WE ARE HERE

Cyrus Northrop is gone, but we are here. Almost like insolence it sounds, but examination will prove something else. We are here, and one of the chief reasons for our being here is the life and work of Dr. Northrop.

Now that we are here, what application has this to Dr. Northrop? The very fact that we are here and Dr. Northrop is gone is a challenge to each student who believes in the best things in life. In the years to come we will appreciate Dr. Northrop far more than we can now.

Yes, Cyrus Northrop is gone, but we are here. And so long as we are here, let us resolve always to do the best, be the best, and seek the best. Let us carry on the work of our second president, let us strive to grasp the finer things in our school, let us study to understand the meaning of the aims of Dr. Northrop.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION

Boxing tournaments in the past have always been held in April, in order to give every student in the University a chance to show his wares if he so desired. This applies more particularly to the Miners, who leave on their field trip the first of May and consequently are unable to take part if the tournament is held later than this.

The lightweight and middleweight titles are both held by School of Mines students, and there are two more men over there who are candidates for fist honors in other divisions. The boxing department neglected to make arrangements early for securing the Armory on a Friday evening, with the result that there is only one date in April, the 28th, which there is any chance of their getting for the tournament.

King George did not have influenza after all. It was a mere cold. Took 'em too quick, probably. Senator Norris of Nebraska criticises Justice Taft in a speech for going out to dinner to much. The Nebraska wants the Justice to tote a platter in a cafeteria.

PLEASING APPEARANCES

"Beauty is only skin deep," say those who wish to disparage the attempts of men and women to make their appearance pleasing to the eyes of their associates. So are the paintings of a Rembrandt, the statues of a Phidias, and the Parthenon of the Greeks, dependent upon their exterior for the perception of their beauty by observers. The aesthetic sense is no less employed in the contemplation of a human being than in a work of art.

The human form, so artists from the earliest times have considered, is the highest type of beauty. In it is found all the symmetry, and all the harmony constituting perfection, which is beauty. To produce another Venus de Milo is the hope of every sculptor.

Need we seek to find beauty only in symphony concerts, works of poetry, or art galleries? Is not a person who, as Arnold Bennett has said, attempts to make him or herself pleasing, if not entirely beautiful, in the eyes of others, contributing something to the sum total of the enjoyment of beauty as truly as the artist?

In the affirmative answer to this last question is found the justification for keeping ourselves neat in dress and careful in our carriage, and for striving for, if not already possessing, the natural grace and beauty for which the Creator endowed us with the potentialities.—R. G. F.

P. O. 5667.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE WHO SUFFERS?

Last Saturday we adjourned to the sound proof building where the women are permitted to talk all they want to, instead of going down to "Nick's," which was lucky. After a pause of about two hours and a half, they almost decided not to ask the foolish question "What's the Difference?" but at last half the curtain was drawn aside making it only half bad; a moment later, the rest of the obstruction was removed and Tallon came into view making it all bad.

Womens Sports

By LOIS SCHENCK

Leonore Alway, president, and Jean Archibald, secretary of W. A. A., will represent Minnesota at the Athletic Conference of American Colleges at Boulder, Col., Friday and Saturday of this week.

Miss Alway left last Friday in order to stop off at Lincoln, Neb., her old home. While there she will probably look into the athletic associations of Lincoln.

Jean Archibald will leave today for Boulder. The girls intend to return next Monday. Problems of women's college teams, high athletic associations, closer national organization, training rules and health programs will be discussed at the conference.

Sorority and Sanford teams are beginning practice for the coming basketball tournaments.

As girls are taking an interest in golf this year there will probably be some kind of a women's golf tournament before the finals in June.

500 freshmen and 400 sophomore women have taken physical exams in the last week.

This spring's great increase over last year in the number of women enrolled for outdoor sports caused the authorities to increase the number of tennis courts and baseball fields available. The committee on intramural sports has consented to allow the courts on Washington avenue to be used by the tennis classes.

The Women's Life saving corporation which was established last year at the University will resume classes Friday at 4:30 p. m. in the Women's gymnasium. After that time, lessons in life saving will be given Monday and Friday to any University girls who care to enroll.

Girls who learn the methods and who can pass the tests will be eligible to join the corporation.

This will be one of the last meetings of the year, and a special effort is being made to obtain a big turnout. Smokes, eats, and music will be featured. The meeting is open to all business students and to others who are interested in grain exchange.

Greek Swim Relay Trials Wednesday

Student Managers to Compete for Jobs --- Luehring

GOPHERS MEET OLES SATURDAY IN FIRST BALLGAME SINCE '14

Contest to Be Practice Session for Varsity Candidates, Luehring Announces

GAME TO BE PLAYED ON NORTHROP FIELD

Return Battle with St. Olaf to Be Staged at Northfield, April 26

The return game with St. Olaf will be played at Northfield, April 26, with such veterans as Christenson, Swanson and Cleve former stars on the Minneapolis South high nine playing with the Northfield school, the showing of the Gophers will be looked upon as an indicator of how they will fare in stiffer competition.

Coaches Lawler and Ford, after a brief practice drill on the parade yesterday afternoon sent the men to the showers early with instructions to report for a strenuous session today. The chilly spring weather cut yesterday's practice period short. A fine points about the profitable art of sliding pit where budding George Sisslers and Ty Cobbs may learn some fine points about the profitable art of parking bases and smart base running is being fixed up in Northrop field and will be ready for use today, Coach Lawler said.

Go Before Board.
The natty gray baseball suits, trimmed with Maroon piping, with an English "M" on the shirt and cap, will arrive tomorrow and will be issued to the men some time this week, Lawler said. Eighteen uniforms have been ordered.

The large string of candidates are going before the eligibility board this week but as yet no casualties among the first string possibilities have been reported. It is expected that the men will come through the process practically unscathed.

The candidates are rapidly rounding into shape and by the end of the week some semblance of the team that will represent Minnesota on the diamond this year will be seen in action.

Experiment Will Be Tried Out With Baseball First

Competition for Position of Baseball Manager Opens Today When All Candidates Meet Luehring at 4 P. M.—Juniors and Seniors Eligible—Important Position

An innovation in the process of selecting student managers for various branches of athletics at Minnesota, similar to the plan now in vogue in eastern colleges was announced by Director Fred Luehring last night.

Competition Opens Tuesday
The experiment will be tried out with baseball this spring and if proves successful, it will be adopted in football, basketball, and other major sports, Mr. Luehring said.

The selection, which is limited to juniors and seniors is entirely competitive. A senior will be selected for the student manager's position while the assistant manager will be a junior. "The student manager positions will be highly important," Mr. Luehring said. "It will form the connecting link between the student body and the athletic department in various sports, will give the men aspiring for the position a genuine opportunity to be of valuable service to their University."

LUEHRING SUMMONS GOLFERS TOGETHER TO CONSIDER PLANS

First Step in Placing Golf on Intercollegiate Basis at Minnesota

Candidates for the Varsity golf team will report at 5 p. m. today in the coaches' room in the armory. In issuing the call yesterday, Director Luehring took the first step towards putting golf on an intercollegiate basis at Minnesota, a move in which he expressed a great deal of interest last week. If enough interest is shown in the sport here, it is probable that Minnesota will send a team to the conference tournament at Chicago beginning June 19, to play for both individual and team championships, Mr. Luehring said.

PREP COACHES WILL COME THURSDAY TO HEAR 'U' COACHES

Record Breaking Flock of Sport Tutors Expected to Be in Attendance

SPAULDING, COOKE AND FRANK TO GIVE TALKS

Practical Demonstration of Track, Basketball, and Football on Program

Thursday and Friday of this week there will be a meeting of the high school coaches of the state who are attending the Athletic Conference at the University. From advanced indications there is sure to be a record breaking flock of sport tutors in attendance.

Two Divisions
The convention is divided into two divisions. In the theoretical division coaches Frank, Cooke and Spaulding will give lectures on track, basketball and football respectively. These lectures are to include many of the finer points of the game of which the average spectator is unaware.

Practical Divisions
The second division will include practical demonstrations of basketball, track and football by Gopher athletes interested in these sports. The Varsity basketball team of the past winter will hook horns with the freshmen under the supervision of Dr. Cooke, for the entertainment of the visiting mentors. The track and football demonstrations will hold sway over Northrop field.

The schedule is so arranged that there are no conflicts between the different lectures and demonstrations. Director Luehring intends to make these conferences an important phase of athletic activities at Minnesota. They will undoubtedly prove a great aid to the coaches in attendance.

Ames Football Hero To Farm Claim in West

"Polly" Wallace, Ames football and wrestling star and All-American center, has left school to tackle a bigger proposition than he ever met on the gridiron or the mat, according to the Ames student paper. The job is the working of an unimproved claim in Colorado, which lies 25 miles from any railroad. After finishing school last quarter he left to conquer the wilds. Reports state, however, that the pioneer life has not taken complete possession of him, for he will be coaching football at an Iowa high school next fall.

Sigma Nus Worst Delta Taus, 34-7

Con Ecklund Big Star with Ten Field Goals—Quint Look Like Finalists

Play in the inter-fraternity basketball competition moved up another notch as a result of the Sigma Nus win over the Delta Taus. The final score was 34 to 7.

Con Ecklund, with ten field goals to his credit, was the big star for the Sigma Nus quint. The result was never in doubt and the Sigma Nus by their play last night look like sure finalists. The Deke-Alpha Sigma Phi contest scheduled for last night was postponed and will be played Wednesday at 7:30.

Bill Hawker Is Nearing Pole Vault Record

Bill Hawker, star pole vaulter of Frank's outdoor track squad, celebrated the total recovery of his ankle last Friday by going 12 feet in practice. This is not the limit of his aerial aspirations by any means, as later on in the balmy spring he plans to break the conference record. Last year in practice he went 12 feet 9 inches, and with good luck with his ankle he should go nearly 13 feet before the season is over.

Frosh Track Stars Loom Formidable As Varsity Meet Nears

Matchan, Partridge, Shattuck Star, Higgins, Half-miller, Mealey and Matus are Near Varsity Caliber—Will Give Keen Competition.

By Reuben Lofstrom
As the time for the Freshman-Varsity outdoor track clash nears, the first year men are busying themselves on Northrop field in all events of the cinder category.

George Matchan, West high graduate, is showing good in the pole vault, and will be a good partner for Gordon McMillan when called upon in the coming meet. Matchan was next to the famous Tommy Rugg at West in the pole vault, and nearly always placed next to him in meets.

Partridge Wins Honors
George Higgins, graduate of Central high, Minneapolis, is showing good stuff in the mile events on the frosh squad. He did not compete in high school. Higgins made third in the All-University track meet, and second in the mile event of the Freshman-Sophomore meet a short time ago.

One hundred girls will bring boxes. The proceeds of the sale will go toward paying the expenses of the delegates sent to the conference at Hot Springs this summer.

Geneva Banquet Will Boost Conference

Opportunity to become familiar with the ins and outs of the annual Y. M. C. A. conference at Lake Geneva will be given to over a thousand college men of the Northwest at the Geneva Booster banquet to be held at the Minnesota Union, Thursday, April 20. Dr. James C. Baker, who is connected with the Wesley Foundation of Illinois and acted as chairman of the entire Geneva conference last year, will be the principal speaker at the banquet, it was announced by the University "Y" office yesterday.

Benefit Performance Assures Scholarships

Over seven hundred people attended the benefit performance given by the Agricultural Faculty Women's club at the College auditorium Saturday night. Receipts are estimated at well over $350 and will be ample to pay the two scholarships of $100 each which have been awarded and for the maintenance which the performance was staged, according to backers of the production.

Florence Clough, senior and Edith Carlson, junior, are the 1922 appointees. The awards were made by the faculty scholarship committee and candidates were judged on the basis of character, scholarship and need, with preference given to students in the junior and senior classes.
