UMC Western Equestrian Set For Show at Minnesota and IHSA Regional Championship

CROOKSTON, Minn. – The University of Minnesota Crookston western equestrian team will compete at the University of Minnesota this weekend in a regular-season show Sat., Feb. 20, before taking to the show ring for the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) Regional Championships Sun., Feb. 21 in St. Paul, Minn.

The Golden Eagles are looking to take the IHSA Regional Championship, as they enter the weekend in a strong position to do so. UMC last competed in December at the University of Wisconsin-River Falls, where the Golden Eagles were led by Amanda Guimont (Sr., Nowthen, Minn./Agricultural Business), who earned High Point Rider. Minnesota Crookston had several strong performances during the Fall, winning High Point Team honors at North Dakota State University and at home. They earned Reserve High Point Team at North Dakota State and University of Minnesota.
