NOVEMBER MAGAZINE

A Creditable Number. Contains Good Things and Other Things

The Minnesota Magazine for November is out and will be placed in circulation this morning. The editors seem intent on being prompt with their issues on which they are certainly to be congratulated. The literary standard established in the last issue of the Mag is fairly well kept up yet it is true that in literary merits this issue does not quite come up to the October number. This is by no means saying that the November is not a creditable production, at least two of its contributions are worth more than the price of the magazine.

The first contribution is a sonnet by Prudence Pratt. It is on the whole, fairly good when we consider that it is an academic effort. It is a trifle inconsistent in parts beginning as it does with a question which implies a negative answer but does not deserve one. Again, it speaks of "keeping the air in odorous with a golden haze" an expression which would hardly bear analysis.

It is somewhat extravagant to say that the leaves have made a summer and the closing lines are vague enough to baffle even the most critical.

The Convention of Employers and Employees by Dr. William A. Schaper is a very able discussion of the increased demand for carefully planned studies in Sociology, Economics, and Political Science. The author relates the cause and demands leading up to a national conference of those mostly interested in labor questions, and the origin of this fall's Convention of Employers and Employees is explained and its motives and work discussed in a concise, clear manner.

The poem "A Foolish Fellow" by Miss Florence Evelyn Prouty is mediocre. When the ardent Romeo calls himself a foolish fellow for thinking of his Juliet he certainly does not pay her an extravagant compliment. The idea, idea running through the piece is not at all bad but could be improved if the relation existing between the autumn season and the "Foolish fellow's" condition were more definitely portrayed.

Miss Prouty's poem is followed by a story entitled the "Thralldom of a Soul", by A. L. Brownrigg. Mr. Brownrigg is a sophomore academic student who has proved himself a man of no mediocre ability. This is his first article which has appeared in print as far as we know and the author is to be congratulated on his work. The story, which it has some glaring faults is worth more than many a perfectly told story simply because of its originality of plot. The story has a very excellent excuse for existing because it has something more than ordinary to tell. It has however several expressions which are not good, and which fit the story badly because they are too commonplace. Some of the

MINNESOTA MAKES RECORD SCORE

Grinnell's Plucky Team Which Held Nebraska to Three Touchdowns Beaten 102 to 0 by the Johnny Flynn's Merry Men

It was a red-letter day in the history of Minnesota foot-ball. Only twice in the whole game did Minnesota lose the ball on downs, and Grinnell failed to make a first down during the whole game. The men played together in good form all the way through and showed a spirit of doing their best at every point of the game. In this respect the game was one of the best ever played on Northrop field. Every man was in every play and although there was some ragged work at times the game as a whole was satisfactory to the backers of the maroon and gold. It is hard to single out individuals for special praise. O'Brien probably made the best showing of any man on the team; his running and dodging and refusing to be downed was the feature of the game. Liggett also must come in for a liberal share of praise, he was in every play and did good work.

Davies as usual was where he was most needed and his star runs brought the rooters to their feet time and time again. Every man on the team gave a good account of himself. Roger Gray, at quarter, kept things moving and showed that he is a first class field general. Smith, Strathern and Flynn were a tower of strength and were in every play and did all that could be asked of any man, indeed this can be said of all the men.

Tuck and Bergen played ends and so Minnesota was represented by new men in both of these places and both gave a good account of themselves. Near the last of the game Webster replaced Smith at guard much to the loss of the general effectiveness of the team.

Of the Grinnell team it is to be said they were fighters from the ground up. Out-weighted and nearly wiped from the face of the earth, they fought as fiercely the last five minutes as during the first five minutes of the game. The spirit which they displayed was an honor to the institution they represented. The crowd caught the spirit of the contest and as soon as it realized that a record-breaking score was possible shouted unceasingly "hurry up," and when the final touch-down was made making the score 102, it went wild and sent up a mighty cheer.

GAME IN DETAIL.

Grinnell kicked off at 2:55 p. m. The ball was called back for an offside play. Grinnell kicked again and Liggett carried it back to Minnesota's fifty-five yard line. Davies made, five, Downing five, and Davies skirted end for 50 yards and a touchdown. But the ball was called back for holding, and given to Grinnell. Grinnell fumbled to Minnesota and Downing broke through for 20 yards. Flynn dodged 10 yards. Minnesota and Downing broke through field and Schacht was shoved over for the first touchdown after seven minutes of play. Liggett kicked goal.

Grinnell kicked off to Schacht who returned the ball 15 yards. Minnesota brought the ball to the center of the field but lost for holding. Grinnell was unable to gain and Kiesel punted 30 yards to Liggett who was downed in his tracks. Downing made 10, Schacht 10, and on the next play broke through for 25 yards. Marks was put in to replace Evans and Schacht was pushed over for another touchdown. Liggett kicked goal.

Grinnell kicked to Warren who returned 10 yards. On the next play he made 5. Liggett then made 6, Warren 4, and Davies went around the end for 25 yards. Downing made 4, Schacht 15 and Tuck 1. Walker went out for Grinnell and Haddon went in. Liggett made a touchdown and kicked goal.

Grinnell kicked off to Liggett who returned 25 yards. Benson tackled Davies for a loss. Grinnell held Minnesota for downs on Minnesota's 45-yard line but unable to gain, Keiser punted 30 and Gray returned it 5. Downing went around right end 15 yards and Bergen around left 35. Tuck took it 5. Downing 15 around right end. Schacht advanced it 4. Tuck made 10; Schacht 3; Davies 2; and Warren was shoved over for a touchdown. Liggett kicked goal.

Grinnell kicked off to Bergen who returned 15 yards. Davies made 9 more. D. Smith went out for Grinnell and Tolle went in. Minnesota fumbled to Grinnell on her 35-yard line. Grinnell was tackled for a loss on the next play. Liggett tackled Kiesel for another loss and Grinnell punted. The ball was called back on an offside play and Grinnell penalized 10 yards. Kiesel punted again and Liggett was tackled in his tracks. Davies went around left 15 yards. Warren made 3; Liggett, 4, and Davies, 12. Warren made 13; next play failed to gain, Downing made 4; Schacht, 5; Tuck, 10; Liggett, 5; Schacht, 8. Schacht went over for a touchdown. Liggett kicked goal.

Kiesel kicked off to Warren who made 17 yards. Davies went through for 10 yards. Davies was tackled for a loss on the next play. Minnesota lost the ball on a fumble. Kiesel kicked to gray. Minnesota then went down the field for the sixth touchdown. Liggett kicked goal.

Kiesel kicked off and Minnesota advanced right down the field for the seventh and last touchdown of the first half.

SECOND HALF.

Liggett kicked over the line and Kiesel made a free kick. Bergen returned the 25 yards. Davies, Burdick, O'Brien and Liggett carried the ball down the field; and Liggett went over for a touchdown. Davies kicked goal.

Grinnell kicked off to Liggett who returned 20 yards. Bergen made 4 yards, and O'Brien was tackled for a loss.

MINERS VS. ENGINEERS

Highly Exciting Game with Tie
Score of 5 to 5

Yesterday afternoon the Miners and Engineers met on the gridiron and played a very close and fiercely contested game. After fifteen minutes of play the engineers made a touchdown and the rest of the half was played at center of the field, the half ending with the miners going five yards at a time for 0 touchdown. The miners kicked off in the second half but soon secured the ball and then began a steady march down the field until they reached the 7 yard line, when Rose made an enormous hole and Kingston was shoved over for a touchdown. The engineers kicked off but the miners immediately punted 40 yds. and the engineers started fiercely for another touchdown. After gaining at will through the miners' right side, Carrigan and Cheeney carrying the ball, the miners held beautifully on their 10 yd. line. Squyer punted 40 yds. but the ball was called back for offside, and then Squyer repeated the trick. The half ended with the ball in the middle of the field in the engineers' possession. Very little time was taken out and few penalties were inflicted. The longest run was made by Bosworth although it was disputed because the quarted did not pass the ball to another player before making his run. Carrigan was the best ground gainer for the engineers, Cheney, Mauthe and Fernald also made good gains. For the miners Kingston, Wallace and Squyer were the star ground gainers.

Prof. Downey's Address

An interested audience listened to Prof. Downey's talk Saturday evening. He spoke of the organization of the universities he had visited; of their noted men, and their equipment. He related many odd student customs and faculty observances, closing with a first-hand account of dueling in Germany.

Minnesota Prizes

The Minnesota Magazine has offered $100 in prizes for the encouragement of literary work among the student body. $50 is offered for the best literary production either in prose or poetry. The second prize is $25, third, $15 and fourth, $10. The contest is open to all undergraduate students of the University. The other conditions can be found in the November Mag.

The idea is an excellent one and will undoubtedly draw out a great deal of latent talent.

Two works by Oscar Madsen, the Danish author, were reviewed at a meeting of Dr. Carlson's seminar in Recent Scandinavian Literature, Monday evening. "Fru Pilatus" by Mr. J. P. Jensen and "Sporsne" by Miss Sadie Nelson. Both were interesting and instructive.

Minnesota vs. Grinnell

The Minnesota team which piled up such a tremendous score against the game team from Grinnell was not as strong a team as Minnesota could have put in the field by anywhere from twenty to fifty per cent. Harris and Rogers were in Chicago and Irsfield was on the side side lines during the game. But Minnesota spirit was manifest and the Grinnell team, though fighting fiercely and gamely to the final call of time were simply swept off their feet. Through the line around the end, it was all one, the ball always advanced steadily toward Grinnell's goal. Sometimes by heavy line smashing for small gains, sometimes by runs which covered from ten to sixty yards. It was not so much the fact that Minnesota ran up a big score against a comparatively weak team, but it was the evident purpose to play right up to the limit at all times which made the hearts of the rooters glad. However it may be looked at, it was magnificent playing. The Grinnell boys were no quitters and the celerity with which they seized upon every break of a Minnesota man showed a spirit which nothing could daunt. They showed themselves true grit and we honor their pluck in going down with flag flying.

The Daily wishes to say a few things regarding today's review of the Minnesota Magazine which may not strike a responsive chord in the hearts of some of the contributors of the Magazine, as well as its editors.

Since we have been asked to review the Mag we do not wish to abuse our privilege by merely writing an advertisement filled with praise which means but little to the readers, and is worse than no mention at all. The time has been when the Magazine was so weak in literary merits and general makeup that it could stand no adversity; but the Mag has distinctly improved of late and we fully believe that a criticism which is sincere if not always correct is better than meaningless, lukewarm praise. We believe that many of the contributions show a great deal of genuine literary merit, but no one who has the slightest taste for literature can fail to acknowledge that some things which appear within its covers have absolutely no excuse for existence.

We do not wish to have the Mag people believe we are knockers and ready to slam them at every opportunity. On the contrary our criticism is given in a friendly manner and we sincerely hope that they will receive it in the same spirit in which we give it.

Now we have a fresh evidence of the veracity of the western football critics. Before the Michigan-Wisconsin game we heard the prophecy that Michigan would depend on trick plays and end runs, that her back field, made up of track men, were her great ground gainers and finally we heard a general lament over her weak line in defensive playing. Saturday's game showed that Michigan lost on her end runs while she was irresistible in her line plunges. Wisconsin who was counted stronger in the line than Michigan proved weaker according to critics' report, than they were last year. Her only gains were around the ends and not even the much talked of track team backs of Michigan were able to catch Abbott and Juneu.

In last Saturday's game Minnesota scored 43 points more on Grinnell than she has in all of the games combined which she has played with Grinnell, and 16 points more than the total number of points scored by both institutions in all their games.

There is usually very little satisfaction to be derived from comparative scores. But it might be mentioned that Nebraska scored 17 points to Grinnell's 0 one week before the Minnesota-Nebraska game. Last Saturday Minnesota scored 17 touchdowns against Grinnell. Minnesota also kicked every goal. In other words, Minnesota made a touchdown to every point made by Nebraska and Minnesota's goal kicking alone equaled the Cornhusker's total score.

discription, is too extravagant and there are paragraphs which would be better if not so florid. The greatest fault however is to be found in the lack of verisimilitude. On the other hand one might give the author credit for passages of uncommon beauty and genuine merit. The story is good enough to stand hard criticism.

Malcolm A. MacLean's sketch entitled "The Dream Pipe" is not bad for a pipe dream. It is better and more distinct than the sketch by the same author in the October number.

Miss McKeehan's "Conversation on Fools" is not devoid of cleverness, and the author makes a brave attempt to convey to the reader the idea that it is not inspired by conceit which is probably true. Miss McKeehan's article is interesting and well written as all her productions are.

The "Magazine Window" is fairly well conducted in this issue. Some of the jokes are good but it is difficult to understand why this department should contain anything other than matter relating to college life. Then, too, the selection entitled "To the Radiator" has no particular object in life nor any excuse for existing. The thought is of no particular value and the metre is weak.

The editorials are very well written. The first contains some very good advice for Freshmen and also good suggestions for students of maturer years. Then follows a list of prizes for literary work after which is a well written article on "Concentration." The last editorial takes up Prexy's talk in chapel regarding criticism of students by the press and outsiders in general. The idea of this editorial is a good one and the editors would make no mistake of they should "continue the exercise."

EXCHANGES

The Greek department of Pennsylvania is going to give a play. Euripides' "Iphigenia Among the Taurians" was the selection.

The Daily Iowan in reply to an article published last week in regard to the attempt to mob the Minnesota team and rooters after the game as follows: "After the game, many Minnesotans, flushed with victory, so forgot themselves in their exultation as to become insulting to some Iowans.  We are glad that those who offended the dignity of the Minnesotans were townspeople—but even a student could not have been blamed too severely if under the circumstances he had lost his temper and proceeded to smite his assailers. When you start a fight it comes with poor grace to complain if the other man hits you."

Notes and Comments

A Daily man burrowed his way into the Grinnell quarters between the halves, and chatted awhile with the boys. In answer to a question concerning the Nebraska-Grinnell game one of the half backs said, "Nebraska never played such a fierce game as your men play today. You fellows must have been taking a day off when Nebraska came up here. Nebraska was easy compared with the aggregation you have out there today."

And now it has come to pass that Minnesota has entered the high score business.

Too bad our boys did not take it into their heads sooner to compete for the prize score of the season.

There was just one thing disappointing about last Saturday's game. We did want to see Liggett return a ball from a kickoff for a touchdown. ED

Liggett then kicked thirty yards. Grinnell fumbled to Smith. O'Brien, Smith and Liggett advanced the ball, and O'Brien went 16 yards for a touchdown. Liggett kicked goal.

Grinnell kicked to Gray, who returned the ball 10 yards. Bergen, Burdick and Tuck advanced the ball, and Davies took it over for another touchdown. Liggett kicked goal.

Grinnell kicked off again to Gray, who returned it 10. Bergen, Davies, O'Brien and Tuck went down the field, but the ball was given to Grinnell for holding. Grinnell fumbled to Davies. Tuck then went around right end for a touchdown. Davies kicked goal.

On the kick-off Liggett returned the ball 20 yards. Minnesota went right down the field, but O'Brien lost the ball on a fumble. Grinnell punted out of bounds. O'Brien, Smith and Burdick advanced the ball fast, and Liggett took it the last 10 yards for a touchdown. Davies kicked goal.

Gray returned the kick-off 20 yards. Davies, O'Brien, Liggett, Tuck and Burdick took the ball down the field and Liggett took it the remaining 38 yards for a touchdown. Davies kicked goal.

Minnesota again pounded the line and around the ends for another carry over the goal line, and Davies again kicked goal.

Liggett made the next touchdown and kicked the goal.

After going well down the field after the next kick-off Liggett took it for 40 yards and a touchdown, and kicked goal immediately after.

After the next kick-off Grinnell got the ball for holding and advanced it 4 yards on a fake kick. Grinnell then tried a drop-kick, but was blocked, and Minnesota got it. Liggett made 15 yards, O'Brien made 55, and on the next play Liggett went over for the last touchdown. Liggett also kicked goal.

Minnesota had the ball on Grinnell's 10-yard line when time was called.
