

President Morrill congratulates Larson on 36 years at U.

Retiring Trusts Director Honored for U Service

Clarence E. Larson, University director of trusts and Board of Regents assistant secretary, was a guest at a retirement party yesterday in the Union Campus Club honoring his 36 years of service.

Larson came to the University March 10, 1924. "I'd always thought I'd like to be with an educational institution," he said in an interview yesterday.

"WHEN I CAME to the University the railroad tracks next to the Administration Building were being removed," Larson said. "Memorial Stadium had just been completed."

Administrative vice-president Stanley Wenberg presented Larson with a gold wrist watch and an M blanket commemorating his tenure.

LARSON RETIRED June 30 and will continue his private law practice. He served under four University Presidents: Coffman, Ford, Coffey and Morrill.

"It's been wonderful to be a part of the University," Larson said, addressing the group of 150 friends who gathered in the Campus Club.

REGENTS Marjorie Howard and Lester Malkerson expressed their gratitude on behalf of the Board of Regents. President J. L. Morrill gave his congratulations, recalling his personal contacts with Larson.

Weather

You can put away your raincoats today. Skies will be generally fair with a high of 75 degrees. Tonight's low reading will be 50 degrees.

Lund, Johnson Will Fill New U Veep Positions

Roy Lund and Clinton Johnson have been named assistant vice-presidents of University business administration, President J. L. Morrill announced yesterday.

Lund, supervising engineer in charge of physical plant, was named assistant vice-president and director of plant services. A University engineering alumnus, he has been a University staff member since 1922.

JOHNSON, COMPTROLLER and treasurer since last fall, will now hold the title of assistant vice-president, business administration and treasurer. A 1938 University graduate, Johnson joined the University staff the following year.

The vacated post of comptroller has been eliminated and the comptroller's office will now be known as the business office.

LUND AND JOHNSON will serve as chief administrative aides to Laurence R. Lunden, business administration vice-president, in carrying out his responsibilities as the University's principal business officer.

Lund and Johnson's promotions topped a list of advancements in academic rank or administrative position for 230 University staff members.

Federal Aid Fogs Issues In U-Riverside Project

By MAURICE HOBBS

Minneapolis may be turning down 9 million dollars worth of federal redevelopment aid in the next few months.

The money would come from the 1959 Federal Housing Act, which allows the city to use certain of the University's expenditures for the city's one-third share of the net cost of carrying out an urban renewal project (the other two-thirds is paid by federal grant).

UNDER THE CODE, the University's planned $4,500,000 West Bank expansion expenditure could be used as the city's share for the Riverside renewal project.

The money may never be requested.

Aldermen and residents of the affected wards oppose a redevelopment study of the area because redevelopment would "take the property off the tax rolls," would cause relocation of businesses and homes, and might not be needed anyway.

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS will begin going up in the fall of 1962 on its new property, south to Riverside, north to First Ave. North, west to one-half block east of Cedar Ave., and east to the river and 22nd Avenue.

With the University's property, property being purchased by Augsburg College, St. Mary's and Fairview Hospitals, property enclosed in a crescent made by and 14th newal. ion dol- stage of Close, University architect, said yesterday.

"Any expansion the University makes could be applied to further redevelopment by the city. The city could have 3 million dollars free" from the money already spent.

The money would be used for acquisition and redevelopment of blighted areas.

UNDER URBAN RENEWAL, the Housing and Redevelopment Authority would buy the land, look it over to see what could be built on it, and then sell it to private contractors, who would guarantee to build what the Authority had recommended.

Those in opposition to the plan, aldermen and businessmen, point to the Glenwood project and the 22 square blocks of Bridge Square which, one businessman said, has been off the tax rolls for 18 months.

"SOME 32 PER CENT of the tax payers pay 100 per cent of the city's real estate taxes," said Hugo Peterson, member of the Southside Businessmen's Association.

Hospitals and universities don't pay taxes, Peterson pointed out, so expansion of the University would cut down the city's area of taxable property.

Businessmen are worried because they might not be able to buy back into their present locations.

In the Glenwood project, one alderman said, the only businesses who could afford to move in were the national chains.

AND THE STUDY might not be needed, two aldermen have said, because if the University built new buildings, other new buildings would also be built, including apartment buildings and shopping areas.

There is opposition to even a study of the area because, one businessman said, the study would automatically bring in redevelopment.

But DelRoy Peterson, city planning commission staff member, has suggested a study is needed. The study would not automatically mean redevelopment, he said.

ANY RECOMMENDATIONS made by the planning commission would need City Council approval before going into effect.

The council's roads and bridges committee will meet Aug. 8 to discuss whether to make the study.

No Accounting ... For Him Comic Unbuttons Buttondown Mind

By BEV KEES

Comedian Bob Newhart made $100 a month at the beginning of his show business career.

"It's absolutely impossible to live on $100 a month," he said Wednesday, relaxing before his first performance of the evening at Freddie's night club, Minneapolis, "but it's all proved worthwhile."

NEWHART was graduated from Loyola University, Chicago, and attended a year and a half of law school.

"I went into accounting finally," he said. "Then one day I decided I wouldn't make a good accountant. I didn't want to look back at the age of 65 and say I hadn't done this and I hadn't done that."

Four years ago he started on radio shows. Later a Chicago disk jockey gave him a break on TV.

"SOME AD MEN saw me and asked if I wanted to do a show of my own," Newhart said. Warner Brothers made him an offer to do an album of his routines.

The album, "Button-Down Mind," came out April 1 and more than 22,000 copies have been sold in the Twin Cities.

Since then offers have poured in from night clubs and TV shows.

"I'M BOOKED almost straight through to the middle of next year," Newhart said. He will appear on the Ed Sullivan, Garry Moore and Jack Paar shows and perhaps Dinah Shore's show.

Newhart said he wants to do more TV work and college concerts. When he appeared at a Union coffee hour Wednesday, he said, "Every time I've played college concerts the results have been very gratifying."

He said he'd like to do movies—not as a matinee idol.

MINNEAPOLIS audiences "have been very good," he said. "It's pretty much an older group at the dinner shows. The later shows are usually a younger crowd." His shows are 8:15, 10:15 and 12:15 p.m.

"Modern stuff is mostly poking fun at ourselves," he said. He mentioned Shelley Berman, Mike Nichols and Elaine May who use this technique. Newhart said his favorite comedian is Jonathan Winters, a "creative, inventive guy."

HE SAID there is less freedom in writing material in TV than in radio, and less in radio than in night clubs. He said of his radio shows, "We found out six months after we'd done them that we'd

Oldtime Dancing at Union Isn't Square

By PAT ZONTELLI

Two hundred square dance enthusiasts—coeds in gingham skirts and young men in summer shirts—"dos-a-dosed" to fiddle music and the singing-talking calls of Ozzie Trooien at a Union-sponsored summer square dance Monday night.

OZZIE, TALL AND CREW-CUT, has over 500 calls in his repertory. "Square dancing is one of the most wholesome social activities that human beings can participate in," Trooien said.

"It is not just a fad. There are at least 200 square dance clubs and over 75 callers in the Minneapolis area."

The dancers had to move into the Union main ballroom because it rained.

ELI JORDI, sophomore from Anoka, took time out between dances to give his opinions on the square dances. "They are a lot of fun—and a swell place to meet girls!"

"It's especially good for beginners," said his partner, Deanna Carter, education sophomore. "Even if you've never danced before, you can join right in."

They whirled away to join the others. The others included not only college students, but married couples and older people from the Minneapolis area who like to kick up their heels and stomp their feet at the once-a-week dances.

DRESSED IN A summer sport-shirt and white tennis shoes, sprightly Walter Hobert, who attended the University 60 years ago, said, "I love to square dance—it relaxes me!"

The square dances are held Monday evening from 7:30 to 10:30 on the Mall in front of the Union. There is no admission charge.

Sicker Sixties?

Witch-Hunting-Again

A Nobel Prize chemist has become the object of a new spurt of congressional subcommittee witch-hunting.

Linus Pauling circulated a petition demanding cessation of nuclear testing. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has given him an ultimatum: he must, by Aug. 9, divulge the names of fellow-scientists who helped circulate the petition or face possible contempt of Congress citation.

PAULING SAYS HE WILL NOT release the names because the men involved will then be subject to reprisals. By what right does any government agency open to reprisal men who express a peaceful, honest, and certainly lawful opinion?

Any citizen, well-known or obscure, has a right to disagree. Pauling has a right to circulate a petition if he believes it will help end nuclear pollution. He should not be forced to release the names of those who helped him.

WE WOULD HARDLY call the action of these scientists "working for the violent overthrow of the United States government." And the subcommittee is certainly not working for this country's best interests in attempting to limit free expression of opinion.

WE HAD HOPED the Sick Fifties would have been a lesson in the evils of such "investigations," which make the act of circulating such a petition suspect and un-American.

If we condone the actions of the Internal Security Subcommittee, we are helping the Sick Fifties to grow into the Sicker Sixties.

Review 'Mistress' Deft Film in Spite of Melodramatics

By ALLAN GARSKE

"The Mistress." Directed by Shiro Toyoda. (Campus Theater).

"The Mistress" is a modern Japanese film that deals with the Japan of half a century ago. The film tells the story of Otama who, in order to support her aged father, becomes the mistress of Suezoo, a money-lender.

ALTHOUGH THE FILM has a lot of dialog and runs for nearly two hours, the viewer is not likely to be bored. The picture is kept from dragging by director Toyoda's deft use of cutting and camera movement.

A GOOD HALF of "The Mistress" is used to build the situation, showing us the people involved: Suezoo with his aging shrewish wife; Otama, the mistress, spending her days waiting for the quick visits of her master; Zenzo, Otama's father, who can only stand outside the house, watching as his daughter receives the money lender.

IN THE LAST half of the film, Otama falls in love with a poor student, only to realize that such a love is hopeless.

Despite a rather drawn-out and somewhat melodramatic climax, "The Mistress" is an excellent picture.

CAMPUS OPINION

Looking Up . . .

To the Editor:

In criticizing "And God Looked Down," an Ivory Tower article by Thomas Olson, SLA senior Robert Lamb urges Olson to forsake his negativistic viewpoint and "look up." Lamb also suggests that Olson should avail himself of the Humanities Department.

I would like to suggest that Lamb leave the Humanities Department long enough to look at humanity. I shall not extend this statement beyond mentioning Hiroshima, Nagasaki, and six million murdered Jews.

I should also like to ask Lamb just what it is one is supposed to "look up" to? Personally, I prefer Olson's view to any proffered by the Peales, Sheens, and Carnegies in this best of impossible worlds.

1961 Could Bring Gopher Encore

By DAVID BUTWIN
Daily Sports Editor

It may take many years for Minnesota to produce another baseball team equal to the recently-crowned national champions of 1960. Or it may take one year.

Though such stalwarts as Jim Rantz, John Erickson, Dave Pfelepsen, Ron Causton, Neil Junker and Tom Moe finished their varsity competition in the final 2-1 victory over Southern California, there will be, in most cases, ample replacements in 1961.

Invaluable as Erickson, Pfelepsen, Causton and Rantz were, the biggest hole to fill probably won't be at their positions. Right now Coach Dick Siebert is most concerned with finding someone to replace Junker, the fiery catcher. Siebert may have to bring up a freshman, and it's been done before.

Many of the great Gopher catchers of the past—Glenn Gostick, Gene Steiger, Woody Erickson and Junker—started as sophomores.

Most likely to join that select list is strapping Steve Wally, a power boy from Winona. He lacks defensive polish so far, but Junker wasn't exactly smooth in 1958.

Siebert may also have trouble finding one infield replacement. Without shortstop Pfelepsen and second baseman Erickson, Siebert must search for that vital keystone combo.

He could find it in third baseman Cal Roloff and utility man Dick Alford. Roloff played short until 1959; Alford had a good season at second last summer.

That still leaves a hole at third, provided Roloff or Alford move elsewhere. A likely candidate is freshman Jon Andresen, who could play third, short or second if necessary.

Other possibilities are Don Evans, third baseman on the junior varsity; Bob Griffin, second baseman on the frosh team; or Mike Mulligan, frosh third baseman.

As long as Wayne Knapp doesn't turn pro this year, Minnesota will be solid at first base, though Moe will be missed against left-hand pitching.

Everyone returns next year in the outfield except the best of them all—Causton. Siebert will pick his outfield from such veterans as Lee Brandt, Wayne Haefner, Barry Effress and Howie Nathe (when he doesn't pitch). Right-handers Brandt and Effress, and lefties Haefner and Nathe could platoon in right and left field.

And what about Causton's centerfield post? It could go to freshman Dave Fritz, who amazed Coach Glenn Gostick this spring by excelling in nearly every department—including pitching. Fritz can run, hit the ball far out of Delta Field and throw strikes to home from pitch or center.

Pitching could be the strength of the 1961 team. Gone will be Series hero Jim Rantz, along with Saxe Roberts and relief ace Ken Anderson. That still leaves Siebert with Larry Bertelsen, Clyde Nelson, Nathe, Bob Wasko and Larry Molsather.

Softball Starts I-M Summer Session Play

One night of near-perfect weather and a second of rain and mud greeted I-M softballers in the first round of summer action.

Eight teams battled opposing pitchers and a continual drizzle Tuesday night. Combo AUC and Organic Chemistry were the only teams to win both of their games.

Thirteen turned out to be a lucky number for Combo AUC as they beat Education 13-8 and 3211 13-7. Organic Chemistry beat Gamma Eta Gamma 6-2 in a well played game and then slipped by the Hi-Rickety's 12-11 in a muddy five-inning game.

Wednesday it was just as good as it was bad Tuesday, and two old summer session rivals, ROCs and Grove East, opened with two triumphs. Farm House and Biogenics joined them as double winners.

The teams play the second round at the same time next week.

In tennis Paul Lommen beat Vern McGonagle 6-1, 6-1 in the first complete match of the 12-man tournament.

Golf match play participants began this week with some hot shooters among the 15 entries.

Reorganization Coming . . .

Actress: 'Puritans' Hurt Theater

By HEATHER ARLING

Peggy Wood, president of the American National Theater and Academy, an organization representing all phases of American theater, spoke yesterday in Scott Hall on "A Changing Theater in a Changing World."

MISS WOOD IS APPEARING in the motion picture "The Story of Ruth." She played Mama for eight years in the TV series "I Remember Mama."

"The theater seems to have fallen from importance in America—not in the rest of the world—and it seems it is because of the Puritans," Miss Wood told the audience.

"Lock up your daughters and your silver when the actors come," Puritans used to say. We have a reflection of that even today.

"WHEN I WAS a young girl, everyone asked if my parents objected to my going into the theater."

No one asks Miss Wood that question today. But there still is a reflection of the Puritan attitude against the theater, she said.

The changing theater has seen things for the better, she said. During the New York blackout, profits in hotels, restaurants, ice cream parlors and bars were down at least 35 per cent. They then realized that the theater was important.

"IT WAS SAD they saw it in a materialistic way," Miss Wood said.

"In the next 5 to 15 years, I look for an entire reorganization in the American theater.

The shape of the new theater is about to come from an unexpected source — the educational theater. Educational theaters are beautiful, beautifully equipped and have a built-in audience."

MISS WOOD SAID there is a need for cultural exchanges. "When diplomats shut the doors, actors can open them."

The need for cultural exchange is beginning to be understood, she said. "The picture is changing."

MISS WOOD was brought to the University by the Summer Session, University Theater and the Department of Concerts and Lectures.

violated practically every taboo without knowing it."

NEWHART SAID he has fun doing the old routines, but "I enjoy doing the latest routines the most . . . You're unsure of their reception."

Newhart, 31, is a bachelor. Working the night club circuit, "it's much easier if you're single," he said. He said he has "no criteria" in looking for a girl.

"WHEN IT HAPPENS, it'll happen," he said, "but she'll have a sense of humor, of course, patience, and she'll have to understand the business and its problems."

Newhart will head for St. Louis next week for a 10-day appearance, then he'll work two months in San Francisco.

Bike Trip to St. Croix

An all-day bike trip, sponsored by the American Youth Hostels, will leave at 8 a.m. from Comstock Hall and at 10 a.m. from Battle Creek Park, St. Paul, for Afton, Minn., on St. Croix River. Cyclists should bring lunch and swimsuits.
