Theater-Goers' Mouths Water As Actors Enjoy 'Corn Likker'

Palates of University Theatre patrons became drier and drier last night as they sat through "Both Your Houses" watching Arthur Peterson and his companions, in the roles of unscrupulous politicians, consume quantities of fiery 'corn likker' from jugs concealed in office filing cabinets.

But off in a corner of the auditorium sat Lola Jones Sheppard, business manager of the theatre, her illusions of hardbilled congressmen utterly destroyed. For, earlier in the afternoon, Lola had signed a requisition for one pound of tea—to be used to fill those same jugs.

The requisition also included some 33 cigars for Arthur Peterson, whose expert handling of the stogies is a very recent accomplishment, and Edward Rosen.

Those who had attended former productions of the University Theatre failed to recognize John Manning in Peabody, doddering old representative from the South. His last role was that of the toy doll, Peter Piper, in "Racketty-Packetty House," while before that he had played the organ for the old-fashioned melodrama, "After Dark."

His versatility is equaled by that of Warren Lee, technical director of the play, whose last sets were of a child's just big enough to discourage other nations from taking advantage of us." Kreidberg Defends Policy

To those who charge the Practical Pacifists with being insincere, Kreidberg declared, "We love life as much as anyone, but we're willing to die if necessary for our beliefs. That certainly is not insincerity." He added that the Practical Pacifists would act for peace in every possible manner; but that "we would go to war if the country declared war."

He defended drill as teaching students discipline. "When someone is dying of gas on a battle-field, because he didn't know enough to follow orders and put on his gas-mask, perhaps he will thank you for having forbidden him military drill," said Kreidberg.

Farmers Approve Corn-Hog Program

Minnesota farmers are showing a favorable attitude toward the 1935 corn-hog program in the campaign for new signers being launched in Minnesota, according to Andrew Boss, state AAA director and professor of agriculture. Schools for corn-hog, committeemen and other public spirited farmers, held in many counties, were well attended in spite of cold weather and drifted roads, Professor Boss said.

No 'Takers' in Pharmacy; $50 Prize Is Withdrawn

Even a $50 prize becomes impatient waiting to be awarded. There used to be a David S. Jacobson cash prize and medal award for outstanding graduate students in the College of Pharmacy. But yesterday morning at the meeting of the Board of Regents, the award was discontinued at Jacobson's request, since no students in the classification specified were in school.

Norman's Ankle Injury Hurts Gopher Chances

Star Center to Be Out of Practice Today and Tomorrow

Minnesota's hopes for a strong showing against the second-place Indiana quint Saturday night rose and fell with the results of the Gopher's two victories over the weekend.

Heralded as the dark horse for the second half of the schedule after dumping Iowa, Minnesota came home to score its second victory over Chicago. As a result of their victory over the Maroons, however, the Gophers may have lost the services of Gordie Norman for most of the Indiana and Michigan games this weekend.

The gangling blond center from Rochester twisted his ankle in the last two minutes of the Chicago game and was forced to leave the floor. After an examination yesterday, John Aldes head trainer, declared that Norman would have to rest today and possibly tomorrow in order to be in top shape for the road trip.

Complicating Dave MacMillian's plans still further, Bill Freimuth reported temporarily on the sick list yesterday with a slight cold. He indicated that he would be ready to work out with the team as usual this afternoon, however.

"The boys played a good game Monday night," MacMillian declared. "I don't think I could have started a better team."

The best period of play a Minnesota team has shown this year, though, was the first period of the Minnesota-Iowa game last Saturday. Iowa didn't know whether it was going or coming.

MacMillian indicated his intention of leaving the first team intact for the Indiana tilt Saturday, although he may have to change his plans somewhat because of Norman's injury.

Jimmy Baker, despite his sudden burst of scoring in the last two games that sent him to the top of Minnesota's Big Ten scorers with 47 points, sheepishly confessed to Norman after the Chicago tilt Monday night. "Gordie, I think I shot too much tonight," Norman, leading the Minnesota squad with 36 points for the entire season, dropped behind the Glencoe lead in Big Ten play with 46 points.

Roscoe is in third place with 40 scores.

Transformed from forward to guard, Roscoe is still committing as many fouls as ever, with a total of 37 for the season, 19 of them in the 6 Big Ten games played to date.

Baker, Roscoe, Seebach and Norman took the afternoon off yesterday while the rest of the squad reported for a light drill. Stelzer, excused with the others, reported for practice just the same.

Track Hopes Hit Once More With Laird Ill

Once again old lady hard luck put in her weekly visit at the track camp this time to bring captain Brad Laird, a nice case of measles which, with the probable loss of Bill Freimuth, Saturday's basketball trip, will leave coach Sherrin Finger on the edge of the indoor season with but a remnant of a once-powerful squad.

Despite Captain Laird's illness, however, the quarter mile promises to be one of the most productive fields for Gopher point-gathering in the Drake opener Saturday. Bob Everts, Clark Taube and Edward Graham have shown marked improvement in the past three time trials and with the return of Brad Laird should see to a high ranking in the relay team before the year ends.

Sickness on Frosh Tank Team Forces Canceling of Meet

First it was an epidemic of colds. Now it is measles, broken ear drums and sore legs. Anyway, the freshman-varsity swimming meet has been cancelled—this time for good. Coach Niels Thorpe yesterday abandoned all hope of having the annual meet this year when he learned that five members of the yearling squad had suddenly been taken ill.

In place of the annual meet the freshman team will perform in some preliminary exhibition races before the Minnesota-Illinois meet February 16 when the Indoor Sports building will be officially dedicated. These races will wind up the freshman swimming activities for the year.

Freshman Baseball Squad Cut by Burke

Ed Widseth Reports With Frosh Pitchers

After carefully watching the ball-handling ability of his entire squad, Coach Burke, freshman baseball coach, is gradually dropping candidates who have failed to show enough diamond talent. The cutting affected eleven members yesterday.

Ed Widseth, 220-pound sophomore hurler from McInnis, Minn., who starred at Appleton last year's football team, reported yesterday on the hurling staff. Widseth was one of the outstanding candidates on the freshman baseball squad last year and will see considerable service this spring on the mound for the varsity.

Recent additions to Burke's limited pitching staff are Warren Wickstrom, Duluth, a left-hander with one year's hurling experience in the Duluth City league and Kermit Aase, a right-hander. Aase was a member of last season's freshman team.

Gene Trow, Minneapolis South high graduate now on the hurling staff of the St. Paul club, was in a suit in the Field House yesterday getting in a little practice before the Saints go south for spring training.

Baseball is Japan's leading college sport.
