Snow or No, Snow Week Set to Go

By Steve Alnes

A pall hangs over the mall, but not from overcast skies. Snow week will be snow weak.

Old Man Winter may not be dancing around a maypole as he did during Snow week, 1942, but the latest chatter in informed circles says he is playing questionable games with a warm-blooded wood nymph.

The United States weather bureau's long range forecast predicts "exceedingly mild and dry" weather through Wednesday with less than one-fourth inch of precipitation about Monday.

Average temperature for the five-day period will be 5 to 10 degrees above the normal (12 degrees) with Monday and Tuesday the only days slated for any chill.

But regardless of temperature tantrums, Snow week will start at 1 p.m. today on the Cooke hall rink where all king and queen candidates will skate before a battery of judges.

The judicial body will consist of Eleanor Anderson, society writer of the Minneapolis Star; Bud Jewett, Star photographer; Marjorie Benedictor, skiing expert from the Moon Valley Ski club; Bob Uppgren, skating expert from White Bear Lake; Maureen Hamilton of the McConnell Modeling school.

All judges, candidates and committee members will attend a tea at 4 p.m. in the Union main ballroom where the king and 10 queen finalists will be picked.

Cedric Adams, columnist, will present the king at a "King's Court" dance from 9 p.m. to midnight today in the Union main ballroom.

Snow week will go on a coast-to-coast hookup over Kate Smith's program at 11 a.m. Monday.

Queen candidates will take a passive part in a dog sled race set for 3:30 p.m. Monday on the mall. Eight of each queen's sponsors will get in harness and crawl the length of the mall on hands and knees drawing their candidates on toboggans. This will be held with or without snow.

A complete listing of all Snow week king and queen candidates will be found on page three of today's Daily.

Halsey Hall, sportscaster and columnist, will give an inch-by-inch account of the race.

Queen finalists will be presented during the song fest which starts at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union main ballroom. Sixteen musical groups, ranging from trios to octettes, will warble in competition to determine who will be King's Men and Queen's Ladies at the coronation Thursday night.

Meanwhile, the button committee has added three prizes for salesmanship. In addition to the four-day trip to Sun Valley, Idaho, and the combination radio-phonograph, three Snow train tickets will be awarded. Students still may get into the selling race by reporting to the Snow week office, 280 Union.

Tickets are on sale in the Union information booth for the Tuesday night sleigh (or hay) ride, the Wednesday skating party in the Minneapolis arena and the Snowball which will follow the coronation Thursday night. Snow week buttons will admit wearers to twilight dances, 3:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday in the Union.

Radio Stations Plan Snow Week Plugs

Local radio stations are throwing their weight behind Snow week with interviews of the king, queen and Snow week committee members.

Programs and stations which will spotlight Snow week are:

WCCO Darragh Aldrich show, 4 p.m. Thursday.
Nite Owl, midnight Monday.
Adams' broadcast, 10 p.m. Friday.
WTCN Arleth Haberly show, 11:35 a.m. Monday.
Main Conn show, 3:35 p.m. Friday.
WMIN Interview, 1:30 p.m. Monday.
WLOR Spot announcements.
WGOY Interview, 4:15 p.m. Monday.

Dr. J. W. Buchta, dean of the Arts senior college, will speak on "Atomic Energy" at the Wesley foundation tomorrow. Dr. Buchta's talk will be illustrated with slides, and he will show the group a Geiger counter.

Foresters Off on Celebration Today

Rumored threats that the engineers would melt a snow statue of Paul Bunyon to celebrate Foresters day on Ag campus today were being killed quickly by gleeful foresters—there was no statue.

But a lack of snow, although it might deter Snow week plans, slowed up the annual event on Ag campus not a whit. At 1:30 p.m. today, the day will be officially dedicated to E. G. Cheyney, retiring forestry professor, and the celebration will be well under way. Cheyney has been on the University faculty since 1905.

Newspaper Guild Sets Up Lectureship

An annual memorial lectureship was announced yesterday by the Newspaper Guild of the Twin Cities to honor three Minneapolis newspapermen who died in service. President Morrill accepted the gift on behalf of the University.

Newspapermen from throughout the country will be brought here for a lecture each year, beginning in spring quarter. Dr. Ralph D. Casey, director of the School of Journalism, will be in charge here to work with a Guild committee composed of Harold Chucker, Minneapolis Star and Journal; Bob Eddy, St. Paul Pioneer Press; Ralph Backlund, WCCO.

Honored by the lectureship are Carroll Bon, Lawrence Cragg and Riley F. McKay, all army men. They worked on the Minneapolis Tribune and Star and Journal.

Regents Put OK On Wage Hikes

Approval of a 10 per cent wage increase not to exceed $36 a month for the academic staff as well as of the long-debated increase for nonacademic employes for submission to the state legislature was made by the Board of Regents at their January meeting yesterday.

In recommending the increases, which will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1947, President Morrill pointed out that the academic staff increase averaging about $23 a month for both nine and 12 month employes was based on a study of salaries authorized by the Regents in their December meeting and were comparable to the approved civil service employes' pay raise.

The salary increases in both fields would mean an extra $500,000 tacked onto the University's legislative request, preliminary estimates indicate.

The Regents approved the recommendation of a bill for the state legislature authorizing the Regents to designate two men to have power to investigate and arrest those committing crimes against the University.

The Regents accepted approximately $150,000 in gifts for the University. The largest was $50,000 from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to assist in establishing a course in physical therapy leading to a bachelor of science degree. It would be a four-year course with two years in SLA followed by two years in the School of Medicine.

Another $25,000 was given by the Infantile Paralysis Foundation for the construction of six large and seven small laboratories on the top floor of the Medical Science building. Plans have already been drawn up, and work will start in the near future.

The Max H. Hoffman memorial fund received $10,000 for the construction and equipment of a laboratory for research in endocrinology. The laboratory will eventually be housed in the proposed Mayo Memorial.

Henry B. Steinbach was appointed professor of zoology to fill the position formerly held by Dr. W. G. Clark. Professor Steinbach came here from the University of Washington. He had been an assistant professor here in 1937-38.

President Morrill gave special recognition to the membership of the United Electrical Workers of America, CIO, local 1145, who contributed $2,500 for a Hubert H. Humphrey scholarship fund to be used in the polio field.

Course for Teachers of Sales Begun

A new business education course in distributive education, for the instruction of future teachers in the field of sales occupations, has been inaugurated at the University.

The new program started winter quarter under the direction of Warren G. Meyer, assistant professor of education, who was assisted in mapping out the curriculum by Richard L. Kozelka, dean of the School of Business Administration and by a committee of staff representatives from the two University divisions and the state department of education.

The four-year training program in distributive education will emphasize the vocational aspect of high school and junior college teaching in this field. In addition to the four-year undergraduate course of study, graduate work in distributive education is offered, with a special program planned for next summer.

Professor Meyer joined the University staff last fall. He was formerly Kansas state supervisor of business education. Leading educators in the field will serve as guest instructors during the 1947 summer session.

New Medical ROTC To Start Classes

A newly activated advanced medical ROTC unit will start classes Monday in the Medical school. Approximately 50 students are enrolled.

Normally a four-year course, the training period has been shortened to two years for veterans. As a result juniors and sophomores as well as freshmen have been allowed to register.

Lt. Col. Hilbert Mark, member of the school of hospital administration staff, is instructor of the unit.

Critic Finds Pennario Mature at Age 22

By Arnold Rosenberg
Daily Music Critic

Twenty-two-year-old pianists who display a mature facility for pyrotechnics are not particularly rare, but a 22-year-old pianist who has, in addition to this quality, a flare for mature interpretation, is far from common.

Leonard Pennario, who performed the solo in the Saint-Saens Piano Concerto No. 2 last evening with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, is one of these uncommon youths.

While the Concerto is extremely eclectic, wit' frequent reminders of Beethoven, Liszt and especially Mendelssohn, there is no lack of charm, and it provided Pennario with a vehicle in which he could display his powers as a virtuoso and as a sound musician.

Schumann's "Rhenish" Symphony, which Dimitri Mitropoulos offered as the orchestra's major selection, proved not quite as successful. Mr. Ferguson, in his program notes, points out that Schumann chose the theme of the second movement from a song which had an "uncouth text." The performance was so heavy-footed that the movement wasn't lifted far above its "uncouth" beginnings.

In other sections of the Symphony, Mitropoulos stressed its romantic aspects almost to the extreme.

Cherubini's overture to "Anacreon" opened the concert, and this was beautifully performed. The string sections of the orchestra were particularly meaty.

For lighter fare, Darius Milhaud's "Le Bal Martiniquais" was programmed. The composer has captured in this the mood and atmosphere of the French West Indies without losing the opportunity to show himself as a fine contrapuntist.

Gophers Tie Wolverines, 4-4

Jacobson Pulls Hat Trick; Frick Injured

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—(Special)—A gaudy center ice man from the plains of Saskatchewan, Bill Jacobson, pulled the hat trick, three goals, before a capacity gathering in Wolverine Coliseum last night to give Michigan a 4-4 overtime hockey tie with Minnesota.

Center Bud Frick, who hinges the Gopher line of Frick-Fleming-Klatt, suffered the only injury toward the end of the second installment of the hard-fought but clean game. It took four stitches to sew a gash in his chin, but he stayed in.

Two of Jacobson's budget-balancing goals came in the third period. He had scored the game's first counter at 5:57 of the first time division on a pass from Ted Greer of Wayzata. Greer got the only other Michigan goal at 16:35, also in the initial stanza.

The Maroon and Gold went into the second frame embarrassed by a two-goal drag, but Bobby Harris at 9:30 and Rolly DePaul at 14:20 evened the standing. Bob used Dick Roberts' pass but DePaul skeltered down alone.

Bob Fleming led Minnesota ahead at 2:50 of the third period on an aid from Frick. Jacobson smoothed the count for the Wolves at 6:52, Starrak and Greer helping.

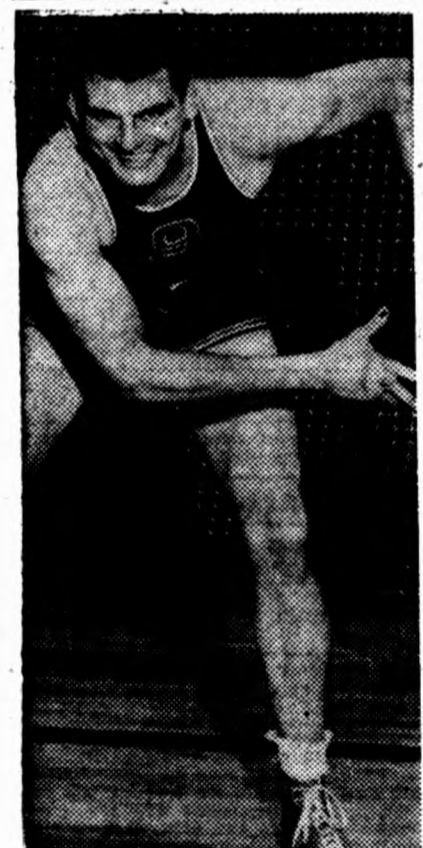

Again the Maroon and Gold put Michigan in the ice dust, Remole from Hodgins at 8:31, but Jacobson had a pass laid on his stick by Marshall and beat Tommy Karakas to bring on an overtime.

No one could dent the net in the extra session, but Minnesota picked up its first penalty of the evening, Jack O'Brien going to the correction coop for holding.

In all, the tilt saw only five penalties, four Wolverines being put out. This contrasts with the eight reprimands in one period of the Minnesota-Winnipeg clash.

As usual, Tommy Karakas turned in mesmerizing saves. He totaled 31 stops to 25 for MacDonald of Michigan.

HIGH STICKS: Tommy Karakas must have turned grass-colored with envy upon reading the returns on a recent St. Thomas-Macalester ice mix. The St. Thomas goalie, in zeroing the Macs, had ONE stop . . . Mr. Stop has had games this year in which he went over the 50 mark in saves . . . For games with Canadian teams the Minneapolis Arena organ booms out "God Save The King" as well as "The Star Spangled Banner". The Roseau Returned vet on the invading Michigan State five tonight is guard Fred Stone, all 6 feet, 6 inches of him. In 1942-43 the lanky Stone was first string center, but this season he has been shifted to the back court where he teams with another six-and-a-half footer, Jack Wulf.

boys on the Gophers took their high school hockey under such ice nobility as Oscar Alquist, one-time St. Paul goalie great, and Babe Paulson, the former Minnesota star . . . Larry Armstrong would be tickled with a permanent ice conference set-up with Canadian schools. His hands have been frozen as far as scheduling Canuck colleges because of Big Nine rules. With so few Midwestern institutions partaking of the rink sport, lining up an attractive winter card has been graying Larry's sparse thatch . . . deeper . . .

Winter Grid Sessions Set For Monday

"Operation pigskin," a research project for the 1947 football season, gets underway at 4 p.m. Monday as winter practices begin in the Field house.

With finding and developing new football talent as the object, Bierman is asking all men regardless of experience to report. "Undoubtedly there are men on campus with ability equal to that of last fall's squad," says the Gopher coach.

A system of split practices has been set up whereby men will work out twice each week. If, however, class schedules conflict, an arrangement for one weekly practice can be made.

The grid sessions will begin at 4 p.m. and run until about 5:30 p.m. daily except Saturdays. Last fall's varsity men are not urged to report, but they are asked to keep in shape by participation in other sports or doing heavy work.

Unbeaten Iowa State Heavy To Wrestle Gagne Tonight

By George Thiss

The best heavyweight match of the home season is on deck tonight when the Gophers' highly-touted Vern Gagne tackles Iowa State's Glen Brand. Boasting an unbeaten record in dual competition to date, sophomore Brand is expected to toss everything in his book at Gagne in an attempt to keep his streak intact.

Since both battlers use their aggressiveness as their main weapon, the bout is ticketed to bristle with action, the victor emerging by outlasting the other. Gagne will take to the mats for the first time in quite a spell without giving away any poundage.

If Gagne can leap the Brand hurdle he must be hailed as ready for the toughest competi-

'State Tough,' Cautions Mohr

By Bill Smith

"Watchout for those Michigan Staters," assistant coach Max Mohr warned Minnesota's cagers yesterday. "They've got a stronger club than Michigan."

And with those words of warning ringing in their ears, the Gophers will take on a good Michigan State five at 8:15 p.m. today in the Field house. A preliminary at 6:45 p.m. will match Minneapolis South and Virginia high schools.

Hoping to rebound from the one-sided defeat suffered at the hands of Notre Dame Monday, the Spartans are out to make it two in a row over the Gophers, whom they topped Christmas eve, 1945, 50-48 at East Lansing.

The game is the third in the State-Gopher series which started in 1943 with a 46-32 Minnesota victory here.

Coach Ben Van Alstyne still has the two cagers on hand who combined to stop Coach Dave MacMillan's cagers in overtime last season, Robin Roberts and Matt Mazza. Mazza won't be a starter but Roberts will open at one of the forwards with high scoring Bob Geahan teaming with him. It was Roberts who sank the two extra-period field goals which gave the Staters their thriller win in 1945.

Mazza, high scorer in last season's clash, has been beaten out of the starting center position by Dave Lumsden, who stands four inches shorter than MacMillan's starting pivot man, 6-foot, 9-inch Jim McIntyre. At the guards will be two converted centers, Fred Stone and Jack Wulf.

Dave MacMillan, who has made only one change in his starting lineup in a dozen games, will start the same quint that has opened every conference game to date. Forwards will be sharp-passing, playmaker Jack Young, and rebound artist Bud Grant. McIntyre will open at center, and the guards will be Eddie Kernan and Louie Brewster, who, along with Young and McIntyre, have started every game this season.

Both clubs will go into tonight's clash with .666 records. The man with the cigar can claim eight wins in 12 starts for his Gophers and the Spartans have six for nine, with the losses going to Michigan in the season opener, powerful Arizona and Notre Dame.

The losing scramble at Iowa City Monday night cost MacMillan the services of his number one reserve guard, Bill Pepper, who is now on a liquid diet as a result of a broken jaw sustained in the Iowa fracas. Ready to step in for Kernan or Brewster tonight will be Lefty Gilleland or Dave Ruliffson, both of whom also can hold down forward posts.

Finally, there's Don Mattson to spell McIntyre at center where he held the starring role in the Illinois and Iowa games.

Gymnasts in Inter-Squad Meet Today

By Roger Vessels

The first Gopher gymnastic team since 1944 will hold its second intrasquad meet today. Then and there coaches Ralph Piper and Maurie Ostrander expect to decide who are the most promising candidates.

About 20 men have been working out regularly in the room of rings, bars and mats in Cooke hall, and the coaches admit they will have quite a job picking the three men who will compete in each event.

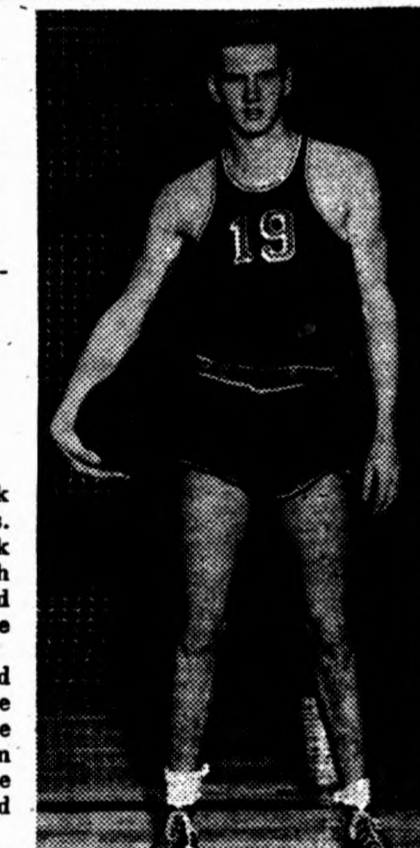

The first meet is Feb. 1 against Penn State, last year's National Intercollegiate champions. Although Piper and Ostrander have visions of a fairly strong team, they expect a real struggle with the Staters.

The only other meet the Gopher gymnasts have at home is a triangular meet Feb. 22 with Illinois and Chicago, which will take place in conjunction with the Northwest meet. The latter is open to all college, high school, YMCA and private club teams in the Northwest.

The Big Nine champion will be chosen at the Conference meet at Illinois March 15.

For a quick review of the sport for gymnastics fans, there are six events Big Nine teams compete in: high bars, side horse, flying rings, parallel bars, mats and the new event, the long horse.

Jim Peterson and George Patton appear to be the work horses of the squad, according to Ostrander. The two are equally adept in all six events, and undoubtedly will gather a good share of the squad's points.

Prep star from Chicago's Senn high school is Jack Wulf, the other half of the Spartan's towering guard combination. According to State press releases, Wulf is a slick trick who was slick enough last year to lead the Windy City prep league in scoring.

the lights when the Gophers' Jack Heimark squares off at 128 pounds. Trimming off 20 pounds in a week Heimark will lock holds with Charles Nelson who has walked away with the Iowa State title twice.

Bernie Lindquist will don gold tights for the first time when he goes to the starting post in the 175-pound class. Lindquist is on deck to meet Jim Claggett, one of the only two Cyclones that could gain points against Cornell.

George Head, numeral winner from 1943, will wrestle in his first postwar mix as Bartelma's choice at 145 pounds.

Minnesota	Weight	Iowa State
Lappin	121	Ewoldsen
Heimark	128	Nelson
Rice	136	Moen
Head	145	Carlson
Aitkens	155	Ditworth
Abels	165	Blanchet
Lindquist	175	Claggett
Gagne	Heavyweight	Brand

Another top fight will go under
