112 IS SCORE MADE BY VARSITY

Macalester Annihilated on Northrop Field in Two Short Halves

Minnesota has beat her record in the way of piling up scores. Her largest previous score was that of 102 to 0 against Grinnell last year.

Coach Mueller's proteges from down the river lined up against the Varsity yesterday for two twenty minute halves but did little more than line up. The boys of the blue and gold were very light, averaging hardly 140 pounds so they were no match for the Minnesota men, who swept their lighter opponents off their feet and scored almost at will.

Macalaster could not keep the ball in her possession for more than a few seconds at a time so Minnesota's work was almost entirely on the offensive order and at this they showed up well but made some fumbles which under other circumstances might have been costly.

Much to the surprise of the rooters the lineup was greatly changed, Thorpe and Warren going in at guards, while Burdick was switched to right end. Owing to the weakness of their opponents, very little measure can be taken of their work in the new positions, but there are many who would like to see the change made permanent.

Dietz at right tackle and Flynn at punter showed up best for the Presbyterians, the latter making several excellent tackles.

Minnesota's back field did most of the carrying of the ball but occasionally one of the line men would be called upon. Davis and Irsfeld did most excellent work, while Roger's and O'Brien's performances were always on the sensational order.

Nineteen touchdowns were made in all. Of these Current made 2, Rogers 4, Schacht 3, Davies 5, Irsfeld 2, O'Brien 2 and Webster 1. Fifteen of these Rogers converted into goals, and a safety made the total 112.

STUDENTS SHOW THEIR LOVE FOR PRESIDENT CYRUS NORTHROP

His 69th Birth-Day Fittingly Observed by Presentation of Magnificent Rug

Great gifts the East has brought,
Great gifts to our Western land,
Sinews of bone and hand,
Honor of justice and thought.
But our richest dower was a man
Simple and upright of plan;
One who has breadth of the plain
And the height of our whitened peaks,
One who has sureness of rein
On the good that he ever seeks.

Father thy sons know thy hand
Warm with hopes and ever are manned
At its touch to new life.
And courage is nigh,
When they look in the eye,
And zeal for the strife.

May old paternal Time, Great Sire, Befriend thy years and guard the fire
That burns with ardent ray.
In the still stretches of the night
May dreams of pleasance on thee
ligna,
Forerunner of the day.

Speak but the word, but sound the drum,
An army of thy sons will come,
Will cluster round their old time sire,
His last will their law, their one desire.

—G. N. N.

Packed to its utmost capacity, even the windows filled with students, the chapel presented an impressive appearance yesterday morning.

The faculty were all on the platform. President was the last to come and as he entered, the entire gathering rose to its feet in mute respect.

As soon as the opening exercises were concluded, half a dozen students hurried upon the platform bearing a large Oriental rug and threw it over the lectern, at the same time Miss DeHaas, '05, presented to the President a glorious bunch of red carnations.

Cyrus Barnum, president of the senior class then introduced Mr. M. Benjamin Drake, '03, who in a few superb sentences, presented the offering to President Northrop and begged him to accept the gift as a token of the love and loyalty of the students.

Amidst the tumult of applause the President arose. It was a picture—the gray haired man standing beside the magnificent rug—the radiant folds of which disclosed the rare texture of its make, while before were the upturned faces of hundreds who love him with a love which no other man in Minnesota can claim.

The President spoke, his voice was low and feeling and at times broken. He said he was literally unspeakable. He had known that something was in the air but he did not know what.

For nineteen years he had served here and during that time he had coveted no man's favor or gold, his greatest joy was that as a reward he had the love and respect of the students.

He thanked them from the depths of his heart for this unexpected token of their love.

Then the voices of the students spoke. The crashing cadence of the Ski-U-Mah shook the hall and the President with sparkling eye beat time to the rhythm of the yell.

After the meeting the faculty swarmed around the President offering him their congratulations. The flowers President Northrop presented to his wife.

The movement was first started about a week ago when a number thought it was time for the students to make some practical demonstration of their affection for their President. Accordingly a mass meeting was held in chapel last week and a contribution was taken to purchase a suitable gift. As Mr. Drake expressed it yesterday the trouble had not been to secure contributions but to keep the contributions down so that all might have an opportunity of helping purchase the gift.

The rug is a Bohkaro Turkish of the highest grade containing about seventy square feet.

The committee of students which had charge of the affair consisted of Truman Ricard, Robert Keyes, Benj. Drake, Jr., Edgar L. Noyes, Virginia de Haas, Laura Gould.

FLYNN A PROFESSOR.

Football Hero Teaching Chemistry at the Montana University.

The Hon. Professor John Flynn, Esq., of foot-ball fame is professor of chemistry in the Montana University.

He coaches the girl's basket ball team at this place.

He also assists in coaching the foot-ball team but the former gets the most of his time.

These are a few of the interesting statements which were contained in a letter written to one of his intimate friends here.

Johnnie says that when he first appeared he was rushed by a crowd of Freshmen who made him deliver a speech.

"When at my first lecture," he says, a girl addressed me as 'professor' I nearly fell into the waste basket."

ARENA PROGRAM FOR OCT. 1.

Roll Call; Current events, Severson; Declamation, Jacobson; "Consideration in Selecting a College," Dibble; Impromptu, McGrath; Debate, "Resolved that U. of M. students should be condemned for accepting employment in the mills during the strike." Affirm.—Keith, H. Peterson; Negative—Shuck and Baker.

SENIOR POLITICAL POT BOILS OVER

Only Two Men, Leach and Kovarik, Left in the Broth

There are only two men left in the race as candidates for the senior presidency. At least this is the reluctant admission of the men who have been urging the claims of A. B. Wells for he has never been actively in the race, and that his short campaign was in the hands of a few enthusiastic friends whom Mr. Wells has now utterly checked in their work for him.

When seen yesterday by a Daily man Mr. Wells stated explicitly that he had never entered the race seriously and that his complete sanction had never been given to the political rumors about him which have been circulated by the press and on the campus.

Now it is only a double entry wire pulling contest, and not a man in or out of college could pick out the winner at the present time. So far it is a neck and neck race, and the shrewdest judges of and experts in political circles among the undergraduates, the faculty and old alumni all over the state seem to agree that the man who wins will be only a nose ahead when the ballots are counted.

Some of the old cranks on student excitement of any sort are busily telescoping the future and trying to pick out the man to put their money on but as yet there is even money and down at Fischer's the betting fraternity is very evenly divided.

It is safe to say that whichever man wins the senior gavel will be wielded by a man of brawn and brains fully capable of doing his duty to entire satisfaction of the class.

HIGH SCHOOL "MAG" OUT.

A Very Creditable Production is the First Issue.

The first issue of the Minnesota High School Magazine will be out today.

Mr. Thomas, of the University faculty, who edits the publication, is well pleased with the new "Mag" which will appear every month, from now on.

The book begins with an article of considerable length on foot-ball in preparatory schools by Dr. Williams.

Then follows a very readable contribution by Prof. McDermott on the work of the High School Debating League.

Several short stories written by university students are also contained in the issue. Among the "U" contributors are Wm. Dawson, Hattie VanBergen, and several others of more or less prominence around college.

The advertising department of the magazine has been well patronized by the twin city business men and the manager hopes to be able to secure much more advertising for the coming editions from the business men throughout the state.

GIRLS! ATTENTION.

Did you get an invitation to a Mass Meeting for next Friday? If so, don't you forget it. You will be sorry if you miss it. Be sure to come and bring another girl with you. Watch the Bulletin Boards.

'TIS THE MAN.

Yesterday morning in the midst of one of the most magnificent demonstrations ever seen at Minnesota the students of the University made manifest their loyalty, their love, their reverence for President Northrop.

And this was as it should be. As the cycle of years pass by it will not be thoughts of the beautiful Oriental rug that will cling to the memory of the President, but the look of earnestness, of unbounded affection that shown in the eyes of every student who sat in chapel yesterday will surely remain in the good man's memory all his days.

After all why is it that we so love our President? Is it because of his marvelous intellectual powers? Is it because he has name and fame, thru out the land? No, our love is founded on none of these attributes.

It is because of his moral earnestness, his high Christian character that does as well as believes, and of his deep interest in every student in the University, that we love him.

Long may he live. And may his years be filled with joy and happiness unbounded. May he see many another anniversary like the one of yesterday when he can cherish those hearts that love him.

STUDENTS AND THE STRIKE.

Is it right for University students to take the places of the striking Millers? The Daily believes not.

By so doing, the students are antagonizing all the labor unions in the two cities. They are large and powerful organizations and are capable of doing great harm to University interests, both in opposition to University appropriations by the legislature, and in influencing public opinion against us.

If any student works in the mills because of the fact that he actually needs the money to pay his school expenses, that is all well and proper. But the great majority are not of this class.

They are men who are doing this work for the fun and excitement which they get out of it, or to earn a little extra spending money which they do not absolutely need.

The Daily does not believe that by doing this they are furthering the best interests of the University, which has hard enough struggle to get along with out antagonizing the labor element which has always been friendly to our interests.

STRIKE LEADER A "U" MAN.

Head of International Union Would have Graduated this Year.

A young man of twenty-five, recently a university student, is at the head of the strike of the flour mill employees of Minneapolis.

Not that he called the strike, or had more to do with its inception than others, but as president of the union he is looked upon as the leader.

It is a position of grave responsibility. The strike which involves the entire shutting down of seventeen flour mills which annually produce one-sixth of the flour product of the United States, if long continued must have a marked influence upon the world's food supply.

Mr. Finley was born and bred in Minneapolis. He worked nights as a packer in the Pillsbury B mill while a student at the high school, afterwards attending a business college, and later the state university. He would have graduated from the university this year, but withdrew to become the president of the International union when it was started a year ago.

He is editor of the Eight-Hour Miller, now in the eighth month of its publication, which is devoted to the principles for which the strike is being waged.

FOOTBALL TICKETS IN ADVANCE.

There seems to be some misunderstanding in the University and city papers as to the arrangements which have been made to sell seats in advance to the football games of the season.

The management wishes to make it understood that tickets for the complete schedule of games can be reserved in advance upon application and cash payment. Such tickets will be sent each week to the applicants but there will be no advance reservation for any particular game or games.

It seems to be generally understood that tickets for any game, as the Michigan game, can be reserved ahead upon application, but this is not so. It is either reservation for the complete schedule or not at all.

MIDDLE LAWS ELECT.

The middle laws held their class election yesterday afternoon after class. The following is the result:

President, Lamb; Vice President, Lenerson; Secretary, Marken; Treasurer, Newcomb; Sargeant-at-arms, McGivern.

MYSTERY OF THE CUP.

Where is the Trophy Won by Minnesota in Spring of 1898.

Where is the cup which T. H. Colwell presented to the State Inter-Collegiate Track Association in 1898 and which was won by Minnesota in a meet held at the state fair grounds that spring?

The requirements for possession of the cup were three successive victories, but as the association never held another meet it properly belongs to Minnesota.

A careful examination of the trophy case fails to reveal its whereabouts. None of the old students remember what became of it, not even Dr. Cook can place it.

Where is it?
It was a beautiful silver cup and the University cannot afford to lose it. It would be a marked addition to the trophy case.
Somebody dig it up.

DANGER IN THE LABS.

Does everybody carry an accident insurance policy? If not secure one at once. The classes in chemistry, three hundred strong, is about to commence experimenting with hydrogen.

Prof. Frankforter has cautioned all of them about the use of this element, which, when mixed with air, does the Fourth of July act when ignited.

This the cause of all the fear which permeates the air, and if the chemistry building still clings to its foundations after operations are over, everyone in the "U" should consider himself vey lucky.
