PROFESSOR FIELD RETURNS MONDAY

Professor A. M. Field, who was called to Wisconsin by the death of his son in an automobile accident, will return to meet his classes on Monday, August 18.

VISIT FILTRATION PLANT SATURDAY

The Filtration Plant of the Minneapolis Water Works, where the water of the Mississippi River is purified for every use, is a fine piece of mechanical and sanitary engineering. An opportunity to inspect its workings is afforded in the excursion planned for Saturday afternoon. The party leaves the Old Library at one o'clock, going by street cars and the company's private car, to the plant at Columbia Heights.

Reference may here be made to an illustrated article in the Minneapolis Journal of Sunday, August 3, showing the importance in which the plant is held. Students will find this an interesting and instructive trip.

ENGLISH LITERARY AUTHORITY TO LECTURE

On Friday, August 15, at four o'clock, Professor A. E. Morgan will lecture on "Poetry and Life." Professor Morgan is from University College, Exeter, England, and during the present summer is attached to the teaching staff of the University of Iowa. His topic, in view of the amount of current attention given to poetry and because the English viewpoint is so desirable, should command wide attention.

The lecture is in the Little Theater and will be open to the public.

MOTION PICTURES FOR THE WEEK

Tonight

Wallace Beery, whose work as a leading man has often outshone that of some of the stars he has supported, appears in "Richard the Lion-Hearted." This character, the adventurous Richard the Third, is the same that Beery played with such success in "Robin Hood," and those who know the latter work will be glad to see more of the character.

SOROKIN DISCUSSES RUSSIAN POLITICS

The second in the series of lectures by Doctor Pitirin Sorokin will be given on Tuesday afternoon, August 19, at four, in the Little Theater. The topic, "The Political Situation in Russia," is one that is bound to attract attention. This is especially true, considering that Doctor Sorokin was at one time secretary to Kerensky and was a member of the Russian constitutional convention and other post-revolution bodies.

Doctor Sorokin's first lecture drew a large and interested audience, which was delighted with the presentation of first-hand information on the puzzling Russian situation. The lecture is open to the public.

"THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR OFFICE"

Students and others interested in matters of international relationships will be glad of an opportunity to learn of the work of the International Labor Office, which has its headquarters in Geneva. The Secretary of the Washington Branch, Mr. Leifur Magnusson, will be in Minneapolis the coming week, and will lecture in the Little Theater, on Thursday at four o'clock.

Mr. Magnusson is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, was for some years a research expert for the U.S. Department of Labor, and later was located at Geneva as English editor of the International Labor Review. He is thus well equipped to discuss, as he will, the economic and political aspects of world labor relations, and some of the present and future problems that his association will endeavor to help solve.

The lecture will be open to the public.

TO THE STUDENTS:

What changes would you like in the Summer Session for next year?

In what ways did this year's session fail to serve your needs?

We sincerely invite your criticisms and shall consider them seriously in making plans for 1925.

Drop in the University post office, or in Room 102, Old Library, a note giving the director the benefit of your experience in the 1924 Summer Session.

(Signed) F. J. Kelly,
Director Summer Session

SPECIAL NOTICE

Because of the large amount of intrusion by non-students at the Friday night Summer Session social gatherings it has become necessary to place further restrictions on the attendance. In a sense this is not an increase in the restriction itself, but in the manner of administration of the requirement.

At the next gathering, Friday, August 15, it will be necessary for all attending to present their Bursar's receipt as a credential. Members of the faculty and administration who may wish to attend will be admitted by personal recognition.

August 9.
