

YWCA Drive For Members Opens Today

The YWCA membership drive opening today and continuing through October 20 will emphasize the international activity of the organization.

A tea commemorating the fifty-fourth anniversary will be held from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. today in the Great hall of the YMCA.

Y members will present a skit interpreting membership in the world-wide YWCA. Joanne Clark, Arts sophomore, is in charge.

The membership drive will be climaxed by an all-association dinner the final day of the drive. Ruth Little, Arts junior, is chairman of the dinner.

Carrying out the theme of world activity, the membership tags to be worn by each new member are designed as the Y triangle inscribed around a world globe.

Memberships can be secured from any cabinet member, special captains, or representatives in the Union postoffice. Special representatives will also be in each of the sororities, Comstock hall, Sanford hall and the Co-ops. Margery Brandt, Arts junior, is in charge of the drive.

Public Affairs Group To Discuss Politics

Platforms of the Democratic and Republican parties will be discussed by the Public Affairs group of the YWCA at 12:30 p.m. today in 343 Union.

The panel will view the platforms from the points of labor, foreign trade and foreign relations.

In addition to regular discussions, Dale Yoder, professor of economics and industry relations, will speak on a comparison of the labor planks of the parties.

The meeting will be open to everyone and freshmen are especially invited.

Student Petition Protests Against Postoffice Ban

A petition protesting against the barring of speech notices from the Union Postoffice boxes last week by Joseph C. Poucher, head of University Service Enterprises, is being circulated by student members of campus political organizations.

The petition states: "We protest the action of administrative officers of the University in denying a recognized student organization the use of University facilities for the circularization of an announcement of their meeting."

"We protest on the grounds that this action was arbitrary and authoritarian in view of the facts that it was contrary to a ruling of the Dean of Students' office, as well as contrary to precedent."

"We maintain that it is the function of a University to encourage, rather than hinder, student contributions in the extra-curricular field, and will therefore fight against any curtailment of our freedom."

The banned notices referred to in the petition were issued last week by the Campus Committee for Roosevelt announcing an address by Byron G. Allen on "The Importance of the Re-election of Roosevelt in This 1944 War Campaign."

After receiving the approval of the Activities bureau of the Dean of Student Affairs office, Committee for Roosevelt members delivered the notices to the Union Postoffice to be placed in all student Postoffice boxes. The notices were refused.

Mr. Poucher, who has charge of the Postoffice operations under Service Enterprises, stated that since the notices were not, in his opinion, of general interest, they could not be distributed generally and would have to be confined to a membership list circulation.

William K. Fels, chairman of the Campus Committee for Roosevelt, appealed to Malcolm M. Willey, vice-president in charge of academic administration. Mr. Willey upheld Mr. Poucher's decision.

One hundred fifty copies of the protest petition are now in circulation, Fels said.

Democrats Name 3 Speakers for Political Debate

A debate challenge by the University Republican club was accepted yesterday by the Campus Committee for Roosevelt.

The executive committee named as its tentative speakers William K. Fels, Campus chairman; Lee Bond, graduate student; and Katherine Brudney, Law senior.

The time and place of the debate will be set by representatives of both groups.

In accepting the challenge, Fels said, "We asked the Republicans at the end of the summer to plan this debate with us not only because we feel sure of our ground in any honest examination of the issues at stake, but also because we are anxious to arouse Minnesota students to take a more active interest in participation in their government."

Amendments Are Up for Approval At Election Polls

The polls will open at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow for the election to approve amendments to the Arts Intermediary board constitution.

The amendments all call for a change in the time of election of Intermediary board members.

Students may vote in Folwell hall and in the Union. The polls will be open until 4 p.m. Fee statements will be required to vote.

In the event that the amendments are not approved at the election, filing for positions on the Intermediary board will open Friday and close the same day. Election of members will be held Saturday.

Campus Chest to Divide Funds Among 5 Groups

Funds collected through the campus war chest which opens Tuesday will be divided among five agencies, Katie Worrell, chairman of the drive, announced today.

The largest amount received by any single organization will go to the World Students Service fund. At present the organization is helping former University students who are now prisoners of war. WSSF provides courses of study and textbooks for war prisoners and arranges acceptance of credits. Several degrees have been earned by former students through the service.

SWECC will receive a portion of the fund. It in turn will allocate money to certain service organizations on the campus. A fund will be allotted from the total receipts for foreign students who are now enrolled at the University.

The Twin City War Chest will be given a part of the campus chest. Included in the Twin City

One a Day

U Boasts 7 Organs In Campus Buildings

Arthur B. Jennings, associate professor of music, could play on a different organ here at the University every day of the week—if he wanted to.

Northrop auditorium claims one, the Union one, the Center for Continuation Study one and the music building four. The four in the music building are going every minute of the school day from 8:30 in the morning to 5:30 in the afternoon, week in and week out. Students in practical music have to sign up early in the quarter to assure themselves of an organ and time to practice.

The four instruments in the Music building are probably the least familiar to University students. The three small Austin organs in the basement have two manuals each and 314 pipes which are in the room with the practicing student. Consequently even the soundproof doors can't deaden very much of the combined rumble of the three instruments all going at once.

In the Music auditorium is a four manual Austin which was installed in 1922. Until the organ at Northrop was built, visiting organists played their recitals there. At present it is used chiefly for students in practical music and occasionally for a broadcast recital.

The Hammond organ in the Continuation center chapel is not a full organ because it doesn't have 32 notes in the pedal and is therefore not much use to an organist. However, the instrument in the Union ballroom is a super deluxe model which couldn't be bought anywhere today because the manufacturers of Hammond organs are making them exclusively for army camps.

Well-known to University students is the large Aeolian Skinner organ in Northrop auditorium with its 113 stops. Not so well-known to the students is the fact that the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra sits on top of it during the Friday evening symphony concerts. The organ is dropped down to the lowest level by means of its elevator, and the floor is laid over it.

This year's series of recitals on the Northrop organ include appearances by Mr. Jennings on November 6; Edward Berryman, graduate student in music, on November 18; and Ernest White, organist at the church of St. Mary the Virgin in New York City. Mr. White's program will be sponsored by the local chapter of the American Guild of Organists in February.

Also of interest to music lovers will be a recital by Carl Weinrich, organ instructor at Princeton University, Columbia University and Wellesley college. Mr. Weinrich's appearance will be sponsored by Hamline University, and he will play his program there.

Freshman Camp Will Hold First Reunion Today

Campers of the 1944 Freshman camp will hold the first reunion of its kind at 5:30 p.m. today in the Union cafeteria. Lyla Mae Anderson, Arts senior, who was chairman of the camp at Iduhapi last month, is in charge of the reunion sponsored by the YWCA.

Following the dinner in the cafeteria the campers will go to the Union game room for an evening of camp songs, specialty numbers by campers, games, stunts and dancing.

Invitations have been sent to 120 campers, 30 faculty members and 35 upperclass counselors. Campers whose postoffice numbers have not been listed may also attend.

This year's Freshman camp held from September 23 to 24 was one of the most successful camps of many years, Miss Anderson said, and was attended by a capacity crowd.

Business School Makes Plans for War II Veterans

Our main problem now in the Business school is that of preparing for returning veterans of World War II, Richard L. Kozelka, acting dean of the Business School, said yesterday.

Letters have been sent to approximately 1,000 servicemen who were former students in the Business school, regarding their interest in returning to school. Dean Kozelka said that he has already received over 100 interesting replies.

"We will base our plans for the returning veterans on some of the suggestions we have received in reply to our letters," said Dean Kozelka. Reuel I. Lund, instructor in accounting, and Walter R. Myers, associate professor of economics and finance, have been appointed faculty advisers for returning veterans.

"For the most part," Dean Kozelka continued, "those students who didn't graduate wish to come back and do so. And those who have graduated want to return for their masters degrees or for refresher courses."

Dean Kozelka began his duties as acting dean on July 1, replacing Russel A. Stevenson, who now holds the position of dean of the business school at the University of Michigan.

Dean Kozelka has been here since 1923 as an instructor in the Business School, with the exception of one year he spent abroad on a fellowship.

Student Calls Jap Propaganda Naive

By Louise Arne

One of the most unusual avocations we've found on campus is that of Ruth Swanson, administrative fellow student of WLB. Miss Swanson has been listening nearly every day since July 1 to Japanese propaganda broadcasts, those broadcast in English and presented daily from Tokyo.

Through the courtesy of WLB, Miss Swanson has been able to make use of their transmitter station, three short-wave receiving sets, and recorders from which she made several records of actual broadcasts. These same receiving sets pick up London broadcasts heard at 5:40 p.m. every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

"Their propaganda," declares Miss Swanson, "is not loud and blatant like that of the Nazis but rather naive and simple. Their appeal is made directly to the American soldiers, especially those now fighting in the Aleutian islands."

Quite frequently typical American music is played. Boogie-woogie, songs by Dinah Shore, and skits using American names and customs are broadcast. "One entertainer, under the name of Tokyo Rose, seems to make a hit with American soldiers," says Miss Swanson. "The singer's voice is soothing, appealing and feminine." Sound effects are generally bad and amateur.

Messages from prisoners of war, though not frequent and probably heavily censored, have been heard, signifying at least that the men are alive.

Judging from propaganda broadcasts, Miss Swanson thinks that the Japanese realize their handicaps. They do have a peace offensive propaganda, the purpose of which is to retard the ambition of the American soldier.

The four freedoms are criticized; our religions are attacked constantly, and propaganda aims distinctly towards promoting racial and economic discontent. Their own losses are minimized, the emphasis placed always on American losses and America's futility of total warfare.

Say the Japanese: "We want total war. . . . It is the desire of the new government to carry the country to victory!" By appeal to the American home life, the corner drug store, and the girl friend, the propaganda continues: "It is the Empire's aim . . . to maintain good neighbors." Lastly, say the Japanese about the American people: "They are a nation of beasts and devils. . . ."

Miss Swanson can't always make regular connections with Japanese broadcasting stations. This is primarily due to radio interferences by strong west coast stations. The best hours to receive broadcasts, according to Miss Swanson, are during the morning about 8:30, and late at night. Roman code called Romaji is used frequently and can be interpreted phonetically.

Miss Swanson has kept a complete log of the subject matter of the transmissions in which she has recorded all broadcast material and corresponding newspaper articles. It should be of aid to anyone seeking inside information on Japanese propaganda. The material is to be used by Miss Swanson in preparation for a master's thesis.

Testing Bureau Institutes Exams For Servicemen

By Al Olson

Now being used in the student testing bureau at the University is a new series of four tests designed as a means of determining whether returning service veterans and those whose education has been delayed because of war work are fitted for advanced standing ratings.

Gordon Anderson, acting director of the student counseling bureau, said yesterday that only a few men have taken these special examinations since their use was instituted several weeks ago.

Mr. Anderson pointed out that each test takes two hours, and of the four divisions, two are devoted to English, one to natural science and the other to social studies. The two English units pertain to composition and literature.

The United States Armed Forces institute developed the series of tests, administered in Eddy hall on this campus. After the examinations are corrected, results are sent to the directors of the various colleges where the final decision is made as to whether or not the person should enter a class with advanced standing.

"We're most anxious to have any eligible enrollees take these tests," Mr. Anderson said yesterday. "If you feel, that although the armed forces or war work interrupted your college plans, you have nevertheless received a type of general education growth through other channels, report to Eddy hall and write these examinations."

Counseling Bureau Adds New Member

Raymond H. Bixler is beginning his second week of duties at the student counseling bureau, assisting Gordon Anderson, acting director of the bureau.

Mr. Bixler comes here from Akron, Ohio, where he was connected with the Akron Child Guidance center. His wife, who is joining him here this week, has held important positions in the National Tuberculosis Prevention society.

At present there are four men on leaves of absence from the counseling bureau. Mr. Bixler is the first new addition to the staff of that office in over a year. Those on leave are: Drs. John G. Darley, E. Bordin, R. Berdie, and G. Schneider.

Enrollment Drops In Physics Courses

Enrollment in the Physics department has dropped to one-sixth of its last year level.

The drop is due, not to civilian enrollment, but to cancellation of military-sponsored classes formerly held in conjunction with the department.

At present, only two professors are holding classes in advanced physics.

1st Team Taken In Rugged Drill

Minnesota is going to be thoroughly prepared for Missouri Saturday—that fact was very much in evidence yesterday as Dr. George Hauser and his coaching cohorts ran the first and second Gopher football teams through a stiff one-hour scrimmage after an equally long passing drill.

And the surprise of the day was that the second team pushed the first stringers all over the field, outscoring them, 3-1. This was the first time since the early days of Bernie Bierman that the regulars and understudies have come in for such rugged treatment after the beginning of a season.

Herb Braun, Walt Edwards and Bud Gullickson all romped for imaginary scores as Bob Marcotte, Dick Schmitz and Rudy Sikich all stood out in the line. Phil McManus tallied the regulars' only score.

Hauser may be thinking in terms of shifts in the backfield as he had Mutzy Nolan, south-paw slinger, alternating with Johnny Lundquist at the right halfback spot.

The first stringers' line was its usual Saturday self with the exception of right tackle and left end where Babe Juster and Bill Juhl, both V-12 students, were on watch. Bill Aldworth filled the heavy gap while Bob Turnacli filled in for Juhl and pulled down a long pass from quarterback Merlin Kispert besides looking good on defense.

Matt Sutton took over for the injured Tom Cates who, although going about under his own power, will not be ready to play Saturday against the Tigers in the last home game before the Minnesotans hit the road for Ohio State after an open date.

Red Williams was at practice, but the redhead didn't get in the scrimmage. It was a surprise that he could walk at all after the terrific physical beating he took against Michigan.

For the second string it was Schmitz and Marcotte at the wings, Sikich and Selmer at the tackles, Graiziger and Kutschied at the guards and Van Dusen at center while the backfield was composed of Edwards, Mealey, Gullickson and Braun.

First score came when McManus breezed across on an off tackle dash, but it was quickly countered

35 Men Sign Up For Tank Squad

Niels Thorpe, Gopher swimming mentor, announced yesterday that 35 men have signed up for the 1944-45 tank team. Of these, only eight men saw service under Coach Thorpe. Last year's returning veterans are: Vern Ojampa, civilian breaststroke specialist; Dick Evans, V-12, doing the crawl; Don Ross, V-12, also doing the crawl; Bog Gorgan, NROTC, breast stroke; Rohland Thomssen, NROTC, a back stroke swimmer; Warren Adams, NROTC; V. B. Rotering, NROTC; and Bud Weisner, also an NROTC man.

New men reporting for the squad are: W. F. Gray, NROTC; Tom Good, civilian; J. J. Gordon, V-12; Mike Besel, NROTC; F. H. White, NROTC; D. Scham, V-12; W. E. Lange, V-12; W. Perrult, civilian; R. M. Brace, civilian; F. R. Ferringer, NROTC; Charles Perrin, NROTC; Judd James, civilian; K. A. Johnson, V-12; S. M. Ramsey, V-12; J. L. Beecheumeier, civilian; Gay Harmon, civilian; Irv Anderson, civilian; C. F. Cronemiller, NROTC; J. E. D. Ellingboe, V-12; R. J. Jones, V-12; J. V. Phares, NROTC; and R. A. Sward, civilian.

by Gullickson's run. Walt Edwards cut off McManus aerial and stomped across for the second TD and Braun, who was running well all afternoon, blasted across for the third.

Hauser was pleased by the showing, as there is not enough difference in the first and second teams to make too much difference. Blocking was sloppy at times, but the life in both elevens showed that Minnesota will rebound from the licking, handed out by the Wolverines.

Dawson, Movies Concur—Williams Had Best Day

Assistant Coach Red Dawson called Red Williams' play against Michigan "his finest game," when he gave his low-down on the Gophers at the second in a series of Quarterback sessions Tuesday. Williams displayed clever ball handling and pulled Minnesota out of the fire more than once, as the play-by-play movies showed.

Dawson believes that the experience of the Wolverine team was the factor that counted most in its victory. The experienced backfield combination of Wiese, Nussbaumer, Derricotte, and Ponsetto, proved too much of a powerhouse for the Maroon and Gold line to stop, and for the backfield to offset. The Maize and Blue line was also cited for its defensive and offensive strength.

Sutton's driving thrusts through center were particularly valuable, and should stand the Gophers in good stead against the men from Missouri Saturday. Coach Dawson asserted, "that the Maroon and Gold squad will have a strong chance to overcome Missouri, but that the Missouri T formation will be a problem."

Dawson warned against the combination of Collins and Dellestazioni, saying that these two could unleash a dangerous running attack from out of the T. Missouri may be another of the conference upset teams, since it is virtually an unknown quantity. Coach Dawson also stated that the Missouri line is considerably improved.

Last week's score prediction award of two dance tickets went to Bob Larson; Larson picked Michigan over Minnesota, 27-13, which was close enough. The contest will continue this week and every week the sessions are held.

Th movies were shown and commented on by Phil Brain.
