Dr. Paul A. Schilpp

Rabbi Harry S. Margolis

Minister, Rabbi, Priest to Speak

A Protestant minister, a Jewish rabbi, and a Catholic priest will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Northrop auditorium to discuss the problems of human relations.

Dr. Paul A. Schilpp, assistant professor of philosophy at Northwestern university; Rabbi Harry S. Margolis, rabbi at Mount Zion temple in St. Paul, and Father Robert A. Walsh, teacher of English and philosophy at Dowling college, Des Moines, will deal with the harmful forces of religious prejudice in discussing "Educating for Better Human Relations."

"Religion can be either a unifying or a dividing force," Carl Zeitlow, of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, organization which sponsors the discussion, said yesterday.

"The three speakers," he said, "will point out the ways the 'trio technique' tries to educate the community for the practice of democratic procedure.

"They will point out, too, the way anti-religious feeling is promoted by fifth-columnists.

"The purpose of our league is to promote justice, amity and cooperation among all people—to help everyone appreciate what the American way of life is.

"But there can be no cooperation when religious prejudices divide humankind into many antagonistic groups."

Lutherans to Meet

Riverside park will be the site of the second summer meeting of the Lutheran Students association at 5 p.m. Sunday. Members will meet at the University Lutheran Church of Hope, Thirteenth avenue S. E. at Sixth street. Allan Morrein, instructor of English at Berea college in Kentucky will speak.

Hansen Says Sight Saving Must Begin At Pre-School Age

Conservation of eyesight must begin with the pre-school child, Dr. Erling W. Hansen, clinical assistant professor of ophthalmology, told his audience yesterday afternoon.

Discussing "Conserving the School Child's Eyesight," Dr. Hansen said that the total causes of blindness can be reduced 60 per cent.

"The earlier causes are detected and treated," he said, "the greater is the improvement shown."

One of the most important measures for conservation of eyesight is the prevention and treatment of eye injuries, Dr. Hansen emphasized. "Children should not be allowed to play with sharp instruments—guns, arrows or firecrackers," he said.

Langum Leaves

John K. Langum, instructor in economics, left here Monday for the University of California at Berkeley, where he will be on the faculty of the School of Commerce.

Freeman Quits Pathology Job

Stakman to Replace Adj College Dean

E. M. Freeman, dean of the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics, and chief of the division of plant pathology, announced his resignation of the latter position recently.

The division of plant pathology, started by Freeman in August, 1907, was the first of its kind in the United States and at present is one of the best known in the world.

The position of chief of the division has been turned over to E. C. Stakman, professor of plant pathology, who has been Freeman's assistant since 1909, when he came to the University as a graduate in botany.

Stakman, one of the best known scientists in the University, is known for his work on cereal diseases, especially rusts of wheat. He has been professor of plant pathology since 1918 and head of the section of plant diseases since 1913.

Speech Man to Talk

Clarence Simon, professor of speech at Northwestern university, will present the first of a series of lectures on speech at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Museum auditorium. His topic will be "The Appreciation of Literature."

Fascist Threat To Education Is Forum Topic

Brameld to Give Address At Monday Noon Session

"Fascism is a direct challenge to democratic education." This will be the thesis of Theodore B. Brameld, associate professor of educational philosophy, when he gives the second summer session Forum address Monday in 211 Union. This and subsequent Forums will be held at 12:30 p.m., instead of 11:30 a.m., the hour of the first Forum.

Theodore B. Brameld

Before coming to Minnesota, Professor Brameld was head of the department of philosophy at Adelphi college, Garden City, Long Island, and was visiting professor of educational philosophy in the Columbia University Teachers college. He came to the University in 1939 to teach educational philosophy.

Best known of Professor Brameld's writings is his book on the Russian philosophy of Communism, published by the University of Chicago Press. In addition, he has written extensive articles on political and social problems.

Stan Wenberg, Education junior, will preside. A discussion period will follow the main speech.

Scheerer to Read Anderson Story

"Key Largo," Maxwell Anderson's story of an American youth who lost his faith in democracy after fighting in Spain, has been chosen by Maud Scheerer for her second free dramatic recital at 3 p.m. Tuesday in Northrop auditorium.

Performing without any properties or costumes, Miss Scheerer will do excerpts from emotional melodrama by the author of "Winter-set."

'Peg of Old Drury' To Show in Northrop

"Peg of Old Drury," an English romantic comedy, will be shown at 8 p.m. Monday, free of charge, in Northrop auditorium.

Starring Anna Neagle and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, the picture is sponsored in this country by the Chicago Drama League. The comedy is one of eighteenth century London, featuring such characters as David Garrick, Peg Woffington, Dr. Samuel Johnson, Oliver Goldsmith and William Pitt.

Glimpses of classic performances at the historic Drury Lane Theater will be included in the film. The showing will be preceded by a half hour of recorded music.

Durant Speaks for All Men, Then Says . . .

'Democracy Won't Live if U. S. Enters War'

By Berneice Schlemmer

Philosopher - historian Will Durant spoke yesterday in Northrop auditorium for the peoples of countries involved in today's world conflict. He said:

"I am a Japanese.

"While you, America, and you, Europe, are involved in conflict I shall advance. I am grateful for your assistance.

"I am a Russian.

"I am a communist. I am surrounded by enemies, with no two protecting oceans. I am hated by your leaders who would be horrified if we should show a better way than they have shown. I am vilified daily by your press.

"I am hated for a non-aggression pact . . . my crime was that my country succeeded in doing what the rest of you failed to do. We turned Germany's eyes from the East to the West.

"I am a German.

"The trouble with me is that I am a healthy animal. I am proud of the family institution which we have developed. Almost all of our troubles come out of the fact that we are biologically sound. Forced to industrialism by our birth rate, we had no fuel to feed our machines.

"We have abandoned our liberties in a political sense only to gain the unity needed to insure our liberties in an economic sense.

"We do not wish to attack England. We are ready for peace. England's confidence that America will come in is what makes the war go on.

"I am a Frenchman.

"We knew that England would send us a few troops and many orators. Assurance—from your Ambassador Bullit and from your president—that America would stand with us in war as well as peace has drawn us into this war.

"A France beaten means a fascist Europe from Brest to the Urals. We shall now probably accept not only the terms of our conquerors, but also their philosophy.

"I am an Englishman.

"We have never surrendered you. America is still a part of England.

"My country was born in violence but nurtured in liberty. She has conquered and built free civilizations in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and America. The British fleet has kept South America from being invaded. Your proposed union of democracies in South America is a joke that may be carried on only by the existence of the British fleet.

"Americans cannot see us sacrificed because they cannot bear the sight of their children's blood.

"I am an American — sometimes.

"I have not yet found in these United States a real American. We are all 'hyphens.'

"We think with our hearts, not our heads.

"I have often thought it would be a good thing if England got spanked, if it wouldn't hurt America. To me America means an attempt of human beings to live in peace and freedom.

"I am no pacifist, but I don't think I should travel 3,000 miles—especially when I am so susceptible to seasickness—to pick a quarrel.

"We have thought that liberty could live in chaos. We have indulged in economic, moral and political chaos to the extent that fascism may come to us without war.

"We should treat our enemies as potential friends. For years we called Mussolini names and for 10 minutes begged him to be friends.

"I would rather see democracy live than see England live. Democracy will not live if we enter the war.

"We must decide within the next few months whether we are a western hemisphere or a part of Europe with all its wars."

Concluding with remarks on the coming presidential election, Dr. Durant prophesied the nomination of Wendell Willkie—because, he said, Willkie's views on entering the war are the same as Mr. Roosevelt's. He announced that he should be happy if Herbert Hoover could be elected president, but otherwise should vote for Norman Thomas. Americans, he warned, should organize for peace.
