

Tribune

Washington Irving's classic "Rip Van Winkle" will be presented by the UMD Laboratory school eighth grade class at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Friday (May 29) in Main auditorium. Admission will be free.

In the title role will be Reed Wallner as "Young Rip" and William Thompson as "Old Rip." Penny Brown is "Dame Van Winkle."

Rip loaf's and spins yarns around the New England village until driven out into the stormy Catskill mountains.

There he meets Hendrick Hudson's crew. Tricked into tipping from their keg, Rip falls asleep. Twenty years later when he awakes his world is bewildering and different.

Directed by Richard G. Lidberg, instructor of education, the cast includes: Carl Stueland, Michael Solomon, Kent Brosveen, Melanie Como, Mary McShane, Janet Kreman, Cynthia Cowan, Robert Milostan, Don Morrison, Vicki Josephs, Charlene Claypool, Caroline Coventry, Marc Freimuth, Sam Gurovitsch, David Hawkanson, Nick Hysell, Lynette Balmer, Virginia Franz, Warner Whipple, Jorja Lee Win n. John Anderson is lighting technician.