

U to Grant Degrees to 880 At Commencement Thursday

A class of 880 will receive degrees at second summer session commencement at 8 p.m. Thursday in Northrop auditorium, according to preliminary figures.

Dean Schweikhard, state commissioner of education, will deliver the commencement address on "Learning and Living." President J. L. Morrill will preside at the exercises and will confer the degrees upon the candidates.

The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Leonard P. Cowley, chaplain to Catholic students on campus.

The first senior banquet ever held for summer session graduates will be in the Union junior ballroom at 5 p.m. Thursday. The event has been scheduled to avoid time conflict with commencement practice at 4 p.m. and assembly of the graduates in Northrop garage at 7:15 p.m.

Donald Laurie, vice president of the senior class, said yesterday tickets for the banquet will be on sale today and tomorrow at the Union information desk.

The banquet is open to seniors, their guests and any interested persons, Laurie said. Tickets are $1.25 a person.

All candidates for degrees are required to be present at commencement rehearsal at 4 p.m.

Graduates will reassemble in the garage at 7:15 and march into the auditorium at 8 p.m.

The School of Nursing has arranged for professional supervision for children whose parents are receiving degrees. Parents with very small children are requested to bring cribs, buggies or pallets. There is no charge for the nursing service.

MOVING STORM SEWER DRAINS in front of Westbrook hall, Christ Arne, left, and Quinn Wellington, center, are directed by Clarence Carlson, foreman. The job is part of moving Fifteenth avenue S.E. to make room for a new classroom building which will be built where temporary north of Library now stands. The new street should be completed by the beginning of fall quarter, Carlson said yesterday.

Graduates to Show Colors

There'll be at least 13 different "uniforms of the day" at commencement Thursday evening. That many colleges have their own color of tassel to be worn on the mortarboard cap. These are the identifications:

General College	crimson and white
College of Science, Literature and the Arts	white
Institute of Technology	orange
College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics	maize
Medical school, Nursing and Medical Technology	green
College of Education	light blue
School of Business Administration	drab
Law school	purple
School of Dentistry, and Dental Hygiene	lilac
College of Pharmacy	olive
University College	old gold and white
Veterinary Medicine	gray
Graduate school	black

Announcements Cut to 5 Cents

The senior cabinet is underselling the University Bursar's office on the commencement announcement market.

Donald Laurie, senior cabinet representative, said yesterday that the cabinet now is selling special announcements for 5 cents each at the main desk in the Union.

The University places 10 standard announcement cards with envelopes in each graduating senior's Postoffice box free of charge. Students may buy extra cards from the Bursar's office for 10 cents each.

The cabinet printed its announcements, a doublefold style with the state name and seal and a picture of Northrop auditorium embossed on the cover, to serve students who wanted a more elaborate announcement, Laurie said.

These were on sale first for 10 cents, he explained, but due to an overstock the price has been cut in half.

James Gray to Present Final 'Studies' Lecture

James Gray, professor of English, will be the speaker at the final summer American studies series program tomorrow.

The lecture will be given at 3 p.m. in Murphy hall auditorium.

Gray will quote Midwestern literary commentators in his talk, "Is the Midwest Still the Valley of Democracy?"

He is the author of "Pine, Stream and Prairie," a book about Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota, and "On Second Thought," a group of critical essays published recently by the University Press. In addition he has written several works of fiction.

At present, Gray is working on a history of the University.

The lecture is the last in a series presented this summer by the University's program in American studies.

The lectures—all open to the public—covered several aspects of the life and culture of the Midwest. Tremaine McDowell and Theodore Hornberger, professors of English, are in charge of the American studies series program.

Officials Promise New 15th Avenue by Oct. 1

The University will have a new $50,000 stretch of road by Oct. 1, authorities in the physical plant department said yesterday.

The asphalt surfaced roadway will replace the section of Fifteenth avenue which was almost washed away in a rain storm recently.

Part of the old road was surfaced with cast iron paving blocks.

The iron blocks were installed in the early '30s to test their possible use in road surfacing, University authorities said.

At the time there was a surplus of low grade ore in northern Minnesota. School of Mines was testing the iron paving blocks in hope of finding an outlet for the surplus.

The experiment came to a halt when a rain storm beat a crew of engineers by 1 day to the job of tearing up a section of the street paved with wooden blocks.

Engineers now are completing the job the rain started—they're moving Fifteenth avenue over to make room for a new building.

This building will be built on the site of temporary north of Library and will resemble the Administration building in architecture. It will cost about $768,000.

The new building will be used to accommodate overflow of classes from all colleges.

U Surgery Used To Lift Bearing From Boy's Lung

A ball bearing was removed through surgery Friday from the lung of a 6-year-old North Dakota patient at University hospitals.

Wallace Wahl, who swallowed the steel ball over a week ago, is in serious condition, but is improving, hospital authorities said yesterday.

He developed pneumonia shortly after the operation and was given oxygen through the windpipe.

The physics department designed a small but powerful magnet to try to remove the bearing at the request of doctors working on the case.

In the 10 days the bearing was in the boy's lung, however, tissues had swollen up and grown around the bearing so that no magnet could do the job.

A first attempt to remove the smooth-surfaced ball from Wallace's throat, where it had first lodged, failed at a Bismarck, N. D. hospital.

Wal, Shut My Mouth Reporter Loses Tooth In the Line of Duty

By Sherwood Benson

It takes a lot of pull to get an interview with a dental hygienist. I found that out when I went out to get a story on Miss Fena Nelson, who is retiring Sept. 2 after 27 years with the Dental Health service.

Miss Nelson is a sweet gray-haired lady who, according to her colleagues, probably has cleaned more teeth than anyone else in the world.

I sat next to a dentist's chair and talked to Miss Nelson about her plans after she retires. She said she likes to travel and eventually hopes to make a trip to South America.

While we were talking Miss Nelson suggested I have my teeth cleaned, which I foolishly consented to do.

Continuing the interview, she told me about the lack of instruments in the Dental Health service when she first came to the University over a quarter of a century ago.

At that time, she said, the Dental and Health services were on a single floor of Pillsbury hall.

"Oh my," said demure Miss Nelson as she peered into my mouth. "You have an awfully big cavity in your upper number six."

She thought a dentist ought to look at it. I grunted in agreement as Miss Nelson took her hands out of my mouth.

A tall, efficient looking (and strong) dentist looked at my cavity. "Yes sir," he said, "it's a bad tooth all right."

Forty-five minutes later apologetic Miss Nelson and the powerfully built dentist helped me from the chair.

I thanked Miss Nelson for the interview and headed for the door. My upper number six was lying in three pieces on the dentist's tray.

Today I'm going out and interview an obstetrician.

Recital to Recall Musical History

Music representative of the medieval, renaissance, romantic, classical and contemporary periods in history will be presented in a recital at 11 a.m. today in the Museum of Natural History auditorium.

The University summer session chorus, under the direction of Dr. James Aliferis, associate professor of music, will give the concert.

Featured soloists with the chorus will be Donna Sorenson, soprano, and Nicholas Rusinak, tenor. The audience will participate in the singing of two selections.

All of the numbers will be accompanied by piano or instruments.

The program will be open to the public without charge.

Lubov Arlova plays the dual role of a Russian scientist and an actress in a Russian musical comedy to be shown at 8:30 p.m. today in Northrop auditorium. The film, "Spring," won first prize at an international film festival in Venice for having the most original plot of all films examined. This is the last film to be offered during the summer session. Admission is free.

Yugoslav Press Accuses Russia Of Double-cross

Compiled from United Press Reports.
By Jerome Alch

The Yugoslavian press heightened the war of nerves yesterday by accusing Russia of double-crossing Yugoslavia on the question of its claims to Austrian territory.

Glas, Belgrade's only afternoon newspaper, followed the example of morning newspapers by devoting its first page to Yugoslavia's note, answering Moscow's charge that this country was now an enemy of the Soviet Union.

Meanwhile, Yugoslavian railroad men were warned to be on the alert for sabotage as a new Russian move against this country.

"The campaign began with a political attack and was followed by an economic blockade," Todor Vujasinovic, minister of railroads, said. "When things do not go as they should, do not be satisfied with the supposition that old material was to blame, because nowadays we can expect sabotage."

But the Communist party newspaper was not to be outdone. Pravda published a dispatch asserting that the Tito clique in Yugoslavia faced the fate of Albanian traitors who were recently executed.

All this was believed by diplomatic quarters to mean that Russia by her openly threatening attitude may be trying to discourage western countries from giving Tito economic and financial aid.

Trouble was also the theme . . .

. . . for Russia in Finland. Finnish Communist plans for a revolutionary general strike, intended to cripple the nation by creeping industrial paralysis, virtually collapsed yesterday in failure.

Two of the country's big unions called off scheduled strikes as thousands of workers in unions already on strike streamed back to their jobs in defiance of their Communist leaders.

The government charges the Communists with plans for industrial paralysis that were actually a bid to seize power by a revolutionary coup. It accepted the challenge, and called on the army to aid it. Some Communists were jailed.

Austria also had its incidents . . .

. . . when British military police forcibly removed an Austrian civilian from the hands of four armed Soviet soldiers.

An angry crowd of 1,000 Austrians threw stones at the Russians and blocked their alleged kidnap attempt. A company of helmeted East Yorkshire infantry in battle kit arrived and put a cordon around the Soviet jeep.

The British provost marshal walked over to the jeep and dragged out Carl Sonderman, 34, a doctor of political science, who lost his pants in the struggle.

The British said that they had no official grounds for holding the Soviet soldiers, one of whom was a colonel, but were investigating the charge of kidnapping.

The dollar-short, strike-ridden government . . .

. . . of England reported a slump in July exports. Members of the cabinet reexamined policy for the Washington monetary talks next month.

The dock strike that paralyzed the port of London in July was blamed partly for the export slump.

All was not rosy on the labor scene . . .

. . . in this country. In Washington, the government gave the first signs of alarm over possible serious labor strife in the steel, coal, auto and other industries.

The unresolved threats of strikes in these industries would take 1.25 million workers off the jobs immediately and throw thousands more out of employment.

A "sympathetic" ear was promised . . .

. . . housing expediter Tighe E. Woods in congress if he is forced to ask for more money next January.

This was promised as the senate upheld a sharp reduction in rent control funds. Woods had no comment, but a spokesman in his office said the senate action introduces an entirely new element in the housing expediter plan to decontrol many rental areas and to ask local officials to police rents in others.

As world developments moved along . . .

. . . President Truman declared that Russia has blocked every effort to establish real peace and that the western world must begin to rearm itself immediately for defense.

A cheering audience composed of Veterans of Foreign Wars listened to the President as he told them that his arms-for-Europe program means a stiff bill that must be footed to discourage the Soviet Union from starting a fight.

Were they or weren't they raided . . .

. . . is the question that is being pondered by the American Medical association.

Dr. Ernest E. Irons, president of the association, disclosed last night that the organization's headquarters in Chicago had been broken into last December.

In Washington, Clem Whittaker, a spokesman for the AMA, charged that the department of justice "raided" the Chicago headquarters in retaliation for the AMA's opposition to President Truman's health insurance plan.

U Economist Gives Summer Egg Recipe

Essentials for the production of high quality eggs during hot weather are proper feeding of hens and efficient refrigeration, Max Hinds, extension marketing economist, said Saturday.

Consumers are often discouraged from buying "hot weather eggs." These are eggs with thin whites and flat, weak yolks, he said.

Millions of eggs are spoiled by the heat each year, said Hinds, who suggests preventing this waste by storing them in well-ventilated containers at temperatures of 32 to 45 degrees.

Because hens are inclined to seek shady places rather than eat in hot weather, farmers should fill feeders at night so birds can eat in the morning when it's cool, he said.

A laying flock should be kept in the laying house until noon so the birds get filled up on mash and do all laying in the morning hours before the heat gets bad. Eggs should be gathered at least three times a day and cooled immediately.

Ag Campus Plans 3-Day Course On Gas Apparatus

A 3-day school in the installation and servicing of liquefied petroleum gas equipment and appliances will be held Sept. 6, 7 and 8 on Ag campus.

The course is designed to enable gas employees to do a better job for the customer and the company.

It will combine comprehensive instruction by leading University and industry men with actual demonstrations and question-answer periods.

Fees are $12 per person for the course. Dormitories at University Farm will accommodate 400 men. Cost is $2 a night per person.

3 Nationally-Known Journalists To Address Educators' Convention

Three nationally known journalists will speak to a convention of journalism instructors at the University Aug. 30 through Sept. 1.

The speakers will be Ben M. McKelway, editor of the Washington, D. C., Star and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors; Don R. Murphy, editor of Wallace's Farmer; Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman foundation and editor of the Nieman reports.

T. Raymond McConnell, dean of the College of Science, Literature and the Arts, will address the convention on "How Far Should We Go With Professional Education?"

Three national organizations of journalism educators will meet together for the first time at the convention, Mitchell V. Charnley, professor of journalism and a member of the arrangements committee for the convention, said yesterday.

These groups are the American Association of Teachers of Journalism, an organization of individual instructors; the Association of Accredited Schools and Departments of Journalism and the American Society of Journalism School Administrators, both organizations of universities and colleges.

"The first of these two group organizations was formed by major colleges and universities," Charnley explained, "who set up a standard of curriculum, equipment and instructors."

The second one has since been formed by a group of smaller schools who have not applied or could not qualify for membership in the other, he added.

"It is possible that a major accomplishment of this convention will be to unite these three groups into one organization," Charnley said.

Four Twin City newspapermen also will address the convention.

They will be Carroll Binder, editorial editor of the Minneapolis Tribune; Herbert Lewis, editor of the Saint Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch; Gideon Seymour, executive editor, and Joyce Swan, business manager, of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune.

Representatives to the convention will hold business meetings in separate groups and attend joint programs to discuss problems in journalism and journalism education.

A special session for teachers of radio journalism will be held Sept. 2, following the convention.

When It's a Street

When Is An Avenue Not An Avenue---

C. K. Williams, draftsman for the University, serves as a sort of private detective, keeping tab on moving streets and buildings.

For instance, if you drive along Seventeenth avenue S.E. from the University hospitals and cross Washington avenue, you are no longer on Seventeenth avenue S.E. but now are on Church street.

And if you keep going and cross University avenue, you are again on Seventeenth avenue S.E.

According to Williams, the explanation is fairly simple. In 1923 Church street was moved 148 feet west and was just hooked onto the two ends of Seventeenth avenue.

Williams also solved the mystery of the traveling Campus club. Though the club itself now is on the fourth floor of the Union, the original Campus club building was behind the Administration building.

When Church street was moved, the building was moved near the stadium. When the University wanted the land by the stadium for tennis courts, the building again was moved to its present resting place by Sanford hall.

U Village-1 Wins Softball Crown, 3 to 2

U Village-1 defeated Auggies, 3 to 2, in the playoffs for the second summer session intramural softball championship.

The Auggies captured the American league championship while U Village-1 won the National league title.

Led by left fielder, Don Miller, the U Villagers pulled the game out of the fire in the fifth inning. Miller hit a triple and was chased home with the winning run by Bob Jones, center fielder and manager of the team.

U Village got four hits from E. Carlson, the Auggie pitcher, while U Village hurler Al Steinle held the Auggies to three.

Auggies played errorless ball. The Villagers made two bobbles, but managed to go on and win the game.

In the I-M golf tournament, Gayle Larson beat R. W. Lang, 7-5, for the championship.

CE Head to Attend UN Science Confab

Dr. Lorenz G. Straub, head of the department of civil engineering, is taking part in a United Nations scientific conference at Lake Success, N. Y., this week.

Dr. Straub, at the invitation of UN secretary-general Trygve Lie, will deliver an introductory paper at the conference on conservation and utilization of resources.

His paper is on the planning of water control works.

10 U Nursing Students Get Certificates

Ten School of Nursing students will be granted certificates in practical nursing tomorrow night.

Ceremonies will take place at 8 p.m. in the Powell hall lounge. Miss Katharine J. Densford, director of the School of Nursing, will present the certificates.

Awarding of the certificates marks completion of the 4-quarter practical nursing course offered by the University. Graduates also will be presented with pins and caps.

Girls who will receive the certificates are Patricia Fazio, Mary Ann Kubes, Renee Strom, Eleanor Lagford, Oral Peterson, Donna Rasmussen, Shirley Porges, Marcella Singer, Therese Vondenberger and Dorothy Williams.

Three members of the class, Miss Kubes, Miss Peterson and Miss Williams, will provide music for the occasion.

Mrs. Ray Amberg, wife of the director of University hospitals, and Miss Densford will preside at a reception.

Ribs protruding, former temporary south of Vincent (Mrs. Murphy) faces its last days of existence. Workmen should have the building completely removed from the site by Thursday, according to H. L. Wilson, physical plant engineer. Contractors will begin work on the erection of Ford hall, the new social science building, immediately afterward, Wilson said.

GERMAN-FRENCH for Graduates

Carleton will conduct a class in German (starting soon) at $25, and a class in French (starting later) at $15 if 20 or more in each group. Such classes will be held each quarter this year.

General Admits Revealing Army Purchase Plans

Compiled from United Press Reports
By Howard Kaplan

Major General Herman Feldman, suspended army quartermaster general, yesterday admitted giving "five percenter" James V. Hunt a preview of army purchasing plans but stoutly denied he did anything wrong.

The army career officer told the senate committee investigating the "influence industry" in the nation's capital that the information he handed over had been previously published in at least one newspaper. He claimed it therefore did not give Hunt any unfair advantage.

The best proof of that, Feldman added, is the fact that a review of the quartermaster corps records "indicates that no firm represented by Hunt ever received any quartermaster contract."

The committee recessed until this morning following Feldman's prepared statement. Committee chairman Clyde R. Hoey, (D., N.C.), said the general will be cross-examined today about previous testimony linking him with Hunt's activities.

As the committee began its third week of hearings after a 5-day layoff, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R., Wis.), cryptically forecast that before the week is out, committee members will be subjected to smear attacks intended to sidetrack the investigation. He did not say from where the smear would come.

Come on and hear . . .

. . . the bad news, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson said yesterday inviting Congressmen to listen to the cuts in military spending in their districts. The meeting is set for today.

The cuts will affect army, navy and air force activities throughout the nation and will involve firing civilian employees, closing down some installations, and curtailing operations at others.

Senate sources said they have been informed Johnson has prepared an order to shut down three navy yards and cut the activities of others drastically.

A strong denial was issued . . .

. . . by Secretary of State Dean Acheson yesterday that any part of the Wedemeyer report on China was suppressed. He said that all relevant portions were included in the state department's recent "white paper" on China.

Acheson's letter, answering the charges of "alleged distortions and omissions," was addressed to Sen. T. F. Green, (D., R.I.), who had asked the secretary his views on the reports.

Mind your own business . . .

. . . Marshal Tito's government told Russia yesterday, declaring that it would not be frightened by foreign pressure.

At the same time it said, in reply to a threatening Russian note, that the Yugoslav government would settle all disputes with the Soviet government in accordance with international obligations the two countries have undertaken.

The Yugoslav note also offered to return to Russia all Soviet citizens—including those "spies" about whose treatment Russia had complained—if they desired to return home.

The note was sent in reply to a Russian note which threatened "more effective measures" than ordinary, direct diplomatic exchanges, unless alleged mistreatment of Russians in Yugoslavia was stopped.

It might be a headache . . .

. . . Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan said yesterday of the problem of storing this year's big corn crop.

He told the annual "Farm Day" meeting of the Bloomington, Ill., Daily Pantagraph, that the record corn crop prospect was only another reason for adoption of the administration's controversial price support plan.

He said the more immediate problems were finding storage for the grain and the possibility that rigid production controls may be applied to next year's crop.

Big steel is trying . . .

. . . to intimidate President Truman's fact-finding board, CIO president Philip Murray charged yesterday.

Opening a 3-day rebuttal before the board in behalf of his million-member United Steelworkers of America, Murray also charged that steel industry had insulted Mr. Truman.

He said never in his experience had he witnessed "the terrific invective, vituperation, slander and abuse" resorted to by representatives of the steel industry in the course of these hearings.

The industry closed its 8-day case against the union's demands for a fourth-round, 30-cent hourly package increase Monday.

Screaming bloody murder . . .

. . . were the Dixie Democrats yesterday. They hurled charges of "totalitarianism" and "communism" at a move to deny them a voice in national party affairs.

Pro-Truman Democrats countered that unless "Dixiecrats" are driven from the fold, it will be "an open invitation to disaster for the party."

The hard words were exchanged as a credentials committee met to decide who will be seated today when the national committee meets to elect a successor to party chairman J. Howard McGrath. McGrath will be sworn in today as United States attorney general.

'No more speaker's dirty looks' . . .

. . . might have been sung by house members yesterday.

They headed for a 4-week recess while senate leaders got nowhere in a new attempt to decide on a date for congressional adjournment.

Introduction of a resolution for the breathing spell is expected today. It would send house members on vacation from Aug. 25 to Sept. 21.

Meanwhile the log-jammed senate tries to catch up on billions of dollars worth of appropriation bills and other "must" measures. There's just one other thing: the senate must approve the house vacation.

'Fence' of Pillars To Surround Mall

Construction of a giant rectangle of 10 pillared buildings around the Mall is the ultimate goal of University engineers.

C. K. Williams, physical plant draftsman, explained the architectural plan as ground-breaking for Ford hall was about to begin.

Each of the buildings, he said, except the Union and Northrop auditorium, would face a building similar to it in architecture.

Present Mall buildings bear a close resemblance, with Vincent hall matching the Chemistry building, and the Library pairing with Physics.

Plans are now on the drafting board for two more pillared structures.

Religious Groups Plan Frosh Week 'Foundation Night'

Members of campus religious organizations are making plans for Foundation night, an event to be held during Welcome week for freshmen.

Foundation night will be on Wednesday, Sept. 21. Each denomination will entertain its guests at its regular house or meeting place.

The programs will begin at 5 p.m. and include supper and special entertainment or open houses.

The purpose of Foundation night is to acquaint new students with campus religious organizations and their leaders.

The new class room building, which will be built on the present site of temporary north of Library, will have round pillars and will resemble the Administration building.

Ford hall, to be constructed on the site of Mrs. Murphy will take on a modern touch with square pillars, resembling those on the Union.

In the future University officials hope to complete the matching rectangle with a building south of Chemistry similar to Ford hall.

Music

Audience Sings Too At Informal Concert

By R. H. Myers
Daily Music Critic

The audience joined in singing two numbers at an informal concert by the summer session chorus yesterday.

The chorus, under the direction of Dr. James Aliferis, sang a varied program of unusual music.

Opening the program, audience and chorus sang a two part Gloria of Dufay in canon form. They joined again at the end in Hindemith's "In Praise of Music."

The chorus, numbering 25 members, maintained excellent balance and tone throughout the program. All the compositions performed used instrumental accompaniment of various kinds.

It is hard to single out any one composition as being better than the rest, for all had great musical interest. The Gibbons' "Cryes of London," Beethoven's "Elegy" and Brahms' gusty drinking song "Chorus of Homage" made effective numbers for the small ensemble.

The Hindemith composition, "In Praise of Music," is one of his efforts to produce music especially for amateur use. However, the music is not easy to perform, being quite complicated rhythmically.

The chorus has been rehearsing for only four weeks so that the usual precise and polished performance we associate with Aliferis' conducting was lacking in some degree.

The group sang with good spirit, though, and any lack of perfection went unnoticed in the general enjoyment of the music.

September Semi-Vacation

Union Activities Slow Down in Part

Activities in Coffman Union will slow down considerably during the month of September.

The Union building will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. as usual but not all its parts will be operating.

All the main offices such as the director's office, the program consultant's office and the Alumni office will remain open, but the various student offices will be closed until the students return.

The YWCA office will be open all during vacation.

All food services will be closed except the cafeteria, which will serve only breakfast and lunch until fall quarter starts.

The Campus club, Gopherette, Grill and commuters' lunch room will not be operating.

The Union beauty shop will be closed Sept. 4 to 10 but will be open as usual after that. The barber shop will be closed Saturday through Sept. 12.

Bowling alleys, aircraft workshop, billiard room and game room will be closed until Welcome week begins.

The PO and garage will be open and the bookstore will be open every day except Labor day.

Genevieve Damkroger, secretary to Buel Abrahamson, program consultant, said, "Our office will be humming with activity since our plans for fall and winter quarters have not been completed yet."

"We'll be very busy until school starts. Bands and orchestras have to be ordered; additions, cancellations and revisions in the program must be made."

"Then, too, we have to contact student committee chairmen and get things all lined up so we'll be ready to go."

Polio Rule Won't Affect U Hospitals

University hospitals "will be affected very little" when the state's polio isolation period is shortened from 2 weeks to 1.

Dr. Dean S. Fleming, state health department communicable disease chief, predicted Sunday that the isolation regulation would be changed "within the next month or two."

Dr. Gaylord W. Anderson, staff doctor and chairman of Mayor Eric G. Hoyer's special Minneapolis polio committee, said yesterday the new regulation will be of more benefit to city hospitals around the state who handle both light and severe cases.

Shortening the isolation period means that city hospitals will be able to discharge patients with mild cases to their homes that much sooner and consequently have that much more room and services.

"We handle only the severe cases throughout the state, exclusive of the Twin Cities and Duluth," said Dr. Anderson, "so even though patients are taken out of isolation a week sooner they still have to stay in the hospital."

Action on the isolation regulation will be in accordance with recommendations of a national conference on recommended practices for the control of poliomyelitis.

Dr. Anderson was one of 18 top public health officials who attended the conference sponsored by the National Foundation for the Prevention of Infantile Paralysis.

Students Get 3 Holidays Fall Quarter

University students will have only three holidays other than weekends during the fall quarter of the coming school year.

Columbus day, Oct. 12, will be the first official day off for faculty and students.

Armistice day, Nov. 11, is the second day off.

Nov. 24, Thanksgiving, will be the third and final holiday before Dec. 9, the beginning of final week.

Homecoming and Dad's day both fall on Saturdays so they aren't "real" holidays.

Tough Schedule, Loss of 7 May Ruin U Bowl Hopes

By Alf T. Olsen

One of the toughest schedules in the history of the Golden Gophers plus the loss of seven regulars from the 1948 campaign, may weaken Minnesota's chances for a Rose bowl tilt this year.

The Gophers will play Northwestern, Ohio State and Michigan on successive Saturdays.

The fact that both the Michigan and Ohio State games will be played away may have some bearing on Minnesota's chances of winning.

Losses from last year's squad include Warren Beson, center; Jim Bierman, Vern Gagne and Mary Hein, ends; Mike Kissell, guard; Ev Faunce and Harry Elliott, left halfbacks.

In spite of these losses Minnesota will be able to field a team that has had three or more years experience in Big Ten competition.

Minnesota's line, one of the strongest in the country, will be dominated by all-American Leo Nomellini; Clayton Tonnenmaker, who already has been mentioned for all-American honors by Bill Stern; Howie Brennan, co-captain along with Tonnenmaker; Jerry Mitchell, Floyd Jaszowski, Buster Mealey, Gordie Soltan, Harry Hendrickson and Bob Roetman.

The backfield will be strongest at quarterback and fullback where the lettermen run three and four deep.

Backing Frank Kuzma at full are Ken Beiersdorf, Bill Elliott and Dave Skrien. Filling the quarterback spot will be Dick Anonsen, Jim Malosky and Bill Thiele.

Bud Hausken, last year's right half, is back filling the other halfback spot. Other backs who probably will see service include Dick Lawrence, Ralph McAlister, Dale Warner and Jack Zupetz.

As yet no sophomores appear capable of working into the starting lineup according to coach Bernie Bierman.

The team will have some overall depth with plenty of 4-year veterans to give it experience when Washington comes to Memorial stadium Sept. 21.

George Hudak, whose play was outstanding with last year's freshman team, appears to be the successor to leading ground-gainer Ev Faunce, who has graduated.

With the ballyhoo starting early, co-captain Clay Tonnenmaker appears a sure bet for all-American honors. If Clay and Leo Nomellini make the grade, it will be the first time since 1941—when Urban Odson and Bruce Smith did it—that Minnesota has had two all-Americans in the same season.

Schedule

Sept. 24—Washington (home)
Oct. 1—Nebraska (away, game time 2 p.m. C.S.T.)
Oct. 8—Northwestern (home)
Oct. 15—Ohio State (away, game time 2 p.m. E.S.T.)
Oct. 22—Michigan (away, game time 2 p.m. E.S.T.)
Oct. 29—Purdue (home)
Nov. 5—Iowa (home)
Nov. 12—Pittsburgh (away, game time 1:30 p.m. E.S.T.)
Nov. 19—Wisconsin (home)
All home games will start at 1:30 p.m. Central standard time.

First things come first. Introduction to University billiards art for Arvin Zaikaner (aiming the cue stick) and Al Schumeister precedes their introduction to study by better than a month. Both are from Central high school in St. Paul and are going to enter the University as freshmen this fall.

Nursing Graduates Get Jobs Around the World

University nursing graduates get around. Miss Katharine J. Densford, director of the School of Nursing, yesterday told of several recent graduates who do.

One of the nurses, Mrs. Ralph Lindstrom, class of 1948, is on her way to Harvard university to assist in research studies in the care of children.

Mrs. Lindstrom, accompanying her husband who will do some advanced study at Harvard, will be doing follow-up work on case studies on the care and treatment of children.

Another graduate, Mrs. Charles TenBrink, is just passing through enroute to London. She has come from Queens hospital, Honolulu, where she was a member of the faculty.

Mrs. TenBrink is accompanying her husband, who has won a scholarship to study in London.

Still another nursing grad, Miss LuVerne Wolff, will arrive here on Sept. 15, Miss Densford said.

Miss Wolff is coming from the American university in Beirut, Lebanon, where she was head of Nursing Education.

Young Garden Growers Tour Ag Campus

Members of the Twin Cities National Junior Vegetable Growers association are sponsoring a tour tomorrow on Ag campus.

Mrs. Clara Oberg, Ramsey county 4-H club leader and adviser to the group, made the announcement yesterday.

At least 50 junior vegetable gardeners from more than half a dozen nearby counties will get first hand information on improved practices in vegetable growing during the tour.

The young gardeners will spend the morning studying vegetable test plots on Ag campus under the direction of L. C. Snyder, extension horticulturist, and O. C. Turquist, Ag campus horticulturist.

They will devote the afternoon to a tour of orchard and fruit breeding test plots at the University fruit breeding farm near Excelsior.

Four-H club members enrolled in the gardening project and other vegetable gardeners 13 and older have been invited on the tour, Mrs. Oberg said.

UN Study Material Shown in Nicholson

United Nations study material for instruction in secondary and grade schools will be on display today and tomorrow in 204 Nicholson hall.

Sponsored by the International Relations center, the exhibit has been set up to show teachers' methods of teaching UN subjects. It will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. both days.

Last 'Splash' Tomorrow

The final coeducational splash party of the summer session will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tomorrow in Cooke hall pool. All students may attend.

New Warren Play May Debut Here

By Peggy Witherell

Robert Penn Warren's new play, "Cass Mastern," will probably be presented at the University Theater next year.

This is the belief of Dr. Frank M. Whiting, associate professor of speech and director of University Theater.

Dr. Whiting first learned of Warren's plans to present his new play at the University before it reaches Broadway or Hollywood when Will Jones, columnist for the Minneapolis Tribune, called him to check a news release.

Dr. Whiting said he was as surprised as anyone when he heard about it.

He had asked Warren a number of times to write a play which the University could produce, but he had not heard of plans for this new production.

On Monday evening Dr. Whiting wired Warren, who is in California, and Warren called back yesterday.

"No definite plans have been made, but from the tone of the conversation, we believe it will be possible to put on the play this year," Whiting said.

"We shall wait until Warren returns on Sept. 17 or 18 before we know definitely what we will do."

According to Dr. Whiting, Warren said his play is primarily intended for movie production.

The New York Times, which had originally come out with the news, said that it was intended to be put on the stage.

If the plans go through, the play, to be completed in October, will be staged on campus with a University cast.

The production here will be used as a test to discover public and critic reaction before it is presented on Broadway or goes to Hollywood.

Warren's prize-winning novel, "All the King's Men," has recently been made into a movie and is opening in New York now.

YPA to Attend State Meeting This Weekend

The state chapter of Young Progressives of America will hold its second annual convention Saturday and Sunday.

The group will meet at St. John's landing camp in St. Croix state park.

Over 100 persons are expected to attend the convention.

George Acko, president of campus YPA, said yesterday he expected about 12 University student members to attend the convention.

The 2-day program will include election of officers. A program of action for the coming year also will be planned.

Panel discussions are scheduled on farm problems, civil rights, peace and fascism and labor and unemployment.

Ags to Have Fair Booth

The School of Agriculture will set up headquarters at the Minnesota state fair to give information to high school or eighth grade graduates.

The information will deal with entrance requirements and curriculum of the school for those interested in further training in farming or home economics.

But Some Negroes Do Escape

To the Editor:

I wish to comment on the letter of Jane Mees, appearing in the Daily Friday, Aug. 19.

This letter has nothing to do with the Communist trial controversy between her and the author of the "pro-Communist" letter, except that her statement that, "the most down-trodden American—the Negro—does not try to escape from the United States . . ." may give the wrong impression to those who do not know the facts.

It may give the impression that the Negro's plight is not so bad and that he accepts his lot rather than go elsewhere and improve it.

The fact is that Negroes not only try, but succeed in "escaping" from the United States.

Numerous Negroes, former United States citizens, now reside in Canada, Mexico and France, to make a point of the most popular countries to which they go.

Some servicemen sought and obtained their discharges in Europe and the various other places they were stationed.

Until the recent war, the principal migration of the Negro has been from the South, where the most unspeakable injustices occur, to the North.

However, I predict, that barring unforeseen events that may occur, if the Negro's lot is not appreciably bettered within another decade, there will be a tremendous increase in his emigration from this country.

We are forced to give some Negroes credit for seeking complete liberty and equality elsewhere when they fail to obtain it in their native country.
