business meeting at 11:30 a.m. today in the Union main ballroom. A final decision will be reached on the proposal that former members of the merchant marine be admitted to the club.

The executive board of the club recommended Feb. 6 that former members of the merchant marine not be accepted for membership. The general membership will vote on the measure today.

Miss Densford to Talk

Katharine J. Densford, director of the School of Nursing, will discuss nursing education on a radio program, "The Doctors Talk It Over," at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday on station WTCN.

Dr. Eva Donelson to Head Department of Foods at Ohio State

Dr. Eva Donelson, associate professor of nutrition, will leave the University staff on March 15 to head the department of foods and nutrition at Ohio State university. Dr. Donelson's resignation was announced last week.

During her 12 years at the University she has done research to discover the nutritional status of college women. This research project has been carried on in conjunction with five other experiment stations in the region.

She also has worked on the utilization of ascorbic acid and other foods by human beings.

Dr. Donelson served as chairman of the state nutrition committee in 1943 and as president of the Minnesota Home Economics association in 1940.

Buying Habits Of Consumers Retail Topic

Mrs. A. W. Saterlee, manager of the Consumer Interest department of the Minneapolis Better Business bureau, will talk on "Consumer Buying Habits" at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in room 206 Westbrook hall to the General college retailing and selling class.

Mrs. Saterlee will consider the human relationships between the consumer and the retailer, and will comment on methods of handling consumer grievances.

Students interested in managerial and business occupations and selected by tests and personnel interviews from the vocational classes of Dr. George A. Pierson, instructor of vocational orientation, also will take part in the discussion.

Ag League of Women Voters to Meet Today

Mrs. Fred Koller, former president of the faculty women's club, will lead the discussion at an organization meeting of Ag campus League of Women Voters at 12:15 p.m. today in 204 Ag Union.

A chairman and adviser will be elected. Lorraine Sorenson, Home Economics sophomore, is temporary chairman. All Home Economics women students may attend.

'Closed Door' Policy—Boomerang

★ WHAT WILL BE the University's solution to the question of restricted enrollment? Early this week it was thought that the Board of Regents would pass a resolution tomorrow, limiting enrollment to state residents only (to begin spring quarter and not retroactive.) Such a plan would not include the Graduate school.

But since the beginning of the week, more progressive measures have been suggested—raising of entrance requirements, or an adaptation of the first suggestion designed to take much of the wallop out of such a provincial policy.

England Letter

by John McFie

LONDON—A few days ago I went to a UNO session. I arrived at 7 p.m. and found the meeting did not begin until 9:30 p.m. So, while the delegates were supping in swank hotels, this common man had a couple of cheese sandwiches and a pint of beer in a nearby pub.

I returned to the hall at 8 p.m. to find some 20 persons already in line, so I took my place and waited while the line grew. At 9:15 p.m. we were admitted to the public gallery.

From the gallery, we could look around the brightly lighted hall, with its blue and gray drapery, and down onto the president's table, the speaker's rostrum with its microphones and the long tables for delegates, labelled alphabetically by countries.

Delegates entered in groups—a

The Senate committee meets today—and the matter is likely to come up; the Regents convene tomorrow, and the issue is almost certain to be placed before them. The problem is a hot potato—faculty members and administrators possibly may make their suggestions public after the next two days—but not before.

Consider the idea of limiting enrollment to state residents. Such a plan would amount to setting up a private, "home town" institution, and is defended on the grounds that some Big Ten universities already have taken these steps; Minnesota either must fall into line or be swamped by out-of-staters turned away from other schools.

If Minnesota adopts this limitation of enrollment, its action will influence other institutions. The rest of the universities, first in the Big Ten, and then throughout the country, will get caught in the snowball.

—And so, students from Minnesota who regularly would go half dozen or so from each country—chatting to each other while the photographers took pictures, concentrating on the four Arabian delegates in their white hoods and brown burnouses.

At 9:45 p.m. president Spaak, took his seat, rapped the gavel, and the proceedings began.

Here I must confess that I went to the session largely in hopes of seeing a fireworks display between Vishinsky and Bevin over the presence of British troops in Greece.

The subject of discussion was not Greece, but UNRRA. First speaker was Sol Bloom of the USA, who gave a moving appeal for the continuation, and increase, of support for UNRRA—the first, and for humanity, the most important of the United Nations organizations.

Next on the rostrum was the rotund, baldish English-into-French interpreter, who delivered Bloom's speech in French, and with more dramatic effect and better choice of phrase, I thought, than did Bloom. If there was one "star turn" at the session, it was this earnest interpreter, who could get up and, without notes, deliver a French translation of a five-to-10 minute English speech, almost better than the original. He certainly deserved the applause.

Delegates from Turkey, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland and Greece backed the resolution. So did the Argentinian, but he managed to turn his speech into a complaint that shortages of coal, gasoline and rubber make it hard for the Argentine to do much contributing.

Finally, Britain's Noel-Baker paid tribute to Bloom's energetic pleas in behalf of UNRRA in the U.S. congress. "Without America," he said, "there would have been no UNRRA; and without UNRRA, this winter would have been one of complete disaster."

But, he pointed out, the world is suffering a five-continent drought; the crop shortage will bring the nutrition of 130,000,000 persons in Europe to famine level. "UNRRA must have not one, but two per cent of each country's revenue," he concluded.

At 11:55 p.m. President Spaak declared that, there being no opposition, the resolution was adopted unanimously, and the session closed.

Two days later, reading of the Soviet Union's accusation that British troops in Greece were "endangering the peace," and of Bevin's ham-fisted and altogether undiplomatic retorts, I was glad I had been present at a more tranquil and humane session of UNO.

to, say, Wisconsin, can't—and vice versa. The net enrollment hasn't been cut down; students from one state simply are being educated in their own bailiwick—and the enrollment situation is as bad as ever.

The increased enrollment problem is faced by practically every other university in the country. If Minnesota doesn't keep an open door policy, it can't expect that the rest of the universities will.

All universities have colleges and departments in which they excel. And state residents in Minnesota may be denied the right to educational facilities in particular departments of other schools that hold an edge over the University of Minnesota.

This Mortal Coil

—by Bill Allen

A Symphony In Discord?

★ CAMPUS LIBERAL GROUPS seem to have one fundamental weakness—they split, on aims, procedures and the placing of every comma.

A new liberal group, formed in the past two weeks, held a meeting Tuesday night. The issue: whether the club should concern itself with campus or state and national politics. The result: a 10-7 vote in favor of state and national issues, and, if possible, a tie-up with the National Citizens' Political Action committee or the Independent Citizens' committee.

There's a 50-50 chance that the Senate committee might put the kibosh on such a campus group which affiliates itself with an off-campus organization.

But aside from this, a rift between a campus-issues faction and the nationally minded NCPAC exponents is almost sure to take place in the embryonic liberal club. The NCPAC frankly won't dabble with campus affairs, yet a concern for campus issues is not easily forgotten by a student who believes in cutting his teeth on local problems before rearranging national politics.

This is not to say that a student should not be well informed on national issues, or should not, upon occasion, write a stinging telegram to his congressman.

But students generally know more about campus problems—the localized problems; furthermore, a campus group organized to deal with these situations carries far more weight when it throws its opinion around than it would on national affairs. There is less dogma to be accepted, and a far better chance to deal constructively with close-at-hand troubles. Proximity is an asset. If students wish to work for a national organization, they might just as well join a downtown group.

Campus issues cry out for intelligent consideration; perhaps it would be wiser for the new liberal group to work on these issues—with an eye on national problems—before rushing into the major leagues, grabbing Life by the throat and shouting, "Give, brother, give!"

Campus Opinion

● Letters to the Editor

The Daily welcomes contributions to its Campus Opinion column, but reserves the right to limit letters to 250 words. All letters must be signed by the writer, and the writer's classification given.

To the Editor:

There are nearly 200 foreign students registered at the University, and the trend is toward a rapid increase in their number as soon as war-torn communications and transportation systems are restored to normalcy.

The University has at present no member of its staff specifically concerned with attending to the many special problems that confront these students. The type of problems to be attended to are of such wide scope as language difficulties; housing; finance; curriculum; civil authorities (passports and draft board); social orientation and many others.

To illustrate: The University of Illinois, which, with fewer foreign students registered than at the University, has recently appointed a dean of foreign students, also serving as head of their romance language department, Dean Hamilton. Kansas State university, with only 12 foreign students, has a foreign student adviser, Dr. Fritz Moore.

Former President Walter C. Coffey named a special faculty committee (contrary to the normal democratic procedure in that no students were included in this committee) which, I understand, made a thorough study of the problem and submitted to President Morrill a report for the month of August. What has happened to this report?

I am moved to write this letter in the firm belief that the situation should be known to all students on campus and because I believe there is no insurmountable obstacle on the road to improvement.

Many of the foreign students that today come here in search of knowledge and education will be potential leaders of their respective countries tomorrow. What better opportunity than this, to show them that the United States is not only a paradise of mechanical perfection but also a hospitable and understanding nation.

Eduardo Albertal,
Graduate student
(from Argentina).

To the Editor:

Apparently our junior Arts friend who tells so ironically about the gloomy atmosphere of campus would like to see it corrected. Yet he boasts of maintaining the gloomiest pan on campus.

Perhaps, if he would venture a smile and pleasant nod, someone might smile back. It does work. I know; I tried it.
