Bibliographic Search Services: The New York Times Information Bank

Bio-Medical Library now has access to the New York Times Information Bank through the BRS service.

The Information Bank contains citations from the Late City Edition of the New York Times and 80 other newspapers and periodicals. Articles from the Times have been fully abstracted. Coverage is particularly strong in politics, economics, social problems, and current affairs.

Searches for research, highly technical problems, and theoretical topics are best searched on specialty databases; but topics in business, industry, legislation, and current affairs can often be answered by a search of the Information Bank.

Bibliographic Search Services: Changes in Psychological Abstracts

In January, 1980, Psychological Abstracts added book reviews to their computerized database. The reviews are taken from Contemporary Psychology, which publishes 2,000 reviews of new books each year.

The PSYC database also will include approximately 25% more citations than the printed edition of psychological abstracts.

Wangensteen Historical Library of Biology and Medicine: Notable Addition

Recently arrived is an interesting presentation copy of Thomas Denman's Collection of Engravings, Tending to Illustrate the Generation and Parturition of Animals, and of the Human Species, London, J. Johnson, 1787. "This is the first edition, inscribed 'With Mr. Croft's Compliments.' Denman, along with William Smellie, was the most influential of the British obstetricians and, after the death of William Hunter, was the leading London 'mid-wife.' In preparing his beautiful Collection of Engravings, Denman made use of Jan van Rymsdyk, the artist Hunter had used for the Gravid Uterus and Smellie for his Anatomical Tables. Denman also wrote the widely-used text, Introduction to the Practice of Midwifery (1782), was the first to describe spontaneous evolution of the fetus, began the practice of induction of premature labor as a rule for patients with a small or distorted pelvis, and was among the first to recognize the contagiousness of puerperal fever. Sir Richard Crofts (1762-1818), who presented this copy of the Engravings, married Denman's daughter and took over his practice. Crofts is usually remembered for the tragic role he played in the childbed death of Princess Charlotte. Crofts blamed himself for the loss of the princess and the British hopes for a Hanoverian heir and committed suicide a year after the incident, which paved the way for the reign of Victoria."

Interlibrary Loan of Audiovisual Materials

Beginning April 1, 1980, the following guidelines will be in effect for the loan of audiovisual materials from the Bio-Medical Library Learning Resources Center:

1. Any hospital, clinic, or health science related library in Minnesota normally served by the Bio-Medical Library Interlibrary Loan Division may borrow audiovisual materials. Requests from resource libraries in the Midwest Health Science Library Network will also be accepted on a reciprocal basis.

2. Audiovisual materials belonging to the Bio-Medical Library Learning Resources Center may be borrowed with the exception of materials reserved for use in the Learning Center.

3. The loan period is one week. A postage and handling fee of $4.00 will be charged for all loans which are mailed. Extra time is allowed when mailing is necessary. Materials may be renewed if not requested by someone else.

4. The borrowing institution is responsible for materials borrowed until returned to the Bio-Medical Library and will be billed for the cost of replacement in case of loss or destruction.

5. Requests should be sent to Interlibrary Loan Division, Bio-Medical Library, Diehl Hall, Minneapolis, MN 55455. Requests should be submitted on ALA interlibrary loan forms, one request per form.

6. Loans of audiovisual materials qualify as regular interlibrary loans under the policies of the Midwest Health Science Library Network and may be counted in an institution's or consortium's regional interlibrary loan quotas.

COM Catalog

The Bio-Medical COM (computer-output-microform) catalog is in the final stage of preparation and is expected to arrive during spring quarter. This new form of the card catalog will contain the library's monograph holdings from 1960 to date, and will be updated on a quarterly basis. After an initial test period, the library will cease producing catalog cards.
