Legislature Passes University Appropriation; 3 1-2 Million For Building Purposes Available

Student and Alumni Fight for Increased Funds Comes to Satisfactory Conclusion—President Coffman Satisfied

With the passage of the University appropriation bill late yesterday afternoon by the senate, the legislative fight which has kept students and faculty on edge for two weeks came to a satisfactory close. The lower house passed the appropriation bill Tuesday.

The appropriation makes $3,000,000 available for maintenance for each of the next two years, in addition, $547,000 was voted as an emergency fund which is immediately available. The general appropriation does not increase effect until July 1, so the emergency fund will allow for the purchase of equipment and supplies which are needed between now and that time.

Program Changed

Present relief for the building strain caused by the rapid growth of the University was made possible by a change in the building program law of 1919. The modification of the program places approximately 3 1/2 million dollars of the building fund at the immediate disposal of the administration for construction purposes. This is considered a decided improvement over the original plan of the program which allowed $500,000 during each of 10 years. The modification does not increase the total sum of the building program fund, but only takes the allotment for each of eight separate years and lumps them together for immediate use. Such a change will make possible a present building policy that would otherwise not be undertaken and it is expected to assist greatly in relieving congestion.

Administration Content

Administrative officers expressed appreciation and satisfaction over the appropriation yesterday. President Lotus D. Coffman stated that the University will be able to function satisfactorily for the next two years, but rigid economy must prevail in all departments. It was pointed out that the University fared much better with their appropriation than many other departments of the state. The appropriation carries an increase of $1,135,000 per year over the biennial budget granted by the last session of the legislature.

Small Changes Made

Only slight changes were made in the bill before the house. An item calling for an allowance of $6,500 for experiments in making syrups from sweet corn stalks was stricken out. An amendment of $125,000 for the new agriculture school at Grand Rapids was defeated by a vote of 33 to 54.

"U" High Addition

The details of the appropriation also allows for an additional sum of $50,000 with which to build an addition to the University High school. Another sum of $200,000 which is also made available immediately, provides for the construction of a new warehouse which is held to be a highly necessary need. Work of drawing up the detailed budget, which has been delayed pending the outcome of the bill in the legislature, will get under way at once, according to A. J. Lobb, comptroller.

Ag Colleges Call Special Assembly

A special assembly for students in the Colleges of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics will be held in the auditorium of the Administration building at 10:15 this morning. Topics of interest to all students on the campus will be the election of student body officers, and at this time candidates for the "All-U" Council, The Daily, the Gopher, "Ag" Student Council and other offices will appear and present their views to the students.

The honor system will be discussed by Dean Freeman. The question of the annual Ag. boat trip will be also considered. Students having a third hour class will not be dismissed to attend this assembly.

Seniors Are Asked to Try Out for Plays

So that the talent of more of the seniors be presented, a group of one act plays has been selected by the senior class play committee to be given May 23 at the Princess theater.

Tryouts will be held at 4:30 Monday in the Little Theater. Since there are a large number of parts to be cast, many of the seniors are expected to try out

Violators of Rules In Election to be Tried at 'Y' Party

'Guaranteed Grub Gratis,' Special Music, Returns of All-University Elections, Other Stunts to Be Novelties of Evening.

Startling disclosures are promised at the Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. party to be given Friday night in the ballroom of the Minnesota Union. Public trials will be held of those who have violated the election rules by electioneering too close to the voting booths in the Postoffice. The judge has not been appointed, but the committee is making efforts to secure an impartial understanding from among the eminent members of the University faculty.

Additional features of the evening's entertainment include "Guaranteed Grub Gratis," special music, returns of the All-University elections, the great college game of "Passing the Buck," and other novelties.

Special music will be rendered by Harry Arp and Ray Davidson, with Miss Arp as accompanist. Their songs will include some of the popular melodies of old times, as well as of more recent composition.

Readers of Tuesday's Minneapolis newspapers will recall the announcement of the elopement last fall of two prominent members of the younger set. Following their leadership, certain Minnesota Eds and Co-eds are planning to attempt the same sort of ill-advised conduct tomorrow night. A group of those who expect to be guests at the "Y" party have "caught wind" of the affair and are leaving no stone unturned in order to prevent the catastrophe. If they are successful they have secretly promised the committee in charge of the party that they will bring the guilty persons before their fellow students for public apology.

The social committee of the two "Y's," having charge of the arrangements, are William Graham, Margaret Streaker, Richard Haupt, Grace O'Brien, Lisle Swenson, Lenore Long, Mary Howard, Alex Miller, Jean Archibald, and William Knapp. Provisions are being made to take care of three hundred men and women.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus P. Barnum, Miss Mary E. Brownlee, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Cunningham will be the guests of honor at the party.

Scribes to Shake Shoes at Shevlin

Minnesota Newspapers to Be Set Up to Demonstrate "How It Is Done"

Dancing, refreshments and entertainment, are promised at the Scribblers' club dance to be given Saturday night in Shevlin hall. Members were requested on the invitations sent them, to bring "yourself, 35c, dancing slippers, and your congeniality." The dance is only for the members.

Among the features of the program will be an exclusive wire carrying Associated Press news to the meeting. A miniature newspaper office is being set up, to demonstrate "how it is done." Of interest to all members will be a talk by Paul Bliss, reporter of the Journal, who conducted the politeness contest for that paper last winter. He was a speaker before the Scribblers a short time afterwards, and told of his experiences as a politeness "sleuth."

After the entertainment there will be a dance. Stunts will be continued throughout, and the dancers will encounter some pleasant surprises, the committee promises.

Honored guests of the affair will be Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Faude, Paul Bjiss, R. R. Barlow, and Sylvan Lyksett.

Kappa Delta announces the pledging of Charlotte Rasmussen of Red Wing.

Daily Candidates Announce Platforms

LAWRENCE S. CLARK

The Minnesota Daily should be the organ of the student body.

If chosen as Managing Editor, I propose to extend and improve the news gathering organization, thru training and co-operation with the Department of Journalism, so as to obtain and present all significant news of all colleges, and especially of the professional ones.

Thru the editorials I shall take a firm stand on all questions of University interest, representing at all times the sane, thoughtful, student viewpoint, such point of view to be obtained from consultation with influential upperclassmen, whom I hope to interest in the Daily sufficiently so that they will contribute to its columns frequently. Thru cooperation with the faculty, I hope to promulgate that indefinable Minnesota spirit which is the natural outcome of the two groups, faculty and student, working together in harmony.

Stag appointments will be based upon merit, and may be reviewed by the Board of Publishers. No political plums will be handed out. Basis for appointment shall be previous journalistic experience and study, and service on the Daily.

The present size and style of the Daily will continue unchanged.

TOM W. PHELPS

Getting the news is the biggest problem that must be met by the new managing editor. Too often stories of campus happenings appear in downtown papers twenty-four hours ahead of the Daily. The most feasible plan for making the Daily more newsy is a system of college editors—one upperclassman in each college who is responsible for knowing what's doing in his college, and for relaying the news to the news editor. The news editor will, under this plan, call up the 15 college editors each day before making out assignments, getting "tips" on news to assign to his regular staff. The college editor may at his discretion, write his stories himself. This plan would do away with the common fault of late news or no news due to the college reporter being too busy to come to the Daily the day the story "broke." It would place responsibility for each college's news upon a member of that college. It would enable the news editor to make definite assignments.

Minnesota has a wealth of talent for drawing cartoons, Hugh Hutton and Levon West being among the better known. Lack of funds has been the drawback in the past. Through changes in the business end of the Daily, and quantity production (Continued on Page 3)

HAROLD L. SCHOELKOPF

As a candidate for managing editor of the Minnesota Daily, my platform is:

To publish a newspaper representative of all Minnesota, giving every college on both campuses the adequate and satisfactory news service it deserves and desires.

To choose a staff, and promote the members of that staff on the basis of merit, and on that basis alone, with the assistance and advice of the journalism and rhetoric departments.

To make the Minnesota Daily a basis of state-wide news service—a service which will go to all corners of the state, conveying to taxpayers, legislators, and future students, an accurate conception of what Minnesota stands for, consists of, and actually produces.

To continue the present style, size, and makeup of the Daily, increasing the number of pages if the financial situation warrants, and devoting more space to pictures, cartoons, and features.

To do everything possible to achieve the merging of the Official Daily Bulletin with the Minnesota Daily, thus giving every student and faculty member a campus newspaper for the campus welfare.

Architects Make Elaborate Plans For 'Open House'

Arrangements Include Tea Dansant, Drawing Display, Ball—All University Students Invited—Tickets on Sale Today and Tomorrow

All students on the campus may see "how it is done" in the School of Architecture by attending the open house exercises to be conducted on the third and fourth floors of the main engineering building tomorrow. A tea dansant, to be given at 3 o'clock, has been announced as one of the principal specialties of the annual jubilee. A general invitation to University men and women has been issued by the committee in charge.

A display of drawings made by student architects will also be a feature of the day's program. Many of the sketches made by the students have won favorable comment from Twin City critics.

Elaborate arrangements are under way for the ball to be given at 8 p. m. in the main auditorium of the engineering building. The presentation of a Roman comedy and the staging of several novel stunts has been listed as added features. The sale of tickets for the dance will be carried on today and part of tomorrow.

Graduates Will Be Given Newly Designed Diplomas

Receipt of 2,000 newly designed graduation diplomas was announced by R. S. Callaway, purchasing agent, yesterday. The Elliot Company of Philadelphia were the engravers for the diplomas.

The new design on the diploma was accepted by a faculty committee of which J. H. Forsythe, professor in the engineering college, is chairman. In place of the complicated border of the old diploma, a simple design with the state flower, the Moccasin, engraved in each corner, is substituted. A change in the type was also made.

The supply is expected to last for two years, Mr. Callaway said. The diploma is uniform in style for all senior classes of collegiate grade.

Medic Students to Elect New Officers

The Medical Six O'clock club will hold its regular elections at its next meeting. Petitions for president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, must be in to some member of the executive committee before May first. At least twenty-five signatures must be affixed to obtain a nomination.

Gopher Aspirants' Policies

LEROY A. GRETNUM.

In my conception, the position of managing editor is one full of responsibility toward the University corresponding very closely to any other position of trust and responsibility which it is in the power of the students to award. A certain amount of technical experience in the matter of makeup, selection of stock, and such matters is necessary of course, but the position is in its essence, executive and administrative in character.

Many people have been surprised upon hearing that a professional student, especially an engineer, was competing for a post which seemed to them essentially an academic position. In my best judgment, this particular job is very definitely not connected with any school, college, or department; it is essentially a class and University position open to any member of the class who can prove his worth. The instant our annual becomes connected in the minds of any great number of students with any definite college or department it loses its true character as the contribution of the junior class to the welfare of the University.

It goes without saying that I will do everything in my power to make the book representative, that I believe it ought to sell for a price within reach of the average student, and that the staff will be composed of men and women chosen on the basis of demonstrated merit. These are problems of operation, not of policy, and any serious-minded editor would carry them out to the best of his ability. Over and (Continued on Page 2)

HENRY C. NILES

As a candidate for the Managing Editorship of the 1923 Gopher, I submit the following platform:

To mould a true Minnesota annual, a mirror reflecting all events of the school year, a record and interpreter of the life, spirit, traditions and all the active forces of the University.

To select a working staff strictly on the basis of merit and previous experience, thereby abolishing political figureheads and obtaining the cooperation of the best fitted members of the class of 1923.

To produce a Gopher truly representative of the whole University, rather than any one college or faction, by dealing with all colleges, (through representatives elected by these colleges), organizations and groups on a fair and equal footing.

To receive applications for staff positions from any qualified members of the class and to base staff appointments primarily on consideration of such applications.

To maintain a cooperative policy, willingly entertaining suggestions, ideas and contributions from any student in the University.

To strive by the use of the best ability and originality in the class to inculcate into the Gopher the high ideas, standards and traditions of Minnesota for which it has always been truly representative.

To put out a Gopher that will pace with the rapid growth of the University.

PRE-ELECTION BANQUET DRAWS CAPACITY CROWD

Candidates For Student Offices Present Platforms at Annual Dinner

EMBRYO DAILY AND GOPHER EDITORS TALK

Coffman Tells of "Campus Politics"—Oss Presides as Toastmaster

The platforms of the candidates for managing editor of the Minnesota Daily and Gopher, containing a summary of the speeches given at the pre-election banquet, will be found in another column of the paper.

Speaking before an audience that crowded the banquet room of the Minnesota Union to capacity, the candidates for positions on the Minnesota Daily and the 1923 Gopher last night made their final appeal to the voters of the University for support in the elections Friday, at the second annual pre-election banquet.

The candidates for the other positions to be voted on were introduced from their positions throughout the room. They did not speak.

One hundred and seventy-five men and five women sat down to dinner at 6:30. Arnold Oss acted as toastmaster. The banquet was given under the direction of the Minnesota upperclassmen. Harry Armonson was chairman of the arrangements committee. Ed Taylor, Norman Wall, Blanche Martin, Frank Tupa, Harry Arp, George Lamb, and Philip Mackey served on the committee.

Candidates Talk

Following the opening number on the program, a vocal duet, George Lewis, president of the All-University Council, introduced the candidates. The aspirants for the position of managing editor of the Gopher, Leroy A. Gretnum, and Henry C. Niles, were the first student speakers. They were followed by the candidates for managing editor of the Daily, Lawrence S. Clark, Harold L. Schoelkopf, and Thomas W. Phelps.

Each candidate gave a brief summary of his proposed policies. Speeches were limited to five minutes. Only one of the candidates was able to finish within the time limit. The order of the speeches was settled by drawing lots.

The final number was a short talk by President Coffman on "Campus Politics." He congratulated the speakers, and expressed the wish that they could all be elected. "I have heard," he said, "a certain saying that there is no politics so rotten as campus politics, but I do not agree with that. I think things have changed since my days in college."

"The individual who goes into campus politics for personal glory and gain is not a statesman. I think these young men are working for the betterment of Minnesota. Minnesota politics should be for the welfare of the college, and it is for you students to see that they are made so."

Voting Friday

Voting will take place Friday morning in all colleges from 9 a. m. to 2:45 p. m. Results will be announced at the Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. party at the Minnesota Union that night, and in the Daily the following morning.

Polling booths will be located as follows: Academic, in the middle of the campus, or, in case of rain, in the library; Business, on the second floor of Mechanic Arts building; other colleges in their own buildings.

Voting Qualifications

The following students are qualified to vote: Daily subscribers for the Managing Editor of the Daily; all sophomores for the Managing Editor of the Gopher and the Gopher Board; all men for Men's Union and Athletic Boards; everybody for the All-University Council.

Names will be placed on the ballots in alphabetical order. In the cases of candidates who are not opposed in certain colleges, no vote will be taken in those colleges.

ARE YOU?

Are you the scion of wealth who imagines that flivver ownership carries the privilege of dismounting on the campus lawn?

Websters Win by Unanimous Vote Over Forum Team

Issue at Stake Is: Resolved, That Immigration Into the U. S. Should Be Prohibited For a Period of At Least Three Years

The Webster Literary society won by a unanimous decision over the Forum debating team last night at the Ag auditorium on the issue: "Resolved, That immigration into the United States should be prohibited for a period of at least three years."

The Webster team entered the finals by defeating the Shakopean literary society by a two to one decision in the semi-finals. It has been the first appearance of an agriculture society in the finals for seven years. The Forum team won the right to enter the final by unanimous decisions over the Philomatheans and Kappa Rho.

The attendance of the agriculture societies was especially good. The three societies, Webster, Philomathean, and Hesperian, turned out as a body, postponing any meetings for the week to give all attention to the debate.

The Forensic debate is an annual affair. The following literary societies compose the league: Kappa Rho, Forum, Philomathean, Shakopean, Webster, and Hesperian. Each society selected its team which met in accordance with a schedule given by the League council. The final debate awards the championship for the year and is usually accepted in Forensic circles as the right to the title of the "superior" literary. The results of the semi-finals were especially interesting this year in that it gave the Forums superiority on the main campus and the Websters the title on the agriculture campus.

Music Featured at All-Freshman Prom

University freshmen are planning to make the All-Fresh Prom an epoch making affair for the 1924 men.

A message from the committee in charge of the dance says that: "A church is not the only place for an organ. The Prom will feature a prize organ syncope which will be a regular twin-six, high power, pipe rattling brand."

The freshmen are making the music the big attraction, for besides their organ they are planning to work in two pianos and an orchestra of good size.

This dance is the result of a concerted action of the frosh classes of all the colleges.

Orient Missionaries To Speak at Olivet

Evelyn Camp, graduate of Minnesota class of 1913, now prominent as a missionary worker in Japan, and Nakaji San, dean of the Bible Training school of Osaka, Japan, will speak at the Olivet Baptist church at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, April 24. Both will tell of their travels through Japan.

CAMPUS POLITICS.

The word politics, or phrase campus politics, unconsciously carries stigma with it in the minds of many students. When a man is delving in campus politics, they cannot help but conjure up the idea of smooth dealing. They associate the campus politics with the ward heeler. They believe the campus politicians should be shunned when it comes to casting ballots.

Without politics, however, democracies would be anemic things. The few conscientious souls would vote, intelligently or ignorantly, but government would be in the hands of the few.

Politics are essential to stimulate interest, to furnish publicity for politics, to raise the competition which keeps out the dishonest and the incompetent.

The word politics on the campus should carry no stigma. The student body should recognize and welcome the activity of the candidates for various offices. It is a sign of democratic health. It is a sign that the office seekers are alive to the responsibilities which they seek and it is a plea to every individual student to feel his responsibility and duty in electing the right man.

EVERYONE SPEAKING.

"Let's go to the freshman-sophomore oratorical," an interested student said to another Tuesday afternoon, contemplating the annual event to take place that evening.

"What's the good," the other replied. "it's all bunk."
 Too bad, young man, that you have not had the good fortune and the talent to have addressed a group of people at some time in your life. You would have felt a real thrill if your ideas had been worthy of being presented to a group of people.

Public speaking, either as a formal study, or as an outside activity, is one of the most valuable practises toward the making of an educated person. One can learn nothing, in fact, without expression. In public speaking one must gather a large group of facts, arrange them in effective and logical order, and make the matter interesting to the listener. To do this, the speaker must have an orderly mind, a personality, a sympathy, and knowledge of the beliefs and prejudices of his listeners.

It is a neglected opportunity for anyone to go through college without having had a course in public speaking, or having been a member of one of the seven forensic societies. The number which can be accommodated is limited, of course, but if more people sought the opportunity, facilities would no doubt be provided.

The present lecture system of conducting classes is a great bar to the value of learning by expression. It is a fine thing for the lecturer, but not so for the listener. There are many classes through which a person can sit for a year without speaking over 25 words. Is that education?

ODE TO REJECTION

The man he asked me if I ever wrote.
 And I gazed with humor at his note.
 I thought of all the stuff that I could quote,
 To prove that I was on Ambition's boat—
 And that although it was not yet afloat
 The anchor strained to leave Oblivion's moat.
 Right now this motion gives my tongue a coat,
 And publishers give citron antidote,
 Not knowing that if they reversed their role
 And did not send me manuscripts to tote,
 Success would take the ashes from my throat,
 And I'd eat onions at their table d'hotel!

MASKS

To Carl Sandburg

God, I would make a prayer to say
 That I am terribly tired. Sometimes
 I think
 More tired than you can know.
 My soul sags
 Under the unguessed weight of great fatigue,
 God, I would rest.
 I would like to lie,
 With my face covered with mould,
 And, in the field, to raise a hollowed
 mound
 Among the other dead—and talk to them,
 About the funny things of life:
 How we, the fleshless, had given heart's blood
 To please the fleshly: how we smiled

To charm, well knowing pain
 Would please them more—those leeches
 Of our lives.

How we, the motionless, had danced,
 And how our grinning skulls
 Were hid by masks that men called men
 And women loved and lusted after—
 God, are you laughing?

God, you can never guess
 The anecdotes that angels whisper,
 For you have never dreamed
 And loved love, nor found violets after rain.
 You have never turned
 Upon the rack of desire
 Nor clung to grotesque ideals.
 To be crucified with them—
 Have you, God?

COMMUNICATIONS

SENIORS URGED TO ATTEND CONVOCATION

The committee in charge of the convocation today desires particularly that as many seniors as possible hear President Coffman speak on "The University Appropriation." They are accordingly reserving special seats in the front of the armory for the seniors of all colleges. In the professional colleges seniors will be informed of this arrangement in classes where they assemble together. This is impossible in the College of Science, Literature, and Arts, but I hope that the attendance of academic seniors will be made as large as possible through the personal work of seniors in informing and inducing all of their classmates to attend convocation.
 George A. Schurr,
 President, Senior Academic.

Would be Gopher Editors Give Plans

 above technical perfection and well organized staffs, I believe that the Gopher ought to be a record of what we are, as well as of what we have done; it ought to be very palpably a true reflection of the peculiar characteristics of the class which puts it out.

The influence of the returned servicemen, with their mature and practical viewpoint—which has made us realize more seriously what we are here for, together with the common bond of love for the institution which has been formed by our participation in the University's struggle for existence, have left their mark upon the class. This distinctive individuality I will make every effort to express in the general tone of the book, by carefully editing all articles of a general nature, and by the introduction of an editorial section in which this spirit will be concentrated and summed up.

We are students in the University first, and members of a class afterwards, but we can best serve the University only by developing every latent characteristic in our makeup and through this means leaving our mark upon our college.

W.S.G.A. Officers Installed Today

Dean Ladd, Member of Mortar Board, and Faculty Women to Occupy Places of Honor

New officers of the W. S. G. A. will receive the symbols of their positions at a ceremony and tea in Shevlin at 4:30 this afternoon to which all University girls are invited.

In former years, the ceremony has been attended by only a few outside of the old and new boards. To bring the girls in closer touch with the group which represents them, the installation committee is this year extending an invitation to all University girls.

Dean Jessie S. Ladd, a selected number of faculty women, and members of Mortar Board, honorary organization of senior women, will occupy places of honor at the installation.

The board elected Tuesday consists of: Catherine Sweet, president; Catherine Coffman, vice president; Doris Williams, secretary; Ruth Merritt, treasurer; Hester McLean, senior representative; Evelyn Martin, junior representative; Eleanor Piper, sophomore representative; Katherine Hammond, professional representative; Clover Sabin, agricultural representative, and Zoe Comer, educational representative. The corresponding officers on the old board are Isobel Rising, Bergliot Nissen, Jeannette Willoughby, Hester McLean, Dorothy Shaddock, Irene Krafft, Ruth Merritt, Ruth Jones, Gertrude Lovig, and Virginia Norby.

Duties will not be assumed by the new officers until April 27. A joint meeting of the old and new boards will be held next Wednesday in preparation for the work of the coming year.

Settlement Work is Done By Ag Girls

Typhoid Patients Given Magazines and Books by Y. W. C. A.

Children at the settlement houses of the Twin Cities are being taught to sew and cook by girls from the Ag campus under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. Pillsbury Neighborhood house, International institute, and Northeast Settlement house are receiving instructors through the community service department.

Typhoid patients under the care of the Health Service have been supplied with books, magazines, and papers by this branch of the Y. W. C. A.

Typhoid Sufferers Must Take Exams

The petitions of students who were ill with typhoid fever during the recent epidemic asking that they be exempt from taking final examinations for their quarter's work, have not been granted. The reasons given are that it would be unfair to the students themselves and also to other students who were not typhoid sufferers but who were ill at the same time.

The students have been referred to the deans of their respective colleges to make arrangements for their work.

New Convocation Seating Arranged

Plan In Vogue At Other Large Universities Will Be Adopted

A new seating arrangement will be inaugurated at the convocation today in keeping with the practice of all other large Universities. Seniors will be seated immediately in front of the speakers' platform, juniors at the right, sophomores at the left, and freshmen at the rear. In leaving the Armory the seniors will lead, followed by the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen in the respective rank of their classes.

Tomorrow's convocation address by President Coffman will be on the subject, "Our Legislative Appropriations." This should have great interest for all students, because of the timeliness of the subject. President Coffman will give a detailed account of the present Legislative Appropriation. Arrangements for special music have been made.

David Hunter Miller, legal advisor to the American Commission, will address convocation, May 5, and Sherwood Eddy, memorable in the annals of University convocation speakers, will address convocation May 19.

Katherine Francis Ball, formerly vocational advisor, was married to Percy Stuart Palmer in New York, April 2. They are now at home at 206 Clinton Street, Philadelphia.

Debate, Music, Eats at Kappa Rho Meeting

A humorous debate on a subject of interest to both University professors and students will be one of the features of the program to be given at the annual open meeting of the Kappa Rho Literary society, which is to be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow at Shevlin hall. Other features of the program will include an original playlet dealing with University life, readings, music, and talks. Refreshments are to be served, and there will be dancing after the program.

All University men and women who are interested in the work of Kappa Rho, regardless of whether or not they have received personal invitations from members of the organization, will be welcome at the open meeting, according to Jennie Wall, president of the society.

FRATERNITIES!!

'U' Scientists Search Brazil For Medicines

Will Explore South American Tropics in Search of New Medical Drugs

University of Minnesota scientists will brave the dangers of the heart of unexplored South America in search of new medicinal drugs with an expedition, headed by Professor H. H. Rusby, dean of the Columbia school of pharmacy. The expedition will leave soon and will make their way through the unknown territory of northwestern Brazil.

Professor E. L. Newcomb of the Minnesota college of pharmacy will receive many of the specimens of the drug plants to analyze and to determine their medicinal qualities.

Learning that some very interesting medicines are employed by the natives of Brazil, Professor Rusby immediately began arrangements for the trip. He will make a complete study of the native medicines there as well as the plants from which they are made. These specimens will be sent to Professor Newcomb and other scientists of the United States for a more intensive study.

Professor Rusby has been influential in discovering drugs that have come into wide use by physicians at the present time. On one of his former expeditions he found vast forests of cinchona trees, from which we get quinine. He also traced the source of cocoa and discovered cocillana and several other drugs.

Tropical diseases and the curative measures used will be studied and a collection of the arrow poisons used by the natives will be made. Among those who will accompany the expedition are Federal entomologists who will make a study and collection of the different kinds of fishes and insects.

Many of the valuable medicines employed today have been the result of hazardous expeditions taken into the unknown parts of the world, according to Dean F. J. Wulling of the college of pharmacy at the university.

Daily Candidates Announce Policies

I propose the combination of the Official Daily Bulletin with the Daily, thus to make the Daily the official organ of the administration as it now is of the student body.

Further, I propose the creation of a special Saturday feature section of four pages, as a supplement to the regular Saturday edition of the Daily. This extra sheet to contain pictures, and feature stories concerning interesting campus happenings, theater reviews, musical criticisms, literary efforts of budding campus authors, and the like.

Finally, I propose a practical plan for the taking from politics of the Minnesota Daily, and the placing of it upon a basis where real merit and service can be recognized without the necessity of organizing a political machine. I propose the creation of an All-University Board of Publishers as an adjunct to the All-U Council, such board to supervise the Daily, the Gopher, and the All-University magazine when it is re-established at Minnesota.

This board, elected by the student body, would be composed of representatives from the different colleges. Its duties would be to elect the managing editor and business manager of each publication on a basis of qualifications and a personal interview, and to exercise the general supervisory power, now handled by the boards of each publication.

The president of the All-University Council, the managing editor of each publication, the dean of student affairs, and the head of the journalism department would be ex-officio members of the board.

By the creation of this board, which would, of course, be done by vote of the student body, the choosing of the heads of publications would be placed in a representative body, based upon sound, accurate knowledge.

Such then, briefly, is my platform: Continue the present size and style of the Daily; increase the number of upperclassmen on the staff; publish firm, thoughtful editorials on pertinent University questions; combine with the Official Daily Bulletin; take the Daily out of politics by sponsoring the creation of an All-University Board of Publishers to supervise All-University publications; establish a special Saturday feature section in addition to the regular edition; and enlarge and improve the news gathering department of the paper so that every college may be properly represented.

of cartoons, beginning next term we can have cartoons as a regular feature.

Two major changes relating to the business side of the Daily should be made. First, the Daily has grown to the point where it ought to become a seven-column paper. A seven-column Daily will look like a real newspaper besides having four additional columns for news and ads, and allowing a much increased variety of makeup. The additional cost is nominal. The second change to be made is the inauguration of a subscription campaign this quarter to get enough subscribers to put the Daily on a firm business basis for next fall, and especially to reach the seniors, who will sever their connections with the University in June. If the Daily is to be a really All-U publication, it must not as was the case last year, depend upon the incoming freshmen to provide the subscriptions.

I favor a combination of the Daily with the official Daily Bulletin. I also favor the blanket tax to include the Daily. In favoring these two changes, I feel that I, like the other candidates, am simply setting forth my views on matters which I cannot pledge myself to bring about. The decision as to whether the Bulletin shall combine with the Daily rests not with us, but with the Administration.

No one can appreciate a Daily which he does not get. Insuring the sure delivery of the Daily every day to every subscriber is a large contract with our present free-for-all P. O. boxes. Nevertheless, it can be done. For a starter, the Daily should print 25 or 50 extra copies, leaving them at the postoffice to be put in the boxes of subscribers who notify the Daily office that they haven't received their paper. After that, Sherlock Holmes.

Stimulation of upperclassman interest in the staff will be undertaken by means of a workable system of promotions by merit and service.

Further co-operation with the journalism department should be encouraged for the benefit of both the Daily and journalism students. Training of journalism students to take an active part in the editing of the Daily by practicing on Daily styles of headlines should be undertaken.

The opportunity which the Minnesota Daily offers for service to the University through a Daily staff of press correspondents, who will send through national press associations news stories for the good of Minnesota should be embraced. The press associations want University news. It is as often claimed, one of the chief benefits of a champion football team is the advertising it gives the college or university, aren't the possibilities in this plan worth trying?

Summing up, my program is:

1. A newsier paper to be attained by means of a system of college editors.
2. Cartoons as a regular feature.
3. A seven-column paper.
4. A definite, workable system of staff promotions based on merit and service.
5. Sure delivery of the Daily.
6. A spring subscription campaign.
7. The rendering of a real service to the University through a Daily staff of press correspondents who will send through the national press associations news stories for the good of Minnesota.

HAROLD L. SCHOELKOPF students and to make the Daily the organ—not of one man or one staff—but of the entire student body.

To pledge to the professional colleges and to the students in the college of agriculture a real representation in the matters of news and publicity.

To conduct clean and vigorous campaigns on the campus for campus events, but to limit publicity to space commensurate with news value.

To do everything possible, through careful and expedient investigations, to clear up existing cases of misunderstanding which at present threaten to undermine campus morale.

To open the ranks of the Daily to underclassmen as well as to upperclassmen, striving at all times, with the aid of a capable staff, actually to assist the beginners in the proper and utilitarian concept of newspaper work to the end that training on the Daily—in addition to being an honor and a service to the University—may be of practical benefit in other spheres of activity.

To make service on the Daily staff just as signal an honor as service on any other branch of student activities.

To establish among the faculty, the students, the alumni, and outsiders, a justifiable confidence in the Daily, based upon newspaper excellence, fairness, and the dependability of news run in its columns.

To further every worthwhile activity on the campus with special attention to underclassmen, new organizations, and those campus events which demand of the student body serious and worthy attention.

To promote among the student body a spirit of support for all campus activities—athletics, dramatics, publications, forensics, and self-government.

To have the Daily take definite stands on all campus matters in that way establishing a real editorial policy with substance, vitality, life, and sincerity as motives.

To establish on the campus, by means of the editorial and news columns, a campus personality, and by a campus personality I mean a vital, broad, significant, and comprehensive spirit which will fill the armory at convocation hours, will keep us on the sidewalks, will bring back on the campus a satisfactory honor system, will provide for a suitable service men's memorial, will instill into the student body something akin to the fight and enthusiasm of Gopher athletic teams, and bind the entire campus—students, faculty, alumni, administration, and all—into a potent, cohesive, and admirably effective University.

Garrick Club Will Choose Six Members

Tryouts for the Garrick club, men's dramatic organization, will be held this afternoon in 309 Men's Union. All men are eligible to try out for the club. There are six openings for candidates. A short reading and pantomime will constitute the tryout. No experience is necessary.

Carleton Miles, dramatic critic of the Journal, and Arthur Hartwell, former Yale dramatic star, will act as judges.

Cosmopolitans to be Given Jewish Flag

The regular Saturday noon Cosmopolitan luncheon will be held Saturday noon at 12:30. After the luncheon, a Jewish flag will be presented to the club by Betty Kasherman.

This flag is the model of those used by the Jewish people in the early days of Jewish history. It consists of two blue bars, and three white bars alternating. On the central white bar are two overlapping blue triangles.

The presentation of the flag will take place in room 209, Minnesota Union, and is open for the general public.

Cap and Gown Day Plans Elaborate

Date Is First of Three Day Inaugural Ceremonies for President Coffman

At a meeting of all the senior presidents in room 109, Mechanic Arts last night it was decided that Cap and Gown day for the class of 1921 would be made the most elaborate in Minnesota's history.

Cap and Gown day will be an especially singular day this year because of its being the first of the three days inaugural ceremonies for President Coffman attended by presidents and representatives of all the large Universities and colleges of the United States.

A memorial plan for the class was also discussed. No definite action will be taken until sentiment of the various senior classes is known. Clara Cross is in charge of the Cap and Gown committee. All seniors are requested to leave orders for caps and gowns at the Co-Op before 6 p. m., Wednesday, April 27.

Scholarships Given University Women

Application Must Be Made to Dean Ladd Before May 1—Instructors Give Recommendations

The University of Minnesota offers a number of scholarships to women of this institution only. The scholarships are at the disposal of Dean Ladd. Application must be made by letter not later than May 1.

The letter of application should contain a frank statement of the real need of the student. The scholastic record of the applicant will be obtained from the Registrar's office, and need not be mentioned. The student should tell what she has done to support herself since she has been in college, and why she needs the scholarship.

Letters of recommendations from instructors should be sent directly to the Dean of Women. She will decide to whom the scholarships shall be given.

The scholarships are as follows: Mrs. Elbert L. Carpenter scholarship, one of $100; Mrs. George C. Christian scholarship, one of $100; The Nina Morais Cohen scholarship, one of $100; George H. Partridge scholarship, five of $100 each; College Women's club of Minneapolis, four of $150 each; College Women's club of St. Paul, six of $150 each; Faculty Women's club, students' section, one of $100; Women's Club of Minneapolis, Arts and Letters section, one of $100; Women's Self Government Association, four of $100 each.

St. Olaf Choir Sings At Armory April 29

Tickets for the St. Olaf choir concert at the University Armory Friday, April 29 have been on sale on the campus for two days and will continue on sale for the rest of the week.

After this week those tickets remaining will be sold to the public of Minneapolis. Arthur Johnson, in charge of tickets, reports a vigorous sale on the campus, in the booths in the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. office and at the Co-op.

The choir will appear on the campus under the auspices of the Lutheran association. Herbert Estrem in charge of general arrangements, said last night that the proceeds of the concert would be used to further the welfare of Lutheran students on the campus.

GOPHER SPORTS

WATER SPANIELS WILL ENGAGE IN PRELIMS TODAY

Academics Make Strong Showing for College Honor

320 YARD RELAY WILL BE INTRODUCED

Captain-Elect Day Will Act as Referee, Captain Holmes as Judge

Nobody but the weather-beaten ducks will survive the prelims for the intra-mural meet today, according to the reports escaping from the practices.

Fast Practice

At the workout last night in the Armory tank, the neophytes made a last effort to find their paces, and for those who had already done this, the practice consisted of starts and turns.

The academics seem to have the best bid for copping the top notches for under Captain Farisy, they have amassed an aggregation that will be found hard to compete against. Captain Langford, of the Engineers, has doped up a team about which nothing can be learned and therefore to be greatly feared.

Professional Colleges Enter

Captain LaTendresse of the Mines, has a very fertile field to choose from, and should put up a rather good representation against the other collegiates. Captain Wyatt of the Dents and Hargreaves of the Medics each have promised to appear with groups from their schools.

Due to the fact that the Academics have a super abundance of dash material, they have decided to swim a 320 yard relay, using eight men instead of four. The first four will compete against the other relays for 160 yards, the remaining 4 man team will continue for time. Since their eight men can all romp through the 40 in less than :22, a record should be hung up.

Officials Announced

The officials for both the prelims and finals have been announced, and consist of some of the Varsity men. Captain-elect John Day will act as referee, Cliff Holmes will be judge, and Ray Swanson will be starter. Coach Thorp will be timer and Alec Gow will act as clerk of the course. Dinmore and Lampher will occupy the scorers' positions.

Canoists Unite to Promote Aquatics

Minnesota Canoe club was organized last evening at the Sigma Nu house. The purpose of the club is to promote aquatic sports at Minnesota. A large number of students of the University met and discussed plans for forming a club of this kind.

Officers were elected as follows: George Hallenbeck, president; William Walsh, vice president; and Richard Saul, secretary and treasurer. Committees were appointed to see the park board as to the building of a boat house and boat rack. Committees were also appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws.

It is hoped that all who are interested in water sports turn out to the next meeting of the club, which will meet Wednesday, May 4, at 8 p. m. at the Sigma Nu house.

The club intends to give a water carnival in the near future. Instruction in canoeing will also be given.

Central 'Y' Debates 'U' on Immigration

The University club and the Metropolitan club, organization of the Central Y. M. C. A. debated the immigration question Tuesday night. The result was a unanimous decision for the University club team composed of Roy Larsen, Sophomore miner; C. Grandison Eubank, Sophomore engineer, and Ward Gray of Macalester, who favored no restriction of immigration. The Metropolitan team was represented by Lex Souter of Bethal academy, Lief Larsen, Soph Pre-Business, and Gerhardt Sonneson, Soph Pre-legal.

Rev. C. A. Wendell, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, will address the Young Men's Bible class today at 4:30 in room 200, Minnesota Union on "The Infallibility of the Bible; What Does It Mean?" All young men interested in a discussion of Bible questions are urged to come.

Intra-Mural Athletes Fight for These Cups

Norton Wins Match In Tennis Singles

Varsity Team Loses By Slight Margin To Hamline

Lack of practice proved fatal for Minnesota's tennis team yesterday, when they were bested by Hamline's quartet of net men.

Norton Cops Match

Henry Norton upheld the Gophers by winning his singles match with Les Johnson in two straight, 6-3, 6-4. Johnson was Northwestern interscholastic champion for the last two years. He succumbed easily to Norton, however, who began with his state title's action.

Holtzman and Pigeon did not find themselves in their singles, but waded right in for their doubles with the Midway men and came out 6-2, 6-2. By losing their singles, however, they lost the team honors which went by a slight margin to Hamline's outfit.

Norton and Kuhlman gave Les Johnson and Kraptz a hard workout in three sets, but could not maintain their lead made in the second set. The score of this double's matches was 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

"Det Lykkelige Valg" Given on Ag Campus

Play Deals with Prohibition, Women's Suffrage, and Faith Healing in Norway

Nils Kjar's play, "Det Lykkelige Valg," will be given tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the farm school auditorium by the dramatic section of the Norwegian Literary club of the University. The play is under the direction of Mrs. G. Bothne, wife of Professor G. Bothne, head of the department of Scandinavian language and literature.

The play deals with modern conditions in Norway. Different phases are the prohibition question, woman's suffrage, and faith healing, all in comedy form. The scene of the play is laid in a little Norwegian coast town, not noted for its size but prominent as a bathing resort.

The leading parts are taken by Christian Notsund, in the part of Celius, a man running for reelection to the house of representatives in Norway; Katherine Olson, as Lavinia, wife of Celius, and who succeeds in winning the election over her husband; Oswald Dolven as "Doctor Onso," a man who has political aspirations; Doris Denetz, political advisor to Celius; Harold Slinde, who is a typical young man from Christiania, and who has a wonderful time at the bathing resort; Molly Egilsrud, daughter of Celius, who has difficulty trying to pacify her father and mother. Others in the play are Olaf Fjelde, Myrtle Larson, Carl Landland, Nora Anderson, Ralph Norrem, George Brekke, Alf Nelson, and Oliver Seim.

Hirschfelder Chosen Chemistry Delegate

Professor A. D. Hirschfelder will represent the Minnesota section of the American Chemical society at the annual convention of the organization which is to be held at Rochester, N. Y., April 25 to April 30. Practically every large university and college in the country will be represented at the convention.

Professor L. M. Henderson of the School of Chemistry is secretary of the local section of the American Chemical society.

Kappa Sigs Win In Second Round

Defeat Theta Delta by Score of 12 to 8. A. T. O's. Play Game Today

One bad inning spelled defeat for the Theta Deltas in their game against the Kappa Sigs on the North Parade Grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 12 to 8. Outside of the one inning in which Foster weakened and allowed the Kappa Sigs to score 10 runs the Theta Deltas outplayed their opponents.

Larson, the Kappa Sig first-sacker, was the big star of the game. He had a big day, both in the field and at bat. He scored a total of three times, one of his counters being the result of a homerun, besides fielding his position in big league style. Reedy caught a very good game. The showing of McLaughlin, Kappa Sig pitcher, was somewhat of a disappointment after the splendid no-hit game he turned in last week. Not only did the Theta Deltas hit him, but they hit him hard. His support saved him several times.

Langford played the best game for the losers. His timely hitting accounted for many of the Theta Delt scores, in addition to fielding his position well at all times. McLaughlin and Reedy, formed the Kappa Sig battery, while Foster and Keuffner performed for the losers.

This afternoon will see the A. T. O's. in action against the Delta Tau Sigma, the Alpha Sigma Phi against the T. K. E. S's; the Phi Psi against the
