DULUTH--The modern fantasy, The Madwoman of Chaillot, will be presented by the UMD Theatre April 27-30 as it's part of the 1960 Fine Arts Festival.

Fred Meitzer, instructor in speech, is directing rehearsals in Main auditorium for the play which allegedly settles once and for all the question of whether oil derricks will replace the Eiffel Tower in the Chaillot district of Paris.

The not so mad "madwoman" of Chaillot will be played by Marian Kukkola. Taking the parts of the villains---the President, the Broker, the Prospector and the Baron---will be Ray Anderson, Dan Johnson, Mike Berman and David Hampton.

Assisting in putting the villains in one place, then disposing of them, are Myrna Johnson, Loretta Loose and Leta Powell.

Others in the cast include John Hafterson, Lillian Luoma, Nick Pappas, Tom Anderson, Susan Beasy, Carter Glendenning, Pat Hugdahl, Donna Ferguson, Sharon Johnson, Diane Peterson, Jillene Jacoby, John Hendrickson, Dennis Suderburg, Jerry Nyquist, and W. James LeBorious.

Performances April 27-30 will be held at 8:15 p.m. each night in Main auditorium on the lower campus.
