DULUTH -- The second UMD Summer Community Theater production, "See How They Run," will be presented in 8 p.m. performances Friday and Saturday (August 14-15) in Old Main Auditorium.

A British farce written by Philip King, the play deals with the problem of unmasking a Russian spy disguised as a clergyman in a household of men dressed as clergymen--some legitimately.

Richard Brandt and Merilee Hobbs portray the Rev. Lionel Toop and his wife, Penelope. Phil Cohen is cast as the spy, James Robinson as Corporal Clive Winton, Elizabeth Young as Miss Skillon, Marta Monkkonen as the maid, Ida, Michael Zacher as The Bishop of Lax, Ross Becker as Sgt. Towers and James Ranta as the Rev. Arthur Humphrey.

Ranta is from Elgin, Illinois. The other cast members are Duluthians.

"See How They Run" replaces the previously announced production, "Two For The Seesaw."
