

Duluth -- Teaching experience in the classroom is being gained by 148 UMD seniors during winter quarter, according to Dr. Hubert Loy, student teaching director.

There are 99 student teachers in area secondary schools and 49 student teachers in elementary schools, Loy said.

In order to fulfill requirements for their degrees, the seniors must teach for 10 weeks in area schools. They will be supervised by a teacher in the school and observed by UMD faculty members making periodic visits to the school.

Secondary schools which have UMD student teachers, the student and his home town are:
