Labor Education Dept. Hosts State Conclave

Presidents and education chairmen of Central Labor Unions (CLU) of Minnesota have included speakers, films, debates, and short instruction courses in a series of suggestions drawn up to meet the need for education of union members at the local level.

City Planning Should Bolster Ideals—Rector

City planning of the future is going to have to include planning for the social and spiritual well-being of the people in cities, according to Milton Rector, director of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and a member of the President's Advisory Council on Juvenile Delinquency.

Rector, who spoke last night in the Center for Continuation Study at the first seminar on campus for juvenile officers and judges, said that by 1975 over two-thirds of population is going to live in large city areas.

"The population of children between 10 and 17 is going to increase 40 or 50 per cent by about 1970," he said.

"If courts are weak and institutions are overcrowded you can see what is in store in the next few years."

"It is incumbent on up to find more effective methods and to be willing to experiment," he said. "Every technique we have now is based on trial and error."

He said between 15 and 20 per cent of high school students are withdrawing—even some with high potential—and some means of working with them has to be found.

He said probation officers must work with parents as well as youngsters, and emphasized the importance of group counseling and of communities playing a more important role in juvenile programs.

The major push in the future looks as though it is going to be organization in terms of statewide family courts, Rector said. Rhode Island was the first to adopt this system and New York will follow suit in September.

Rector said only about one-third of the courts now have the staff to deal effectively with juveniles. "What help a youngster who gets in trouble receives depends more on where he lives than on what he needs at the time he gets in trouble."

Festival to Show Third Film in Flaherty Seminar

The third film in the eighth annual Robert Flaherty Film Seminar will be shown at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Northrop. Titled "Man of Aran," it was filmed on the Aran Islands off the west coast of Ireland.

Flaherty, often called the father of the American documentary, called this one of his most significant films. The others, also being shown this year, are "Moana," "Nanook of the North," and "Louisiana Story."

Representatives of CLU gathered in the Union last week for a three-day conference sponsored by the Labor Education Department.

FIVE UNIVERSITY staff members conducted lecture and discussion sessions on the problem of education of union members through the machinery of the central union organizations. (A central union is composed of 20 local groups.)

A research questionnaire concerning opinions of members on union organization and policy, developed at the University and now in use, was evaluated at the conference.

University staff members Walter Uphoff, head of the Labor Education Department, lecturers Martin Duffy and LeRoy Bradwish, and two graduate assistants encouraged presentation of programs on current issues as an important part of local education programs.

ROBERT HESS, executive vice president of the Minnesota AFL-CIO and Carl Winn, regional director of the AFL-CIO, spoke at the conference.

Education programs to be executed on the local level were drawn up in summary meetings of those groups represented. Success of the programs will be reported back to the department.

Watch Out, Gang, U Will Have 60 Extra Policemen

Campus folk had better watch their step this week.

About 60 representatives of college police forces will be on campus today, tomorrow and Thursday for the fourth annual National Association of College and University Traffic and Security Directors.

THIS CONFERENCE is held so college police forces can discuss their common problems, Andrew R. Vernes, assistant director of the University Police Department, said.

Participants probably get as much out of the "bull sessions" as the prepared speeches, Vernes said.

"PARKING IS A problem on most campuses, and so we will take the group on a walking tour to show them our parking lots and underground garages, and what we have done to help solve this problem," he said.

Vernes said that few colleges

Two U Doctors Find Answer to Sunburn

By ALICE BERKINS

Copyright by The Minnesota Daily

Two University doctors have developed a new substance to give relief to the light-sensitive and sunburn prone.

This substance, when applied to the skin, provides protection for days before it needs reapplication—and imparts an attractive brownish-tan color to the skin in a few hours.

NEITHER THE PROTECTION from the sun nor the color will wash off, even with soap and water, Dr. Ramon Fusaro, instructor in medicine, and Dr. Walter Runge, research associate in medicine, said in a recent interview.

The worst villain in sunburn, the physicians said, is the invisible ultraviolet part of the spectrum.

Dr. Fusaro and Dr. Runge

Prolonged exposure to these waves can, in normal individuals, result in "sunburn," which can range in severity from mild reddening and discomfort to second degree burns and hospitalization.

THE ULTRAVIOLET radiation of the sun causes an inflammation of the skin.

"We all get a certain amount of ultraviolet light, but there's a threshold that we all have," Fusaro said. Beyond this sunlight becomes damaging.

Different persons are affected differently, Fusaro said, in the amount of exposure they can take without burning.

THE BELIEF that redheads necessarily burn more easily than brunettes is a fallacy, Runge added. And wet skin burns more easily than dry skin because water droplets act as lenses to concentrate the sunlight on the skin.

This, plus the fact that light is reflected from water and sand, explains why it's easier to burn on the beach than in a backyard.

ALL PROTECTION from this sunlight, at present, is in the form of coatings on the skin and must be reapplied frequently, Fusaro said.

But this new material, while in itself offering no protection against burning, will, in a few hours, turn the skin itself into a protective shield which keeps the ultra-violet radiation from penetrating.

The protection stays until the layer of skin grows off—a matter of days. The chemical reaction from this harmless substance turns the skin into a "brownish-tan color that looks like a natural tan," Fusaro said.

BUT THE MATERIAL has an have no restrictions on parking, and thus most don't run into the same problems that the University faces.

There are also representatives here from colleges which do not, at present, have police forces, he said. Two years ago Georgia had no police force, so they came to find out the inherent problems, he added.

"WITH REPRESENTATIVES here from the University of Alaska as well as from colleges and universities in New York, Florida and California, we really are covering the four corners of the continental United States," Vernes said.

U Attendance Up 4 Per Cent From 1961 Summer Session

Attendance for the first summer session is up 4 per cent over last year's total, True E. Pettingill, University recorder, reported yesterday.

The final total, 10,459, is 395 over the registrations for first summer session a year ago. The total includes 6,239 men and 4,220 women.

THIS TOTAL includes 1,040 students enrolled at the Duluth Campus, 61 students at the Morris Campus summer program, offered for the first time this year, and 361 in the School of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics.

Enrollment on the Minneapolis Campus includes attendance at several full-time institutes co-sponsored by the National Defense Education Act, the National Science Foundation, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, World Health Organization and the Newspaper Fund, Inc.

U to Offer Summer Concerts

The Department of Concerts and Lectures is offering Tuesday concerts and Thursday lectures during both summer sessions in Northrop.

The next of these concerts is to be directed by Kurt Adler, with guest soloist Lucille Kailer, coloratura, today.

THREE OF THE Tuesday concerts are presented by the Summer Session Orchestra, composed of members of the Minneapolis Symphony. Each concert features a different conductor and one or more guest soloists.

Many of the lectures for the Thursday programs are distinguished members of the University faculty. Some of the other lecturers are engaged in connection with special events on campus.

The next of these programs is a panel discussion titled "African Cultures in Transition," to be given June 28. All the Tuesday and Thursday programs begin at 8:00 p.m. Concerts by the band will be given on the Union Terrace at noon every Thursday.

Wilson Announces New Administrative, Academic Positions

One-hundred seventy-one University faculty members will be promoted in academic rank or administrative position July 1, President Wilson announced Monday.

Major administrative advancements were reported by the President as follows:

Stanley Bruckerstein, associate professor of chemistry, was named chief of the Division of Analytical Chemistry, succeeding Prof. Izaak M. Kolthoff, who will retire June 30.

Prof. Robert S. Hancock was named chairman of the Department of Business Functions and Management in the School of Business Administration. He succeeds Albert K. Wickesberg, who continues as a professor in the department.

ADVANCED FROM assistant director to associate director were R. Drew Miller of the Mayo Foundation and Roland H. Abraham of the agricultural extension service. Miller also was advanced to associate professor.

Applications for Pakistan Still Available - Stitt

Those interested in applying for the "Pakistan Project," sponsored by the Peace Corps and trained at the University July 7 to Sept. 15, can still apply, according to Dick Stitt of the Peace Corps.

Special consideration will be given applicants who are interested specifically in the "Pakistan Project."

APPROXIMATELY 100 trainees for the Pakistan program will arrive July 7 to participate in a 10-week training session on the Minneapolis and St. Paul Campuses.

More than 30 departments and five or six major colleges, institutes and schools will be involved in the project, as well as a number of agencies which will provide residence, medical care, and similar services for the trainees.

The Peace Corps selected the University to host the Pakistan program because of its diverse facilities, said Stitt. For example, few universities have facilities for training in medicine, engineering and agriculture.

application that transcends its use for the ordinary sunburn-prone, the doctors said.

There are individuals who are allergic to sunlight itself—to a wave length within the solar spectrum. These "light sensitives" break out from brief exposure to the sun.

One patient, Fusaro said, hasn't been able to leave her house during daylight for the last 17 years. But, as a result of treatment with this substance, she can carry on normal activities in the light of day once more.

Some of the compounds used at present are good, he said, but "the main disadvantage is that they have to be applied often, are often messy, and wash off."

THE SUBSTANCE Runge has developed cannot be removed—even with soap or water—and has no harmful effects on the skin. It has been used on 24 light sensitive patients, Fusaro said, and all received complete protection.

The two doctors are now in Chicago, presenting papers on their research into the reactions of humans to light at a meeting of the American Medical Assn.

A SELF-WINDING
WATER-RESISTANT WATCH OF EXCEPTIONAL QUALITY

Seamaster[®] Ω
by OMEGA

WE PROUDLY offer our finest automatic, water-resistant watch. The secret is in its impregnable "shield of armor". An ingeniously sealed case protects the superbly accurate 17-jewel movement inside from hazards of shock, perspiration, and magnetism. Its steel-rimmed, non-breakable crystal expands and contracts with temperature changes. The Hermetic crown and Hydro-Seal back repel all moisture, grime and water. You will be proud to wear an Omega Seamaster.

Omega is the Official Watch of the International Olympic Games

In stainless steel and precious gold, from $100 to $200. With date indicators, from $110. 15K gold raised hour-markers, and luminous dots.
